Mr. Johnston appeared before Mr. C. Henderson, Commissioner in the High Court of Justice, and gave the following declaration as regards the absolute truth of the statements made in his letter :—

DOMINION OF CANADA,
Province of Ontario,
County of York.

To WIT :—In the matter of a letter to Messrs. T. Milburn & Co., dated 3rd December, 1896, I, Maxwell Johnston, of the City of Toronto, in the County of York, do solemnly declare that the statements contained in the above letter are true, and I make this solemn declaration conscientiously believing it to be true, and knowing that it is of the same force and effect as if made under oath and by virtue of the Canada evidence act, 1893, declared before me at Toronto, in the County of York, this 3rd day of December, 1896, by Chas. Henderson, a Commissioner in H. C. J. Courts.

(Signed),

A Brickmaker Listens to Reason—Uses Six Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and Tells it.

Brockville, Jan. 4 (Special)—Mr. W. H. Odell, perhaps one of the best known citizens of this town has lately recovered from a long continued and painful kidney ailment. He tells the story of his experience to the correspondent as follows :

"I have suffered for over a year from kidney disease, the pain in my back being so severe that I was unable to stand to my work."

"Noticing the published cures of what Dodd's Kidney Pills were doing for others I concluded to use them."

"Having used only six boxes I can say that I am perfectly cured and well so that I can attend to business as well as ever I could."

TAKEN POSSESSION

I beg to announce to the citizens of Peterborough and vicinity that I have purchased the business lately conducted by Mr. C. B. Routley, and will continue to carry on a First-class Fancy Goods Store with full lines in all departments as heretofore.

Orders will be placed as rapidly as possible for an entirely new stock of goods for each department and the establishment will soon be overflowing again with an assortment of the very latest goods, unequalled by any retail Fancy Goods Store in Canada.

Ten Days Longer.

For ten days longer, still more Sweeping Clearing Sale prices will be continued until stock-taking is fully completed.

Mr. Routley will be found at the office in the store during the next few weeks to settle his outstanding accounts and wind up his business affairs.

Respectfully soliciting a continuance of your esteemed patronage.

C. F. KUTZBACH,

Successor to C. B. Routley.

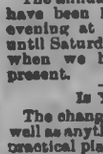
Prizes for Figure Skating.

Commodore Calcutt, who takes a great interest in sports, both in summer and in the winter, wishing to encourage the ladies in figure skating, has kindly offered the management of the Riverside Park skating rink two valuable prizes, 1st and 2nd, to be awarded for figure and plain forward skating. Only those holding tickets for the park rink will be allowed to participate in the competition, which will be held during the last week of February.

In the Ring.

The retired pugilistic champions, Jem Mace, J. F. Scholes and other lesser fistic stars attracted a fair audience at the Opera House. There was some good entertainment provided of its kind, but the spectators were not worked up to the pitch of excitement that a real contest would have brought about. There were visitors from several outside places, such as Keene, Havelock, etc. The retired champion has evidently seen his best days and his support were not as young as it need to be in the fistic line, either.

Furniture by Private Sale.



The handsome furniture and contents of Mr. P. WEDDED IN CAMPBELLFORD.

Mr. H. P. Kennedy, of Town, Espouses Miss Libbie Barker.

A wedding of considerable local interest took place in Campbellford to-day at noon, when Mr. H. P. Kennedy, one of Peterborough's rising young business men, was united in matrimony to Miss Libbie G. Barker, at the residence of her father, Rev. W. S. Barker, of that town.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. F. Barker, of Hamilton, uncle of the bride, assisted by Rev. W. S. Barker, her father.

The wedding was a very quiet one, only the members of the two families being in attendance, with the exception of Miss Frank, of Peterborough, and Miss Katie Miller, of Toronto, the latter of whom played the wedding march.

The bridesmaid was Miss Mamie Barker, sister of the bride, and the groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Marvin S. Kennedy.

The bride was very prettily gowned in a handsome tweed travelling costume, trimmed with sable and velvet, and carried a shower bouquet of white roses. The gift of the groom to the bride consisted of a beautifully designed gold chain bracelet, and the bridesmaid received a similar one of silver.

The wedding dejeuner was served at the conclusion of the ceremony, and Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy left on the 2 20 G. T. R. express for the east, where they will visit Kingston, Montreal, New York and other cities before their return to take up their residence on the corner of Park and Gilmour streets.

The bride was formerly the painstaking secretary of the local branch of the Young Women's Association; where she won the love and respect of all by her consistent and earnest effort to forward the cause of Christianity. Mr. Kennedy has occupied every office in the gift of the County Christian Endeavour, and during the past year occupied the president's chair of the Local Union.

BRENNAN'S LIFE SPARED.

Mr. J. A. Strathy's Assassin Gets Penitentiary for Life.

The monster petition for executive clemency in favour of Michael J. Brennan, found guilty of the murder of Mr. John A. Strathy, and sentenced to be hanged at Barrie on the 19th of January, came before the Cabinet Tuesday afternoon on the report of the Minister of Justice, and it was decided to advise his Excellency to commute the sentence to imprisonment for life in the Kingston Penitentiary. Since his condemnation Brennan has been very ill, and if the death sentence had been carried out he must have been carried to the the scaffold, for he is unable to walk. In reaching their conclusions his Excellency's advisers had the advantage of a special report from the trial judge, who laid great stress upon the recommendation to mercy of the jury.

TO ENCOURAGE MANUFACTURERS.

Representatives of a Big Firm Will be Invited to Peterborough.

A joint meeting of the Council and members of the Board of Trade was held last night for the purpose of discussing measures for inducing certain manufacturers to locate in Peterborough.

Amongst those present were the Mayor, who presided, and Councillors Cobb, White, Graham, Dawson, Meldrum, Neill, Deane, Davis, Laplante and Robertson; Messrs. Jas. Kendry, M.P., J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., D. W. Dumble, Andrew Mercer, E. H. D. Hall, T. E. Bradburn, T. A. S. Hay, Peter Campbell and Adam Hall.

Remarks on the subject were made by Messrs. E. H. D. Hall, Robt. Neill, T. A. S. Hay, D. W. Dumble, J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., Jas. Kendry, M.P., and Adam Hall.

The members of the council took so favourable a few of the matter as represented, that it was decided to invite the company to send representatives to town to meet a committee of the council, with the object of endeavouring to come to an agreement in the matter.

GEORGE ST. CHURCH SUNDAY SCHOOL.

THE ANNIVERSARY EXERCISES LAST EVENING.

Report of the Progress of the Sunday School During 1896—A Missionary Cantata Well Rendered.

Last evening the George street Methodist Sunday school held its yearly anniversary concert. There was a good attendance of the parents and friends of the scholars. Shortly after eight o'clock the members of the primary department began to file in and fill up the front seats of the church. The intermediate and Bible classes occupied seats either farther back or in the galleries. Seated on the platform were Rev. W. R. Young, B. A., Mr. S. R. Armstrong, superintendent of Sunday school; Mr. Wm. Might, superintendent of Grace church Sunday school; Mr. F. Miller, musical director.

After the opening devotional exercises Rev. Mr. Young delivered a short address.

Mr. A. E. Dixon then presented the following report of the two Sunday schools:

SECRETARY'S REPORT.

PETERBOROUGH, January 12th, 1896.

The Secretary of the George street Methodist church Sunday school begs leave to submit the following report for the year ending Dec. 31st, 1896:

The members on roll in actual attendance during the year is as follows:

	Boys.	Girls.	Total.
Primary Department	90	85	175
Junior Intermediate classes	70	102	172
Senior Intermediate classes	66	123	189
Bible classes	164	246	410
Home Class Department	24	63	87
Totals	414	679	993

Teachers	47
Officers	15
Orchestra	12
Total on roll	1065

The average attendance for the year was:

Boys	212
Girls	227
Teachers and officers	51
Total average	500

The total number of verses recited by the boys was 7,573; by the girls, 11,636; total verses recited, 19,209

The average number of verses recited was: Boys, 146; girls, 224; total average, 370.

The average of the missionary collections was: Boys, $2.12; Girls, $2.66; total $4.78.

The average of the missionary collections was: Boys, $2.22; girls, $2.21; total $4.43.

The general average of the collections was: Boys, $3.20; girls, $3 31; total, $6.51.

The library contains 855 volumes, of which 575 are in the Senior Department and 280 in the Junior Department.

The Secretary-Treasurer of the Grace Church branch reports regarding that Sunday school since its opening on March 1st last, as follows:

Primary Department	48
Intermediate classes	55
Bible classes	16
Total scholars	119
Teachers	14
Officers	4
Total number on roll	137

The average attendance was: Boys, 39; girls, 31; teachers and officers, 15; total, 98.

The average of the collections was $1.38.

The total number of verses recited by the boys, 2,449; by the girls, 3,518; total, 5,967; average, 186.

The library contains about 200 volumes.

Under the blessing of our Heavenly Father we have had another prosperous and successful year. Our space became too small to accommodate the large numbers who came to our school, and the authorities of our church in their wisdom decided to build a church on Barnardo avenue, which could be used to accommodate a branch of the Sunday school. A beautiful church, known as "Grace church" was erected and completed, and was publicly dedicated to Divine worship on February 25th last. A branch of our school was opened on the 1st day of March last, thoroughly organized under a devoted band of officers and teachers, and has proved a much greater success than was anticipated.

The opening of the branch school has had the effect of somewhat lessening the membership and average attendance of the parent school, but the combined membership and the average attendance of the two schools are both greater than those shown in the report given one year ago of the George street school before the opening of the Grace church branch.

Two teachers and 28 scholars of the George street school and 8 scholars of the Grace church school have been present 52 Sundays during the year, making a total of 56. Three of this number have been present at the Sunday school each Sunday for 3 years in succession, and 10 others have not been absent a Sunday in two years.

We have lost three of our number through death during the past year. Miss Bertha Mason, one of our most devoted and successful teachers; Master Fred Bradley, of Miss Ritchie's class, and Arthur Armstrong, of the primary department, have gone before to the better land. Let us all so live that we may join them, never more to part.

This year, as in the past two years, each member of the Sunday School who attends the 52 Sundays in the year without missing, was presented with a book or Bible—not as an inducement for him or her to attend, but merely as a reminder of their faithfulness in attending.

Mr. S. R. Armstrong, Superintendent of the George street Sunday school, and Wm. Might, Superintendent of Grace church Sunday school, then presented the gifts to the following children, ladies and gentlemen who had not missed one Sunday in the year. Three out of the number have not missed a Sunday for three years:

George street Sunday School, Peterborough. Names of those present each Sunday during 1896.

THE CANTATA.

The rest of the programme consisted of a missionary cantata, entitled "Sir Money's Crusade." It is a scene in which Sir Money's well known power is shown. Members of the George street choir and Sunday school were dressed to represent the different countries in which the Methodist church has missionaries labouring. The following is a list of the ladies who were costumed:—

Miss Clara Bellegham	Africa
" Lillie Pascoe	Oceania
" Vina Bellegham	Japan
" M Metherall	Greece
" Abbie Robinson	Japan
" C Clegg	Java
" E Rutherford	India
" M Barclay	China
" L Ritchie	Turkey
" I Melrose	Mexico
" Annie Bellegham	India
" Butcher	Spain
" L Lumsden	Spirit of Missions
" Mark	Burmah

The following is a list of the gentlemen who were dressed to represent the different powers which rule the world to-day:—

Sir Money	W F Skitch
Squire Double-Eagle	John C Miller
Greenback	A G Chambers
Big Cheque	Harry Goldie
Squire Dollar	E Maybee
Master Quarter	Bertie Boomer
" Dime	Edwin Fisher
" Copper	Fred Miller

COUNTRIES.

South America	Bert Armstrong
China	Jas Browne
India	Geo Harvey

The latter three were dressed to represent the different countries in which the Methodist church has missionaries labouring.

The costumes were very handsome, one especially noted amongst the gentlemen being that of Mr. A. Skitch, as Sir Money.

Solos and duets were interspersed profusely through the score with fine effect.

The presentation of the cantata was an unqualified success, the parts being all well taken.

Those who had the cantata management in hand are to be congratulated on the success it achieved last night.

Rubbing It In.

Never use a liniment for rheumatism, says a high medical authority. Do'nt rub it in—drive it out. Take something that removes the acid poison from the blood—take something that will improve your digestion, and build up the body to the perfection of robust health. Y.P.S.C.E. NOTES.

Paragraphs of Local Interest to Endeavourers Supplied by the County Union.

WORLD'S CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOUR PRAYER CHAIN.

(Subject of Prayer for January.)

FOR THE CONVERSION OF THE WORLD.

Pray that the beginning of the new year may witness the beginning of a universal revival of religion. Pray for a great manifestation of the Holy Spirit throughout the world, and that the unsaved everywhere may be turned to Christ.

LOCAL UNION.

The Executive of this union met on Tuesday evening and transacted some important business. The celebration of Endeavour day was considered unwise at present. Owing to the near approach of the County Sunday School convention the Executive thought it would be better to put forward a special effort to make this a success, and also decided to co operate with the County Union to make the Easter convention an interesting season. The matter of assisting the directors of the Young Women's Association to furnish the new home was discussed, and the union decided to ask each society to consider the matter. A committee was appointed to see what steps could be taken to furnish a room in the new Y.M.C.A. building, to be known as "Endeavour Room."

The meeting adjourned subject to the call of the president.

St. Paul's and St. Andrew's societies had as their topic Monday night "Why am I a Presbyterian?" Rev. Walter Rogers addressed St. Andrew's society, and Mr. Sheriff Hall directed the thoughts of St. Paul's society along this important line. Both these meetings will prove profitable to the young people who attended the meetings.

The directors of the Young Women's Association intend asking each society of the union to furnish one bedroom in the new home about to be established in connection with that work. Murray street Baptist society has stepped forward and offered to furnish one room. Now let the other societies look into the matter and see what they can do. At this season we may prophesy quilting socials, etc. Surely this would be doing social work along proper lines.

SALEM—OTONABEE.

It has been some time since we have been heard from. Our reporter is not dead, but sleepeth. The year 1896 is now a thing of the past; the mistakes and failings of the past year have been many, and it is ours to begin the year 1897 with a fixed determination to improve the time that is ours that the past may not be a hinderance to the advancement of the cause of righteousness in our lives. Our society here is still alive and striving for the mastery. During the past year we feel that we have endeavoured to do something for our Lord and Master, though perhaps not as much as we could have one. Our Christmas song service was worthy of note. Some half dozen of our juniors giving several well rendered selections, one is worthy of special mention and highly commendable which was under the management of our estimable president. Our last Tuesday night's meeting was the first for this year. The topic, "What prayer should do for the Christian" was conducted by our old esteemed friend, Mr. Samuel Sargent, sr., and was fully dealt with. It being our monthly consecration service, that meeting was held also and with good results, all the members present taking up their cross. It was also election of officers for the current term which resulted as follows:

President—Mr. W. D. Sargent.
1st Vice-President—Miss E. E. Howson.
2nd Vice-President—Mrs. Seaney.
3rd Vice-President—Miss Octavia Wood.
Secretary and Corresponding Sec.—H. S. Armstrong.
Treasurer—Mr. Robert Clegborn.

We trust that with our new officers we shall be able to report even better progress in the future than in the past.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

Rink Talk and Items of Local and General Interest to Sportsmen.

HOCKEY.

The R M.C. team, Kingston, was recently defeated by the Rockwoods, of the same city, by the score of 14 4. No wonder they defaulted to Peterborough. On Monday the Rockwoods defeated Queen's senior team by 11 to 14 games.

The Kingston Whig says: A meeting of the Frontenac hockey club was held at the Kingston skating rink Monday evening. The most important event was the appointment of a captain. For this responsible position James W. Rigney was unanimously selected. The action of the union in ordering two teams to play at Peterborough on the same day was discussed, the opinion being that the union should have ordered one team from Peterborough to play here. It was decided to have the Peterborough intermediate team play here—if at all possible, the same night as the junior team play at Peterborough.

A. H. Beaton, secretary of the Ontario Hockey Union, has written to the Secretary of the Frontenac hockey club, notifying him that it was impossible to change the order of things, and that the Frontenacs must journey to Peterborough.

There was a sharp practice at the rink last night amongst the junior members of the Peterboroughs, none of the senior members being on the ice. Hopkins made his first appearance in goal and will evidently be "the whole tip" for the third team once he gets his hand in. His experience as wicket keeper on the cricket field should stand him in good stead.

The intermediate team has a star defence man in Thorne, who is in great shape this season, and playing almost fast enough for the seniors if there was room for him on the defence.

There is considerable speculation as to who will be selected to fill the place caused by the absence of King from the senior team. There are a likely lot of aspirants.

Grubbe, who has lately returned to town, and formerly played with the local Collegiate team, is showing up well at the practices, and will, without doubt, be given a place on the rush line of the intermediates, anyway, though his claims are strongly pushed by some as a likely man for the seniors.

Belleghem and Crossley are playing in fine form this year, and although either are good enough for the first team, it is thought that it would be unwise to separate them, and they will probably be put in charge of one of the wings of the intermediate forward line, which will be greatly strengthened by their fine combination work.

The public would be interested in seeing a scratch match between teams picked as follows:

Wasson	goal	Dixon
Montgomery	point	Hollingshead
Adams	cover point	Thorne
Phelan, Davidson, Graham, Lefevre	forwards	Belleghem, Crossley, King, Grubbs

The following teams are called out for practice to-night:

Wasson	goal	Dickson
Montgomery	point	Logan
Adams	cover point	Thorne
Lefevre, Davidson, Phelan, Hollingshead	forwards	King, Belleghem, Crossley, Graham

It would be a good idea to ask the Varsity team down for a game.

CURLIANA.

The first match in the Innis medal series was played off at the rink last night with the following result:

Granites.		Thistles.
C Fe-senden,		W J Wattam,
H R H Kenner,		C N Brown,
J Jeffries,		Geo Brown,
J Connel, sk	23	R H Kells, sk	7

Majority for Granites, 16 shots.

A couple of friendly games were played off during the evening, resulting as appended:

— Milne,		J Stanger,
H Snowden,		R D Kerr,
W L Allen,		C Rutherford,
D B Ileghem, sk	16	T Rutherford, sk	11

R E Wood,		F J Rogers,
W Manson,		G Giroux,
W Sailsbury,		G E Whiten,
Judge Weller, sk	14	G W Hatton, sk	15

The draw in Group No. 2 of the Tankard series is being played off here to-day, with Judge Weller as umpire. The group is composed of Millbrook, Campbellford, Keene, Port Perry and Fenelon Falls. The two latter clubs defaulted and in the draw Campbellford scored the bye. Millbrook and Keene played off this morning with the following result:—

Keene.		Millbrook.
R Brown,		S Bateson,
C Bell,		John Allen,
R McCamus,		John Steele,
R McIntyre, sk	21	J A Vance, sk	17
A Kason,		H B Allen,

HUSTLING HAVELOCK.

(Correspondence of The Examiner.)

The new council for 1897 assembled in the council chamber, in the school house, at 11 o'clock on Monday morning. Present—Alex. McAuley, Esq., reeve, and Councillors Code, Dorricott and Curtis. The other councillor, Mr. Chapman, was absent in Buffalo attending an important railroad meeting, and was unable to be present for the opening session. Mr. R. Philip filled the clerk's office, and administered the oaths of office to the members of the new council. After which the reeve asked for an adjournment until the evening for the further despatch of business, which was carried.

EVENING SESSION.

The council re-assembled at 7 o'clock in the evening, all the members being present except Mr. Chapman.

The clerk read the minutes of the last meeting of the old council, which, on motion, were confirmed.

The reeve appointed Mr. William Patterson his auditor for 1897.

Councillor Code moved seconded by Councillor Dorricott, that Mr. C. H. Brewster be the council's auditor for 1897.—Carried.

Applications for the office of assessor were read from Messrs. C. H. Campbell, H. T. Archer and A. H. Fuller.

In committee of the whole, Councillor Code moved, seconded by Councillor Dorricott, that Mr. H. T. Archer be appointed assessor.—Carried.

In committee of the whole, Reeve McAuley moved, seconded by Councillor Dorricott, that Mr. J. Maidens be appointed treasurer.—Carried.

In committee of the whole, Councillor Code moved, seconded by Reeve McAuley, that Mr. R. Philip be appointed clerk.—Carried.

In accordance with the above, a by-law confirming the appointment of the several village officers was passed through its several readings and carried.

A by-law was introduced and passed through its several readings prohibiting coasting, etc., on the village sidewalks. The penalties for infractions of this by-law are as follows:—First offence, a fine of not less than $1 nor more than $5; for second offence, a fine of not less than $2 nor more than $10; for third offence, a fine of not less than $3 nor more than $15.

Board of Health—Mr. C. H. Brewster retiring this year from the Board of Health Mr. J. H. Campbell was appointed to fill the vacancy. The Board of Health for this year will therefore be composed as follows: The reeve and clerk and Messrs. James Bryans, Harvey Fordham and J. H. Campbell.

Councillor Code moved, seconded by Councillor Dorricott, that the time for returning the collector's roll be extended until the 28th of January, and no longer—Carried.

Councillor Curtis moved, seconded by Councillor Code, that the village constable be notified to look after all cattle running at large, and enforce the bylaw relating thereto—Carried.

Councillor Curtis moved, seconded by Councillor Dorricott, that the reeve be authorized to attend the sale of lands for taxes to be held in Peterborough, and to watch the interests of the municipality in reference to certain lots in the village.—Carried.

The Reeve introduced the matter of a lock-up for the village. The necessity of a proper place for the confinement of prisoners in the village had been brought to his attention on various occasions, and the County Police Magistrate had also urged the importance of this step. He asked the council to take action in the matter without delay.

Councillor Dorricott moved, seconded by Councillors Code, that this council grant the sum of $200 for the erection of a lock-up in this village, provided the county council grant a like amount, and the Ontario Government also make a grant of $400 for same; and that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to Messrs. John Brown and J. B. Pearce, county councillors for this division, to present at the ensuing session of the county council—Carried.

On motion the EXAMINER Printing Company was awarded the contract for the municipal printing for the year 1897.

A committee of the whole council was appointed to inquire into the advisability of providing street lamps for the village, and to report at the next meeting of the council.

Councillor Curtis moved, seconded by Councillor Code, that the Reeve and Councillor Dorricott, be a committee to make arrangements for keeping the sidewalks clear of snow.

Council adjourned at the call of the Reeve.

SELWYN LITERARY SOCIETY.

The Selwyn Literary Society held its second open meeting in the Temperance Hall on Jan. 8th. The hall was filled to its utmost capacity, a large number having to stand.

The president occupied the chair and spoke briefly in reference to the work and object of the society. The association is doing good work and the young men have taken hold in a way that is creditable to them. Mr. Fry's (Peterborough) selections were much appreciated by the audience, and added greatly to the pleasure of the evening.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted, after which the following programme was rendered:

Chorus	Glee Club
Critic's report	Mr Succee
Solo	Rodger Manning
Recitation	Miss B Pearson
Instrumental music	Misses McConkey and Moore

TORONTO MAN MISSING.

A. E. Ecclestone of the Dominion Express Company, Absent From His Home and Office.

Toronto, Jan. 12.

For some days Alfred E. Ecclestone, chief clerk to Walter S. Stout, general manager of the Dominion Express Co., has been missing. On Wednesday last, after supper, he kissed his three-months'-old baby boy, at the same time saying that he was going back to the office to work. His wife thought he was acting strangely, and insisted upon accompanying him down town. She went part way with him and then returned home. That was the last she saw of him, and he did not turn up at his office on Thursday, the following day. Before leaving his home, 64 Lakeview-avenue, he emptied his pockets of all letters and papers.

Mr. Ecclestone's unexplained absence is a mystery to his friends and fellow-employes, although it is known to his intimate friends that he has been worried for some time, partly over money matters. None of them, however, considered that his troubles were serious enough to cause him to take his own life, or leave the city surreptitiously.

The Express people have kept up a quiet search for the missing man. They have wired to different cities. The old offices on King-street west were searched thoroughly, as it was thought he might have gone in there and taken his life in a fit of despondency. A number of men were also engaged in dragging the bay in different places.

When last seen Mr. Ecclestone was dressed in an ordinary dark business suit, dark overcoat and hat and wore a dark mustache and had dark hair.

Mr. A. E. Ecclestone has for years been known as one of the most popular of Toronto's young men. He is connected with the family of the same name who for years conducted confectionery establishments in Hamilton and afterwards on King-street, Toronto. He was born in Hamilton about 25 years ago, and has for some time been in the employ of the Dominion Express Company, in the service of which concern, by ability and industry, he rose to the responsible position of chief clerk to General Manager Stout.

Mr. Ecclestone is also known as one of Toronto's most successful vocalists, Being possessed of a remarkably sweet and sympathetic tenor voice his singing has for some seasons been in demand, and he has for four or five winters past pleased many audiences, both in and outside the city. He occupies the position of first tenor in the Carlton-street Methodist Church choir.

A year ago last June Mr. Ecclestone married Miss Florence Doyle, and a few months ago a son was born to them.

His disappearance is causing anxiety to a large circle of friends, to whom he has endeared himself by his charming personal qualities.

INDIANS ARE FURIOUS.

The Canadian Government Interfered With Their Barbaric Orgies and Trouble is Threatened.

Victoria, B.C., Jan. 11.—Edward Wilson of Cape Mudge, on the northern coast of the province, arrived in the city last night to seek the help of the Indian Department to avoid a threatened uprising of the natives. The trouble is caused by the determination of the Government to put down the disgusting custom of "potlaches." These potlach gatherings of the Indians are held in the winter after their return from fishing and hunting, and are relics of the barbaric rites that the authorities had not interfered with until strongly urged to do so by the missionaries.

At these feasts the young braves torture themselves in various ways, and one feature is the tearing up of a live dog with their teeth and devouring the reeking flesh. The Cape Mudge Indians refuse to desist, and Chief Moon recently issued invitations for a big potlach.

Constable Manson of Cortes Island last Tuesday arrested Chief Moon and his son and the tribesmen, who were wildly excited, flocked to the landing place as the prisoners were being taken away and rescued the chief, the constable, with the assistance of some determined, white men, managing to hustle the son into a boat and carry him away.

The Indians, furious at this interference with their orgies, called a gathering of the tribe and medicine men, and, though some older heads counselled peace, the younger bloods have spread the news abroad among the coast tribes, and they are flocking to Cape Mudge armed and determined to hold a potlach in spite of everything.

White settlers on the coast near that section are few, and grave fears are entertained that, once maddened with whisky, the Indians will break loose and a massacre of the whites will result.

All warships are at present away, but there is a company of regulars at the fort, and a company of militia here and at Vancouver, which are enough to send to the scene if the situation continues as threatening as at present.

The flagship Imperieuse is north of Vancouver Island now, and can be summoned in short order. However, it is likely that a number of the Provincial police force, well armed, will be despatched to Cape Mudge as a precaution before the troops are ordered out.

The sick man knocking at the door of health gets in if he knocks the right way, and, stays out if he doesn't. There are thousands of ways of getting sick, but only one way to get well. Do whatever you will, if you do not put your digestion in good order, and make your blood rich and pure, you will not get well. Rich, pure blood is the only thing that can bring perfect health. Constipation is a disease of the blood. A large part of all diseases are traceable directly to impurities in the blood, and can be cured by eliminating them with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The first thing it does is to put the whole digestive system into perfect order. It stimulates the appetite, excites a copious secretion of the digestive fluids and promotes assimilation. It searches out disease germs wherever they may be, kills them and forces them out of the system. The "Golden Medical Discovery" has been used with unvarying success for over 30 years.

SPORTING NOTES.

Toronto Remains in the Eastern Baseball League—Will Play at the Island.

Toronto, Jan. 12.

Arthur A. Irwin is now sole proprietor of the Toronto Baseball Club and this franchise in the Eastern League. He closed with the Toronto Ferry Company yesterday and soon after wired to Pittsburg his acceptance of President Kerr's offer. President P. T. Powers of the Eastern League was also apprised of the fact. The price paid was $2,500.

With the franchise Magnate Irwin gets the following players, who are on Toronto's reserve list: Dineen, Staley, Dean, pitchers; Lutenberg, 1b.; Ward, 2b.; Wagner, s.s.; Freeman, Casey, Sanford, fielders. It is Mr. Irwin's intention to play Casey in the outfield with Freeman and Wright, the last of whom he proposes to purchase from Pittsburg. He will then dispose of Sanford. Two reliable twirlers, two backstops and a third baseman must be secured to complete the team.

Mr. Irwin has already arranged an exhibition game with Washington for April 12, 13 and 14, and there he will likely ask his men to report. Afterwards his team will play in Baltimore, Philadelphia, Paterson and Newark. This will take them up to April 29, when the Eastern League season opens.

The Toronto Ferry Company have promised to give a 15-minute service from 3 until 4 every afternoon there is a game at the Island.

The new manager-proprietor will remain in Toronto for a week or more and then he will start on a still hunt for the players he needs.

New York, Jan. 11.—Curlers of this vicinity started to-day for Canada. On the way they will be joined by other curlers throughout the United States. At least 35 rinks are expected to oppose the Canadians, four of these coming from Buffalo to-morrow afternoon and evening. On the rinks of the Toronto clubs friendly matches will be played on Wednesday. The third quinquennial match between the curlers of New York and the Granite Club of Toronto will take place on Thursday. In both of the previous matches, 1887 and 1892, the Americans were beaten by the Canadians.

LATEST CABLE NEWS

British Expedition Has a Perilous Task on Hand.

IT IS AFTER THE EMIR OF NUPE

Another Expedition Will be Sent Out to Punish the Benin Natives for the Massacre of the Phillips Party —Ivory Sent Up for Trial —Other Cablegrams.

London, Jan. 12.—A telegram from Lagos says that the expedition against the Emir of Nupe is still waiting at Lokoja. This expedition sent out by the Royal Niger Company consists of 500 House troops, six maxims, 28 mounted European officers and 900 carriers. It is expected that it will march against the Foule forces at Kabba, southwest of the Niger. Sir George Goldie, the Governor, has arrived, and will accompany the column. The Royal Niger Company's flotilla of armed stern wheeled steamers will patrol the Niger and cut off the enemy's retreat to Bida, their capital.

The Times says the original cause of the quarrel between the powerful Emir of Nupe and the Niger Company was on account of the Emir raiding the company's territory for slaves. The company have an arduous and perilous task. Their plan is daring and subject to many chances.

The Daily News to-morrow will say that the Government has ordered that an expedition be formed to punish the murderers of the Benin expedition. The punitive expedition, which will be prepared at Old Calabar, will be made up of men from the forces of the Niger Coast protectorate and a contingent of sailors from the British West Africa squadron. Officers whose stations are on the Niger Coast and who are now in England on leave of absence, have been ordered to be ready to sail for their posts on Saturday.

GENERAL CABLE NEWS.

Russian Oil Company's Premises at Purfleet, England, Burned.

London, Jan. 12.—The premises of the Russian Oil Company at Purfleet have been burned, and immense damage done. Cataracts of burning oil were poured into the Thames, illuminating the river from Greenwich to Gravesend. The Purfleet powder magazine and the Anglo-American Oil Company adjacent, were saved by the efforts of the fire brigade.

Ivory Sent for Trial.

London, Jan. 12.—The grand jury in the Central Criminal Court, Old Bailey, to-day returned a true bill against Edward J. Ivory, alias Edward Bell of New York, who was arrested in Glasgow in September last on a charge of being engaged in a conspiracy to cause a dynamite explosion.

Micks for Gold Roubles.

London, Jan. 12.—A Times despatch says: M. De Witte maintains his determination for the fixation of the rouble in gold, which is simply a continuation of what has already been done by the free exchange of the paper rouble for the gold rouble at the relative value of one rouble (of 100 kopeks) to 50 kopeks. He also dilates upon the advantages of protective duties and the immense stride of Russian manufactures and industry in the enterprise of the railway to Manchuria.

They Met Mr. Wolcott

London, Jan. 12.—Henry White, formerly Secretary of the American Legation here, gave a dinner to a number of distinguished public men last night, with the object of enabling them to meet Senator Edward O. Wolcott of Colorado, who is visiting Europe in the interests of bi-metallism. Among those present were the Marquis of Lansdowne, Secretary of State for War; Arthur J. Balfour, First Lord of the Treasury, and Government leader in the House of Commons; Lord De Rothschild, William Court Gully, Speaker of the House of Commons, and Herbert Asquith, formerly Home Secretary.

CONFIDENCE THE FOUNDATION.

President Stannard's Sensible Remarks to the Monetary Conference at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Jan. 12.—Tomlinson Hall presented much the same appearance when the delegates to the Monetary Conference assembled this afternoon that it did during the National Convention. The delegates are a substantial, prosperous and brainy set of men. E. O. Stannard, ex-Governor of Missouri, who had been selected as temporary chairman, reviewed the steps which led to the convention, and then said: It is not my purpose on this occasion to suggest any given line of policy to be pursued in remedying the evils of which complaint has been made, or that may be suggested here or hereafter. It is safe for me to say that the stability, prosperity and safety of our Government rest on a policy that can be relied on to last from one year to another, and from one political administration to another, and to be taken as far as possible out of the realm of politics. Confidence is the foundation upon which business and all affairs of material interest are built. There should be enough money to do the business of the country, and there should be no doubt about its character and no shaking of confidence to take it out and keep it out of circulation.

The people of the United States not only should have confidence in our financial methods, but all the nations of the earth with whom we have commercial relations should have assurance of the stability of our financial affairs, so that they may know on what basis they are working.

Sued for $10,000, Got $1000.

Vancouver, B.C., Jan. 12.—The Earl of Cranston v. the Canadian-Australian Steamship Company, for damages for forcible deportation from Honolulu during the last uprising in the Hawaiian Islands, took place on Monday before Justice McColl, and a special jury. The jury awarded the plaintiff $1000 damages. Fifty thousand dollars was sued for.

BATTLE OF RAILROADERS.

Officials of the Grand Trunk and C. P. R. Over Interchange at Scotia Junction.

Ottawa, Jan. 12.—(Special.)—The dispute between the Grand Trunk and Parry Sound Railways over the lack of facilities for interchange of traffic at Scotia Junction was fought out to-day by Mr. E. J. Chamberlin, general manager of the Parry Sound, and Mr. William Wainwright, assistant manager of the Grand Trunk, before Mr. Blair, Minister of Railways and Canals. It is understood the Parry Sound Company does not recede from the position which it has assumed, and as set forth in the correspondence published in The World a few days ago. No conclusion was reached to-day. Mr. Wainwright stating that he would have to consult General Manager Hays further about the matter.

BAILLIEBORO.

From Our Own Correspondent.

The annual entertainment of Christ's church, Baillieboro, was held on the evening of Jan. 5th. The basement of the church was filled to its utmost capacity in spite of the bad roads and miserable state of the weather. The programme was very interesting. The neat little sum of $43 was realized and $36 50 was collected at the offertory at the services on Sunday. The programme was as follows:

The ladies of the congregation presented the organists, Miss Emma Smithson and Miss Ida Reid with a purse of money on recognition of their services during the year of 1896. Special mention may be made of the songs sung by Dr. McKee and the selections by Mr. Gilchrist. The Millbrook friends were very kind in helping with the programme.

RHEUMATISM CURED.

Eighteen Months Trying to get Cured—Had the Best Doctors—He Found What he Wanted in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Goderich, Jan. 11—(Special)—A case of great interest here just now is that of Mr. Alexander J. Sharkey, who for some time has been an extreme sufferer from Rheumatism. His statement to the correspondent is as follows:—

"For eighteen months I was a victim of Rheumatism and during the whole of that time was trying every means to cure it. I had the best doctors in Canada and took their prescriptions with faith and patience.

"I got tired at last, for I found the disappointment nearly as killing as the disease.

"But one friend wiser than others convinced me that my disease must be cured by way of the kidneys and recommended Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I have used two boxes of these pills to effect a perfect cure, and I don't care who knows it."

BELMONT.

(From a Correspondent.)

The inauguration meeting of the new township council for 1897 opened at the town hall, Belmont, at 11 o'clock on Monday morning. The council consists of D. Burgess, Esq., Reeve; J. A. Sexsmith, Deputy-Reeve. Councillors, Messrs. John Vansickle, Samuel McConnell and A. McArthur, with Porter Preston again as the efficient clerk. The following was the official return of the poll:—For Deputy-Reeve.—J. A. Sexsmith, 204; J. W. Seeney, 189. For Councillors.—John Johnston, 131; A. McArthur, 185; Samuel McConnell, 164; John Vansickle, 205; Chas. Wilde, 153; Samuel Wilson, 123. The Reeve was elected by acclamation. He has served on the council on several occasions in former years and is one the best respected men in the township, having always enjoyed the confidence of the ratepayers. Mr. Sexsmith, the deputy-reeve, is the only member of last year's council, the others being new men, although Mr. Vansickle has been a member of the council on several previous occasions. Deputy-reeve Sexsmith is active, systematic and a rising young man with clear-headed views of what is for the best interests of his municipality.

Mr. Preston, the clerk, has held the responsible position for a long term of years. He has given faithful service to the municipality, being thoroughly conversant with municipal matters, and an authority on all important questions connected with the affairs of the municipality.

The new council transacted a large amount of business at its first session, full particulars of which will be forwarded to the EXAMINER for publication as soon as the minutes can be copied by the clerk, who will supply you with the proceedings of each meeting as they occur.

Mr. Walter Wilde was appointed assessor for 1897, and Messrs. Wellington Burgess and Frank Wilson are the new auditors for this year.

The capable collector, Mr. Jos. Johnston, will doubtless be re-elected for this year, he having discharged the duties of this office for a number of years to the entire satisfaction of each council.

The EXAMINER Printing Company was again awarded the tender for municipal printing for 1897.

A VETERAN JOURNALIST.

PASSES THROUGH A SEVERE AND TRYING ILLNESS.

His Friends Thought it Unlikely He Would Recover—But Thanks to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills He is Again Enjoying Good Health—Thinks This Remedy the Great Family Medicine of This Generation.

From the St. John, N.B., Sun.

There are few people in St. John, N.B., who do not know Mr. H. L. Spencer, the veteran journalist, poet and essayist. Some of Mr. Spencer's songs are sung wherever the English language is spoken. One of these songs entitled, "A Hundred Years to come," has been set to music by Rev. Mr. Crossley, and is sung with stirring effect wherever the famous evangelists, Messrs. Crossly and Hunter, held their meetings. Mr. Spencer was seriously ill last summer from an attack of indigestion which seemed to upset his entire system, and his recovery is a matter of rejoicing to all his friends. Speaking to a reporter concerning his illness he said:—"I was completely prostrated, and for several weeks was confined to bed, and my recovery was not anticipated either by myself or friends. The trouble appeared to originate in indigestion, but the results were more painful than usually accompany that trouble, and culminated in a total stoppage of urine and action of the bowels. I suffered terribly for three or four days, and was not expected to survive. I took powerful cathartics, and had my abdomen bathed with spirits of turpentine, mustard, etc., and took many ingredients before action was restored. When this was accomplished I was relieved of my suffering, but in six weeks I had lost forty three pounds of flesh, and I did not seem to be able to regain my former health and strength. In July last I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at the instance of some friends who had been greatly benefitted by their use, and though I have not regained my accustomed weight, I have gained fifteen fifteen pounds, and my general health is as good as ever. I am sincere in my belief that my recovery is due to the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Mr. Spencer added that he knew of many cases in which Pink Pills had been used with great benefit, and he thought that if elsewhere the pills are effecting as notable cures as they are in St. John, it is no wonder they have become the great family medicine of the generation.

An analysis shows that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain in a condensed form all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood, and restoring shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effects of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, nervous prostration, all diseases depending upon vitiated humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities and all forms of weakness. They build up the blood, and restore the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork, or excesses of whatever nature.

IT IS ALL TALK.

Yes, but it is Norwood Talk—The Kind That Tells in Norwood.

Talk that tells.
Talk that is endorsed.
Every day talk by people that know.
City talk.
Kidney talk.
Do the kidneys talk?
Well, yes, both loud and long.
You are learning the kidney language.
Backache in kidney language means kidney ache.
Lame back means weak kidneys.
Weak back means weak kidneys.
The kidneys are talking trouble.
Here is some Norwood talk:

Mr. George Taylor, well known in Norwood, has this to say about Doan's Kidney Pills:—

"For a great many years I have been a sufferer from kidney disease. Terrible pain in my side and back made my life a burden. The urine was a dark wine colour, and I was greatly troubled with frequent urination. My sleep was destroyed because of this annoying trouble.

"I have taken scores of medicines, but could get no relief, and thought that I would never be cured. Happily I heard about Doan's Kidney Pills, and got a box at J. C. Moffatt's drug store, and have continued their use for one month.

"I am thankful to say as a result that they have fixed me up. I feel like another person. I do not now have to get up at night, and in fact am entirely cured.

"I think they are the grandest medicine ever placed before the public, and I heartily recommend them to all sufferers from kidney disorder of any kind."

Something New

—AT THE—

GOLDEN LION.

We take pleasure in announcing to the Ladies of Peterborough and surrounding districts that we will add to the already many important departments of this Great Dry Goods House

A Ladies' Whitewear Department

In which will be found all kinds of Ladies' Whitewear of the very latest style and cut. These garments are now in the hands of skilled operators and we will have them opened up for inspection in a few days. We would urge all ladies to see these goods, for they are all new and cannot be excelled for style and low price. Mr. Fair is at present visiting the American Markets and will inspect some of the leading manufactures of these goods with a view of adding to this New Department some of the Latest American styles.

SECOND CROP OF BARGAINS

As there is a good deal of winter yet before us, it is unnecessary to point out the wisdom of buying now.

This is the month of lucky chances and snaps in mid-winter goods. An aftermath of Bargains for shrewd buyers—lines which we have laid out during stock-taking such as Serges, Cheviots, Heavy Tweeds and other Remnants, as well as Millinery, to be sold even at HALF REGULAR PRICES.

We don't want to carry winter lines past their regular selling season. No relics here. This store is not a museum. We have neither old goods nor old ideas.

You need the goods—we need the room they occupy—so there is mutual benefit all round in the selling of them.

We don't "rest-up" during the winter months and take things easy until spring. While others are resting we're simply HUSTLING.

TRANSFER OF FUNDS

From Government to Post-office Savings Bank.

PROPOSAL TO UTILIZE DEAD FISH

The Idea is to Convert Them Into Fertilizing Material and Oil - An Important Decision in the McRae Case - General News of All Kinds From Ottawa.

Ottawa, Jan. 13.—(Special.)—The Government Savings Bank at Yarmouth, N. S., has been closed owing to the death of Mr. Rowley, for many years the Assistant Receiver-General at that place. The whole of the deposits, amounting to $653,116, have been transferred to the Postoffice Savings Bank. For this reason the withdrawals from the Government Savings Banks last month appear to be abnormally large, although as a matter of fact they are really below the deposits, which amounted to $270,381. Mr. John Fraser of the Finance Department recently visited Yarmouth, closed up the Government Bank there, and transferred the accounts to the Postoffice Savings Bank. This policy was adopted a few years ago, and as the present Assistant Receivers-General drop off the Government banks will be closed and all the deposits be handled by the Postoffice Department.

A communication has been received at the Fisheries Department from a gentleman in Prince Edward County, asking for information regarding the proposed establishment of a fertilizer and oil factory. It is proposed to use in the factory the dead fish which are thrown up annually by the thousands on the shores of Lake Ontario. These fish have proved a perfect nuisance along many portions of the lake, especially in the summer time, when their rotting pollutes the atmosphere to the annoyance of the summer residents at pleasure resorts. They are known as Menhaden, and were introduced into Lake Ontario by the late Seth Greene, the celebrated fish culturist. They are a sea fish, but being migratory in their habits often find their way to fresh water. In the case of those planted in Lake Ontario, however, they have simply remained there and died by thousands every year. Factories similar to the one proposed to be established in Prince Edward are already in existence on the Atlantic coast.

C. E. Britton of Gananoque, brother of B. M. Britton, M.P., and who it taking a deep interest in the reservation of the waters of the Thousand Islands as an anglers' resort, was in the city to-day and had an interview with some of the Ministers. The practice of issuing commercial licenses to fishermen in the waters of the St. Lawrence adjacent to Thousand Islands has been stopped, and Mr. Britton is here for the purpose of securing licenses for these men in other waters.

Mr. Doyon of the Inland Revenue Department has returned to Ottawa after a lengthy visit to Quebec and the Maritime Provinces, during which he made a thorough examination into the working of the Inland Revenue offices, with a view to reorganization and reduction of staff.

Mr. Knapp, barrister of Prescott, is in the city endeavoring to enlist the co-operation of local capitalists in an invention which, he thinks, is calculated to revolutionize ocean steamship traffic. He has invented a vessel, cylindrical in shape, with a stationary shaft. He desires to raise a few thousand dollars to construct a model in order to test the utility of his invention, and has already secured a large number of subscribers. Mr. Knapp has received the endorsation of one of the first naval engineers on the Clyde.

The fishermen of British Columbia are urging the re-imposition of the duty on fresh salmon. The duty was removed two or three years ago in order to enable the canneries to purchase supplies of salmon in the States, but the fishermen say it has operated most injuriously against them.

Some years ago officers of the Customs Department seized several thousand school books on the ground of under-valuation. These have been lying in Ottawa for a long time past, and an effort is now being made by the department to dispose of them. Tenders are to be received until Feb. 15 for the purchase of 12,000 copies of Royal reader No. 3 and 25,000 copies of Royal reader No. 2.

The Minister of Agriculture has decided that horses driven by persons crossing the frontier when visiting friends in Canada shall, for the present, be not subject to quarantine inspection and fees. A similar concession will be made by the United States Government with regard to horses driven by parties in Canada crossing into the United States for the purpose of visiting friends.

Mr. J. M. Macoun of the Geological Survey, who has spent several months at the seal rookeries in Behring Sea, leaves for England to-morrow. He is going to London for the purpose of assisting Prof. D'Arcy Thompson, who came over at the request of the Foreign Office this year to study seal life, in the preparation of his report to the Imperial Government.

Master-in-Chancery W. L. Scott rendered an important decision to-day, which hinged on the point whether Mr. or Mrs. Peter McRae, who were drowned in Deschenes Lake last summer, died first. The case involved the payment of about $34,000 life insurance. Mr. Scott maintained the contentions of the counsel for the surviving child, that Mr. McRae died before Mrs. McRae. The judgment was founded principally on the evidence of Mr. F. H. F. Mercer, the last person to see the ill-fated family alive. The disposition of the insurance money was then governed by point of law. Mr. Scott held that five of the eight policies did not contain a declaration within the meaning of the statutes, providing for the payment of moneys to heirs. He therefore ruled that three of the policies, which definitely named Mrs. McRae and children as heirs, amounting to $11,200, should go to the surviving child. The other five policies, $22,800 in all, are to go to the creditors. Mr. O'Gara having proven the claims of Mr. J. W. McRae and Mr. A. W. Bell, they are to be paid out of the insurance money. Advances made by the Ontario Bank are to be paid out of Mr. McRae's personal estate. Appeals will be taken by the lawyers on both sides.

J. A. Smart, who was spoken of recently as coming to Ottawa in connection with a position in the Interior Department, is now engaged by Mr. Sifton in looking into the working of the agencies of the department in Manitoba and the Northwest. Mr. Smart will pay a visit to Ottawa shortly.

Applications are still coming in asking the Tariff Committee of Ministers to visit a number of different places, but it is simply impossible to do so. Mr. Fielding and his colleagues have not unlimited time at their disposal, and it is in the general interest that the session shall come on as soon as possible. Quebec, St. John and Halifax are the only points to be visited in the east.

The Imperial Institute has notified the Government of its intention to hold a fisheries exhibit in the institute next summer, and asking the co-operation of Canada to make it a success. Besides fishery products, all classes of appliances are to be shown.

The Minister of Public Works has awarded a contract for three new boilers in the eastern block to Ald. William Campbell of this city.

Hon. Mr. Borden will accompany the Tariff Committee to the Maritime Provinces. The Ministers will leave here next Saturday evening for Quebec, thence to St. John and Halifax. It has been decided to pay a flying visit to Manitoba.

Hon. Mr. Tarte left for Montreal this afternoon. While there he will consult a physician. It is said he is suffering from inflammation of the liver.

Hon. Mr. Fielding returned to the city to-day.

There will be no further meetings of council until Saturday.

Contractor A. Onderlonk was in the city to-day.

CROW'S NEST RAILWAY.

Senator Cox and Mr. Robert Jaffray Said to be Taking an Interest in It.

Montreal, Jan. 13.—(Special.)—For some weeks past the frequent visits of Hon. Senator Cox and Mr. Robert Jaffray of Toronto to this city have created no little interest in the mercantile world, but apart from the fact that these two gentlemen from the Queen City arrived in town and registered at the Windsor, and subsequently visited the Canadian Pacific offices, the object of their visits to the commercial metropolis appears up to the present time to have been shrouded in mystery. To-day, however, the statement is made that the mission of Senator Cox and Mr. Jaffray has something to do with the Crow's Nest Pass Railway. It will be remembered that Lieut.-Col. Baker, a member of the British Columbia Government, and one or two other gentlemen, secured several millions of acres as a subsidy to the British Columbia Southern, and that the lands in question comprised almost all of the great coal deposits in the vicinity of the Crow's Nest Pass. Now it is stated that Col. Baker realised that the Canadian Pacific was probably in a better position to build the road than any other company, and consequently spent a good many weeks here last fall in a fruitless endeavor to close a deal with Sir William Van Horne and Mr. Shaughnessy. His next visit was to the city of Toronto, where, rumor says, after various pourparlers, the interest of the Senator, the President of The Globe Co. and the British Columbia Minister in the rich coal deposits above-mentioned became identical, and ever since then the two Toronto capitalists have been trying their hands with the Government and with the Canadian Pacific. It is also said that the negotiations have been successful.

The fiftieth annual report of the Montreal Telegraph Company is out. The 130th dividend, payable to-morrow, amounts to $40,000, and the contingent fund shows a credit balance of $66,868.

It is Believed They Burned Barns in the Township of Melancthon and Made Money Out of the Insurance Companies—A Big Sensation Promised.

Shelburne, Ont., Jan. 12.—David and James Ballard, colored, and James Corbett, Alonzo Smith and McCoy, white, are in Orangeville jail, charged with incendiarism. The colored men are said to be the chief firebugs and to have grown wealthy in the business. The white men are said to have been their willing tools. The whole community betweeen Dundalk and Corbetton have been in terror of the gang, and the warrant for their arrest had to be procured at Shelburne. The arrest of the firebugs followed the death of Edward Fenton, who was burned to death while trying to save his stock from his burning barn, and who had openly expressed his opinion of the alleged firebugs. He had even sued one of them for a debt, and won the case. His barn was burned shortly after. The Ballards are charged with being professional pyromaniacs, and are said to have secured a good deal of money from the Norwich Union, Western, North British and other insurance companies for burned barns and other property. The preliminary investigation will take place on Monday next at Shelburne.

A coroner's enquiry as to the cause of the death of Edward Fenton is in progress. The remains taken from the fire and buried at Dundalk have since been exhumed and were brought to Shelburne Tuesday evening by Constable Skelding. Dr. Norton, coroner, is conducting the enquiry and Dr. Barr the post mortem. County Crown Attorney McKay is present on behalf of the Crown. The following gentlemen, all of Shelburne, compose the jury: H. H. Walker, foreman; D. Fisher, William Munn, John McLean, A. V. Galbraith, T. Babe, S. Jelly, William Robertson, John Madill, J. C. Whitten, William Collins, D. Hicks, J. H. Wallace.

Among the witnesses called are the father, mother and sister of the deceased, Harry Cotterell, who aroused Fenton the night of the fire; Mrs. Cotterell, and Mrs. James Ballard, wife of one of the prisoners. The other witnesses were William Hall, a brother-in-law of the deceased, who stated that Edward Fenton had spoken to him regarding his fear that he would be burned out by his enemies; John McGrath, who testified regarding his discovery of a man's track leading, by a circuitous route, to a point near James Ballard's residence; Robert Shannon, who saw the fire, but did not go to it; D. McCosh, who was at the fire about the same time as Mr. McGrath and Frank Turner. An important point elicited in the testimony of the Fentons was that they did not see Edward after he left the house; also that Cotterell, after remaining at the fire about 20 minutes, returned to his home at Ballard's and the old man, his wife and daughter were left alone in their trouble until Mr. D. McCosh appeared on the scene at daylight. It is generally believed that one of the most sensational criminal cases in the history of the province will be developed. The insurance companies and the detective have accumulated a mass of evidence regarding Melancthon's incendiary fires, of which the public have as yet little idea, and to back it up two of the suspected individuals have turned Queen's evidence. It will not be the fault of the Crown if the practice of burning barns for the sake of the insurance and for spite does not terminate so far as Melancthon is concerned. The deceased Fenton is highly spoken of by those who knew him, and it is supposed that the fire in which he was cremated was caused by someone who had a spite against him.

Conducted by Dr. Barr, the post mortem revealed nothing that would cause any suspicion that the deceased had met his death otherwise than by burning or suffocation. The inquest has been adjourned until Monday evening, the 25th inst.

NORTH MONAGHAN.

From Our Own Correspondent.

The members-elect of the North Monaghan township council met in the Town Hall on Monday, Jan. 11th, as follows: John McIntosh, reeve, Thos. M. Hunter, W. G. Yelland, Jos. Madill and T. E. Bradburn, councillors. After each had subribed to and filed the necessary declaration of qualification and of office, the meeting was called to order, Mr. John McIntosh as reeve presiding. The minutes of the meetings of Dec. 15th and 19th were read and confirmed. An application was received from George Lockie, asking for copies of papers referring to running of quarter line. Application for office were received from W. J. Hall, as auditor; H. D. Williamson as assessor, and W. Whitfield as assessor. Tenders were received for the township printing for 1897, from the Peterborough Morning Times and also from the Peterborough EXAMINER. The clerk then reported having been served with a special summons by Mr. J. Forster, at the suit of John Green of Peterborough, also of having entered a defence of same, to be heard on Jan. 22. Accounts were presented from—A. Comstock, 50 chairs for town hall, $16; Jos. Beauvais, repairing bridge on Cavan boundary, 65c.; Times Printing Co., contract, and births, marriages and deaths register, $28.50. Reports were presented as follows:—From Mr. Thos. Hooper as commissioner to gravel the loop line extension: To the Reeve and Council of the Township of North Monaghan:

SIR,—I beg to report having engaged men and teams, and completed the work of gravelling the loop line extension as instructed.

We drew 156 load of gravel in four and a half days of eight hours per day, with four teams and four men in pit, and one man on dump.

We doubled the quantity of gravel drawn one half day, put upon the soft place on this road.

The total cost of work, with one day breaking stone, is $55.55, making cost per load spread on road, and stone broken, 35½ cents. Pay list of above is hereby attached.

THOS. HOOPER,
Commissioner.

From Mr. Forster as follows:
To Reeve and Gentlemen:

I beg to report, acting in conjunction with the clerk, I have upon receipt of certified account from T. Hooper, your commissioner on gravelling road called loop line extension, issued an order for the sum of $55.55, also having issued an order for the sum of $1.00 in favour of T. Hooper upon receipt of certified account of same for breaking stone on road division No. 9. Also as instructed by you at meeting of Dec. 15th, I have now an order for $2 in payment for recovering culvert on quarter line by R. Colin and $1 to W. Campbell for shovelling.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

J. FORSTER,
Reeve

RHEUMATISM CURED.

Eighteen Months Trying to get Cured—Had the Best Doctors—He Found What he Wanted in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Goderich, Jan. 11—(Special)—A case of great interest here just now is that of Mr. Alexander J. Sharkey, who for some time has been an extreme sufferer from Rheumatism. His statement to the correspondent is as follows:—

"For eighteen months I was a victim of Rheumatism and during the whole of that time was trying every means to cure it. I had the best doctors in Canada and took their prescriptions with faith and patience.

"I got tired at last, for I found the disappointment nearly as killing as the disease.

"But one friend wiser than others convinced me that my disease must be cured by way of the kidneys and recommended Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I have used two boxes of these pills to effect a perfect cure, and I don't care who knows it."

BENEFORT.

(From Our Own Correspondent.

Messrs. Charles and Edward Stirton have dug a new well. They struck an unlimited quantity of water at the depth of ten feet. Heretofore they have had much difficulty in procuring water for their stock but will now have a bounteous supply.

Mr. Jas. Telford, the water wizard of Ashburnham, is to dig a well for Mr. Robert Fisher. By the use of the divining rod he locates springs no matter how deep they may be. He has been engaged for several weeks digging wells for different people in this township.

Mr. Robert Fisher has been elected commissioner for the township of South Monaghan.

Mr. Jos. Wood is building a very picturesque as well as useful fence at the north end of his farm. It is composed of stumps and roots from some new land he is breaking up.

Mr. John Henry, of Hale's Bridge, has the contract for cutting wood for Mr. John Fletcher.

Mr. Robert O'Hare is busily engaged in hauling material for his new residence.

Facts About Furs and Bankrupt Stocks.

Some dealers in Furs believe in selling Bankrupt Stocks but others there are who do not; yet, at the same time have offered several bankrupt stocks for sale within a short time, while claiming also to sell nothing in Furs but of their own manufacture. We certainly must stand away ahead of our competitors as we do not require the aid of such stocks but stand on the merits of our own manufactured goods, which we can always guarantee as such. Our reputation of 36 years standing without a failure is the best proof that customers believe in us and support us so well. We do not require to make any bombastic statements regarding the size or quality of our stock; both are only too well known in the town as well as in many other places at great distances. We wish to thank our customers for their patronage through the late season.

THE GYPSY FIDDLER.

Rigo Jancsi Was in This Country With the Hungarian Band in 1888—He's a Giant in Music.

New York, Jan. 10.—It now appears that Rigo Jancsi, the Hungarian gypsy fiddler, who took the beautiful Princess de Chimay from her husband, has played his wonderful fiddle in America, with the Hungarian Band, who appeared in New York in 1888, and afterwards toured the United States and Canada. Hundreds of women hung on the same entrancing fiddle strings with which the young woman born in Detroit has committed social suicide.

Dr. Sommer, who controlled the gypsy band when in America, speaking of "Johnny," as he is called, said: "He is an ugly fellow. He is very dark, short and square-shouldered. He is a giant in music, though."

THE LORD OF BATTLE CREEK.

A Relative of the Hero of Trafalgar Lives in the Michigan City.

Battle Creek, Mich., Jan. 13.—Battle Creek has a genuine nobleman as a permanent resident. Lord John Eyre Nelson is the man's name. He is the eldest son of Hon. Rev. J. Horatio Nelson, a nephew of Earl Nelson, and a great nephew of the famous Lord Nelson, England's most famous naval hero, and also, through his mother, a descendant of the Duke of Marlboro, the victor of Blenheim. Nelson was born in Norfolk, England, in 1855. He was educated at Eton College. Since his graduation he has traveled extensively through Europe, the United States and the West Indies, and has crossed the Atlantic nine times. Mr. Nelson came to Battle Creek several years ago, and was so well pleased with the city that he invested largely in real estate, and has since made this place his home, bpt yearly visited his parents in England. He spends mostly all of his time in church work in the Episcopal church, of which he is a very zealous member.

MISS YAW NOT DEAD.

Her Brother Denies the Rumor That She Succumbed While Singing.

Chicago, Jan. 13.—A telegram from Richard B. Yaw, a brother of Miss Ellen Beach-Yaw, denies positively the death of the well-known singer. It was reported that Miss Yaw had died at a recent concert given in an eastern village while straining after one of her celebrated high notes. When last heard from Miss Yaw was on a concert tour in California and is reported to be in excellent health. The startling report of her death originated in a false rumor sent to Waterloo, Iowa.

Masqueraded as a Clergyman.

Pomeroy, Wash., Jan. 13.—A sensation in church circles has been caused by the precipitate flight of Rev. P. James Lyon Young, pastor of the Christian Church. He arrived last October, recommended by the Baptist Church of Ponca, Nebr., representing himself as a single man. He was active in the ministry and a great favorite with women. Investigation succeeded in locating Young's wife in Roxbury, Miss., taking in washing for a livelihood. Affidavits followed, showing that under the name of Lyon he had officiated as an Episcopalian clergyman at Roxbury, where he deserted his wife and ran away to Canada with a Mrs. O'Brien. Further, he is shown to have been in Canada as a Catholic priest, then as a bachelor and pastor of an Episcopal church at Egan, S.D.

He Is Not Sanguine.

London, Jan. 13.—Mr. John F. McIntyre, formerly Assistant District Attorney of New York County, who is in London for the purpose of assisting in the defence of Edward J. Ivory, alias Edward Bell, charged with conspiring with Tynan, Kearney and Haines to commit dynamite outrages, said to a representative of the United Associated Presses to-day that he was by no means hopeful of securing Ivory's acquittal. The public, he thought, was unduly prejudiced against Ivory, and this feeling would naturally militate against his acquittal by the jury.

Mr. Ecclestone's Return.

Toronto, Jan. 14.

The numerous friends of Mr. A. E. Ecclestone will be pleased to know that he yesterday returned to his home safe and sound. His absence was due to mental worry, induced by overwork, and since Friday last he has been taking a much-needed rest.

AUSTRALIA'S NEEDS.

A Chance for Canadians to Do Business

IF THEY TAKE THE PROPER STEPS

Thousands of Tons of Wheat and Flour Have to be Imported by the Antipodeans, and Much Has Been Ordered From the States—Mr. Larke's Report.

Ottawa, Jan. 13.—(Special.)—Commissioner Larke, in his monthly report to the Department of Trade and Commerce, estimates that 3,000,000 bushels of wheat, or its equivalent in flour, will be required to meet the deficiency in the Australian colonies this year. The Americans have profited by the opening, and Mr. Larke finds that some 60,000 tons of wheat have been contracted for, the greater quantity to be sent from New York.

The trade in varnishes with Canada has had to be dropped on account of the irregularity in shipment. Australians want their orders filled and sent without delay, and if this is not done they will look elsewhere for supplies. The Canadian dealers do not half appreciate this fact.

Canadian cheese is evidently not appreciated in Australia, at least it has met with a poor reception. The fact is, the Australians know nothing about the article and prefer English cheese.

The great hindrance to the development of Canadian trade in Australia is that Canada and its resources and products are no more known there than Australia is known to the average Canadian. There is a widespread belief that in Canada there are no large factories, no large industries, and, unfortunately, the action of our own dealers in delaying their shipments has tended to confirm the impression. Canadians are too much afraid of sending samples of their goods. The new tariff of Queensland gives a good opening for Canadian carriages.

COMMENTS ON THE TREATY.

Opinion is General That the Agreement Will Have a Beneficial Effect.

New York, Jan. 13.—The Journal this morning devotes considerable space to messages received by that paper from some of Europe's greatest statesmen containing their opinions of the Anglo-American general arbitration treaty. All the statesmen agree, the paper says, that the treaty will have a strong influence on Europe.

William E. Gladstone cables as follows: "I rejoice in the signature of the Anglo-American treaty. It would be too much to expect that the quarrels of nations throughout the world should be got rid of by means of such treaties, but they indicate a sound conviction worthy of Christians, and constitute a step in the path of real progress."

Ex-Prime Minister Crispi of Italy cables: "I consider the question deserves to be seriously studied. I admit the question of arbitration has made a great step forward, which permits one to hope for others before the close of the century. The treaty between Great Britain and the United States ought to encourage Italy to negotiate in her turn. It would be possible for the moment with Switzerland, Great Britain and Austria. Still, I do not believe treaties will be so quickly concluded between the great powers because of the too acute jealousy of their respective interests and their different ambitions. The questions of the east and Africa will continue to excite difficulties and dangers, and in these cases alliances will always be more efficacious than treaties."

Archbishop Walsh's message reads: "I hold strongly that the principle of arbitration should be applied, if conciliation or mediation is not available, for the settlement of disputes, whether domestic or international, in all things, great or small."

German Expressions.

Berlin, Jan. 13.—The Norddeutsche Allegmeine eitung thinks that the European powers are not likely to follow the example set by Great Britain and the United States in the arbitration treaty. "Ordinary diplomacy," says the paper, "will suffice to settle money disputes, while territorial questions are of very different importance to Europe than to England and America, who are separated by the ocean."

The Boersen Courier thinks that the treaty imposes great obligations upon America, and that it should in future not tolerate filibustering expeditions to Cuba.

PANAMA CANAL CULPRITS.

Ex-Minister Baihaut, Charles de Lesseps and Blondin Must Pay the Fine.

Paris, Jan. 13.—The inquiry into the question of the responsibility of the Panama Canal culprits for the fines imposed upon them was closed to-day. The tribunal decided that ex-Minister Baihaut, Charles de Lesseps and Blondin were responsible for the fine of 391,000 francs imposed upon Baihaut, in addition to a term of imprisonment, for connection with the Panama scandal. Baihaut was released from prison a few months ago, but on Dec. 11 was arrested in order that he might serve two years' additional imprisonment for failure to pay the fine. He is now in prison, where he will remain, and if they return to France Blondin and de Lesseps will be put in jail.

Sherman for the Cabinet.

Washington, Jan. 13.—Senator Sherman this afternoon declined absolutely to discuss the Cabinet gossip, calling his name for the portfolio of the State Department. He even went so far as to refuse to answer the question whether he was going to confer with President-elect McKinley. It is said from another source that Mr. Sherman will leave the latter part of this week ostensibly for his home in Mansfield, but that he will stop off at Canton and have a conference with Mr. McKinley at the latter's request. The fact that Senator Sherman will enter the Cabinet is accepted by his colleagues in the Senate as a well-settled matter.

Belleville Lady Burned to Death.

Belleville, Jan. 13.—Last night Miss Eliza Dame, who lived with her brother on Hotel-street, was burned to death. She fell with a coal oil lamp in her hand, and was alone in the house at the time. The fire did not do any damage of consequence to the premises. Deceased was a native of Belleville, and was about 65 years of age.

It is often difficult to convince people their blood is impure, until dreadful carbuncles, abscesses, boils, scrofula or salt rheum, are painful proof of the fact. It is wisdom now, or whenever there is any indication of A False Rumour.

A false rumour has been circulated about the streets for the past few days that Waller & Co., Grocers, Charlotte street, had closed up. ANNUAL MEETING OF HORTICULTURISTS.

THE PETERBOROUGH AND ASHBURNHAM SOCIETY.

Reports of the Year Received and Officers Elected for 1897—Votes of Thanks to the President and Retiring Secretary.

The Peterborough and Ashburnham Horticultural Society held its annual meeting last evening, in the council chamber, with Dr. Burnham, the president, in the chair. Other members in attendance were Messrs. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., Jas. Stevenson, Col. H. C. Rogers, W. H. Foord, T. A. S. Hay, Felix Brownscombe, Fred Dixon, J. H. Roper, J. H. Cobb, T. E. Bradburn, John Irwin, Walter Stocker, A. Saunders and W. Jordan.

Mr. A. H. Cobb resigned the secretaryship, and Mr. Felix Brownscombe was appointed temporarily to fulfill the duties for the evening.

THE DIRECTORS REPORT.

Peterborough, Jan. 9th, 1895.

To the Members of the Peterborough and Ashburnham Horticultural Society:

GENTLEMEN,—Your Directors beg to submit the following report; that the annual exhibition of the Society was fairly successful, the quantity and quality of exhibition in classes 1 and 4 being much larger and better than in previous years, but exhibits in class 2 were not up to the average, while the attendance was not as large as the previous year. The the Directors think may be partly accounted for by the action of the government in stating that the grant must no longer be applied to fine arts and ladies work, and your Directors suggest that some means be adopted whereby these departments may be revived, or other special attractions furnished so that we may retain the interest of the ladies and public generally.

As great interest is now taken in the fall exhibits of chrysanthemums, now held in all large towns and cities, your Directors would suggest that some action be taken by the society to encourage the holding of a similar exhibition here.

The committee appointed to wait on the town council were unable to obtain the grant of $600 asked for, and consequently the Directors were unable to carry out the necessary improvements but procured as many new seats for the park as the limited means at our disposal warranted.

As it will be absolutely necessary to have all the walks in park re-gravelled this spring, also the fountain repaired, the Directors would urge that you appoint a committee to wait on the new council at an early date and urge as strongly as possible for a grant of not less than $600, so that these much needed improvements may be made.

Your Directors have advertised for tenders for care of Park during the coming season, which, when received, will be submitted to the new Board.

GEORGE BURNHAM, M.D., President. A. H. COBB Secretary.

The treasurer submitted his annual report as appended:

THE CARETAKER'S REPORT.

To the Directors of the Peterborough and Ashburnham Horticultural Society:

GENTLEMEN,—Your caretaker begs leave to report that the spring of 1896 opened very early. The 7th of April I had the Park raked of all the dead leaves, up to the Court House, and rolled, which I think never was done before to my recollection. On the first of May I had the fence removed and the old seats painted and repaired and placed in position. The waste pipe from the fountain had to be repaired, and the walks and drains also. On the 27th of May I started to plant the beds and placed the urns and pots in position. The centre bed was filled with sub-tropical plants of a rare kind, and the effect was good.

The Park Committee has added to the park ten new seats, at a cost of $45.00; also one new lawn mower at a cost of $12 00; two new grass rakes at a cost of $1.25, one basket at 50c. and one pail at 25c.

Through the kindness of Mr. Nesbitt I have had the new seats stored at the Court House, in a dry place. The mower and other tools I brought to my own house and stored away in a dry shed, as the water runs down in the band stand and rusts them.

I wish to state that the walks in the park will have to be repaired in the spring, as the cinders are all worn off and the clay is coming up through, and the fountain should be painted and levelled up as it has sunk on one side. The overflow pipe will have to be connected with the sewer and we will have to ask the town council for $100 more grant, as the park will be spoiled if not repaired at once.

I wish to return my thanks to the Park Committee, Messrs. A. Hall, Nesbitt and Foord for their kind assistance.

Yours truly,
J. H. COBB,
Caretaker.

On motion all of the reports were adopted.

Moved by Mr. J. R. Stratton, M. P. P., and seconded by Mr. T. A. Hay, that the thanks of the society be tendered to the President, Dr. Geo. Burnham, and retiring Secretary, A. H. Cobb, for the very efficient manner in which each of them performed their respective duties during the past year, and the untiring interest taken by them to advance the society's interests.—Carried.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

Messrs. J. H. Roper and T. E. Bradburn were re-appointed auditors and the election of officers resulted as follows:

President—Dr. Burnham.
First Vice-President—D. W. Dumble.
Second Vice-President—J. R. Stratton, M. P. P.
Treasurer—W. H. Hill.
Directors—R. D. Hamilton, J. H. Roper, H. C. Rogers, T. E. Bradburn, J. Burnham, Q.C., T. A. Hay, Adam Hall, Henderson Nesbitt, W. H. Foord and John Irwin.

SOME RESOLUTIONS.

Mr. J. H. Cobb and Mr. W. H. Ford moved "That as a recognition of his long and faithful services to this society, James Stevenson, Esq., be elected an honourary member of the Peterborough and Ashburnham Horticultural Society."—Carried.

On motion, the committee appointed to superintend the parks will be composed of Messrs. Hall, Foord and Nesbitt.

Messrs. Dumble, Roper, Foord, Nesbitt and Hay were appointed a committee to revise the prize list.

The Secretary and President were authorised to act as solicitors of subscriptions for the Society, with power to enlist the services of any of the directors.

On motion of Messrs. T. A. Hay and Mr. Stocker, a committee was appointed to wait on the town and Ashburnham councils to ask for a grant to the Society. The committee is composed of Messrs. Dr. Burnham, Bradburn, Roper, Hill, Dumble and Stratton.

The report of the auditors being satisfactory, was adopted.

A discussion took place regarding the advisability of creating a class for the benefit of market gardeners. The matter was left to the Prize List Committee to settle.

Mr. T. A. Hay asked for an expression as to feasibility of the Society assuming charge of the Central Park and transforming it into another spot of beauty such as the Court House Park.

The following resolution in reference to the matter was adopted on motion of Messrs. T. A. Hay and J. R. Stratton:

That the President of this Society be requested to communicate with the town council with a view to the Horticultural Society assuming the caretaking of the Central Park, and that be be empowered to say to the council that the Society will relieve the town of the responsibility of the important work, provided the council supply a reasonable amount from year to year for this purpose, in addition to the amount now appropriated to the Court House Park, and they will confer with a committee of the town council as to the adoption of a plan for the placing of the park in a proper condition.

Mr. Stocker was anxious to see the Society take up the matter of holding a chrysanthemum show in September.

It was pointed out by Mr. T. E. Bradburn that this flower could not be brought to perfection without the assistance of a greenhouse.

Mr. Cobb was enthusiastic in his support of the idea, and was sure that a sufficient quantity would be placed on exhibition to ensure the success of the scheme.

It was resolved, on motion of Messrs. Roper and Bradburn, that this Society would approve of the directors of this Society arranging a chrysanthemum exhibition this fall, and that they be requested to hold one if at all possible and feasible.

The meeting then adjourned.

THE FLOWER SOCIAL.

It Proved a Grand Success Last Evening in the C. L. A. Rooms.

The success which attended the Flower Social held last evening under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Catholic Literary Association surpassed that which has been attained at any of the previous entertainments.

The social took place in the C. L. A. parlours in the Cox block, and the large concert hall attached to the apartments was very prettily decorated for the occasion. Great loops of red, white and blue bunting were stretched from the extremities of the room to the centre of the ceiling, and flags were artistically draped upon the walls.

Each gentleman on entering the room was presented with a flower and a lady was given the duplicate. An amusing half hour was spent in "pairing" the flowers and a partner for the first dance on the programme was thus acquired.

Butcher's orchestra was present, furnishing good music, and Mr. Michael Costello made, as usual, a most obliging and efficient master of ceremonies. About fifty couples were present and a most enjoyable evening was spent.

Refreshments were served at midnight and too much credit cannot be accorded the ladies for the manner in which the evening passed off.

CABOT OR "CABO?"

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—In the schools the pupils are taught to pronounce the surname of the discoverer of Canada, "Cabo," making the final "t" silent. Is this right? My uncle says it should be pronounced as it is written. By answering in your paper you will oblige.

Yours truly,
LITTLE SCHOOL GIRL.

January 12th, 1897.

[Your uncle is right. There seems to be no reason for the pronounciation mentioned of the great discoverer's name, beyond an affectation of familiarity, with the peculiarity of French orthoepy that makes "t" silent at the end of most words. Cabot should be pronounced as written, and there is no more reason for calling it "Cabo" than there is for saying teapo for teapot, sho for shot, or for addressing John Abbott as John Abbo. The Cabots were Italians—Venetians—and the spelling of the name in contemporary documents is "Kabotto"—very easily metamophised into the present English form, Cabot.—"A little knowledge is a dangerous thing."—ED. EXAMINER.

A Wonderful Entertainment Coming to Peterborough.

It is not often that the people of Peterborough have the opportunity of seeing such a wonderful entertainment as that which will be offered to them on the 21st inst. That most marvellous invention, "the Cinematographe," which was the greatest attraction, and which has been delighting so many thousands in Toronto and other western towns for the past three months, will be at Bradburn's Opera House, Peterborough, for one week, commencing on Thursday, the 21st January. It is impossible to properly describe the wonderful entertainment given by the Cinematographe, but imagine yourself taking a tour in a couple of hours to England, France, Spain, Italy, Germany and other parts of the world, and actually seeing things occurring exactly as though you were on the spot looking at them. Persons and vehicles passing along the streets of London or Paris, busses and street cars running, people riding bicycles and on horseback, all moving naturally life size, soldiers drilling and marching, cavalry charging, artillery firing, the ocean waves rolling, people bathing, buildings falling, processions, trains arriving and the passengers alighting, and many other amusing and entertaining scenes, and you have some idea of what the Cinematographe will show you, as if everyone you see were alive and actually in front of you. It has been spoken of by the press and everyone who has seen it, as something marvellous, and those who do not see it now will miss the sight of a life time. It provides an interesting and novel entertainment lasting over an hour, thirty scenes being given, and those who wish can see them two or three times over, as most of those who patronize it frequently do.

ONTARIO SPEAKERSHIP.

The Lindsay Post of Wednesday, Jan. 13th, says: It is to be hoped that the vacant Speakership of the Local Legislature will be offered to Mr. J. R. Stratton, the popular member for West Peterborough, as his friends generally feel that his ability entitles him to special recognition at the hands of the Government. Mr. Stratton is one of the most capable members of the Ontario House, and no member put up a better fight against stronger opposition in the outset than did the member for West Peterborough. The result of his several terms in the Legislature has given the electors such confidence in him as to make his re-election for each new Parliament a foregone conclusion."

[The kind remarks of the Post are heartily appreciated by the EXAMINER, but under the circumstances, they can only possess a sentimental value, as Mr. Stratton has not sought, nor is he now seeking, the position of Speaker.]

Games! Games!

Indoor Games during these long winter evenings are popular pastimes—so interesting and amusing in spending a pleasant hour or two with friends. We carry all kinds of games and are supplying evening parties at a discount off every former price.

Playing Cards.

Special prices for Evening Parties, whether Progressive Games, Pedro or Euchre—5c, 10c, 15c, 25c and 50c per package.

Crokinole.

Combination Crokinole, Checkers and Table. Readily taken up, and adapted to old and young of both sexes. A very social game, as it admits of free conversation and furnishes entertainment to any number of spectators as well as the parties playing. Sufficiently fascinating to make home the most attractive place.

Fort.

Purely a game of skill. Everyone present can take part. Played with cue and balls.

Louisa.

Parcheesi Revised. Combines chance with moderate skill. Played by the throws of two dice, four men of each player are entered.

Steeple Chase.

A mimic horse race. Horses are entered and moved over the spaces on the race track according to the throws of dice.

Parcheesi.

The back gammon board of India. The Eastern Rajahs are passionately fond of Parcheesi.

Halma.

A magnificent game to while away a pleasant hour. It is for two, three or four players, but even one may play a lone hand and improve the mental faculties by studying its "solitaires."

Go-Bang.

One of the most remarkable games. It is tit-tat-to improved. Yet with all its simplicity it fascinates old as well as young.

Lotto.

A set of cards, laid off in properly numbered squares and a set of ninety numbered pieces. Well-known and largely played.

OLD MAID,	LOST HEIR,
AUTHORS,	SNAP,
NATIONS,	CHECKERS,
PEGGY WINKLE,	CHESS,
LOGOMACHY,	DOMINOES,

Calling Cards and Invitations.

We carry none but the best Ivory Bristol in each size, with the finest finish, in pure white, thick and thin, neatly put up in boxes.

We constantly aim to keep a very fine stock of Invitation Note Paper and Envelopes to match, Invitation Cards with Envelopes, and delicately tinted Invitation Note Paper with tinted Envelopes to match.

CURLIANA.

As the result of yesterday's draw Keene is the winners of group No. 2, of the Tankard series, and therefore entitled to go to Toronto and play off in the finals. As stated yesterday, Keene defeated Millbrook in the morning, and in the afternoon ran up against Campbellford, and were again victorious. The rinks were drawn as follows :

Campbellford.	Keene.
RINK NO. 1.
Geo A Bence,	A Eason,
J C Fowlds,	H J English,
J R McUrea,	R Londerville,
C L Owens, sk.....18	W Campbell, sk.....22
RINK NO. 2.
R Dinwoodie,	R Brown,
D Douglas,	C Bell,
Dr Macoun,	R McCumus,
E Gaudrie, skip ...13	R Mcln yre, sk.....19
26	42

Majority for Keene, 6 shots.

Skips Gaudrie and McIntyre had it nip and tuck from the start, but Skip Campbell took and held a big lead over Skip Owens all through, till almost the end, when by his fine skipping the latter pulled up and was only beaten out by five shots. Skip Owens is very anxious to get back at his opponent, and challenges him to play the same rink against him in Campbellford, when playing in a medal competition there later on in the winter.

Two more matches were played off in the Innes medal series last night, resulting as follows :

Thistles.	Granites.
A J Gough,	W F Nelson,
C N Brown,	F McNee,
Geo Brown,	Geo Morrow,
H LeBrun, sk.....13	Geo Edmison, sk.....15
O R Shortly,	W H Hill,
G S Ames,	F J Rogers,
T Connal,	W L Allen,
R B McKee, sk.....14	R M Dennistoun, sk..11

The result of this contest now stand as follows :

Thistles.	Granites.
R H Kells 7	J Connal.....24
H LeBrun.....13	Geo Edmison.....15
R B McKee.....14	R M Dennistoun...11
33	50

Majority for Granites, 17 shots.

To-nights the following draws will be played off :

W G Ferguson.....vs.....T P Attrill
J B Pentland.....vs.....E B Edwards

A scratch match was played off at the rink last night with the following result :

John McKee,	W J Thompson,
A Slade,	John McClelland,
G Brown,	G Fitzgerald,
J B Pentland, sk....13	D Bellegham, sk.....15

The entries for the Lindsay bonspiel are slowing creeping up. The figures are now : Double rinks, 30 ; single rinks, 47. There are quite a large number of clubs in the east that have not yet sent in their entries. These are fully expected within the next day or two, so that the gathering next week gives promise of being the largest of its kind ever held in Ontario. The weather of the past few days has enabled the committee to get their rinks in readiness, so that a change in the weather now will make but little difference to them. Clubs from the west are reminded that they must arrive on the evening train on Monday. Teams in the first draw will commence playing at ten o'clock on Tuesday morning and western clubs should make certain of being on time.

HOCKEY.

The seniors are going out of town tomorrow for a several of days in order to have the benefit of a couple of foreign matches before they have to play off against Queens. The Executive thinks, rightly, that there is far more good to be derived from the playing of one match then from half a dozen practices and therefore the trip was resolved upon. On Friday the boys will play in Napanee, which possesses a fast team and one that will probably head the list this year in the Bay of Quinte League. On Saturday night a game will be played in Brockville where the Peterboroughs will have their work cut out for them, as the team of that place is reported to be one of the crack organizations of the east. An effort was made to get on a game in Kingston but without result.

All the senior team will be able to take in the trip with the exception of Montgomery and Thorne will probably be taken along in his place.

Kingston hockeyists are about to practice on a small rink at Rockwood Hospital in order to be better able to cope with the Peterboroughs. The local team should take a leaf out of their book and go down to Norwood for a few practices on the large rink there.

The bus which will take the lacrosse team of hockeyists to Lakefield will leave the post office at seven o'clock sharp this evening.

The following players are called out on the ice to night : Dixon, Glover, Macgachan, Thorne, Grubbe, King, Jeffries, Watt, O'Connor, Crossley, Comstock, Bellegham, D. Davidson and Hopkins.

"CANADIAN BOYS."

The following "poem" has been sent in. It was a little difficult to classify. While its literary merit is undeniable, it has a "swift" savour of sentiment and style that seems to justify it being turned over to the sporting editor. While its literary merit gives it value it is also valuable as showing how early and how strongly the rulary passion develops in the female heart. In the school girl or poetic age, the boys rule the girls ; in the matrimonial or prosaic age the women rule the men, as shown by the energy with which they cater to the business of the wig-maker. Here is the maiden poem of "two school girls" :

Ottawa boys are rather homely,
Hamilton boys look very lonely,
Toronto boys are crack(ed) hockey players,
And London boys are heavy weights,
Brockville boys are very lake sick,
Whitby boys chew lots of gum,
St. Thomas boys like plenty of rum,
Cornwall boys can play lacrosse,
Napanee boys, they say, are "boss,"
Kingston boys should wear striped suits,
Belleville boys think they are "beauts," Omemee boys are rather funny,
Woodstock boys fish for girls with money,
St. Kitt's boys are rather foolish,
Barrie boys are very mulish,
Owen Sound boys are always in a flurry,
Collingwood boys can never hurry,
Picton boys are small and naughty,
Port Hope boys are terribly haughty,
Millbrook boys are rather greedy,
Prescott boys are quite too "speedy,"
Pembroke boys are fond of fun,
Perth boys "go them better," by one,
Arnprior boys are ready for cake-walk,
Carleton Place boys are regular fakes,
Almonte boys are called wind-bags,
Gananoque boys are true to their flags,
Bowmanville boys are great on pose,
Ottawa boys have cheeks like a rose,
Beaverton boys are all good hunters,
Woodville boys are more like grunters,
Bobcaygeon boys live on fat pork,
Pen' talls boys should "put in the cork,"
Midland boys are very saucy,
Warsaw boys have hair so glossy,
Orangeville boys are good to the girls,
Guelph boys cultivate curls,
Galt boys have just enough salt,
Strathroy boys are never in fault,
Seaforth boys have very large feet,
Newmarket boys dress very neat,
Aurora boys wear bright red ties,
Markham boys are not troubled with flies,
Clinton boys are inclined to be fat,
Walkerton boys are afraid of a rat.
Ingersoll boys are found in deep thought,
Chatham boys can never be taught,
Kincardine boys have fine ivory teeth,
Sarnia boys as a rule come to grief,
Goderich boys are hard to beat,
Trenton boys are small and sweet,
Brighton boys think themselves wise,
Cobourg boys have handsome eyes,
Brantford boys are great on the bike,
Milton boys are all alike,
Colborne boys are all for fun,
Orillia boys, when loosed, do run,
Uxbridge boys are splendid skaters,
Stratford boys can "mash" like 'taters,
Lindsay boys are awfully tough,
And Peterborough boys are "just the stuff."

AN APPEAL

To Citizens of Peterborough.

DEAR READERS, — Having withdrawn from the teaching profession again by the providence of God, I have taken residence with my family at 576 Aylmer street.

Being the only representative of the "Christ Life" east of Toronto, I shall receive and direct all persons desirous of obtaining and continuing the perfect experience.

No church, society, or individual outside the Christian Association illustrates and teaches the secret of the life of Jesus ; although christendom is endeavouring to be Christ-like and exhorts the world to do likewise.

My whole attention is directed to those who call upon me, or prefer to attend the regular meetings in my parlour every Tuesday and Saturday, from 3 p. m. to 5 p.m., and other meetings that will be arranged in other parts of the town and vicinity, as necessity may require.

The books entitled "Divine Guidance," the pamphlet on "How to Keep Converted," and the monthly periodical, "The Expositor of the Christ-Life," edited by Rev. Nelson Burns, B.A., and associate writers, may be had free upon application.

M. L. Henry & Co. to Their Customers.

The very encouraging nature of our business during the past year has determined us to use our very best efforts in continuing to give our customers very special advantages in goods and prices during 1897. In order to do this we must have the cash to pay for what we buy. Our customers will therefore help us and help themselves as well by settling their accounts without delay. Our customers owing overdue accounts will confer a favour by calling at the store before January 20th, and make arrangements for settlement of same. M. L. COLD SPRINGS, OTONABEE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

A pleasant social time was spent at Cold Springs on Tuesday evening, when the many friends of H. P. Kennedy met to give him a "send-off."

Mr. Kennedy has been connected with Cold Springs Sunday School for several years, and is going to reside in Peterborough in future, and this gathering was for the purpose of saying farewell to him, of spending a few pleasant hours together, and of presenting him with a tangible token of appreciation in the form of a beautiful clock. Mr. Kennedy made a suitable reply.

Mr. Chas. Munro, who is now in charge of our school, took honours at the recent Normal School examinations. We extend congratulations.

The Union Sunday School of this place held their annual business meeting Thursday, Jan. 7th, when reports of work done during the past year were read and the officers elected for 1897. The reports show the work to have been a prosperous one during the past twelve months. The financial report was very encouraging, the items will be given again. The following is a report of secretary and election of officers for ensuing year. The officers are as follows :—

Superintendent—Mr. D. Kennedy.
Assistant Superintendent — Mr. Alex. Huston.
Sec.-Treas.—Miss L. Bennett.
Home Class Sec.—Miss S. Bennett.
Organist—Miss Cassie Robertson.
Assistant Organist—Miss Flo Kitney.

The teachers of the past year were all re-appointed, with the exception of teacher for ladies' Bible class, which will in the future be conducted by Mr. D. Kennedy.

On Tuesday evening, January 12th, an interestigg entertainment was conducted by the Sunday school. On excellent programme was rendered and a pleasant social hour was spent. The most pleasing feature was the presentation made to Mr. H. P. Kennedy, who was the superintendent of the Sunday school during the past year. Mr. Kennedy is leaving this district to take up his residence in town under different auspices. Miss L. Bennett, secretary of the Sunday school, called Mr. Kennedy forward and with an informal address, tendered to him, on behalf of the Sunday school a beautiful bronze clock as a slight memento of the hours spent in the Master's work in this district and extended to him the heartfelt congratulations of the Sunday school with the hope that God would bless him and also his partner through life. Immediately after two members of Mr. Kennedy's class stepped forward and presented him with a gentleman's companion. Mr. Kennedy said he was a little perplexed at having so many kindnesses showered upon him all at once. He thanked them with all his heart and said his old home connections would be always dear to him, especially in the work in which he was called. The meeting was dispersed by singing "Blest be the tie that Binds."

LOSS OF VOICE

After Acute Bronchitis

CURED BY USING

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral

A PREACHER'S EXPERIENCE.

"Three months ago, I took a violent cold which resulted in an attack of acute bronchitis. I put myself under medical treatment, and at the end of two months was no better. I found it very difficult to preach, and concluded to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. The first bottle gave me great relief; the second, which I am now taking, has relieved me almost entirely of all unpleasant symptoms, and I feel sure that one or two bottles more will effect a permanent cure. To all ministers suffering from throat troubles, I recommend Ayer's Cherry Pectoral."—E. M. BRAWLEY, D. D., Dist. Secretary, Am. Bapt. Publication Society, Petersburg, Va.

MRS. BESSEY WON.

Mr. E. B. Eddy Loses to the Daughter of His First Wife a Case Involving a Large Amount of Money.

Ottawa, Jan. 12.—(Special.)—A cause celebre, or rather a number of them, came to a surprising termination in the Hull Superior Court to-day. For some years Mr. E. B. Eddy, the well-known manufacturer, has been at law with Mrs. Bessey, daughter of his first wife. There were four cases in all, and Mrs. Bessey scored a complete triumph over her father in each case, with the exception that Judge Gill disallowed her claim for furniture in the family dwelling at Hull. The amount involved will range from $350,000 to half a million dollars. The cases have attracted widespread attention. The first action was a claim of Mr. Eddy for properties amounting to $137,000, which he had given to the first Mrs. Eddy, mother of Mrs. Bessey. Mr. Eddy's counsel contended that by the law of Quebec a man could not make presents to his wife of the kind involved in the suit. The defence replied that inasmuch as Mr. and Mrs. Eddy were married in the State of Vermont the law of that State would apply. Judge Gill held this contention valid, pointing out that Mr. Eddy could not bring his wife to this country and deprive her of any rights which she held at the time of her marriage. Mrs. Bessey's claim to be declared owner of her late mother's jewelry was conceded in full, but the claim for furniture was disallowed as stated. The judge held that as it was purchased by Mr. Eddy in Canada it was his. In the third action Mrs. Bessey claimed to recover moneys held by her father on her behalf as her agent. This claim was also allowed, and Mr. Eddy ordered to render a complete account of these moneys, which consist of rents collected from the farms, dwellings and properties in dispute. Costs go to Mrs. Bessey in each case. It is likely an appeal will be instituted, but Mrs. Bessey's lawyer says they have no fear of results.

Why not profit by the experience of others who have found a permanent cure for catarrh in Hood's Sarsaparilla.

FIRE AT WALLACEBURG.

The Queen's Hotel Burning Fiercely at Two O'clock This Morning—Other Property in Danger.

Wallaceburg, Ont., Jan. 13, 2 a.m.—Shortly after 12 o'clock this morning fire broke out in the Queen's Hotel and is now burning fiercely, threatening the entire destruction of that building. The hotel, which is kept by Frank Hanning, is a high building and the best block in the city. Many of the inmates had a narrow escape and one man is reported to have perished in the flames. He is a tank-builder and hails from Cleveland. His name could not be learned. All the plate-glass windows on the opposite side of the street were broken by the heat. The fire may spread to adjoining buildings.

White Paper Pool Didn't Go.

New York, Jan. 12.—It was learned definitely this afternoon that the negotiations that have been pending for several weeks between manufacturers of white paper used by newspapers to effect a pooling arrangement whereby the product of all mills should be handled by a stock company with headquarters in this city, had fallen through and that the project has been abandoned.

Miss Ellen Beach Yaw Burst Her Jugular Vein and Bled to Death Before Her Audience.

Waterloo, Iowa, Jan. 12.—County Clerk H. D. Williams yesterday received notice of the tragic death of Miss Ellen Beach Yaw at Binghamton, N. Y. She was singing before an audience, and, in reaching the high notes for which her voice was famous, the jugular vein in her throat burst, and she bled to death on the stage before her hearers. Miss Yaw was able to reach the highest note of any cantatrice in the world, which was due to a peculiar formation of her throat. In straining to reach this note muscles in her throat were pressed against the jugular vein and injured this by abrasion until the membrane was worn through, causing hemorrhage. She had been warned by the best vocal masters that the result would be so if she persisted in singing so high, but the warning was not heeded. Miss Yaw was born in Boston, Erie County, N.Y., and was about 30 years of age.

FROM WEALTH TO PAUPERISM.

Thomas Hendricks Once Associated With Gould and Sage—Died a Pauper.

Chicago, Jan. 12.—Thomas Hendricks, 70 years old, who died at the County Hospital Dec. 31, has been saved from a pauper's grave by his nephew, L. M. Fletcher of San Francisco. Thirty years ago Hendricks was a broker in Wall-street and was the friend of such men as Jay Gould, Russell Sage and James Fisk. He was known as a daring speculator, and carried through many deals of vast importance. He met with reverses and then became estranged from his family. About 20 years ago he came to Chicago, and had lived here ever since. Mr. Hendricks was born in Varmont, and belonged to one of the best families in the Green Mountain State.

INSURANCE COMPANY MUST PAY.

A Canadian Company Mulcted in $10,000 in a New York Case.

New York, Jan. 12.—The trial of the suit brought by J. H. Mohlman & Company, wholesale grocers, against the Western Assurance Company of Toronto, Canada, in the United States Circuit Court, ended to-day. The demand of the plaintiffs was for $10,000, the amount of a policy issued by the defendants upon the stock in the building on North Moore-street, which was destroyed on the night of April 29, 1896. The issue in the case was whether the building collapsed as a result of fire or caught fire after it had fallen. The company refused to pay the policy on the ground that under a clause in the policy the collapse of a building from other causes than fire rendered it not responsible for any resulting loss. The jury returned with a verdict for the full amount demanded by the plaintiffs.

THE DURHAM CITY IN PORT.

Her Sister Ship, Damara, Drifted to Sea and Tugs Have Gone After Her—Battle With the Storm.

Halifax, Jan. 12.—A terrific snowstorm raged here all morning, accompanied by a very strong gale, and the steamers Damara and Durham City have had a terrific struggle with the elements. A tug was sent out, and at 10 o'clock to-night was seen entering the harbor with the Durham City, while the Damara, which has so long held on to her sister ship, drifted seaward. Shortly after midnight an official of the Furness line arrived up in a small boat, and said the Damara lost the other steamer by the breaking of a steel hawser connecting them, and it got tangled in the former's propeller. She was towed to a safe anchorage at Purcell's Cove, near the mouth of the harbor and left there.

The tug A. C. Whitney and another tug then started to overtake the Durham City, which drifted to the eastward after the accident. They will not likely get hold of her until 3 or 4 a.m.

"Let parents not live for their children, but with them." The mother should allow no false modesty to stand in the way of her daughter's knowledge of herself, of her possibilities, of her perils. For over thirty years Dr. Pearce has used his "Favorite Prescription" as a strengthener, a purifier, a regulator. It works directly upon the delicate, distinctly feminine organs, in a natural, soothing way. It searches out the weak spots and builds them up. A woman who would understand herself should send 31 cents to the World's Dispensary, Buffalo, N. Y., for Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser, a book of 1008 pages.

The little boy who tickles a tiger with a straw and the man who fools with his health are on a par. If there is any distinction it is in favor of the boy who imagines he is playing with a big cat and is not old enough to realize his danger. The man if he don't know, ought to know that when he neglects his health he is tempting fate and tampering with death. Nine men out of ten neglect their health. The result is that untold thousands fall victims every year to the insatiable tiger called consumption.

98 per cent. of all cases of consumption are cured by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It acts directly on the lungs, building new tissue in place of old, and driving out all impurities and disease germs. It corrects all disorders of the digestion, invigorates the liver and restores the lost appetite. It is the great blood-maker, flesh-builder, and nerve tonic. Thousands have testified to their recovery under its use after their cases were given up by the doctors and all hope was gone. The druggist who claims to have something that will do just as well is untrustworthy.

"I was afflicted for four years with local weakness, but would not confess it for a time," writes Mrs. Beulah Woodall, of Bateman, Patrick Co., Va. "My mother told me she had read of Dr. Pierce's medicines and advised me to try them. I took the 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and they cured me. I cannot praise Dr. Pierce's medicines too much."

Nothing will keep down the fortunes of an ambitious family more than big doctor's bills. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser enables a family to get along without calling in a doctor except in cases of serious illness or accidents. It teaches a mother how to treat the minor maladies and accidents of every-day life. It contains 1,008 pages, over 300 illustrations, and is written in plain English that any one can understand. Over a million homes own copies of it. A new edition is ready and will be given away absolutely FREE. If you want a paper-covered copy send thirty-one one-cent stamps, to cover the cost of customs and mailing only, to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y. If you want a fine cloth binding, send fifty one-cent stamps.

POWER FROM REFUSE.

Fifty-Five English Towns Generate It From Household Garbage.

Garbage and town refuse disposal is one matter where the cities of Europe are far ahead of those of this country. An ideal plant of this kind is that at Rockdale, England. Investigators have all agreed that burning is the best way to dispose of the accumulations. This preference is due to the fact that by this method not only is all organic matter liable to putrify and become a menace to the health of the community destroyed, but it has been found by actual trial that the heat derived from the burning of the refuse may be used for the production of steam, which can be utilized for commercial purposes, and the revenue received from this source may be sufficient to more than pay for the cost of burning. There are no less than fifty-five such destroyers in different parts of England. The health committee of Rockdale, a manufacturing town of 73,000 inhabitants, recently adopted the method, with the idea of ultimately using the steam produced for electric lighting purposes. It has been found that this rough, unscreened refuse, running as much as 35 per cent. of clinker and ash, will evaporate 1.6 pounds of water for every pound of refuse burned, under boilers built to produce steam at 120 pounds' pressure. Coal burned under the same boilers evaporated 7 pounds of water per pound of coal. The two boilers have a grate surface of 45 square feet each. In building the two destructor cells a large combustion chamber, common to both, was provided between them and the boilers, so that the gases could intermingle, and that time should be allowed for the combustion of gases before they came in contact with the comparatively cold surface of the boiler, noting the fact that if once the organic matter in the fumes were heated sufficiently high, no amount of subsequent cooling down could again make them malodorous.

It is interesting to note that it is not necessary to use coal to aid in the burning of this refuse. The plant has been able to produce 340 brake horse power, burning two tons of refuse per hour. This high efficiency is obtained with ordinary boilers by using a forced draught. The weight of the refuse is reduced two-thirds, and the volume three-fourths.

The author says in conclusion "The disposal of two-thirds of the refuse completely is an important matter, but when to this is added the fact that the remaining third is rendered quite free from any organic matter whatever, it is past conception that corporations and local companies will continue to tip such immense quantities of putrefactive matter away, when, if they put in suitable appliances and used the steam which can be produced the refuse might be burned and a profit made on the transaction."—Cassell's Magazine.

WINTER ETCHINGS.

The wind is growing crisper;
That makes our noses glow;
We hear it sigh and whisper;
"Look out for slush and snow."

The raven gaily circles—
The butcher does a jig;
While with his dirk he dirkles
The mellow rounded pig.

Oh, now the land is flowing
With cough drops lush and prime;
The elder mill is going
In rhapsodies of rhyme.

With joy our hearts are brimming,
Upon the frosty morn,
For while the sparrow's skimming
Song laden round the thorn,

We watch the withered grasses
That catch the crystal flake,
And pour rich gold molasses
Upon the buckwheat cake.

LEND YOUR EARS

To Your Back and Listen to its Talk—A Peterborough Man Tries It.

Did you know the back could talk;
Tell you why it aches and pains;
Tell you why it's lame and weak;
Warn you of the kidney's ills;
Tell you of Doan's Kidney Pills?
Listen to them when they speak.
Relieve the kidneys, cure the ache.
Bad back, acute pains and kidney ills,
Are quickly cured by Doan's Kidney Pills.

Here is proof of it at home. The testimony of Mr. George N. Graham, the genial host of the Oriental Hotel, Peterborough, is as follows:—

He says:—"I have been a great sufferer for some time with pain across the back, extending up between the shoulders, swelling of the limbs, dizziness, loss of appetite, and in fact felt completely broken up.

"I had lost 17 pounds in three months, and thought that I would never get better. I have taken many kinds of patent medicines, and have also been treated by medical men, but did not seem to get any better at all, in fact was constantly growing worse.

"I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertisement and got a box of them at Lynch's drugstore, and by the time I had taken one box noticed a marked change for the better.

"I have taken seven boxes altogether, and am now free from pain; the swelling in the limbs has disappeared, and my appetite is good. In fact, I feel that I am completely cured.

"I can heartily recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to those suffering from any form of kidney trouble. They are the best kidney medicine I have ever used.

Signed, GEO. N. GRAHAM.

THE DUCHER MURDER.

John E. Sullivan Placed on Trial at Dorchester, N. B., Charged With the Crime.

Dorchester, N.B., Jan. 12.—The trial of John E. Sullivan, charged with murdering Mrs. Ducher at Meadowbrook, midway between Moncton and this place last autumn, began here to-day. It will be recollected that the body of the dead woman was found in the ruins of the burned dwelling, while her little girl, Maggie, was rescued, but so injured that she was unable to speak. The big watchdog was found dead near the ruins.

Suspicion was directed to Sullivan, who was employed near the scene of the tragedy as a mill hand. He had been in Moncton after the murder with an unusual amount of money, and that a lot of money had been in Mrs. Ducher's possession was known to be a fact.

Sullivan disappeared, was traced to St. Croix, Me., near the Charlotte County boundary, arrested and came back to stand his trial without the process of extradition. The result of the preliminary inquiry was his committal for trial at the County Assizes, which are now being held here.

The story of little Maggie Ducher, who has now recovered her speech, is looked forward to with considerable interest.

True Bill Against Sullivan.

Moncton, N.B., Jan. 12.—At Dorchester to-day the grand jury returned a true bill against John Sullivan for the murder here five months ago of Mary Ducher and her son Harris. Sullivan is also charged with attempting to murder Maggie Ducher, a young daughter of Mrs. Ducher.

TEN YEARS TROUBLED

With Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia—Suffered Greatly and Found No Relief in the Scores of Medicines Prescribed.

South American Nervine Was Recommended, and Before Half a Bottle Was Taken Relief Came.

Have Since Improved Rapidly, and Am Now Completely Cured—So says Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont.

What ills come to humanity from a disordered liver! Henry Ward Beecher has said that it was impossible for a man to hold correct spiritual views if his liver was out of order. The liver is so important a part of the mechanism of man that when it ceases to work with ease the whole man is unable to do his work aright. Can we not appeal to thousands, nay, tens of thousands, for a verification of this fact? Certainly it is, that Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont., felt that the enjoyment of life had been taken from him, through the unhealthy condition of his liver. For ten years he says he was troubled with liver complaint and dyspepsia. Employing his own language: "At times my liver was so tender I could not bear it pressed or touched from the outside. Had tried a great many remedies without any benefit. Was compelled to drop my work, and being worse than usual, I decided as a final resort to try South American Nervine, which had been recommended to me by friends who had been cured by it. I got a bottle from A. S. Goodeve, local druggist, and commenced taking according to directions. Before I had taken half a bottle I was able to go to work again, and I have improved steadily since. I can conscientiously recommend South American Nervine to any suffering from dyspepsia or liver complaint." This is Mr. Reid's story as he tells it in his own words. Were it thought necessary it could be corroborated by a host of witnesses. Mr. Reid has lived a long time in Chesley, and his case was known to be a very bad one. But that makes no difference to Nervine. This great discovery rises equal to the most trying occasions. Let it be indigestion, the most chronic liver trouble, as with Mr. Reid, nervous prostration, that makes life miserable with so many, sick headaches, that sap all the effort out of man or woman, Nervine measures to the necessities of the case. It is a great medicine and thousands to-day in Canada are happier and healthier men and women, because of its discovery. There is no great secret about it, and yet there is an important secret. It operates on the nerve centers of the system from which emanate all life and healthfulness, or if disordered, sickness, even death. Nervine strikes promptly at the nerve centers, hence, as with Mr. Reid, where ten years' use of other medicines had done no good, less than a bottle of Nervine brought about encouraging results, and a few bottles cured.

NORWOOD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Teachers' salaries are still a subject of interest.

The ratepayers are after their "pound of flesh."

The light snowfall of Saturday and Sunday brought out a few cutters on Monday.

Services are being held this week in the Methodist church, preparatory to commencing special revival work.

A matrimonial cyclone has struck the town and vicinity, carrying off some of our fairest daughters, and creating havoc with the young men. On Wednesday last Miss Rosa Burgess, daughter of Mr. J. Burgess of Belmont, was united in marriage to Mr. J. Sanderson of Smith. We wish the happy couple many joys and much happiness through life.

Wednesday also witnessed the joining together of one of Hastings young men, Mr. Thos. Fraser, a former resident of Norwood, and son of Mr. A. Fraser, and Miss Maggie Tulip, daughter of Robert Tulip of Asphodel. We also wish these two young people much joy in their new life.

Rumour says—"More to follow."

The first hockey match of the season will be played at the Norwood rink on Monday evening between the Peterborough Intermediates and Norwood.

The "Arcade" store is undergoing some improvements in the way of counter repairings.

The new officers of the C.O.F. were duly installed at their meeting on Monday evening. The lodge, which is a new one, is in a flourishing condition.

The newly appointed officers of the C.O.F. were duly installed at their meeting on Thursday evening, W. J. Patterson, D. D. G. M., being present and officiating in the lodge behalf.

The L. O. L. held their annual district meeting on Tuesday last and transacted considerable business in connection with the order.

A street "scrap" will probably form a subject of legal investigation.

The mail cart running between Norwood and Hastings met with a mishap on Wednesday of last week, owing to the rough condition of the roads, which resulted in the breaking of the rear axle and causing some little delay in the delivery of the mails.

Rev. Mr. Lambly, of Brooklyn, Ont., occupied the pulpit of the Methodist church morning and evening last Sunday. On Monday evening he delivered a very interesting and profitable lecture on the subject of "Grit, Grace and Gumption," the occasion being the 51st anniversary of the establishment of the Methodist church here. The total collections amounted to $81.

The appointment of the township of Asphodel of a trustee to represent them at the Normal School Board for the next three years, resulted in a tie between the contestants, Rev. Father Conway and John McNaughton. Reeve J. Andrews declined to give the casting vote and the matter was left over until the next meeting of the council. Dr. Ford was reappointed to represent the village of Norwood on the board for the next two years.

Mr. Burt Cress, a former resident of Norwood, has charge of night work at the C.P.R. station here, at present.

Mr. P. W. Reynolds paid Peterborough a business visit on Tuesday.

[illegible] Saturday, attending business in Peterborough.

Miss M. A. Mahaffy, Milton, is visiting her sister, Miss Cameron, Spring street, this week.

Dr. Hall, D.D.S., has opened a branch office at Hastings, which he attends one day in each week.

R. J. Stewart, our popular stove and tinware merchant, is disposing of his business and will give his whole time as general organizer for the Canadian Order of Foresters in the near future.

Mrs. A. F. Fitzgerald left town to-day (Thursday) to join her husband, who has established a dairy business at Rochester. We regret losing our young friends, and will miss their genial company in church and social circles.

Mr. W. Fry, sr., overseer of the wheel department at J. Finlay & Sons wheel and hub factory, was taken suddenly ill while at work Monday afternoon. Dr. Moffat was sent for and on arriving soon put Mr. Fry on his feet again. We are pleased to say the illness was only of a temporary nature.

Alex. Campbell, of Peterborough, local representative of the Arts Goods Manufacturing Co. Toronto, is in town this week in the interests of the firm.

Miss Hall has returned from Tweed where she has been superintending the Millinery department in Mr. Black's general store, and will be at home for a few weeks visit.

Misses Murdock and Morrison returned to Norwood on Tuesday, having completed a few weeks visit with Miss M. Morrison, Warkworth.

Mr. Thos. Foster, after an absence of several years, has been visiting his brother, Mr. D. Foster, the past week.

Mr. Black, Tweed, was in the village on Thursday.

The curlers have been practising for a match with Keene, but for some unaccountable reason word was sent that they could not play. The players feel quite disappointed.

The funeral of Mrs. E. Cameron took place Wednesday afternoon, the remains being interred in Cameron's cemetery, First concession, Asphodel.

The annual business meeting of the A.O.U.W. was held last week. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Bro Hiram Fry	W M
" W H Hutchinson	Financier
" W H Brethren	Recorder
" W H Tucker	Receiver

GOUGH BROS.

The Wonderful Cheap Men.

A CREDITABLE DAIRYMEN'S EDITION.

The Brockville Recorder is seventy-seven years old but it still shows the vitality and vigour of youth. Our contemporary has issued a splendid special edition, commemorative of the annual meeting of the Eastern Dairymen's Association, held in Brockville. This enterprising action is timely as well as apropos, Brockville district claiming the distinction of being the place where the co-operative system of cheese manufacture was first introduced. The special edition consists of eight closely printed quarto-double royal pages, containing a series of historical articles bearing upon every aspect of the dairy industry—especially the cheese side, all illustrated by the portraits of the authors who are also authorities in their specialties in dairy matters, including portraits of Hon Sidney Fisher, Dominion Minister of Agriculture, and Hon. John Dryden, Ontario Minister of Agriculture. The coloured cover is a veritable picture gallery of portraits of prominent cheese men in Brockville and vicinity, especial prominence being given to Mr. P. W. Strong, Brockville, the "father of co-operative dairying in Ontario." This special edition is "just the cheese," a credit to the district, and to the enterprising manager of the Recorder, Mr. G. P. Graham, and should appeal strongly to the appreciation of the constituency and the interests, it is so admirably intended to serve.

WELL DONE.

"The better the day, the better the deed." The better the ad., and the better the mediums used, the better the results.

If you have something that the people need, advertise with "courage and faith," and the people at home and abroad will respond to your profit.

Do not forget that an advertisement is "perpetual motion," if it is good it will wear its way into the people's memory, with consequent results to you.

Here is a suggestion—"Make your advertisement an argument, deriving its force from the situation, and present it clearly to all to whom it is addressed."

By advertisers I mean those who know that advertising "well done" is bound to bring success.

—AT THE—

GOLDEN LION.

We take pleasure in announcing to the Ladies of Peterborough and surrounding districts that we will add to the already many important departments of this Great Dry Goods House

A Ladies' Whitewear Department

In which will be found all kinds of Ladies' Whitewear of the very latest style and cut. These garments are now in the hands of skilled operators and we will have them opened up for inspection in a few days. We would urge all ladies to see these goods, for they are all new and cannot be excelled for style and low price. Mr. Fair is at present visiting the American Markets and will inspect some of the leading manufactures of these goods with a view of adding to this New Department some of the Latest American styles.

SECOND CROP OF BARGAINS

As there is a good deal of winter yet before us, it is unnecessary to point out the wisdom of buying now.

This is the month of lucky chances and snaps in mid-winter goods. An aftermath of Bargains for shrewd buyers—lines which we have laid out during stock-taking such as Serges, Cheviots, Heavy Tweeds and other Remnants, as well as Millinery, to be sold even at HALF REGULAR PRICES.

We don't want to carry winter lines past their regular selling season. No relics here. This store is not a museum. We have neither old goods nor old ideas.

You need the goods—we need the room they occupy—so there is mutual benefit all round in the selling of them.

We don't "rest-up" during the winter months and take things easy until spring. While others are resting we're simply HUSTLING.

GAVE THE LOCAL MEN POINTERS

As to the Proper Way to Stuff the Ballot Boxes. One Witness Said — Hugh John Macdonald Will Admit Bribery by Agents—News From the Prairie Capital.

Winnipeg Jan. 14.—(Special.)—In the trial of the deputy returning officers charged with ballot box stuffing in Macdonald constituency Deputies Waller, Anderson and Clarke have been sent up for trial. Mr. Freeborn, one of the deputies, stated that he was seen by Mr. Boyd, one of the candidates, at Carberry about May 22, and was told by him not to go out of town next morning, as a man was coming in to see him. Next morning before witness was up Waller came to his room and told him about the proposed manipulation of ballots and showed him how it was to be done. Witness said Waller stated he had got the scheme in a letter from Mr. Birmingham of Toronto, the Conservative organizer for Ontario.

When the Winnipeg election trial comes on to-morrow counsel for Hon. Hugh John Macdonald will admit bribery by agents. The election will thus be voided, but the decision of the Supreme Court at Ottawa on preliminary objections may confirm Hugh John in his seat. If not, he is prepared to fight the election over again.

The time for commencing the election trials in the Lisgar and Selkirk cases has been extended for a period of six months. As the period for bringing these cases on for trial expires on the 31st inst., it became necessary to get an order from the court extending the time.

The election of Mr. Davis, the Liberal member-elect for Saskatchewan, is being contested by the rival Liberal faction.

The French Catholic residents of St. Norbert have created something of a sensation by organizing a Public school district under the Manitoba School Act.

MESSNER'S PROPOSAL.

A Joint Stock Company With Himself as Manager to Buy the Estate and Liquidate.

Walkerton, Jan. 14.—(Special.)—The pupils of the Formosa Separate school were treated to a holiday to-day, for the rather novel purpose of having a meeting held in the school house to discuss the affairs of Mr. F. X. Messner. There was a very large attendance of creditors, and the utmost good order prevailed, with the exception of an attempt on the part of Messrs. Armstrong and Walker, a pair of Irishmen, to enliven the proceedings with a vigorous expression of opinion on Mr. Messner's proceedings. They were, however, promptly frowned down by the calm and placid Germans, who, although every man of them loses by Mr. Messner's failure had not a word to say in condemnation of his actions.

Mr. Messner addressed the meeting at length in support of a project to form a joint stock company from among the creditors to purchase the estate from the assignee, and under his management liquidate themselves. A further meeting for the purpose will be held on Monday next, and it is said that he has the matter all worked up, and is very likely to succeed. The estate is in bad shape, only $15,000 of good assets being available to pay $72,000 of indebtedness. Some preferential payments to relatives were brought to light at the meeting today, and they are merely to be contested by the consignee. Twenty cents on the dollar is the utmost that can be expected from the estate, and it is very doubtful if this amount will be realised.

HE IS ABOUT RIGHT.

Julian Ralph Says the Princess is Demented.

RIGO IS A USELESS APPENDAGE.

The Beautiful Woman Talks of Her Awful Act as a Sacrifice Upon the Altar of True Love—The Gypsy Very Nervous Lest He Should Lose Her.

New York, Jan. 14.—Julian Ralph cables from Budapest to The Journal: As I am obliged to print every letter in thousands words in order that the Budapest telegraphers may send the long despatches mechanically to New York, it has been impossible heretofore for me to give more than the bare dialog with the Princess Chimay. To-day I give some comment and reflections.

On my way to Hungary I wondered if she would refuse to see me, and my long journey prove fruitless. I know now that my negro office boy with a newspaper card may talk for hours with the unfortunate woman.

Seven-eighths of the Princess' money has been spent; the rest is in the hands of her uncle in America. Already she feels hampered for funds. The vanity of beauty and of past conquests, coupled with Parisian demoralization, has wreaked all this. It is the most perfect, the most lamentable example of the ruin that Paris produces ou moths that frolic too near the flames of La Ville Lumiere.

The Princess talks plainly of all this, but by defending herself reveals an unhinged mind, and she fancies herself the leader of realism applied to life as Paris has been applying it to art. She fancies that many leaders high in the social world yearn to imitate her example. She speaks of her awful act as a sacrifice upon the altar of true love.

On all sides I hear offers to wager that she and Aigo will separate within three months. She already speaks of "living down to Rigo."

Already he is in a chronic nervous terror of losing her. He fears being poisoned; he suspects that some one will stab him, and he sees an enemy in every visitor. The truth of the matter is he realizes that his good fortune is undeserved, and assures himself it will be fleeting. He urges the Princess to fly to the remotest corners of the earth, and yet no sooner does he hear any place proposed than he conceives that somebody is bent on assassinating him in order to secure possession of his beautiful Princess.

Already, too, the life he is leading tells on his physique perceptibly. As to Rigo's appearance, it is enough to say that he is a Hungarian musical gypsy. All are as near alike as so many cows or brownies.

For all who are curious to know how one American noble woman regards another, it is amusing to hear her speak with almost reverence of Consuelo Vanderbilt, the Duchess of Marlborough, as the greatest of all. "All others are mere nobodies beside her, she says.

Of the Marquise Castellane she says: "Plain little thing, if she only knew it she could have married a king. Any king in the world would have liked to get her money."

If anywhere in the world there lives any one who can exercise a strong influence over the Princess Chimay, now is the time to step forward and divert her from her her present course, rouse her to her better self, and to the exercise of her moral will, because the fastest train in Europe, the Orient Express, does not approach its destination at half the speed with which the Princess is now rushing to destruction.

CHINA ORDERS WARSHIPS

Eleven Armored Cruisers and Torpedo Destroyers Contracted for With a German Firm.

Vancouver, Jan. 14.—The Canadian Liner Empress of Japan brings the following advices from the Orient: The Japanese Government has passed a bill authorizing the Minister of War or the Minister of Home Affairs to seize and confiscate the edition of any newspaper which may give offence to the Government through its editorial or news columns. The newspapers are indignant at the despotic power conferred upon the Ministers.

The village of Kwagasa-Machi was totally destroyed by fire during the last week of December, some 300 houses being burned.

An order for 11 armored cruisers and torpedo destroyers has been placed with German builders by the Chinese Government. A special tax upon tea has been imposed to meet the expenditures.

THE CREAMERY MEN.

Prof. Robertson on Cold Storage and Hon. Sydney Fisher on Dairying—Prof. Fletcher on Grasses.

St. Mary's, Jan. 14.—The twelfth annual convention of the Ontario Creameries Association continued its session to-day. Prof. Robertson delivered a very able and exhaustive address upon cold storage, treating it from every conceivable standpoint. He gave a very elaborate and detailed description of the construction and the cost of a cold storage building for a town of about the size of St. Mary's, and of cold storage buildings of small dimensions for farmers' needs.

At the afternoon session Hon. Sidney Fisher addressed a very large audience on the subject of dairying in Canada. He described his experience as a practical farmer of the eastern townships, detailed the steps his Government had taken and were taking in the way of cold storage depots, cold storage transportation trains and steamship accommodation for the development and the improvement of the dairy trade of Canada. The speaker was warmly applauded on resuming his seat.

Ex-Governor Hoard followed in a very excellent address on creamery economy, after which Prof. Fletcher took up the subject of grasses, and described the result of the experiments on the Experimental Farm with the various kinds. He dwelt on the best methods of ridding the farm of the Canada thistle and other obnoxious weeds, and urged upon his hearers, if they wished to be successful in farming, to not only study the best grasses to grow, but also the habit of the various weeds, that they may know how to destroy them.

CUBANS WANT INDEPENDENCE

And That Is What They Are Fighting For—Nothing Less Will Do—Insurgents Are Prosperous.

Washington, Jan. 14.—Gonsales Quesada, head of the Cuban Junta in Washington, was informed this morning that a story had been published to the effect that Secretary Olney and Minister de Lome had drawn up articles to end the Cuban war on the lines proposed by Gen. Gomez. Senor Queseda emphatically denied that any such action had been taken or could be approved by Cubans. He said the story was absolutely false, as Gen. Gomez had never proposed any reforms whatever, nor was there a Cuban in the island that would accept anything but absolute independence.

Senor Queseda to-day received a letter from President Salvador Cisneros of the Republic of Cuba, dated Cubita, Dec. 24. He said he was preparing an appeal, in which the Government of the Cuban republic would ask for the recognition of the independence of the island.

President Cizneros also said that their condition was most prosperous, and if they had an abundance of munitions of war, not only o rifles, but of cannon and dynamite cannon, railroads would be destroyed, and all the few remaining garrisoned towns in the interior would be abandoned by the Spanish, who would be reduced to the coast. President Cizneros concluded that he expected to receive very soon the desired materials of war from abroad which will enable the Cubans to drive the Spanish to the sea, and then the Cubans would bid the enemy a last good-bye.

Change of Ministry Wanted

New York, Jan. 14.—The Herald's Washington special says: The solution of the Cuban problem depends upon a change of Ministry at Madrid. This is becoming the conviction of Administration officials here. As anxious as the President and Secretary Olney are to see a peaceful settlement of the troublesome matter before they go out of office, they greatly fear that the present Ministry of Spain will not grant a sufficiently liberal concession to permit the insurgents to lay down their arms.

Cuban General Arrested.

New York, Jan. 14.—Gen. Carlos Roloff, Secretary of War of the Cuban Republic, was arrested last night on a warrant sworn out by the Spanish Consul, in which the general is charged with violation of the neutrality laws in connection with an alleged filibustering expedition to Cuba on the steamer Woodall on June 28, 1895.

Gen. Roloff was locked up in Ludlow-street jail over night, and was brought before Commissioner Shields this morning.

Gen. Roloff is already under indictment and awaiting trial for an alleged participation in a filibustering expedition on the steamer Laurada.

On being arraigned Roloff pleaded not guilty, and he was held in $2500 bail for examination.

Life in Chains.

Havana, Jan. 14.—At 12.30 p.m. today the sentence was read in the case of Louis Somellian, who has been found guilty of conspiring against the Spanish Government. The sentence of the tribunal before which he was tried is that he be imprisoned for life in chains. Somellian's lawyer will appeal to the Supreme Court at Madrid against the decision of the Havana tribunal.

Skirmishing Going On.

Havana, Jan. 14.—Official reports continue to be received here detailing skirmishes in various parts of the island, and destruction by the troops of large numbers of huts, infirmaries, tents, etc., and the capture of quantities of provisions and munitions of war. The aggregate losses of the rebels in these skirmishes in the Provinces of Matanzas, Havana and Pinar Del Rio were 54 killed, nine wounded and 18 taken prisoners. In the Province of Pinar Del Rio alone four camps, with 400 huts, were destroyed by the troops. The aggregate Spanish loss was two men killed and one officer and 51 privates wounded.

Bringing in a Prize.

New York, Jan. 14.—The Journal has the following from Jacksonville, Florida: A large steamer has just been fired upon by the United States ship Dolphin. Officers have been placed on board. It is charged that she was filibustering. She was believed to intend delivering arms and ammunition to the Cuban rebels. The seized vessel is the Clyde line steamer Delaware. A large launch was also seized. The name and owner of the launch are unknown. She was lying alongside the Delaware at the time. The belief here is that she was taking arms off the steamer. The captain of the steamer Delaware is Ingram, but as yet no one has got his statement. The steamship Delaware, Captain Ingram, came from Boston. The seizure was made at Mayport, at the mouth of the St. John's River.

The launch would have escaped, but the Dolphin fired on the fleeing vessels with her bow-chaser. Both vessels then gave up, and signified a surrender. Prize crews were put aboard the steamer and the launch.

It is said nothing suspicious was found on either vessel.

DEATH OF PATRICK BLACK.

He Was a Brother of Detective Black of Toronto and Was On the Force Here.

Detroit, Jan. 14.—Retired Fireman Patrick Black died Wednesday night from an electric shock received at a fire 30 months ago. Black formerly worked on the Toronto police force and then lived in New York State, coming here four years ago. He was placed on the roll of honor for saving a life from fire on Cadillac-square. After receiving the shock which eventually caused death, he recovered sufficiently to go on the brigade again, but after 10 months he suffered a relapse and was then retired on half-pay. He was 32 years old and leaves a widow and a 16-month-old son.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

THE St. Thomas Journal points out that the council of that city appoints officials because they are Conservatives, a practice which increases the facilities for insulting the Queen through her representatives.

"IT seems likely enough," says the Ottawa Journal, "that Hugh John Macdonald will be unseated as the result of the trial of the Winnipeg election protest, but it will be a pity if he is lost to Parliament. As the Montreal Witness generously says of a political opponent, 'Mr. Macdonald, who is frank, moderate and sagacious, is also of the type of men needed in these days in Parliament.' He is above more self-seeking." It's hardly self-seeking but seeking another man's seat by crooked methods that will keep Mr. Macdonald out of Parliament.

THE Mail and Empire seems to find sufficient reason for opposing the union of collegiate and public school boards in Toronto in the fact that the Minister of Education is taking an interest in the subject—as he does in all matters that would effect the promotion of our educational concerns—the circumstance portending something darkly ominous. The organ cannot rise above the level of an organ—it is possessed of a spirit of suspicion that sees only evil in every action of a political opponent—

Suspicion always haunts the organ's mind,
The thief doth fear each bush an officer.

A Boston contemporary waxes sarcastic in its allusion to some of the annexation stories sent abroad by Ottawa and Montreal newspaper correspondents and says:—

At present we don't want Canada—
But, by jings, if we do,
We've got the money to buy it with
And pension the Tuppers, too.

Upon which the Ottawa Free Press remarks:—"Beware! There is even a bottom to the purse of the United States. The Boston paper does not know the family it alludes to as well as we in Canada. And when the money necessary to "buy" Canada was paid, the U. S. A. would be bankrupted for centuries," TORONTO is seriously discussing the proposal of amalgamating the collegiate institute and public school boards. Judged by Peterborough's experience, the union of these bodies would be to the advantage of the educational interests of the city. The united boards in Peterborough work with the utmost harmony and absence of friction. There is absolutely no clashing of interests, and the consequence is that the schools, both Collegiate and public, are maintained in the highest state of efficiency; the general feeling among ratepayers is that of the taxes they have to pay they receive full value from that portion devoted to the maintenance of the schools. The amalgamation of the school boards in Peterborough in not an experiment—it is an accepted and satisfactory fact. Speaking generally, what is good for Peterborough should be good for Toronto, though this may be qualified by mentioning that a great deal depends upon the spirit and capacity which the members of an amalgamated board would bring to the discharge of their more complex duties.

FREEBORN'S STORY.

He Was Delegated to Instruct the Returning Officers.

HOW THE CONSERVATIVE PARTY WINS ELECTIONS IN MANITOBA.

Deputy Scammell Tells of Receiving a Bribe of $25—Revelations in the Ballot-Stuffing Cases.

Winnipeg, Jan. 13—(Special)—The election trials opened again to-day at Carberry. Freeborn and Deputy Returning Officer Scammell of Treherne are there, accompanied by Lawyer Howell and detectives.

Deputy Wm. Clark's case was first taken up. Thirty voters have sworn they voted for Rutherford. Two refused to swear and were sent down for a day. More witnesses are expected, and it is certain that twenty votes were stolen at this poll. Freeborn, being sworn, stated that he acted in the interest of Mr. Boyd in the election of June, and was employed for general organizing purposes and was delegated to instruct the returning officers about certain things. Messrs. Boyd and Waller were at him just before the election in reference to his speaking to deputy returning officers. He had a conversation with Harry Waller. "It was a plan," said witness, "by which we were to have ballots in our pockets marked for Boyd with the initials of the returning officer thereon. A Grit comes in, and, knowing he was going to vote that way, we would substitute a Boyd ballot with the counterfoil torn off and ready for the box. Coming across from the station I had a conversation with Clark after the election. I asked him how he came out with the ballot business, and he stated that I gave him a good dose or shot of it at my poll." The case is proceeding.

In the case of the Queen vs. Anderson, Uriah Scammell swore he was deputy returning officer at Rathwell. He met the accused in Holland about two weeks before the election. "I went to Holland on a telegram from Dr. Lipsett. He was, I think, the same Dr. Lipsett Anderson referred to in his evidence. I saw Anderson and Waller at Holland that night. I was instructed as to the manipulation of the ballots; that was the same night. Anderson was not present. I was introduced to both of them by Dr. Lipsett. I was taught how to manipulate the ballots. Anderson was not present. I was taught that night by Waller. I saw Anderson about a week after the night I was in in Holland. I was promised by Waller that there should be money sent to me. I got money subsequently from Anderson, the accused. The amount was $25. When I received that money no one was present but Anderson. Foster came to my house with Anderson. I was away from home when they came, but when I came back they were there.

Thos. Anderson, being sworn, said he did no manipulating of the ballots, but gave Scammell $25, Dr. Lipsett $100, John John Morrow, of Glenboro, $100, McDowell, of Stockton, $100 and got the money from Harry Waller.

More arrests are to follow.

Thos. Anderson was committed for trial on both charges of inciting to stuff ballot boxes and stuffing ballot boxes.

There are several charges against Waller of inciting deputies to stuff ballot boxes.

Freeborn, who gave evidence, is well acquainted with the Conservative organizers in the east.

Other cases are progressing slowly in other sections of the constituency.

GOVERNMENT AID TO FARMERS.

Distribution of Samples From the Central Experimental Farm at Ottawa.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

During the past nine years, samples of those varieties of grain which have succeeded best on the Experimental Farms have been distributed on application in 3-lb. bags to farmers in all parts of the Dominion, free through the mail. The object in view in this distribution has been to add to the productiveness and improve the quality of these important agricultural products throughout the country by placing within reach of every farmer pure seed of the most vigourous and productive sorts. This work has met with much appreciation and a considerable degree of success.

Instructions have been given by the Hon. Minister of Agriculture to make a similar distribution this season. Owing to the very large number of applications now received it is not practicable to send more than one sample to each applicant, but with this limitation it is hoped that the stock available will be sufficient to permit of every farmer who so desires sharing in the benefits of this useful branch of the Experimental Farms.

The distribution now in progress consists of some of the most promising sorts of oats, barley, spring wheat, peas, field corn and potatoes. Requests for samples may be sent to the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, at any time before the 1st of March, but after that date the lists will be closed so that the applications then on hand may be filled before seeding begins. All communications can be sent free of postage. It is desirable that each applicant should name the variety which he desires to test, also one or two alternative sorts in case the stock of the sort chosen should be exhausted, while no promise can be made that the variety asked for will be sent, the wishes of correspondents will be attended to as far as practicable. The samples of grain will be sent early, but potatoes cannot be distributed until the danger of injury in transit by frost is over.

Director, Experimental Farms.

NEW YORK'S GREATEST SCENE.

New York's famous thoroughfare, Broadway, has been the scene of some wonderful events. But the one scene which still stands as the most remarkable, in point of enthusiasm, is Louis Kossuth's famous ride up Broadway, in 1851. Kossuth had already seen and passed through a crowd of 500,000 people in his triumphal ride up the great thoroughfare. The culminating moment, however, occurred when the great Hungarian patriot reached the corner of Broadway and Ann street. The sight that burst upon him staggered him for the moment. In the open square directly before him was massed together a quarter of a million of people, and when this vast concourse broke into a united cheer Kossuth was fairly bewildered. No man saw this great event so well and advantageously as did Parke Godwin, the veteran New York editor and Kossuth's closest friend in America. Mr. Godwin was with Kossuth, and for the first time he will now tell the story of the marvelous event in the February "Ladies' Home Journal." The actual scene at Ann street will also be shown in a picture by De Thulstrup, showing Kossuth in his carriage as the great scene burst upon him.

Facts About Furs and Bankrupt Stocks.

Some dealers in Furs believe in selling Bankrupt Stocks but others there are who do not; yet, at the same time have offered several bankrupt stocks for sale within a short time, while claiming also to sell nothing in Furs but of their own manufacture. We certainly must stand away ahead of our competitors as we de not require the aid of such stocks but stand on the merits of our own manufactured goods, which we can always guarantee as such. Our reputation of 36 years standing without a failure is the best proof that customers believe in us and support us so well. We do not require to make any bombastic statements regarding the size or quality of our stock; both are only too well known in the town as well as in many other places at great distances. We wish to thank our customers for their patronage through the late season.

THE MELANCTHON SENSATION.

Specific Charges Against the Prisoners Now in the Orangeville Jail Accused of Incendiarism.

Shelburne, Ont., Jan. 14.—Interest in the Melanchthon firebug cases continues very intense here. The specific charges against the men now in jail are as follows:

First—That James Ballard, on or about October, 1894, did conspire with Hamilton Tisdale to set fire to certain buildings belonging to James Ballard;

Second—That David Ballard and Wm. Reid did, on or about November, 1894, feloniously set fire to a certain barn, the property of David Ballard;

Third—That Alonzo Smith, on the 4th of June, 1896, did feloniously set fire to a house and barn, the property of Alonzo Smith;

Fifth—That James Corbett, on June 4, 1894, did set fire to a house and barn, the property of Hamilton Tisdale.

Hamilton Tisdale, who figures in these charges, is the man who the detectives picked on for information, and on his sworn statemnet and that of his brother, J. J. Tisdale, an 18-year-old lad, the Crown relies chiefly to convict the prisoners. These statements, which are in the hands of Inspector Greer, of the Attorney-General's Department, are said to contain the most startling details of a plot to defraud the fire insurance companies—a plot extending over ten years, and over at least ten square miles of farming country.

Inspector Greer and Fire Appraiser Forsythe are collecting evidence at Shelburne, and already one hundred witnesses have been called to appear at the preliminary investigation.

According to his statement, it appears that the gang had grown so audacious in their operations that no farmer wanted to buy land in Melancthon Township. Whatever he might be, honest or dishonest, the insurance companies would not insure his properties. In the gang are said to have been at least 25 farmers of Melancthon Township. They were a close corporation, meeting in turn at the houses of each, and discussing future barn firings as merrily as barn raisings. They were bound to swear each other out of difficulties if they chanched to run foul of the law.

Crown Attorney McKay has five abstracts showing David Ballard's transactions with the registry office during twelve years. One of them, the most comprehensive, indicates that between the years 1884 and 1893 David Ballard registered seven mortgages on his properties. These mortgages were all discharged between 1891 and 1893. The Crown, of course, refers from this that whenever David was in need of ready money he gave a mortgage and whenever he wanted to lift it he built a fire and burned down a house or a barn. Another inference is that there was an especially big number of fires between 1891 and 1893. The last mortgage was placed by David Ballard in 1895. This was discharged in 1896—a very expeditious re-payment.

The best anodyne and expectorant for the cure of colds, coughs, and all throat, lung, and bronchial troubles, is undoubtly, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, the only specific for colds and coughs admitted on exhibition at the Chicago World's Fair.

Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry cures Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Colic, Cramps, Cholera, Cholera Infantum, Cholera Morbus and all summer complaints and fluxes of the bowels in children or adults.

THE INDIAN TROUBLE

Was Very Much Exaggerated in the Reports.

INDIAN AGENT MARTIN SUSPENDED

Found to Have Been Guilty of Active Partisanship—Trinidad Centennial Will be Marked by a Celebration of an Historical Character—Ottawa News Generally.

Ottawa, Jan. 14.

Hon. Mr. Sifton received a telegram last night from the Indian Superintendent in British Columbia, stating that the report from the Pacific coast about trouble among the Indians regarding potlatching was greatly exaggerated. The telegram stated that there was no difficulty with the Indians other than what the Indian officials and the local authorities could attend to and that they could easily preserve order.

certainly have known about it.

Duncan Robertson, manager of the Bank of British North America here, has received notice of his promotion to the branch in Halifax. Mr. Philpotts will be his successor here.

County Registrar Coney has completed his annual report. It shows that 2089 instruments in all were registered during 1896, as compared with 1955 in the preceding year. Of these 657 were deeds, 619 mortgages, 330 discharges of mortgages, and 84 wills. The considerations in the mortgages registered amount to $594,466.22, as compared with $582,486.92 in 1895.

The celebration in the Island of Trinidad of the centennial of the occupation of that country by the British will not take the form of an international exhibition, as at first proposed. Instead, it is the intention to hold a celebration of an historical character between the 15th and 20th of next month. The decision of the Colonial Government to forego the exhibition has been officially communicated to the Dominion Government, so that, instead of a display of Canadian products, Canada's contribution to this celebration will probably take the form of a congratulatory message to the Government of the colony. It was on Feb. 17, 1797, that Sir Ralph Abercromble took possession of the Island for his sovereign, since which time it has remained a colony of the British crown.

Mr. Rainboth of this city, who was appointed a commissioner to investigate charges preferred against one Martin, Indian agent at Manitwaki, has made his report to the Minister of the Interior, and the agent is under suspension. Martin was charged with having taken the part of an active partisan. A large number of witnesses appeared before the commissioner.

The Minister of Militia, Gen. Gascoigne and Col. Aylmer visited a new site suggested for the proposed rifle range. It is situated about five minutes' walk from the C. P. R. station at Hull. The deputation went very carefully over the land and agreed that it was a most advantageous location.

Exports from Ottawa consular district to the United States last quarter totalled $734,468, a decrease of $77,948.

Senator George A. Cox was in town to-day.

A number of Quebec politicians, including Messrs. Beausoleil, Savard and Langeller, had an interview with Mr. Mulock to-day regarding a readjustment of mail subsidies on the Quebec and Lake St. John Railway.

Prof. Mavor of Toronto University lectured to a large audience here to-night on the subject of Iceland. The lecture was under the auspices of the Literary and Scientific Society and the Field Naturalists' Club.

The new civil service list made its appearance to-day.

The Minister of Trade and Commerce was interviewed to-day by Mr. W. M. Macpherson of Quebec, on matters connected with the Dominion Line mail subsidies.

Mr. McGregor, member for North Essex, is in town.

Mr. W. A. Fuller, agent for the Wallace circus, was in the city to-day to settle up with the Department of Customs for the past season's business. The usual rebate of 90 per cent. has been paid to the Wallace people on account of re-exportation of their cars and circus paraphernalia generally.

Mr. Benny, M. P., and Mr. Lemieux, M. P., arrived here to-night.

The Treasury Board was in session this morning.

The story is revived that Sir Richard Cartwright will very shortly be leaving for an informal conference at Washington or Canton with President-elect McKinley on tariff matters.

Three dwelling houses on Metcalfe-street, tenanted by Mrs. Lambkin, Vincent McCullough and Mrs. McNichol, were badly scorched this morning. The loss by fire and water is in the vicinity of $15,000, with very little insurance.

RHEUMATISM CURED.

Eighteen Months Trying to get Cured—Had the Best Doctors—He Found What he Wanted in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Goderich, Jan. 11—(Special)—A case of great interest here just now is that of Mr. Alexander J. Sharkey, who for some time has been an extreme sufferer from Rheumatism. His statement to the correspondent is as follows:—

"For eighteen months I was a victim of Rheumatism and during the whole of that time was trying every means to cure it. I had the best doctors in Canada and took their prescriptions with faith and patience.

"I got tired at last, for I found the disappointment nearly as killing as the disease.

"But one friend wiser than others convinced me that my disease must be cured by way of the kidneys and recommended Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I have used two boxes of these pills to effect a perfect cure, and I don't care who knows it."

THE PLAGUE IN BOMBAY.

Half the Population of the City Have Fled—Cemeteries Overflowing.

Bombay, Jan. 14.—Over half of the population of this city, estimated to amount to about 900,000, have fled from the plague, and the erstwhile crowded streets, docks and bazars are not recognizable. Business in piece goods, metal, crockery and hardware is at a standstill. The money-lenders have vanished, the courts are deserted and the judges and officials have gone to a healthier climate. Many of the native doctors, graduates of the college, have fled, and those remaining refuse to attend plague cases, or, when they do attend them, will not touch the sufferers. Clerks and others whose vocations call them to the city daily have fled to suburban stations, where the people are mostly living in thatched huts. It is estimated that 800,000 persons are encamped at Andheri, whence they will soon be forced to migrate owing to lack of water and sanitation threatening to breed cholera. The cemeteries are already filled to overflowing and the wind is spreading the contagion. The nights are made hideous by cymbals and melancholy dirges.

A Claim AND . . . . An Offer

WE CLAIM there is only one preparation in Canada to-day that is guaranteed to cure BRONCHITIS, and that is DR. That

Extreme tired feeling afflicts nearly everybody at this season. The hustlers cease to push, the tireless grow weary, the energetic become enervated. You know just what we mean. Some men and women endeavor temporarily to overcome that

Tired

Feeling by great force of will. But this is unsafe, as it pulls powerfully upon the nervous system, which will not long stand such strain. Too many people "work on their nerves," and the result is seen in unfortunate wrecks marked "nervous prostration," in every direction. That tired

Feel-

ing is a positive proof of thin, weak, impure blood; for, if the blood is rich, red, vitalized and vigorous, it imparts life and energy to every nerve, organ and tissue of the body. The necessity of taking Hood's Sarsaparilla for that tired feeling is, therefore, apparent to every one, and the good it will do you is equally beyond question. Remember that

An Extra Licence.

A circular has been issued by the Licence Department of the Province of Ontario, directing that brewers shall not dispose of their products to private individuals without taking out a wholesaler's licence in addition to that of a brewer's license. Until this wholesaler's licence is procured they are notified to sell only to dealers in liquors. County Constable Cochrane has been directed to enforce the law in this respect.

The Rights of Reporters.

Four Buffalo newspaper reporters were caught by the police at a prize fight the other day, and were run in with the gang. But Judge King dismissed the reporters, saying that it was a principle of law, as well as of common sense, that three kinds of men were permitted to go anywhere without blame—doctors, clergymen and reporters. The outcome of the whole business was that badges were issued to the Buffalo reporters to protect them against arrest.

Married in Brantford.

Miss Hattie A. Walsh, well known in Peterborough, and sister of Mr. Joseph Walsh, Cavan, was united in marriage at the residence of her sister, Mrs. W. B. Wickens, of Palmerston avenue, Brantford, on January 6th, to Dr. J. H. Pearson, of Chicago. Rev. W. Walsh, of Brampton, cousin of the bride, performed the ceremony. The bride was attired in white satin, trimmed with lace and pearls, and the bridesmaid, Miss Pearson, sister of the groom, wore cream corduroy, trimmed with lace and pearls. Mr. Grey, of Winnipeg, assisted the groom. After the usual wedding breakfast the happy pair left on the afternoon train for their future home in Chicago.

REMEMBERED BY HER FRIENDS.

Miss Lida Costello Received a Very Handsome Present Last Evening.

Miss Rudkins' millinery parlours were last evening brilliantly illuminated, and were the scene of a bright gathering.

Those connected with the establishment had assembled to bear tribute to the many good qualities of one of their companions, who, it is understood, is about to leave them and also abandon the state of single blessedness.

When all had assembled, Mr. Will Ball read the following address:

Dear Miss Costello:

Having learned of your intention of leaving us, we take this opportunity of showing our esteem and respect for you by wishing you and yours a long and prosperous life, and we hope that the partner of your choice may always consider that he has won one of Peterborough's fairest. We wish you to accept this China tea set, trusting that it may bring to mind the many happy days you have spent in our work room. Signed.

K. RUDKINS, A. O'NEIL, L. MAHONEY, A. O'CONNELL, L. LYNCH, D. LYNCH, A. BELLEGHEM, M. WALL, M. TAGGART, M. MCCORMACK, T. DIANEEN, W. BALL.

After Miss Costello had suitably acknowledged the exceedingly handsome gift, which consisted of a China tea set of forty-four pieces, a most recherche supper was served, and the evening was most pleasantly spent in music and song.

QUIETLY WEDDED.

Celebration of the Gardiner-Thorne Nuptials on Wednesday Evening.

On Wednesday evening last Miss Addie Thorne, daughter of Mrs. Joseph Thorne, of Millbrook, was united in marriage to Mr. M. N. Gardner of Perrytown.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Newton Hill of Omemee, an old friend of both parties, and took place at the residence of the bride's brother-in-law, Mr. J. D. Armstrong, No. 270 Sherbrooke street.

Only the most intimate friends of the family were present to witness the ceremony, at the conclusion of which Mr. and Mrs. Gardner left for their future home in Perrytown.

NON-COMS. ELECT OFFICERS.

They Will do Away With the Sale of Liquor in the Mess Room.

The members of the non-commissioned officers's mess have for some time been considering the advisability of abolishing the sale or use of liquor in their quarters on Hunter street. At the annual meeting, which was held last evening, the question came to a vote, and it was almost unanimously decided to take out the bar.

As a certain amount of revenue was derived from the sale of liquors, the deficiency will be made up by means of a concert, the date of which will be announced later.

The election of officers resulted as follows:

President—Sergt. B. Roberts.
Vice-President—Sergt. W. Green.
Secretary—Sergt. G. S. Bell.
Treasurer—Sergt Major Peters.
Executive Committee—Sergt. Rabey and Corporals Jordan and Langford.

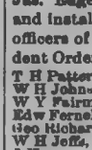
NEWS NUGGETS.

Paragraphs Picked Up and Pencilled for Public Perusal.

—There are now fully three hundred season ticket-holders belonging to the Riverside Park rink, the majority of which were issued this week. The rink is becoming most popular, and is managed in such a manner that the least sensitive person cannot possibly find fault with its rules and regulations. All, from the youngest to the eldest, are treated alike in every particular. It is the intention of the management, if suitable arrangements can be arrived at, to have the band each Friday evening during the skating season.

Fine Furniture at Low Prices.



It is seldom that this chance comes to pick up such really fine things in handsome chairs, centre tables, screens, etc., are now being shown in Clegg's furniture store window. The tickets placed on the goods tell the tale of a substantial reduction. No better goods can be had in the cities. Every article guaranteed as superior in design in material and in finish.

St. Luke's Boys' Brigade, Company No 87.

The first annual meeting of St. Luke's Boy's Brigade for the election of officers was held last night in the school house. There was a good attendance. This company, which was organized some three months ago with seventeen members, has now a membership of thirty-five. The following officers were elected:—Captain, C. Rogers; 1st Lieut., S. Tivey; 2nd Lieut., R. Long; Col. Sergeant, Frank Eden; 1st Sergt., Percy Jameson; 2nd Sergt., Evelyn Dormer; 3rd Sergt., H. Graham. Rev. H. Symonds is Warden, Rev. W. L. B. Reed and Mr. H. Adams, Sub. Wardens, and Sergt. Edwards, of the 57th, Drill Instructor. At the close of the election Mr. Mark gave an exceedingly interesting address on the Crimean war, describing in detail the battle of Inkerman. On motion of S. Tivey, seconded by F. Eden, a hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Mark, who promised to come again, a promise which evoked hearty applause.

CHARLOTTE ST. CHURCH S. S. ANNIVERSARY.

PRESENTATION OF THE SECRETARY-TREASURER'S REPORT.

A Balance of $20.26 on the Year's Expenses — Election of Officers and Teachers for 1897 at the Business Meeting.

At the recently held annual meeting of the Charlotte street Methodist Sabbath School, the secretary-treasurer presented the following report:

I beg herewith to submit the annual report of the school for the year ending Dec. 31st, 1896.

The past year has been one of the most successful years of this school. There has, on the whole, been a marked increase in both teachers and officers. This is no doubt due to our Lookout Committee, which during the past year has faithfully looked up the irregular attendants. The collections have also been above the average of any previous year, and especially the missionary collections, which have an increase of $21.

Total number of pupils on roll	260
Average attendance	235
Total number of teachers and officers on roll	33
Average attendance	29
Total collections for year	$209 63
Average collection	$4 03

During the past year we have suffered the following losses: Resignation of teachers—Miss Hamilton, Mrs. Adlum and Mr. Taylor. Removal from town, teachers, Miss Smith, Mr. Prest and Mr. German. Deaths, scholars, H. Merton and Fred James.

I submit herewith the statement of the receipts and expenditures of the year:

Statement of Receipts and Expenditures of Charlotte Street Sunday School for the Year Ending Dec. 31st, 1896:

PERSONAL.

Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., is in London to-day.

Mrs. Michael Hanrahan, who has been at Bad Axe, Mich., for the past seven weeks, has returned home, accompanied by her nephew.

Mr. Robt. Junkin, Superintendent of the Manufacturers' Life Assurance Co., and Mr. W. H. Holland, Superintendent of the Manufacturers Accident Insurance Co., are both in town, inspecting the local agency of Mr. G. J. Horkins.

RAILWAY NOTES.

Sparks From the Wheels—Cinders for the Eye.

The first revolving circular telegraph table yet placed in Canada is located in the Grand Trunk offices at the Hamilton station. The Grand Trunk officials and others who have examined it speak highly of its many advantages. Each operator is assigned a table, on which are six instruments, an elevated box, sounders and keys, and by the sounder the operator knows the calls, and if the call is not in front of him or convenient near he swings the circular table around till the proper instrument, sounder and key are in front of him. This obviates the necessity of an operator rushing around a room or along a table to take up and answer calls, and in the case of Hamilton station leaves the operator always seated, looking out on all incoming and outgoing trains. Mr. C. K. Domville, mechanical superintendent of the G.T.R., is the builder, his son, F. J. Domville, the designer, and Mr. Goodwin, G.T.R. electrician, father of the thought. It is a boon to the operator, as it is estimated that in a 12 hour shift of work, as compared with the ordinary table, from 10 to 15 miles walking from key to key is saved to the operator.

Just Arrived.

We have imported for your special benefit a choice lot of British Columbia canned Salmon, Cross & Blackwell's celebrated English pickles. Sardines in oil; also in mustard. We have the finest line of groceries obtainable always in stock. A call will not disappoint either you or E. BROWN & Co., 328 George street.

P.S.—We have made special arrangements to handle Gooderham & Worts' whiskey on draught.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

Rink Talk and Items of Local and General Interest to Sportsmen.

The Granites are playing up as well in the Innes medal series, as in the Kendry cup competition, and unless the Thistles bestir themselves, not one but both of these trophies will be held by the Granites this year.

Last night's games for the Innes medal resulted as follows:

Granites.		Thistles.
RINK NO. 1.
H Waddell,		A H Terrill,
W Manson,		R D Kerr,
G M Roger,		G Fitzgerald,
E B Edwards, sk	17	J B Pentland, sk	15
RINK NO. 2.
Col H C Rogers,		Herb Hall,
G Giroux,		J S Knapman,
W Salisbury,		D Davids n,
T P Attrill, sk	19	W G Ferguson, sk	12

The contest now stands as follows:

J Connal	25	R H Kells	7
Geo Edmison	15	H LeRun	12
R M Dennistoun	11	R B McKee	14
E B Edwards	17	J B Pentland	15
T P Attrell	19	W G Ferguson	12

Majority for Granites, 27 shots.

A friendly game was played with the following result:

W F Nelson,		D Walker.
G E Whitten,		H R H Kenner,
E H D Hall,		J Jeffries,
D W Dumble, sk	10	Judge Weller, sk	12

HOCKEY.

The trip of the Hockey Club to Napanee and Brockville has been declared off, and it is, perhaps, just as well, as the trip to the latter city is a long and tedious one. An effort will be made to bring a team from Toronto composed of the pick from the bank hockeyists of that city. Such a team would give the Peterboroughs all the practice they require, as it is acknowledged that the banks could each furnish a man or two, who could be classed as being amongst the best in Canada to-day. Too great pressure cannot be brought to bear on the executive to induce them to arrange a match of this nature in the near future.

On Monday night the Intermediate team plays its first game in the League series at Norwood, and a big crowd will in all likelihood accompany the boys down, as the team is composed of an extremely fast lot of young hockeyists, who are capable of keeping the Seniors working hard in the practice matches.

A Hockey team composed of lacrosse players went up to Lakefield last evening, and enjoyed a game with the team of that village which resulted in a victory for the lacrosse boys by the score of 8 to 7. The teams were composed as follows:

Peterborough.		Lakefield.
R Denne	Goal	McBurney
G Dixon	point	Gus Sawers
F Logan	cover point	J Ridpath
P Rubidge	forwards	McKenzie
B Borland		T Ridpath
R Scott		S Ridpath
A Thompson		J McDonald
F Lynch	umpire	F Strickland

Referee—G Reiley.

All the local boys played up in fine style and for the Lakefield's, McBurney in goal, was a wonder. If it had not been for his great work the Peterborough boys think they could have doubled the score.

The Queen's team won from the Frontenacs last night in an exhibition game at Kingston by eight goals to four. These are the two teams which the first and second Peterboroughs have to play in the O. H. A. schedule.

The following members of the Hockey club will practice to-night:

Dixon	goal	Wason
Logan	point	Montgomery
Borland	cover point	Thorne
King	forwards	Phelan
Graham		Lefevre
Crossley		Hollingshead
Belleghem		Adams

Games! Games!

Indoor Games during these long winter evenings are popular pastimes—so interesting and amusing in spending a pleasant hour or two with friends. We carry all kinds of games and are supplying evening parties at a discount off every former price.

Playing Cards.

Special prices for Evening Parties, whether Progressive Games, Pedro or Euchre—5c, 10c, 15c, 25c and 50c per package.

Crokinole.

Combination Crokinole, Checkers and Table. Readily taken up, and adapted to old and young of both sexes. A very social game, as it admits of free conversation and furnishes entertainment to any number of spectators as well as the parties playing. Sufficiently fascinating to make home the most attractive place.

Fort.

Purely a game of skill. Everyone present can take part. Played with cue and balls.

Louisa.

Parchesi Revised. Combines chance with moderate skill. Played by the throws of two dice, four men of each player are entered.

Steeple Chase.

A mimic horse race. Horses are entered and moved over the spaces on the race track according to the throws of dice.

Parcheesi.

The back gammon board of India. The Eastern Rajahs are passionately fond of Parcheesi.

Halma.

A magnificent game to while away a pleasant hour. It is for two, three or four players, but even one may play a lone hand and improve the mental faculties by studying its "solitaires."

Go-Bang.

One of the most remarkable games. It is tit-tat-to improved. Yet with all its simplicity it fascinates old as well as young.

Lotto.

A set of cards, laid off in properly numbered squares and a set of ninety numbered pieces. Well-known and largely played.

OLD MAID,	LOST HEIR,

OBITUARY.

The Late Johnston Wesley Cooney, of Otonabee.

The death is recorded with deep regret of Mr. Johnston Cooney, fourth son of Mr. Johnston Cooney, one of the most estimable and promising young men of the township. His death took place on Sunday, Jan. 10th, from a pulmonary affection with which he has suffered since last March. He was 34 years of age. He was the only one of five sons remaining on the homestead, and had full charge and entire management of the 150 acres. He was a young man of very sturdy principles and strength of character. He was quiet and unobtrusive in his demeanor, and so conducted himself as to win universal respect. He was a Liberal in politics, but took no active interest in practical politics, pursuing the even tenor of his way, fulfilling faithfully the duties of the station of life in which he was placed. The very high esteem in which he was held was shown by the very large concourse that followed his remains to the Little Lake Cemetery on Jan. 12th. The afflicted family has the deep sympathy of the entire community in their bereavement.

LEFT FOR PARTS UNKNOWN.

Mr. E. D. Orde, of Lindsay, Gives the Local Financiers a Shaking up—Leaves Many Mourners, Not so Much for Departed Worth as Departed Wealth.

Mr. E. D. Orde, of Lindsay, financial agent, who for many years enjoyed—and, according to recent events, made use of the confidence of the people of that town and vicinity to his own profit—has recently folded his tent like an Arab and silently stolen away, leaving numerous persons to bewail the confidence reposed in him. Mr. Orde was trusted with the management of investments, and no matter how successfully he administered the affairs of his clients in his own interests, he evidently was serenely oblivious of the interests of those who employed him. An estimate of the amounts that represent Mr. Orde's financial eccentricities, places the figures at $50,000.

Among the losers is Mr. J. J. Lundy, town, whose business relations with Mr. Orde represent a shortage of between $6,000 and $9,000 above what is covered by the "blanket" mortgage he holds on Mr. Orde's Lindsay and Winnipeg properties. Mr. Geo. Dunsford, town, is also entitled, through Mr. Orde's comprehensive courtesy, to a seat among the mourners in the funeral procession of departed cash—to the extent of between $2,000 and $3,000—not to mention the cost of prospective litigation arising out of the operations of Mr. Orde. Mr. Dunsford's experience with a member of the same family should, one would have thought, have operated as a warning to be on the look-out for the cropping up of hereditary tendencies. The Bank of Montreal and the Bank of Ontario are also said to be interested or rather dis-interested to a considerable degree, the former to the larger extent, not to speak of numerous persons in Lindsay, who are mourning over the effects of man's inhumanity to man. Mr. Orde's present address is strictly confidential.

If the good town of Lindsay could collect all its absent citizens who have departed that place under the same cloudy conditions as Mr. Orde, and establish them in some remote corner where the extradition treaty does not reach, the aggregation would constitute a colony to which the rendezvous of the forty thieves would be but a tiny hamlet.

WILL AMALGAMATE.

The Separate and Public Schools in Hastings.

The Hastings Star says:—"We are informed that an effort is being made in Hastings to amalgamate the Separate school of that village and the Public school. The trustees of the former have made proposals to the latter with a view to improving the condition of things in this way, and they have been favourably entertained, and as a result the erection of an eight room school may be undertaken at no distant day. The move will no doubt meet with universal approval."

WESTWOOD.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Miss Edith McMillen has returned home from visiting friends here.

Miss Edith Stewart of Hastings, is visiting her sister, Mrs. John Sargent.

Mrs. Fred English and her children are the guests of Mrs. John Drummond.

Mr. Jas. Ryan, our cheese maker, is taking a course in Kingston Dairy College.

Mr. John Doherty, jr., lately residing in Chicago for the purpose of having his eyes attended to, has returned home looking well. We are pleased to hear of an improvement in his eye sight.

Mr. Robert Breckenridge of Norwood has been taking in the country air with friend Jim.

Messrs. Hugh Breckenridge, Tom Lancaster and A. Eason have gone to Belleville. They intend taking a business course in the Belleville Business College.

Last Sunday the service in the Methodist church was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Robinson of Warsaw. His text, a missionary topic, was Luke xii, 32, "Fear not little flock, for it is your Father's good pleasure to give you the kingdom." He explained in his remarks why Christ gave these words to His disciples before His ascension. These statements were given to the church to restore confidence and equanimity among the faithful few. The same words are to be heard today, and the assurance of the last clause is being fulfilled. Yet many unsaved ones have to be brought to the knowledge of the Saviour. Out of the 1,500,000,000 of people on the globe only one fifth of these are Christians in deed. Then there are about 900,000,000 people who are accountable to God, without the knowledge of the saving grace of the Master. Is there any work for us to be done? Think ye we have time to idle? Are we not commanded to go into the world and preach the Gospel to every creature? God was, and is, always anxious to save the lost. "Will He not leave the ninety and nine and seek that which is lost?" Then are we, who are God's stewards, to neglect the keeping of our brother? We should give our sympathy, our help, if we cannot preach or teach. Freely give for we have freely received.

In conclusion he asked for a liberal collection. It was a liberal one, about $60 being subscribed.

The Y.P.S.C.E. had a large gathering to hear the report given by Mr. F. D. Roxburgh, Knox College, Toronto. He gave an excellent address on the work and experience in the mission field, describing the picturesque scenery of the Rocky Mountains, together with the character of the people whom he met. He was listened to with marked attention and interest by the audience, which seemed delighted with the remarks made.

Just So.

It is the man who never advertises, or those who do it after a fashion, that complain of results. It is the puny egotist who has never read a whole chapter of the Bible at a time, that is the most pronounced skeptic; it is the bilious-tempered misanthrope that votes life not worth living; it is the crusty, old bachelor, with not enough soul to animate a mosquito that snarls out his complaint about marriage being a failure.

No one who has ever followed a wise and judicious course of advertising has ever failed to obtain results that have told on his business prosperity. There have been some who have advertised much in the manner of the timorous bather who takes a plunge in the cold surf only to rush out again and stand shivering upon the strand until nerved for another dip.

STARTLING EVIDENCE.

An Audacious Plot to Steal An Election.

EXCITEMENT AT CARBERRY.

FEELING AGAINST THE REAL OPERATORS.

The Macdonald Ballot-Box Stuffing Cases — Deputy Returning Officers Sent For Trial.

Carberry, Man., Jan. 14.—(Special.)—The court room was filled all day with an intensely interested crowd of spectators. Excitement reached a culminating point when the evidence of Freeborn and Scammell was given. No legal proceedings growing out of an election in the Dominion ever disclosed a more scandulous state of affairs. It is only just to add that the feeling of indignation in this community is very strong against the men who conspired together to rob the electors of Macdonald of their franchise. It is not so strong against the deputy returning officers who lent themselves to the practices disclosed in the evidence as against those who made them their tools. Not only was Dr. Rutherford, the Liberal candidate, deprived of many votes properly cast for him, but the Patron candidate, Mr. Braithwaite, seems to have suffered in a similiar manner.

CLARKE AND ANDERSON.

In the case against Wm. Clarke, deputy returning officer at Pleasant Point, 30 electors swore they marked their ballots for Mr. Rutherford, and the evidence of a number of other voters, believed to be for Mr. Rutherford, could not be procured. An examination of the ballots showed that only nineteen ballots were placed in the ballot-box and counted for Mr. Rutherford and there was one rejected ballot marked for him. In addition to this the ballot-box contained two ballots more than the number of votes cast.

In the Anderson case two more witnesses testified that they had voted for Mr. Rutherford, bringing the total number up to 23 at the Arizona poll. There were no rejected ballots, and the number of ballots for Mr. Rutherford found in the box was only fifteen.

Freeborn swore to conversations with both Clarke and Anderson which took place after polling day. The witness showed with pieces of paper how the "ballot racket" was worked, and the worthy electors of Macdonald present in the court room, some of whom had acted as scrutineers, were amazed at the ease and deftness with which the witness substituted another paper for the one he was supposed to place in the ballot-box.

Both Clarke and Anderson were, at the close of their cases, committed to stand their trial at the next court of competent jurisdiction.

The first witness in the case against Henry Waller was Mr. W. G. Rogers, who gave evidence as to the holding of an election in Macdonald on June 23rd last, the names of the candidates and other formal evidence.

FREEBORN'S REVELATIONS.

Freeborn swore that he was seen by Mr. Boyd, one of the candidates, at Carberry about May 22nd, and was told by him not to go out of town next morning as a man was coming in to see him. Next morning before the witness was up Waller came to his room and told him about the proposed manipulation of ballots, and showed him how it was done. Witness said Waller stated he had got the scheme in a letter from Mr. Birmingham, of Toronto, Conservative organizer for Ontario. Witness stated that Waller asked him to go out along the line of the M. & N. W. Railway and educate the deputy returning officers. Witness said Saunders, at Gladstone, against whom there is sworn evidence of stuffing a ballot box, was one of his students, but did not learn the trick as quickly as most of the others, and had to get two or three extra lessons. Witness was present while Waller gave Saunders a lesson in manipulating the ballots. Freeborn stated that he was named as returning officer, but declined to act just before the election. He stated his instructions were to substitute ballots for those handed in by Grit voters or by Patrons, to take from the the other side, whichever might be the strongest.

SCAMMELL'S TESTIMONY.

Scammell, sworn, said that before the election he met Waller and Anderson at Holland by appointment made through a telegram from Dr. Lipsett. Waller took him up to a room in the hotel.

Mr. Howell, Crown prosecutor—What was the first thing he said to you?

Witness—He asked me if I could play cards.

Mr. Howell—He thought that the first qualification for a deputy returning officer?

Witness—I suppose so.

Q.—What was then said? A.—I said I could. Waller said, "You will do."

Witness then told how Waller showed him how to substitute ballots for those handed in, and told him that some "stuffin'," meaning money, would be sent him. Some days afterwards he got $25 from Thos. Anderson. Witness said that on polling day he acted as deputy returning officer at Rathwell, and that he took a number of ballots marked for Mr. Rutherford and substituted others marked for Mr. Boyd. The witness caused much amusement by stating that he had made Mr. Paul Cain and Mr. Reeve Forbes, two of Dr. Rutherford most prominent committeemen, vote for Mr. Boyd. Witness said that after the close of the poll he had burned the ballots that he had purloined from the voters. At the close of the evidence Waller was committed for trial.

Much sympathy is expressed for those committed for trial. All unite in saying that the men responsible for the introduction of this infamous scheme into the Prairie Province must be unearthed, and the principal made to sure the extreme penalty of the law.

Portage la Prairie, Jan. 14.—Anderson, Waller and Clarke are in jail here. Application will be made to a Judge of the Court of Queen's Bench to fix bail.

WINNIPEG TO BE VACANT.

Hugh John Will Throw Up the Sponge to Avoid Investigation Into the Ways by Which Winnipeg was Won.

A special despatch to the Mail and Empire, Jan. 14th, foreshadows that Mr. Hugh John Macdonald will cease to represent Winnipeg when the trial comes on. The despatch says:—"The petition to unseat Mr. Hugh John Macdonald will come up for hearing to-morrow. The general impression is that the first witness examined will admit having been guilty of illegal acts as an agent of Mr. Macdonald, and of course this will be sufficient to declare the election void. It is believed the petitioners will not then proceed further."

QUICKCURE

Oh! how it does ache.

A change of Expression

But Quickcure did its work.

Children's teeth are often sacrificed by neglect—too often extracted before their successors appear—too often cause needless suffering. Every mother should have in the house

"Quickcure"

Dr. S. J. Andres, Montreal, says; "'Quickcure' overcomes the pain quickly; gives relief for a long time; is especially valuable for children's teeth which should not be extracted until their successors appear. It is perfectly safe to use at all ages, and does not injure the teeth as many other remedies used for toothache do." Ask your druggist for it.

UNTOLD MISERY
FROM RHEUMATISM
C. H. King, Water Valley, Miss., cured by
Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"For five years, I suffered untold misery from muscular rheumatism. I tried every known remedy, consulted the best physicians, visited Hot Springs, Ark., three times, spending $1000 there, besides doctors' bills; but could obtain only temporary relief. My flesh was wasted away so that I weighed only ninety-three pounds; my left arm and leg were drawn out of shape, the muscles being twisted up in knots. I was unable to dress myself, except with assistance, and could only hobble about by using a cane. I had no appetite, and was assured, by the doctors, that I could not live. The pains, at times, were so awful, that I could procure relief only by means of hypodermic injections of morphine. I had my limbs bandaged in clay, in sulphur, in poultices; but these gave only temporary relief. After trying everything, and suffering the most awful tortures, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Inside of two months, I was able to walk without a cane. In three months, my limbs began to strengthen, and in the course of a year, I was cured. My weight has increased to 165 pounds, and I am now able to do my full day's work as a railroad blacksmith."

WHO'S TO BLAME?

That Trouble Between the Grand Trunk and Ottawa, Arnprior and Parry Sound Railway Discussed.

Ottawa, Jan. 13.—(Special.)—The Citizen takes The Mail pretty sharply to task over the Scotia Junction matter. After pointing out that the Parry Sound Railway is not in fault, but that the Grand Trunk is solely to blame for the existing difficulty, it says: "There are two points in issue: (1) The construction of a union station, (2) the time table. As to the former, the Parry Sound offered to pay half the expenses of building a station. The Grand Trunk refused and insisted that the O., A. and P. S. should make the whole outlay, charging the G. T. R. 4 per cent. of half the amount. Can The Mail and Empire show where the reasonableness of this proposition is to be found? Then, as to the time schedule, The Mail and Empire complains that the O., A. and P. S. train passes Scotia Junction an hour ahead of the arrival of the G. T. R. train from Toronto, and that freight and mail from Western Ontario are thus delayed 23 hours. This is merely another way of saying that the G. T. R. train arrives an hour late. The remedy is easy. Let it reach Scotia an hour earlier and the whole difficulty will be removed. It is not to be supposed that a system having to make provision for through traffic between Parry Sound and New York and Boston can be run to suit the convenience of a Toronto side line."

CANADA AND INDIA.

The People of This Country Flourish While Our Fellow-Subjects Starve —Our Trade With Britain.

Montreal, Jan. 13.—(Star special cable from London.)—Canada flourishes while India starves. "The Indian grain shortage, which brought such prices and bright prospects to the Canadian west, brought dire famine to from 60 to 70 millions of fellow-subjects of the Queen. Yet, no single Canadian name appears on the Lord Mayor's relief fund."

So remarked a leading London banker to The Star's correspondent today. And he added that if the Dominion of Canada wishes to justify her talk about Imperial sympathy she will loosen her purse-strings forthwith.

The Canadian Gazette to-day urgently appeals to Canadian bankers and merchants here to show the reality of their Imperial professions.

Canada did well in the British markets in 1896. The Board of Trade returns show that while the imports from all countries increased 6 per cent. over 1895, the imports from the Canadian Dominion increased 18 per cent. The chief increases are: Wheat, £535,000; bacon, £195,000; hams, £170,000; butter, £186,000; cheese, £.54,000; [illegible] £22,000; fish, £39,000; meals, £31,000; hewn wood, £191,000; sawn wood, £783,000. The decreases are: Oxen, £13,000; sheep, £202,000; wheat and flour, £187,000. The British exports to Canada decreased less than one per cent., and British exports to all countries increased six per cent.

AS WELL AS EVER.

A Brickmaker Listens to Reason—Uses Six Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and Tells It.

Brockville, Jan. 4 (Special)—Mr. W. H. Odell, perhaps one of the best known citizens of this town has lately recovered from a long continued and painful kidney ailment. He tells the story of his experience to the correspondent as follows:

"I have suffered for over a year from kidney disease, the pain in my back being so severe that I was unable to stand to my work."

"Noticing the published cures of what Dodd's Kidney Pills were doing for others I concluded to use them."

"Having used only six boxes I can say that I am perfectly cured and well so that I can attend to business as well as ever I could."

That hacking cough can be quickly cured by Hagard's Pectoral Balsam. Price 25c.

WANTS McKINLEY TARIFF.

Judge Daniels Enters a Plea for Protection of Farmers Against Canadian Competition.

Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 13.—A Washington special to The Commercial says that Judge Daniels, who represents one of the Buffalo districts in Congress, has sent to the Ways and Means Committee a letetr requesting the restoration of the customs duties on agricultural products, similar to those which were contained in the McKinley law of 1890. He shows that a large part of his district lies along the Canadian border, and is greatly affected by the competition in agricultural products brought from the Province of Ontario. The products are mainly the same as those in the western part of New York. The land in that province is cheaper than in New York State, and agricultural laborers are paid lower wages than those on this side of the line. As a result, the Canadian farmers carry their products to Buffalo and Lockport, and, after paying the present duties, sell them at prices below those charged by the American farmer.

Judge Daniels specifically mentions hay as one of the articles in which the Canadian undersells the American and this is also true of nearly all agricultural products. The effect of this competition extends far into the interior of the State. The present rates on Canadian imports are from one-fourth to one-half less than they were under the McKinley law, and tend to benefit the Canadian producers.

Judge Daniels shows that the McKinley law proved of great benefit to the American farmer. The latter has been a sufferer from low prices for a number of years, and the present law has greatly aggravated his misfortunes by reducing his prices and greatly assisting his Canadian competitors. Judge Daniels does not wonder that the Western New York farmer asks himself the question, Of what advantage to us is our Government, which we help to support? He regards the enquiry as a natural one, which cannot fail, as long as the present conditions continue, to create dissatisfaction in the minds of intelligent constituents. Judge Daniels concludes his letter with the observation that other governments endeavor to advance the property of the people, and that this great republic cannot wisely do less.

The letter will be referred to the sub-committee of which Mr. Dolliver of Iowa is chairman. This committee has direct control of the agricultural schedule, and is composed of men whose constituents are demanding the same protection as is demanded by the farmers in Western New York. It is a safe prediction that when the new tariff bill is framed the agricultural schedule will not differ materially from that embodied in the McKinley law of 1890, which experience shows to have worked advantageously to the interests of the American farmer.

THE LAKE CARRIERS

Want New Rules for the Soo Canal and a First-Class Gunboat for Use on the Lakes.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 13.—At the morning session of the Lake Carriers' Association a committee was appointed to revise the rules in force governing navigation in the Soo River. Resolutions were adopted condemning the further maintenance of the fourth-class gunboat Michigan on the Great Lakes, and protesting against her future use, and asking such steps of the Navy Department and needed legislation by Congress as will provide the Great Lakes with a fully equipped man-of-war, suited for best protecting the interests centered in the lakes, and further, that such vessel shall be built by a lake shipyard company. The committee on the grain shovelling contract at Buffalo has not yet reported.

POINTERS FOR FARMERS.

Prof. Saunders Gives Information as to the Results of Experiments in Growing Crops.

Ottawa, Jan. 13.—(Special.)—A bulletin was issued by the Department of Agriculture to-day, prepared by Dr. Saunders, Director of Experimental Farms, giving results of a large number of experiments which have been carried on at all the experimental farms during the season of 1896 with oats, barley, spring wheat, peas, Indian corn, turnips, mangolds, carrots and potatoes, in uniform plots. This work was undertaken with the object of gaining information as to the relative productiveness and earliness of the many varieties under test. The result shows wide variations in the weight of the crops grown, and points to the importance of greater care being exercised by farmers in choosing varieties of seed for sowing.

"Let parents not live for their children, but with them." The mother should allow no false modesty to stand in the way of her daughter's knowledge of herself, of her possibilities, of her perils. For over thirty years Dr. Pearce has used his "Favorite Prescription" as a strengthener, a purifier, a regulator. It works directly upon the delicate, distinctly feminine organs, in a natural, soothing way. It searches out the weak spots and builds them up. A woman who would understand herself should send 31 cents to the World's Dispensary, Buffalo, N. Y., for Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser, a book of 1008 pages.

The sweetness of the first embrace with the woman of his choice will always linger in a man's mind. It is a pity that the sweet memory should ever be poisoned by the taint of ill-health and consequent unhappiness. It is sad that the flower of a happy remembrance should be obscured and killed by the noxious weeds of sickness and sorrow. Too frequently this is the case. A woman cannot be a happy, helpful amiable wife who suffers from weakness and disease at the very mainsprings of her nature. Pity may grow up to take its place, but love itself seldom survives where this is the case. If a woman will, she may always hold her place in a man's mind and heart. If she will take the right care of herself in a womanly way she will never lose her rightful inheritance, a husband's love.

The best of all known medicines for women is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It acts directly on the important and delicate organs that make wifehood and motherhood possible and makes them strong and well. It allays inflammation, heals ulceration, soothes pain and tones up and builds up tired nerves. It prepares for almost painless motherhood and insures healthy children. Thousands of women who were sickly, nervous, fretful invalids are now happy, cheerful and helpful wives as a result of its use. All good medicine dealers keep it and there is nothing "just as good." Any dealer who tries to persuade you that there is, is thinking more of his profit than of your welfare and health.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are a safe, sure, speedy, permanent cure for constipation. They are tiny, sugar-coated granules. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. They never gripe. Druggists sell them, and no other pills are as good.

CAMPING OUT IN WINTER.

The Rare Pleasure of Tenting in the Ice and Snow.

The early morning of Thursday, the last day of January, was clear and still. The heavy snowstorm of the day before had ceased during the night, leaving a new layer, a foot in depth, upon that which already lay deep over mountain and lake, and piling itself high upon every branch and twig of the dense forest about us, writes C. Grant La Farge, in the Atlantic. I had awakened at 3, still conscious of the effects of yesterday's long tramp of eight hours following fresh caribou tracks through heavy timber and in deep, soft snow, only to find that the waning day bade us strike out for camp for the further route of our game was still to be disentangled from a labyrinth of tracks, made where they had stopped to feed. We had eaten our lunch as we marched, delay being a thing to avoid and fire out of the question on so fresh a trail, and when we reached camp again, just as darkness closed in, we were a tired and hungry pair. So it was with difficulty now that I summoned up resolution to perform the duty of which the biting cold upon my face and the snapping of the log walls of our camp apprised me, and resisted the insidious argument that I really was not awake. To leave the snug shelter of warm blankets in order to rake together a few almost extinct embers, nurse them into a glow and pile the stove full of wood is not an alluring task at such a time, but campfire etiquette, sometimes relaxed in the milder autumn season, must be rigidly adhered to, even indoors, in these long, frigid winter nights. Therefore my companion and I had made the usual agreement that he who awoke should forthwith replenish the fire, and as his deep breathing was now proof that nothing was to be expected of him I conquered my slothful disinclination and a roaring blaze at last rewarded my efforts. I opened the door upon such a night as only the northern winter can show.

Silence, absolute and supreme; the rich purple-black of the sky revealing its immeasurable depth, in which hung, clear and round and at many distances, the myriad stars which filled it; in the north the great pale arc of the aurora reflected faintly on the white snow lying over the open space of the river in front of us. But the keen air allowed little time for more than a swift glance, then a match lighted showed the mercury at 18 degrees below zero—not extreme, but cold enough to make blankets desirabel; so I got back into them without further delay and fell asleep.

THE WOMEN TOO.

Back Talk Not Man's Monoply.

Mrs. Jemima Cole, Havelock, told the following wonderful story:—"For a great many years I have suffered from disease of the kidneys. The pains in my back and side were sometimes excruciating.

"My limbs were so swollen that I could scarcely lift my feet from the floor, and I was in great agony nearly all the time. I thought that I would surely die from the pain.

"I have taken dozens of advertised remedies, but got no better during their use. I was also treated by several doctors, but am sorry to say they did me little or no good. In fact they stated that they could do me no good, which made me despair of ever getting better.

"When I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised I sent to W. H. Jeff & Co's. drugstore and got a box thinking I would try them as a last resort.

"The change from the start was very great and now after one month I am free from all pain. The swelling has gone down and I feel quite strong and healthy.

"I was also troubled with rheumatism and neuralgia which have completely disappeared, thanks to the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. In fact I do not think there is a medicine in the world that in such a short time could have taken me from the almost dying condition in which I was to the healthy and vigorous state that I am in now.

"I recommend Doan's Kidney Pills for their wonderful virtues in curing kidney troubles."

BIG FIRE IN MONTREAL.

A Large Warehouse Belonging to Crathern & Caverhill Destroyed—Loss $300,000.

Montreal, Jan. 14, 2 a.m.—Montreal was the scene of another big fire tonight, which resulted in a loss of several hundred thousand dollars. The fire started shortly after midnight in a large structure on Colborne-street, occupied as a warehouse by Crathern & Caverhill, wholesale hardware merchants. The warehouse was stored with a large and valuable stock of all kinds of hardware, heavy and light, the firm being probably the largest hardware merchants in the Dominion.

The origin of the fire is a mystery, but it seemed to have started in the heart of the warehouse, and when the firemen reached the scene, the flames were furiously shooting out from all sides. The warehouse and stock burned likea furnace and the firemen had great difficulty in handling the fire. The warehouse, which extended nearly a whole block from Colborne to Ann-street, was soon ablaze from end to end, and, as it was impossible to save the structure, the firemen turned their attention to confining it to the warehouse. The Dominion Transport Company's stables, which were situated on Ann-street, and in which there were over 100 horses, were saved. he fire at this hour is under control. Crathern & Caverhill's warehouse is almost a complete ruin. The warehouse contained a stock valued at $300,000, on which there is insurance for $100,000.

"Old, yet ever new, and simple and beautiful ever," sings the poet, in words which might well apply to Ayer's Sarsaparilla—the most efficient and scientific blood-purifier ever offered to suffering humanity. Nothing but superior merit keeps it so long to the front.

VARIOUS USES OF SALT.

Its Value in the Household Illustrated by a Few Examples

One pint of fine salt mixed with two pints of wood ashes and mixed with water will mend cracks in stoves. When clinkers accumulate in the grate, throw in a handful of salt, let stand a few minutes and they will be easily removed.

A teaspoonful added to the water in which cut flowers are placed will preserve them for a considerable time, and a little rubber on the griddles before greasing will prevent cakes from sticking. Damp salt will remove the discoloration caused by tea on cups and saucers; if sprinkled immediately over any spot where something has boiled over on the stove, there will be no odor, and the spot will be easily cleaned. A tablespoonful put in a kerosene lamp will make the oil give a brighter light, and a small pinch added to the starch will prevent it sticking to the irons. If your ingrain carpet looks dingy sprinkle a little salt over it and let it lie for at least five minutes, then sweep it thoroughly, and you will be surprised to see how much brighter it will look.

One of the best things for cleaning brass is salt dissolved in vinegar Cotton fabrics are less likely to fade if allowed to lie for a short time in a strong solution of salt and water.

Sprinkle damp salt around where there are moths and they will speedily take their departure.

If a small pinch is added to the whites of eggs they will froth quickly.

Small doses given at short intervals will stop hemorrhage of the lungs; for stings or bites of any kind of insects apply it damp and bind tightly; for neuralgia or severe pains in the stomach, fill a muslin bag, heat it and lay it against the aching place.

If the throat is very sore, wring a cloth out of cold salt water and bind it around the neck, covering with a dry towel; a weak solution gargled will also help the throat. A sponge bath in salt water will arrest night sweats, and if used cold is one of the best solutions for restoring firmness of the flesh; bathe the face upward and then wipe dry. One-half a teaspoonful dissolved in water will almost instantly relieve dyspepsia, or cure colic in a grown person.

Two teaspoonfuls in about a half pint of tepid water will act as an emetic, or if snuffed up the nostrils will relieve a cold in the head or catarrh.

Salt should be eaten with nuts to aid digestion.—Home Queen.

TO INCREASE THE ARMY.

A Bill to Augment the Forces by 5000 Men—Two New Artillery Regiments.

Washington, Jan. 13.—To give the United States army a moderate organization and enable it to fight on even terms with European armies, employing moderate armament and methods, is the purpose of a bill that was ordered to be favorably reported to-day by the House Committee on Military Affairs. The bill increases the list of enlisted men from 25,000 to 30,000, the number of companies in each regiment from 10 to 12, and adds two regiments of artillery to the army. With the new methods in force each infantry regiment will contain in future three majors instead of one, as at present. The effect of this will be to promote 50 captains to the rank of major, 50 first lieutenants to captains, and 50 second lieutenants to first lieutenants. If the Military Academy at West Point cannot furnish the additional number of cadets necessary to fill these second lieutenantcies the appointments may be made from the enlisted men or from civil life. The bill has the approval of the Secretary of War.

The Whole Story

Two Box Cure

Milverton, 29th July, 1896.

Gentlemen,—For the last ten years I had been troubled with kidney disease, being so bad at lutervals that I could not lie in bed at night nor stoop to the ground.

I had tried all the remedies I could find without effect, but heard of Dodd's Kidney Pills and procured a box.

I am most happy to say it for my own sake as well as for others that I am perfectly cured after using four boxes.

THE EYES OF THE WORLD

Are Fixed Upon South American Nervine.

Beyond Doubt the Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

WHEN EVERY OTHER HELPER HAS FAILED IT CURES

A Discovery, Based on Scientific Principles, that Renders Failure Impossible.

In the matter of good health temporizing measures, while possibly successful for the moment, can never be lasting. Those in poor health soon know whether the remedy they are using is simply a passing incident in their experience, bracing them up for the day, or something that is getting at the seat of the disease and is surely and permanently restoring.

The eyes of the world are literally fixed on South American Nervine. They are not viewing it as a nine-days' wonder, but critical and experienced men have been studying this medicine for years, with the one result—they have found that its claim of perfect curative qualities cannot be gainsaid.

The great discoverer of this medicine was possessed of the knowledge that the seat of all disease is the nerve centres, situated at the base of the brain. In this belief he had the best scientists and medical men of the world occupying exactly the same premises. Indeed, the ordinary layman recognized this principle long ago. Everyone knows that let disease or injury affect this part of the human system and death is almost certain. Injure the spinal cord, which is the medium of these nerve centres, and paralysis is sure to follow.

Here is the first principle. The trouble with medical treatment usually, and with nearly all medicines, is that they aim simply to treat the organ that may be diseased. South American Nervine passes by the organs, and immediately applies its curative powers to the nerve centres, from which the organs of the body receive their supply of nerve fluid. The nerve centres healed, and of necessity the organ which has shown the outward evidence only of derangement is healed. Indigestion, nervousness, impoverished blood, liver complaint, all owe their origin to a derangement of the nerve centres. Thousands bear testimony that they have been cured of these troubles, even when they have become so desperate as to baffle the skill of the most eminent physicians, because South American Nervine has gone to headquarters and cured there.

The eyes of the world have not been disappointed in the inquiry into the success of South American Nervine. People marvel, it is true, at its wonderful medical qualities, but they know beyond all question that it does everything that is claimed for it. It stands alone as the one great certain curing remedy of the nineteenth century. Why should anyone suffer distress and sickness while this remedy is practically at their hands?

HUSTLING HAVELOCK.

(Correspondence of The Examiner.)

At the conclusion of the business of the new council, the newly-appointed officers of the village for 1897 addressed the council. Mr. Maidens, treasurer, expressed his thanks to the council for again reposing their trust in him. He felt especially honoured by the appointment this year, and it was gratifying to him to know that he had continued to receive the confidence of every council since the incorporation of the village. Mr. Archer, assessor, was pleased to be re-appointed to the office. He had endeavoured to give fair and impartial assessments, and would continue to do his duty in this respect without fear, favour or partiality. Mr. Philips, clerk of the village for the third time, made his maiden speech. He said that if they knew how hard it was for him to get on his feet and make a speech, they would have excused him, because he never had made a speech in his life. If he had them over in his own store he could "talk the arm off them," but here he was completely lost. It occurred to him however that he had something to be thankful for—they had re-appointed him their clerk for another year and he was pleased with their expression of confidence. At the end of his first term as clerk he was by no means anxious for re-election. It had its worries and vexations, because he did not know his duties, but now he had got over that and felt a pleasure in performing his duties.

Reeve McAuley addressed a few words to the council. He said they were his cabinet officers and he looked to them to do their duty during the year and give him the very best assistance they could. He was pleased with the material in the new council and with their officers. It had been said of him that he intended to use his influence against the appointment of Mr. Maidens as treasurer. His action to-night, however, would show how little truth there was in the statement. He was opposed to changing any of the old officers of the council so long as they gave the council satisfaction, because he believed it it was a mistake to be electing new men who were not familiar with the duties of their respective offices. It was the intention of the new council to pursue as economical a policy during the year as was possible, consistent with good service to the municipality. Several important public works would have to be undertaken, which would call for their careful consideration. He was hopeful that if the negotiations started to-night for a new lock up was successful, that steps would be taken during the year for building a suitable public hall for the village, which every ratepayer knew was sadly needed. Some steps should also be taken towards securing suitable fire protection for the village, as well as for the lighting of the streets, both of which were very urgently needed. By the one, the ratepayers' property would not be left entirely at the mercy of the flames, as they were a year or two ago, and it will also have the result of reducing the cost of fire insurance on their properties. By the other, the danger of accidents would be reduced, as well as the liability of the corporation for costs, in cases of injury to life or limb.

A new mammoth covered skating and curling rink has been erected by Mr. Jos. Knox and Mr. Wood, opposite the post office. The structure is a very commodious one, and permits of both skating and curling. The flooding of the rink is done by pumps from driven wells, ice being formed quickly and evenly. The erection of this building for the favourite winter sports is likely to receive the encouragement which the enterprising proprietors deserve.

There is talk of curling and hockey clubs being formed in the village.

The contract for a supply of ice for Swift & Co's icing station here has been given again to Messrs. McDonald and Mercier, of Peterborough. Over 350 cars of ice are required. Mr. Jas. Bryans, the capable local superintendent for Swift & Co., expects to begin loading up his big building shortly.

The village is improving rapidly—even the winter weather being no barrier to the progress of building. Village lots are getting scarce and shrewd citizens are investing now with the idea of a rapid advance in the price of property.

The additional new story to Graham's Hotel has made a very decided improvement in the appearance of the building. It is now a large and commodious hotel, the new addition having given twelve new rooms to the house. Since the fire which so badly damaged the furniture and effects, the whole house has been over-hauled by Mr. Graham. Every room has been fitted with new furniture, carpets and other furnishings.

Mr. William Dineen, formerly proprietor of the Queen's Hotel, Peterborough, is fully installed in his well known brick hotel in the west end, formerly occupied by Mr. T. Smith, also an old Peterborough man. Mr. Dineen has been long known as a good hotel man, and has the advantage of having been a former resident of Havelock.

One of the handsomest dwelling houses recently erected in the village is that of Mr. James Bryans. The style of architecture is attractive, the front especially having an excellent effect, the windows and doors being quite modern and unlike any other in the village.

The new Methodist church, which has lately received its finishing touches, is an ornament to the village. It is built of red brick with a splendid stone foundation used as a Sunday school room. The whole edifice is fitted up in a very comfortable and convenient manner, and shows evidences of careful construction in every detail. Mr. Joseph Knox was the contractor and it is another substantial proof of his good workmanship as a practical builder.

Mr. Herb Williams is building a new blacksmith shop next to Joyce's harness shop.

The Freemasons of this village are a growing body, and are composed of some of the best and most influential of our citizens. Their next meeting takes place on Monday, the 18th inst., when the election of officers and other business will take place.

The supply of wood coming into Havelock is smaller this year than usual. On account of the want of good sleighing, farming have not been able to haul it in.

Mr. Terrance Smith has moved his livery business to the east end, near Gould's old stand, where he has fine stables and keeps a good full stall of horses and rigs.

Mr. Arnold Richards has bought out Hull's livery on George street.

Mr. Hugh Dryden's central grocery is now one of the flourishing business places in the village. The location is a very eligible one, being situated immediately opposite the post office. Mr. Dryden keeps a good full stock of groceries and provisions, and is well satisfied whith the business which is coming his way.

Courtice's drug store is another excellent addition to the business of the village. Being centrally situated, opposite the post office, and carrying full lines of medicines, etc. It will prove a great convenience to the public.

Mr. William Paterson has made a number of improvements to his fine property on Oak street, near the school. A new kitchen has been erected, the main building completed, the exterior painted in a clean white colour and otherwise increasing the value of his whole premises.

Mr. W. Spinks has bought the house formerly owned by Mrs. Edwards on Mathieson street.

—AT THE—

GOLDEN LION.

We take pleasure in announcing to the Ladies of Peterborough and surrounding districts that we will add to the already many important departments of this Great Dry Goods House

A Ladies' Whitewear Department

In which will be found all kinds of Ladies' Whitewear of the very latest style and cut. These garments are now in the hands of skilled operators and we will have them opened up for inspection in a few days. We would urge all ladies to see these goods, for they are all new and cannot be excelled for style and low price. Mr. Fair is at present visiting the American Markets and will inspect some of the leading manufactures of these goods with a view of adding to this New Department some of the Latest American styles.

SECOND CROP OF BARGAINS

As there is a good deal of winter yet before us, it is unnecessary to point out the wisdom of buying now.

This is the month of lucky chances and snaps in mid-winter goods. An aftermath of Bargains for shrewd buyers—lines which we have laid out during stock-taking such as Serges, Cheviots, Heavy Tweeds and other Remnants, as well as Millinery, to be sold even at HALF REGULAR PRICES.

We don't want to carry winter lines past their regular selling season. No relics here. This store is not a museum. We have neither old goods nor old ideas.

You need the goods—we need the room they occupy—so there is mutual benefit all round in the selling of them.

We don't "rest-up" during the winter months and take things easy until spring. While others are resting we're simply HUSTLING.

TORONTO BOARD OF TRADE HINTS

As to the Kind of Men That Should be Selected for Agents Abroad—How Emigrants Should be Cared for on Arriving—The Railway Policy.

The following letter speaks for itself: The Board of Trade of the City of Toronto:

Toronto, Jan. 15, 1897.

W. B. Parmalee, Esq., Deputy Minister Department of Trade and Commerce, Ottawa, Ont:

Dear Sir,—Your circular bearing date Aug. 26, 1896, has had the attention of the Board of Trade of the City of Toronto and has been submitted to the different sections of the board, and my report to you for the purpose of brevity will cover the expression of opinion of the several sections of the board without supplying in utmost detail the several reports.

I am instructed to say to you that it is the opinion of the Board of Trade of Toronto that the broadest principles should be followed in determining the future action of Government in relation to the conservation of trade interests and the extension thereof, and inasmuch as an increase of population is of the first importance, it is recommended that an immigration policy should be adopted which will give promise of such efficiency as has not characterized the policy and methods of the past.

It is suggested that in the selection of agents business capacity should be held prominently in view, and that men should be selected with due reference to their availability for the country to which they may be accredited, and their qualifications because of their knowledge of the language history and social conditions of the people to whom they may be sent.

It has hitherto been the custom to provide temporary agents and lecturers who, passing from point to point in the country to which they were accredited, have supplied information regarding the status of the Dominion as to trade and political conditions without remaining to effect by a continuous contact a permanent result.

We would recommend that in establishing or continuing an emigration agency it should be determined whether the prospects are favorable to secure from the country in question, under any circumstances, a satisfactory result for the investment made. This question being determined, the agency should be fixed upon a permanent basis resembling a consulate, the instruction being to work definitely to establish in the minds of probable emigrants the following facts:

(a) That our system of government in Canada, as regards the liberty of the subject and freedom from militarism, is more favorable than in the case of the United States, or any American nation.

(b) That our country supplies climatic conditions as favorable as any in the world.

(c) That intending emigrants will be cared for from the time of their start until they are placed on the land in whatsoever Province they may elect to settle.

(d) That the Government of Canada will provide all necessary assistance to establish emigrants upon the ground, including the supply of a house, with the necessary articles of furniture at prices and on terms more favorable than can be secured in any other country—such advance to be repaid on a basis likely to be favorably received by intending emigrants.

(e) That the Government will not, under any circumstances, give assistance of the kind indicated to emigrants who are without means of their own.

It is recommended that parties of emigrants leaving Europe should be under the sponsorship of the Government from the time of their start until they reach the point of destination and that population thus secured should be settled in districts and not scattered broadly over the country, and that such districts should be carefully supervised, pending the establishment of a municipal system by the people themselves.

Among the articles recommended to be supplied to settlers in addition to the house, are the usual farming implements, the idea being that the establishment of centres of population of satisfied emigrants will result in a steady flow of emigration from the points of departure, prompted by reports of those who are satisfactorily settled upon the land. It is believed that this plan, if pursued, would ultimately entail no greater outlay than has obtained in the past, with a good promise of efficiency that has hitherto not been realised.

The opinion is expressed that such agencies should have the function that now attaches to the English Consulate of recommending to our Government the lines of trade in manufactures and other products which may be found desirable for introduction into the several countries thus covered, and it may be that such Consulates, at least some of the countries, would have attached to their agency facilities for the exhibition of Canadian products. This is felt to be specially the case with reference to food products, such as grains, butter, cheese, canned goods, grapes, apples, etc., and such points as Liverpool, Manchester, Glasgow, Birmingham, Leeds and London were specially mentioned. On this condition it is thought desirable that certain of these products should be classed by officers of the Canadian Government and branded so as to command the consideration of the countries into which they are sent.

The experience of the members of the Board of Trade prompts the suggestion that there is a larger market in Europe for the following lines of goods: Woodenware, furniture, etc., steam, hot water, hot air and other apparatus for the heating of dwellings, public buildings, etc. It is recommended that while it will be better to make the experiment suggested in Europe, it is probable that such a system, so far as exports are concerned, might prove desirable in South Africa, South America, West Indies, Japan and China.

The Board already having made representation to the Government favoring a system of cold storage, does not in its present report consider it necessary to touch that subject, although it is pertinent; the same remark applies to the question of subsidy to a fast Atlantic service.

In justification of the suggestions made (while I do not propose to burden you with figures) it may be expedient to suggest that of the 310,000,000 pounds of butter imported into Great Britain, valued at $70,000,000, Canada supplied but 4,000,000 and a fraction pounds.

The present attitude of the British people to Canada is such that I am warranted in believing, and in this my board agrees, that a successful effort may be made now to increase the business of Canada, not only in this line, but in all lines of products adapted to their requirements. The statistics covering such imports of prepared oat meal and wheat meal, bacon, etc., would be found to be exactly parallel to those quoted.

The Board of Trade of Toronto is of the opinion that the people of Canada in their liberal gifts to railway enterprises have not in the past properly conserved their own interests, and would recommend to the Government such action as will secure equity in freight arrangements, especially where, in the absence of such equity, the American shipper is more favorably treated than the Canadian.

As to methods—the Board of Trade of Toronto will be prepared to co-operate with the Government at any time ascertaining how this may be and should be accomplished.

Touching the further contribution of Government to railways, it is recommended that there should be some principle established by which the railway so assisted will not be the final arbiter.

As to the question of rates of freight, both as applies long hauls and short—thus should the Government determine to honor a railway to reach the mining districts of British Columbia, or any other section of the Dominion, the interests of the shipper should be well considered and a rate of freight be guaranteed upon a basis of cost to the shipper at least as favorable as that of the American railways to the same point of delivery; and regarding the rates between local points as favorably as those existing under similar circumstances in mining districts within the territory of the United States.

The Board of Trade of the City of Toronto has no facilities within its reach of supplying statistics touching the extent of foreign trade other than those within reach of the Government through the Customs Department.

I have not sought to do more than make a broad statement of the matters and things which have come before me through the different sections of the Board of Trade, and while I shall be glad to furnish any further information or suggestion that may be called for by the Government, I do not think it expedient at this time to do more than provide the outline which is herein suggested.

I have the honor to be, dear sir, your obedient servant,

E. B. Osler,
President.

BARN-BURNING CONSPIRACY.

Shelburne People are Still Gossipping About the Case Organized Gangs Were in the Plot.

Shelburne, Ont., Jan. 15.—Interest in the barn-burning conspiracy is fully maintained here and every man and woman in the neighborhood has a story to tell about the Ballards and those said to be associated with them. About the only new feature that developed to-day is the statement that three distinct gangs of eight men each were engaged in the plots to rob the insurance companies and take revenge on enemies. Alonzo Smith, Dave Ballard and James Ballard were the captains of the respective corps, with Dave Ballard in command of the whole. Another Crown witness is said to have been secured in Mrs. Armstrong, known to Dundalk folks as Mother Armstrong.

The gang had a most ingenious fashion of being aware and yet unaware of all the fires that occurred in their preserves, and the circle would meet one of its members, who would express his desire to have his house or barn burned down. The circle would tell the candidate that on such a night his property would be destroyed by fire, and on that night the candidate took care to be some distance from home, and when he came back, he lacked a house or a barn, and he never knew who was the incendiary; he only knew that one of the circle had applied the torch. This ignorance saved his insurance, and kept him free of perjury in the witness box.

The Crown is said to have a strong case, and, for the present, Dave Ballard has entrusted his case to I. B. Lucas, of Lucas & Wright, Markdale, and, at the preliminary investigation here on Monday, it is understood that the prisoners will waive defence, and elect to be tried by a judge and jury.

The Crown has already in its possession the names of certain members of each gang, not all of them, to be sure, but enough to get on the trail of the rest. In Alonzo Smith's circle were William Reid, one of the prisoners, and two men named Thompson. In James Ballard's circle were James Corbett, his first lieutenant, and two men, Robinson and McCoy; and in David Ballard's circle were the two Tisdales and Jackson. The other names to make up the respective eights will be divulged shortly.

HE WAS ALMOST DEAD.

A Young Man in Hamilton Drugged and Robbed by Strangers.

Hamilton, Jan. 15.—(Special.)—A young man named Charles Southon, who lives at 294 King-street east, was found behind the butter market building to-night unconscious and suffering from violent spasms. It was supposed that he had taken poison, as a small empty vial was found in his pocket, and he was immediately taken to the City Hospital. Emetics were administered, and after vomiting a great deal, the patient regained consciousness, but at a late hour to-night was still in dreadful agony. He denies having attempted to take his life. He states his illness was the result of having drunk what he supposed was whiskey from a bottle given him by two strangers in the Central Market. When the victim was found his trousers pockets were turned inside out, and he states that the men who gave him the liquor robbed him of his week's earnings. Southon was employed as a tinsmith with J. H. Riddell.

MARLBORO BUYS LONGSHOT.

London, Jan. 14.—One of the most notable transactions in Canadian horseflesh has just been completed between Adam Beck, the noted horseman of this city, and the Duke of Marlborough. The horse Longshot, the hunter, which carried off the first prizes at the New York Horse Show and also at Toronto, has been purchased by His Grace and will be expressed to New York at once, thence to be taken to England by steamship. The price paid was private, but a very high one.

NEWS FROM OTTAWA

No Government Agents Sent to Washington.

EMPHATIC DENIAL OF THE REPORT

That Messrs. Farrer and Charlton are at the U. S. Capital in an Official Capacity—Influx of Population From the West of England Probable—The Art Gallery Crowded.

Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 15.—(Special.)—Ministers give an authoritative denial to the report from Washington that Mr. John Charlton, M. P., and Mr. Edward Farrer are there on business for the Canadian Government in regard to the tariff. The Government has not sent either of them to Washington, and, if they happen to be there at present, it is their own business which has taken them. Whatever Mr. Charlton may have to do with any commission that may be appointed to go to Washington in the future, The Journal says certainly Mr. Farrer will have no connection with it. Meantime there is no commission, and no one has been appointed by the Canadian Government to go to Washington or elsewhere in connection with the subject of reciprocity or any tariff arrangement with the United States.

Mr. E. H. McAlpine, barrister of St. John, has been appointed a commissioner to investigate into charges of political partisanship preferred against certain fishery officers in New Brunswick. Captain Bloomfield Douglas, who was deputed to investigate into the charges in the three Maritime Provinces, will confine his enquiry to Nova Scotia and P. E. Island.

Mr. J. W. Dunn, Canadian agent at Bristol, England, writes the following well-informed remarks to a friend in this city: "The good crops in Manitoba and the Northwest, with advance of prices, are now getting pretty well known, and I am certain that if the people in this country can only find the money they will emigrate in large numbers next spring, and Canada will get the cream of this western portion of England. Hundreds are now writing for pamphlets, etc., containing information respecting the country."

The Militia Department has been informed that the Maxim guns ordered by Col. Lake, Quartermaster-General, last year are now en route from the Old Country, and may be here any day. There are 15 of these quick-firing machines, and they will be distributed at different points Nothing has been heard yet concerning shipment of heavier cannon to be placed on the fortifications at Quebec and Kingston, or of the field artillery guns to be distributed among the Canadian batteries.

President Van Horne was asked today as to the proposed new station for Ottawa, and replied that the company had taken no steps in the matter as yet. The Montreal and Ottawa road was still 40 miles from this city, and they would not decide where the depot would be built until the road reached the city. He, however, stated that the decision arrived at some months ago to build at the northern end of Bank-street had been abandoned, as it was too expensive and not convenient enough. He stated that there was another site in view, the location of which he did not feel free to state.

There has been another shuffle round of the pictures in the National Art Gallery on O'Connor-street to make room for a fine large historical painting by George P. Renagle, a Royal Academican of 1802-30. The subject is the death of Nelson, and it is a worthy representation of that memorable event. The picture was procured in Europe at a great bargain by the late Minister of Public Works, Judge Ouimet. A splendid specimen of the work of the late Paul Peel, entitled, "A Venetian Bather," is also now on the walls. The time is near at hand when the Government must do something to find new quarters for this collection of pictures. The fisheries exhibit is cramped, the space in the art gallery is limited, while in the geological museum hundreds of valuable specimens are stowed away out of sight for want of show case room. Before long the Government will be compelled by force of circumstances to put up a new geological building, and it is to be hoped when that time arrives the Government will see its way clear to provide more room for the National Gallery.

The Premier formally inaugurated the open air rink of O. A. A. C. and delivered a very pleasant address. He congratulated the Athletic Club on its success and said it was one of the few institutions in the Capital which was not looking to the country for financial aid.

It is announced that the infraction of prison rules by Father Cloutier, chaplain at the Stoney Mountain Penitentiary, consists of leaving his post without the sanction of the Minister. Father Cloutier wanted to accompany Archbishop Langevin on his eastern trip to Quebec, and applied for leave of absence. Before an absence was received from the department Father Cloutier started off with the Archbishop. The reply to Father Cloutier's request from the department was that he could not get away. The result was that the priest was suspended, and the matter is now before the Cabinet. Father Cloutier's salary is about $800.

It is announced that until the civil service and superannuation legislation passes Parliament appointments to the public service will be very few. It is claimed for the Postmaster-General that since he assumed his portfolio he has not made a single appointment. He has arranged a number of transfers and managed several dismissals, very urgent in the public interests, but his policy is to cut down the staff as far as possible.

Mr. Casey, M. P., is in the city, as also Lieut.-Col. Stacey of St. Thomas.

Hon. Col. Tisdale was in town to-day.

Sir William Van Horne, President of the C. P. R., was in the city to-day and saw the Premier and Sir Richard Cartwright. It is said, on the subject of the Crow's Nest Railway.

THE AUDITING OF MUNICIPAL ACCOUNTS.

The following from the Toronto World emphasizes the evil resulting from the laxity with which the average municipal corporation discharges its duty of having its municipal accounts annually investigated:

"Another municipal treasurer gone wrong. The woods are full of them. This time the treasurer of a school section in York township is charged with a shortage of $800. It appears his accounts were audited at the end of 1895, when it was reported by the auditor that some $500 was on hand. It now transpires that the auditor had signed the report at the request of the trustees, with the readiness with which a man would attach his name to a petition for a new sidewalk. As a matter of fact there was not a cent on hand when the auditor had assured the ratepayers there was over $500 in the bank. The Government must do something to inspire more confidence in the administration of the public funds by municipal officers. A better system of auditing must be adopted. Only competent auditors must be employed, and to ensure competence it will be necessary for the Government to nominate them or prescribe their qualifications. The Government must also close up many of the rat holes by which so many delinquents escape. It was with the greatest difficulty that the ex-treasurer of Guelph was convicted and then he was sentenced for only three months. The ease with which these offenders escape stimulates others to follow their example in wrongdoing. To remedy the situation the Attorney-General must follow up every case that is reported and a new system of auditing all municipal and school board accounts must be devised.

The EXAMINER has repeatedly insisted upon the necessity of having the municipal accounts subjected to rigourous investigation. The importance of such a course is emphasized by the recent cases of fraud and peculation on the part of treasurers, by which municipalities were subjected to heavy losses. Since municipalities seem unable to protect themselves through the audit of their accounts, there is reason to believe that the present system of auditing school board and municipal accounts is radically defective. There is, therefore, much force in the World's demand that a new system of auditing such accounts must be devised and put into force. As a rule our treasurers are honest and capable, and it is not such officials that need watching. There seems to be an epidemic of fraudulent malversation, and to protect the public against these, it is necessary that all municipal accounts be subjected to close and effectual audit. From such an audit the honest and capable official has nothing to fear, and the rascal has everything to fear. In this wicked age, the best way to keep officials to honest methods is to compel them to be honest. By all means let some thorough and effective system of auditing be devised and put into force with inexorable minuteness. It is always bad enough to pay taxes, and we cannot entirely guard against them being, at times, and too often, unwisely and extravagantly expended, but we certainly can guard against the public money being stolen outright in the manner that careless and perfunctory auditing permits, and, more than that, absolutely invites.

DUMMER.

Council Meeting.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Dummer council met in the town hall on Monday, Jan. 11th, 1897, at 11 o'clock, a.m., when Henry A. Moore, reeve; Thos. Webster, deputy reeve; Christopher John Darling, Wm. Crowe and Nathan Payne, councillors, made and subscribed the declaration of qualification and office before the clerk and organized as a council. Minutes of previous meeting read and signed.

Moved by Thomas Webster and Wm. Crowe, that William Fitzgerald be township auditor—Carried.

The reeve appointed A. F. Choate associate auditor.

For assessor the following applications were heard from: S. S. Spence, W. J. Doughty, Taylor W. Crowe, Albert R. Wigmore.

Moved by Wm. Crowe and Jno. Darling, that Taylor W. Crowe be appointed assessor for Dummer for 1897.

Moved in amendment by Thos. Webster and Nathan Payne, that A. R. Wigmore be assessor.

The reeve voted for motion which left Taylor W. Crowe, assessor for Dummer for 1897.

Moved by Jno. Darling and Thos. Webster, that George Kirk be re-appointed member of the local board of health, H. A. Moore, reeve, chairman, and that bylaw be drawn up to cover same—Carried.

Moved by Thos. Webster and Jno. Darling, that the account of Peter Hamilton re. scraper, be left over until next council, and that the clerk write Mr. Hamilton re. same, and report at next meeting—Carried.

Application from Wm. Baskins, respecting loss of horse on boundary between Dummer and Asphodel. Moved by Wm. Crowe and Jno. Darling that whereas it appears that Mr. Baskins has made application during last year respecting same and as the matter was left in the hands of of Mr. Hawthorne, ex-reeve, to consult with the reeve of Asphodel as to whether the same was a just claim and as Mr. Hawthorne's report recommended that this council give an equivalent to Asphodel, and as Asphodel has already given Mr. Baskins $20 towards same, resolved that this council give Mr. Baskins $15 in full compensation for his loss and that an order be drawn on the Treasurer for same.—Carried.

Moved by Thos. Webster and Jno. Darling that the following orders be paid:—A. R. Wigmore, D. O. O. P. S. D. No. 1, $3; Sam S. Spence, D. R. O. P. S. D., No. 2, $3; Thos. Campbell, D.R.O. P. S. D., No. 3, $3; F. R. Darling, D. R. O. P. S. D., No. 4, $3; James Gardiner, house for election, $2; Mrs. D. Padget, house for election, $2; Jno. Darling, Orange hall for election, $3; and orders drawn drawn on treasurer for same.—Carried.

Moved by Thos. Webster and Nathan Payne, that the clerk be authorized to notify the collector to return the roll to the treasurer not later than the 1st Feb., 1897.—Carried.

Moved by Wm. Crowe and John Darling, that an order be drawn on Treasurer for $20, in favour of Mrs. Geo. Matthews as charity.—Carried.

Bylaw No. 622 to appoint auditors, assessors, clerk and local board of health, received its several readings and was sealed and signed.

Bylaw No. 623, to provide for payment of certain money, received its first reading.

Council adjourned to meet Saturday, 13th February.

DOOMED TO DIE.

Doctors Said Mrs. Ackerman of Belleville, would never Get Better.

SHE CAN LAUGH AT DEATH.

And the Doctors, too, for Eight Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills Made a Well Woman of Her after Six Years Illness.

Belleville, Ont., Jan. 15th.—If there is anything under heaven that excites a man's pity, it is a weak suffering woman. If there is any disease on earth that causes weakness and suffering in women more than another, it is Kidney disease. If there is any medicine between Heaven and Earth that will infallibly cure Kidney disease, it is Dodd's Kidney Pills.

And that's no dream.

Women rise up by the score and call Dodd blessed for his wonderful discovery that has made weak backs and backaches unknown where Dodd's Pills have been tried.

Let one of these grateful women tell her story:

"I had been troubled with Kidney Disease for six years. I had doctored, but it was of no use. They told me I would never get better. I saw about the wonderful cures of DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS, and I procured one box. Upon getting relief I continued to use eight boxes and I can safely say I am completely cured. You may publish this as you see fit, so as to help some other person who may have Kidney trouble.

A PROVIDENTIAL RESCUE

FROM A LIFE BURDENED WITH PAIN AND SUFFERING.

Languor, Severe Headaches and Pains in the Regions of the Kidneys Made the Life of Mrs. McCauce Miserable—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Cured After Other Medicines Failed.

From the Gravenhurst Banner.

Poor health is an affliction that is dreaded by every one, and the first sign of approaching disease is usually met with an attempt on the part of the patient to check and kill it. Frequently, however, even the most skilled physicians fail, and and the sufferer endures a weary round of agony, such as those who are in the full enjoyment of health can have no conception of. But when at last a medicine is found that will cure, its worth cannot be estimated in dollars and cents. It is without price. Such is the opinion of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McCauce, of Ashdown, Ont. Mr. McCauce tells the story of his wife's illness and cure as follows: "For three or four years past my wife has been constantly failing in health. The first symptoms of her trouble were languor and loss of appetite, accompanied by bearing down pains and headaches, which affected her periodically. As time grew on she was attacked with pains in the region of her kidneys that became almost unbearable, owing to their severity. Home remedies and different medicines were tried, but with no good results. Last winter she grew so weak and helpless that I was obliged to seek medical aid for her, and accordingly sent her out to Barrie, where she received the best medical attention, the result of which was only slightly beneficial. On her return, owing no doubt to the tediousness of the journey, she suffered from a relapse and her trouble came back in a form more aggravated than before. I noticed in a paper which I was reading one day a testimonial from one who had been cured of a similar trouble, and although knowing that other remedies had failed in my poor suffering wife's case, there was yet a ray of hope. I therefore procured a few boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and on my return home administered the first dose to my wife. It is perhaps needless to relate that before the first supply was exhausted she found great relief. My wife now commenced to enjoy a buoyancy of spirits and kept on taking the Pink Pills with increasing good results. By the time she had used six boxes her condition had so improved that her neighbours were almost unprepared to believe the evidence of their own eyes when seeing the change in her appearance. Before taking the pills it was a severe task even to dress herself, much less to do any housework, while now, although not having used any of the pills for more than a couple of months, she attends to all her household duties without the slightest inconvenience. Taking all things into consideration, I feel it a duty I owe to other sufferers to recommend these little pink messengers of health which stood between my well nigh distracted wife and the jaws of a lingering but certain death."

The experience of years has proved that there is absolutely no disease due to a vitiated condition of the blood or shattered nerves, that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will not promptly cure, and those who are suffering from such troubles would avoid much misery and save money by promptly resorting to this treatment. Get the genuine Pink Pills every time and do not be persuaded to take an imitation or some other remedy from a dealer, who, for the sake of extra profit to himself, may say is "just as good." Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure when other medicines fail.

One Every Night.

One Laxa-Liver Pill taken each night during 30 days will cure Constipation, after-returning Headaches and irregular action of the bowels. Laxa-Liver Pills leave no unpleasant after-effect.

BUTTER VERSUS GOLD

Dairying a Better Industry Than Gold Mining

IN THE OPINION OF PROF. DEAN

Close of the Successful Creameries Convention at St. Mary's—Prof. Robertson on Bread and Butter for the Nation—Officers Elected for the Coming Year.

St. Mary's, Jan. 15.—The Ontario Creameries Convention closed at 5 o'clock this afternoon what is considered on all hands the most successful convention held in the twelve years of its existence. The attendance was large and the interest throughout the sessions of the three days never flagged, in fact increased, making this afternoon's session in many respects the most interesting and most profitable of the week.

Prof. Lean of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, discussed the question of the butter and cheese industry of Canada. He treated his subject in an exhaustive and able manner and argued there was much more for the people of Canada in the dairy industry of Ontario than in the mining industry of British Columbia. Gold out of the soil, which would ultimately become exhausted, would never better the country as much as butter out of the acre.

Hon. Sydney Fisher, ex-Governor Hoard of Wisconsin, C. C. James, Deputy Minister of Agriculture; J. Dillon of Prince Edward Island, all gave able addresses.

Prof. Fletcher of the Dominion Experimental Farm, Ottawa, interested the large number of ladies who were in attendance by an address on beautifying our homes.

Prof. Robertson, Dominion Dairy Commissioner, ably handled the subject, "The Nation's Bread and Butter," and at a later stage took up the subject of packing butter for shipment, and detailed to the dairymen present the result of the most recent experiments in packing and shipping. He advocated the raising of hogs in connection with cheese and butter-making, and urged upon his hearers the importance of system in every work they undertook and cleanliness in everything connected with dairying.

Prof. Fletcher occupied the greater part of the afternoon with the subject, "Injurious Insects." It was one in which the farmers were particularly interested, as was evidenced by the scores of questions asked from the audience, all of which were handled to the entire satisfaction of the questioners by Prof. Fletcher, who was as painstaking in his endeavor to give the most detailed information on the various points raised as the readiness of his answers showed him to be capable of doing. No more thorough or exhaustive address on this subject was ever given to an audience in this section of the country.

A caucus of creamery men was held at the Windsor Hotel last night and, as a result of it, a resolution protesting against the action of the Joint Committees at Toronto in abolishing the Ontario Creameries Association was put to the meeting and carried unanimously.

The association then elected officers for 1897, as follows: President, A. Wenger; first vice-president, J. Croil; second vice-president, F. J. Miller; directors, W. D. McCammon, A. Campbell, C. R. Tousaw, John Sprague, A. A. Wright, F. T. Green, James Carmichael, W. J. Walton, A. R. Robler, Daniel Eckstein, James Struthers, William Halliday, W. H. Snider.

DEATH FROM SUFFOCATION.

Almost a Fatality but for Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart—Strange Story of a Northwest Lady.

A death to be dreaded is that from suffocation, and yet this is one of the usual phases of heart disease. Mrs. J. L. Hillier, of Whitewood, N.W.T., came as near this dangerous point as need be. She says: "I was much afflicted with heart failure, in fact I could not sleep or lie down for fear of suffocation. I tried all the doctors in this section of the country, but they failed to give me relief. A local druggist recommended Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart. I tried it, and with the result that I immediately secured ease that I did not know before, and after taking further doses of the medicine the trouble altogether left me. It is not too much to say that it saved my life." Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

MAGOWAN SETTLES.

The Case Brought by J. A. Barnes, Formerly of Toronto, for Alienation, Compromised.

Trenton, N.J., Jan. 15.—Counsel for both parties in the suit brought against ex-Mayor Frank A. MaGown by J. A. Barnes, formerly of Toronto, for alienating the affections of the latter's wife, formerly Miss Edith Riddell of Toronto, stated to-day that the case had been compromised out of court, and the suit would be withdrawn. Mr. Barnes claimed damages to the amount of $100,000. How much MaGown paid to settle the case is not known. Mrs. Barnes secured a divorce from her husband in Oklahoma, where MaGown at the same time secured a divorce from his wife.

RHEUMATISM CURED.

Eighteen Months Trying to get Cured—Had the Best Doctors—He Found What he Wanted in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Goderich, Jan. 11—(Special)—A case of great interest here just now is that of Mr. Alexander J. Sharkey, who for some time has been an extreme sufferer from Rheumatism. His statement to the correspondent is as follows:—

"For eighteen months I was a victim of Rheumatism and during the whole of that time was trying every means to cure it. I had the best doctors in Canada and took their prescriptions with faith and patience.

"I got tired at last, for I found the disappointment nearly as killing as the disease.

"But one friend wiser than others convinced me that my disease must be cured by way of the kidneys and recommended Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I have used two boxes of these pills to effect a perfect cure, and I don't care who knows it."

Cobourg Lovers of Flowers.

Cobourg, Jan. 14.—The Cobourg Horticultural Society was organized in the Town Council chamber here last night. The membership list contains nearly 100 names of local residents who take delight in the culture of fruits and flowers. The following officers were elected: President, J. D. Hayden; first vice-president, John Fisher; second vice-president, Col. Skill; secretary, Major Snelgrove; treasurer, J. G. Orr; directors, A. R. Hargraft, Prof. L. E. Horning, D. Denton, E. J. Baker, Mrs. John W. Kerr and Mrs. John Hayden.

They Were Well Insured.

Montreal, Jan. 14.—(Special.)—The insurance on the Crathern & Caverhill property, burned this morning, is as follows: On the stock, Liverpool, London and Globe, $50,000; Royal, $40,000; London, $40,000; Phoenix, $40,000; North America, $30,000; total $220,000. On the building there was an insurance of $20,000, which was carried by the London.

Mr. Hugh Alexander Allan was today elected director of the Montreal Telegraph Company in place of William Rae, deceased. Andrew Allan was re-elected president and the report adopted.

HAD INDIGESTION!

For a Matter of Some Forty Years or More.

Joseph Gardner, stove dealer, of Bath, Ontario, is a great believer in Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for indigestion, constipation, dyspepsia, Bright's disease, rheumatism, and kidney, liver and stomach troubles generally.

"I was troubled for over forty years with indigestion and constipation," he writes. "At intervals I suffered from severe headache. I spent dollars and dollars without result until Mr. Ball, our druggist, advised me to try Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I did so, and must say that they are the only remedy that gave me relief. I would not be without them for anything."

Many people suffer from rheumatism. Bad blood and diseased kidneys bring it on. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills will remedy all this and cure rheumatism, sciatica and all kindred complaints. Here is a sample case:

"My boy was all crippled up and suffered awfully with rheumatism," writes Mrs. H. Wills, of Chesley, Ont. "He also had a touch of diabetes. The doctors could do him no good, but Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills completely cured him."

Sold by all dealers and Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. 25c.

When all other remedies fail Dr. Chase's Linseed and Turpentine will cure the worst chronic cold 25 cents.

To banish indigestion in every form use Adams' Pepsin Tutti Frutti.

Don't be imposed upon with imitations. Save coupons inside of wrappers for latest books.

Quite a crowd went down to the Keene Carnival last night. The prizes were carried off as appended: Best dressed lady—Miss Bessie Campbell; best dressed gentleman—Reg. Turner, Peterborough; comic costume, gentleman—John Kirby; partners' race—Harry Bell, Peterborough, and Miss Lizzie Campbell, 1st; Stanley Mather and Jennie McGregor, 2nd; open race—Harry Bell, won; F. Quinn, second.

Peterborough Business College.

During this week a large number of new pupils have registered at the Peterborough Business College. To carry on the work successfully the Principals have found it necessary on account of the very large attendance to secure the services of another teacher. They have been fortunate in their choice—Miss Maud Datcher, who is well qualified in every respect to keep up the high standard of the work at this institution.

Riverside Park Skating Rink.

A prize will be offered for competition to boys' hockey clubs, open to all the schools in the county or town of Peterborough. The members of each club competing must be bona fide scholars of some school in the town or county. Those wishing to compete will please send their names to Jos. G. McGowan, secretary, who will give particulars. Box 55, Peterborough. 6d1w

Wedded In Winnipeg.

On Wednesday, December 30th, 1896, a quiet wedding was solemnized in St. John's Cathedral, Winnipeg, when Rev. Clement Williams, rector of St. Alban's, Mooselmin, diocese Q'Appelle, was united in marriage to Mary Helena, youngest daughter of Frank Elmhirst, of Pleasant Point, formerly reeve of Burleigh, and for a term Warden of the County of Peterborough. The ceremony was performed by Canon Matheson of St. John's cathedral.

The Ice Harvest.

The weather has not been very favourable to the formation of deep ice, but the quality is excellent and clear. The blocks being harvested are about fourteen inches in thickness. Apropos of the ice harvest, it may be mention that the "Banner Ward" is being unduly favoured in the matter of sleighing. There is excellent sleighing at one point, from the Little Lake to the G.P.R. station. But the energetic contractors who are shipping ice to Swift & Co., Havelock, had to draw the snow collected on the lake to make the excellent sleighing they enjoy—with less thanks to the clerk of the weather than to their own enterprise.

PRESENTATION TO MR. WM. MILLER.

His Bible Class Gives Him a Handsome Easy Chair.

Last evening the members of Mr. W. Miller's adult bible class of the George street Methodist church Sunday school assembled at the residence of Mr. H. P. Lindsay and an invitation to be present was extended to Mr. Miller.

On his arrival Mrs. Faint took the chair and called upon Mr. R. J. Winch to read the following address:

To William Miller, Esq., Peterborough:

DEAR TEACHER,—We, the members of your Bible class, avail ourselves of this opportunity of extending to you our good wishes and thankfulness for the zeal, energy and earnestness you have always displayed for our welfare in the past. You have used every available means to glean all possible information on each succeeding lesson and you have in a most clear and comprehensive manner given us the benefit of your researches, so that by your teaching you have not only increased our fund of information but have lifted us to a higher plane of life. Will you kindly condescend to accept this easy chair as a slight token of gratitude. You will accept it as a memento of that bond of Christian love and sympathy that exists between you and your class. As you rest in its embrace may it suggest to you that your class, is ready at all times to ease your burdens and lighten your labours, and may it still further suggest the glorious possibility of a united class, with teacher, of enjoying "that rest which remaineth for the people of God." May God in His mercy spare you to labour among us as teacher of the senior Bible class in George street Sabbath school, a position you have so long occupied and filled so well.

Signed on behalf of the class,

MRS. FAINT, MRS. H. P. LINDSAY, MRS. H. BRENTON, R. J. WINCH, K. MARK, J. SPENCE.

Mrs. Lindsay made the presentation, and after Mr. Miller had made a suitable acknowledgement of the unexpected gift a social hour or two were spent, refreshments being served by the ladies.

A NEW BRIDGE CONTRACT

Awarded to the Central Bridge and Engineering Works.

The Central Bridge and Engineering Works have been awarded the contract for the construction of a steel high level railway bridge in Hamilton. This bridge will be 380 feet in length, with a central arch span of 180 feet, and with two end spans of 115 and 85 feet respectively.

The bridge crosses at an angle the new C.P.R. entrance into Hamilton, and also the Desjardins Canal. It is 62 feet above the canal, 30 feet in width, and will carry the C.P.R. trains, as well as the cars of the Lake Shore Electric Line. This bridge will require in its construction about 130 tons of steel, and is to be completed by the first of May.

COUNTY COURT.

Judgment Delivered in the Case of Davis vs. the Chamberlen Estate.

His Honour Judge Weller, after taking evidence for several days in the case of Davis vs. the Chamberlen Estate, has leaned his judgment.

The action was adjourned from the December sittings of the court, and involved the taking of accounts for a considerable number of years. The plaintiff also claimed damages for excessive distress. The defendants paid into court the sum of $25 with their defence in satisfaction of the plaintiff's claim.

The judgment is for the plaintiff for the sum of $19 with costs down to the time of payment in court, and with costs to the defendants subsequent to that date. Messrs. Dumble & Johnston for the plaintiff, and Messrs. Dennistoun, Peck & Stevenson for the defendants.

PERSONAL.

Miss Lola Pettit left this afternoon on a visit to friends in Toronto.

Miss White, of Lindsay, who has been the guest of Mrs. J. R. Stratton, returned home yesterday.

Rev. R. Allin, of Bethany, will preach the annual missionary sermons in Mark street Methodist church to-morrow morning and evening.

The Lindsay Post says: His Lordship Bishop O'Connor, of Peterborough, arrived in town on the 2 o'clock train to-day, and is the guest of Monsignor Laurent.

Mr. Wm. P. Cashman, brother of Mrs. E. D. Gough, of Belleville, was married on Tuesday to Miss Florence Dombey Fahey. Miss Dollie Cashman and Mr. J. H. Cashman filled the posts of bridesmaid and groomsman. The young couple will live in Barrie.

Cheap Sleigh-riding.

The youngsters haven't had much chance for coasting this winter so far. That may be one reason why the Peterborough Book Store has more hand-sleighs in stock than usual; but it's no reason why there should be lots of fun yet and plenty of snow to make a brisk demand for hand-sleighs. However, come what may, these sleighs must be sold and to hurry them out we have marked them down to bare cost. P. ANNUAL MEETING OF THE CHILDREN'S AID.

THE YEARLY REPORT OF THE SOCIETY'S SECRETARY.

An Increased Interest Being Manifested in the Work Undertaken by This Most Excellent Organization — A Large Attendance of Members.

The annual meeting of the Children's Aid Society took place yesterday, with an attendance which was most gratifying to those interested in its progress and welfare.

The president, Sheriff Hall, presided, and amongst those present were the following: Mrs. J. B. McWilliams, Mrs. Aaron Cox, Mrs. Birdsall, Mrs. Beck, Mrs. O'Sullivan, Miss Beck, Miss Dunlop, Miss Stewart, Miss Nicholls, Mrs. John McKee, Mrs. John Gilchrist, Mrs. B. F. Ackerman, Mrs. J. G. Potter, Mrs. Chas. McGill, Rev. H. Symonds, J. H. Burnham, Geo. Cochrane, F. W. Miller, H. S. Macdonald, A. C. Dunlop, Peter Campbell, J. J. McBain, Rev. J. J. Rae and Rev. J. G. Potter.

Letters were read by the hon. secretary, Mr. Hampden Burnham, from Miss Code and Mrs. Kendry, expressing regrets at being unable to be present and expressing the desire to retire from the Board of Management, though still continuing as active members of the society. A like communication was also received from Lakefield in which was an enclosure of ten dollars. The donor wished the name suppressed in this case.

The secretary then read his annual report as appended:

SECRETARY TREASURER'S REPORT.

Fourth annual report of the Secretary of the Children's Aid Society of the town and county of Peterborough:

The work of the Society continues to grow in usefulness. It has taken a long time for the Society to become acquainted with the circumstances and requirements of the less fortunate portion of the community, but the time has been well spent and may be expected to bear fruit. One very noticeable feature in the increasing number of people who ask advice of the society's officers. A vast amount of good work is being done by the other societies in town, and they have not been slow to assist your society in every way possible. The management of the Protestant Home and of the hospitals cannot be too sincerely thanked for their patience in providing temporary care for the sick and neglected children coming into the Society's control. It will be interesting to give as usual a few cases which are more more or less typical of the long list of the year. A widower with five small children did everything in his power to shirk his responsibility to them and to throw them helplessly upon the world. He was promptly brought before the magistrate by the society, which agreed to take one for adoption—a girl aged 9 years, but put the others in temporary shelter only. He was warned to look for work at once. He did so, secured it and earned two dollars a day. Again it was necessary to bring him to time, when, to escape punishment, he paid for the temporary care of four children and took them into his keeping. This was some time ago, but the result has continued satisfactory in every particular. The second case was when the husband and wife living in the country had separated. The prospect of reconciliation was remote. Careful inquiries were made and the complaint against the man was found substantiated. He was then brought before the magistrate for non-support of his children. After a long examination the cause of the misunderstanding was cleared up. A complete reconciliation followed between husband and wife and a letter of gratitude was afterwards received by the society. The reconciliation has been permanent. The third case was that of an orphan boy sent into the country by an orphanage. He ran away and came into town but had no idea who had put him in his foster home. He was given temporary shelter and inquiries resulted in finding the orphanage. He was taken back to the Home in Toronto, which expressed their gratitude and said he was in the worst condition of any boy sent out by them. A fourth case is that of a family in the country in great poverty, whose eldest boy, aged 10, was growing up without any of the advantages of a decent life. The father and mother asked the Society to take him and this was done. He is still in the temporary shelter, but is going to school for the first time, and bids fair to be a success.

For some time the management has been of opinion that all cases of charity should be investigated in order that the growing evil of shiftless pauperism might be checked. The town is about to appoint a relief officer to act as general secretary, and to whom the church and charitable societies may report. As this forms a necessary part of the Society's work, the relief officer cannot assist us much, but will, no doubt, be an improvement on the previous method of administering charity.

To the Management of the Protestant Home and of the Hospitals, we cannot be to grateful for their patience and kindness. To the press we are under the deepest obligation, and from the police court of town and county we have received every assistance. As usual Mr. Finch Miller, the agent, has proved an invaluable officer. A wider interest than ever ever before has been displayed in the Society's work, and it is not too much to say that the committee heartily approves of it. The Charity Committee of the town council in their last report to the council, say as follows: "We would recommend the Children's Aid Society to the support of all classes."

Number of children placed during the year in adoption, 12.

Number of children about whom complaints were made and inquired into, 60.

Cases in police court, 9.

Number in temporary shelter and awaiting adoption, 4.

Some warnings were also sent for ill treatment of wives and children.

During the year $304.78 has been received and $324.83 expended, leaving $99.95 in the bank.

HAMPDEN BURNHAM,
Hon. Sec.-Treas of C. A. S.

On motion of Mr. Peter Campbell and Rev. J. J. Rae the excellent and comprehensive report was adopted.

A report was then read from a constable of Dummer, descriptive of a family living in that township, the members of which are in great need. The mother and father are described as "incapables" and there are eight children, which are enumerated as appended:—William aged 14 (imbecile), Abbey 12, Minnie 10, James 8, Ben and Mandy (twins) 6, Martha 4, Emmie 2. The shanty in which they live is a miserable one and the shakedown in the corner, on which the whole family sleeps, is described as a "terror" by the constable.

Sheriff Hall stated that the family had been brought into gaol some time ago and only released on the undertaking of the township of Dummer to support them. The township, he stated, should be brought to time regarding this matter and made to live up to its undertaking.

County Constable Cochrane gave a graphic description of the needs of the family, the members of which, he stated, ran about half clothed, summer and winter. The shake down spoken of by Constable Crowe consisted of a bunch of brush thrown into the corner.

On motion of Mr. J. J. McBain and Rev. H. Symonds the matter was handed over to the Board of Managers for settlement.

THE ELECTION OF OFFICERS

was the next order of business, and resulted as follows:

Pres.—Sheriff Hall.
1st Vice-Pres.—A. C. Dunlop.
2nd Vice-Pres.—Mrs. J. B. McWilliams.
Sec.-treas.—Hampden Burnham.
Asst.-Sec.—F. W. Miller.
Solicitors—E. B. Edwards and R. Max Dennistoun.
Auditor—H. S. Macdonald.
Agent—F. W. Miller.
Board of Managers—Mrs. G. F. Ward, Mrs. A. L. Davis, Mrs. Beck, Mrs. John McKee, Miss Martha Dickson, Mrs. O'Sullivan, Miss Beck, Mrs. John Gilchrist, Rev. Father Scanlan, Rev. Dr. Torrance, Rev. J. J. Rae, Rev. H. Symonds, J. J. McBain, W. B. Bamford, Peter Campbell, J. L. Hughes and Mayor Yelland.

The selection of the Advisory Committee was left to the Board.

In moving the re election of Mr. H. Burnham to the office of Secretary-Treasurer, Rev. Mr. Symonds, took occasion to congratulate the Society on having amongst its officers one who devoted so much time to the Society's calls. It gave Mr. Symonds a great deal of pleasure to hear so excellent a report read. By these signs it could be seen that the people were becoming aware of the grand work of the Society and, that they were taking an interest in it, was shown by the subscriptions which came in. Those interested in it at the beginning knew with what difficulties the Society had to contend, and the speaker had no hesitation in saying that but for the zeal and determination of the Secretary, the Society could never have prospered to the extent which it was now doing.

A vote of thanks was passed to the press, the hospitals, the Peterborough Protestant Home and the town and county councils for courtesies and kindnesses exthnded during the year.

Before the meeting adjourned, Sheriff Hall thanked those who were present, stating that it was a great encouragement to find the Society awakening such an interest in the community as to occasion so large an attendance.

A TORONTO SOCIETY EVENT.

In Which a Former Peterborough Lady Shines as Hostess.

Saturday night says: Senator and Mrs. Cox gave a large afternoon reception on Saturday last, which would have been a crush of the most suffocating description in almost any other house in town. But the spacious and excellently planned home in Sherbourne street defies an ordinary crowd; the rooms are in themselves so large and so admirably connected that ingress and egress gave everyone a chance to make room when the guests clustered too close. The Senator and Mrs. Cox, with Mrs. Davis, (nee Cox) received in the south room, and a glance at their kindly faces assured everyone that they love to welcome their friends to such informal gatherings. Like good father Noah, the Senator has his three sons and their three wives, and they were able aide to entertain the many guests. Mrs. Ed. Cox and her young soeur adoptee, Mrs. Bert Cox, with handsome Mrs. Fred (nee Swan) were three busy women, reinforced by a pretty party of young girls in the drawing-room, where the buffet was loaded with dainties and made beautiful with Dunlop's choicest blooms.

A Sore

two inches across formed and in walking to favor it I sprained my ankle. The sore became worse; I could not put my boot on and I thought I should have to give up at every step. I could not get any relief and had to stop work. I read of a cure of a similar case by Hood's Sarsaparilla and concluded to try it. Before I had taken all of two bottles the sore had healed and the swelling had gone down. My

A SNAKE STORY.

Mr. Robert Fife, of Smith, Goes Mr. Savigny One Better.

Mr. Robert Fife, of Smith, was in to tell the EXAMINER this morning that although Mr. Savigny, of Stewart's, Otonabee, had seen a robin early in the week, he knew of several men who had seen a snake crawling around near the town hall in Dummer, on January 4th.

The story would not have been so surprising, in the dead of winter, if instead of several men seeing one snake, one man had seen several.

Mr. Savigny will now have to take a back seat, for although robins are certainly scarce in winter, yet snakes are even of a more retiring disposition and generally are out of sight for their long winter sleep long before the first frost sets in.

THE CASH SYSTEM.

Messrs. Mercer & Co. have Decided on its Adoption on Feb. 1st.

Beginning with the 1st of February next, the business of Messrs. Mercer & Co. will be conducted upon a strictly cash basis. An experience of forty years has demonstrated to them them that while the Credit System was suited to the conditions of business in the early history of the town, it is now neither in the interest of the merchant nor the customer. Competition in all lines has become so keen that it is necessary in order to meet the demands of customers, that prices be reduced to the lowest possible plane, consistent with effective service. This the cash system alone will effect.

Everyone can understand that the very best figures are accorded the merchant who enters the wholesale market cash in hand. To do this he must insist on ready money transactions with his patrons, who receive the benefit of the very lowest possible prices, for, in addition to the advantage of cash buying there is no margin required to cover uncollected accounts or to meet bank discounts. In fine, everything is in favour of reducing the cost of doing business, and, of course, the customers get the full advantage.

In view of these facts, Messrs. Mercer & Co. decided to adopt the STRICTLY CASH SYSTEM, both in buying and selling, firmly believing that it will permit them to furnish the very best quality of goods at the lowest prices possible. They will, therefore, they reasonably claim, be in a position to furnish the most exclusive lines of cloth, tailoring sundries and general gentlemen's furnishings at figures that will be found to be the lowest representation of good values ever offered the public of Peterborough. With the help of the confidence inspired by forty years honourable dealing with the public—since 1857—the firm of Mercer & Co., under the new departure feel that they are in a position to meet the wants of the public under more favourable conditions and able to furnish the most fashionable fabrics, high class styles and generally acceptable goods on terms that will ensure the highest degree of satisfaction. The advertisement of the firm in another column, as well as those that will appear during the year, may be studied with profit to the reader.

POULTRY AND PET STOCK ASSOCIATION.

An Important Meeting of the Directors of the Peterborough Central Poultry and Pet Stock Association—An Energetic Programme Inaugurated.

A meeting of the directors of this association was held in the Morgan House, on Friday evening, January 15th, for the purpose of drafting constitution bylaws, rules and regulations and other business. The President, Mr. J. Fred Davidson, was in the chair. There were also present Directors Geo. Pratley, J. A. Davidson, W. H. Taylor, Harry Lush, W. C. Rightmyer, R. Cockburn, Smith, Milburn, J. H. Garbutt and Mr. Collins, secretary. Among other business transacted, John A. Davidson was elected second Vice-President. The secretary was instructed to get copies of constitution, bylaws, etc. The date for the annual meeting was fixed for March (except this year)—the newly elected officers holding office till 1898. It was decided to hold an exhibition in the latter part of December, 1897, also to hold public meetings in the interest of the association early in the months of November, December, January, February and March to discuss the poultry interests by the giving of short addresses, readings, essays or papers. The first meeting will be held (place of meeting to be announced later on Monday, February 1st, at 7.30 p. m., when it is expected the Farmers' Institute deputation, composed of Messrs. Rawlings, Myer and Caston, who will be at Bridgenorth on Saturday, January 30th, and North Monaghan on Monday, February 1st, will be present and address the meeting. A paper on "the general management of poultry" will be read by R. Cockburn, of Lakefield. Discussion invited and all are welcome.

DAILY TEMPERATURE RECORD.

Official Readings of the Thermometer, Supplied by Mr. Walter Peters, Local Meteorological Observer.

The following are correct readings of the thermometer for this morning as well as the highest and lowest yesterday:

The minus sign (—) signifies below zero.

Exposure to Disease

Does not necessarily mean contraction of disease provided the system is in a vigorous condition, with the blood pure and all the organs in healthy action. When in such a condition contagion is readily resisted and the disease germs can find no lodgment. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best medicine to build up the system because it makes pure, rich blood, and pure blood is the basis of good health. In cold weather it is especially necessary to keep up the health tone because the body is subject to greater exposure and more liable to disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the safeguard of health.

Fine Furniture at Low Prices.

It is seldom that this chance comes to pick up such really fine things in handsome chairs, centre tables, screens, etc., are now being shown in Clegg's furniture store window. The tickets placed on the goods tell the tale of a substantial reduction. No better goods can be had in the cities. Every article guaranteed as superior in design in material and in finish.

UNTOLD MISERY FROM RHEUMATISM

C. E. King, Water Valley, Miss., cured by

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"For five years, I suffered untold misery from muscular rheumatism. I tried every known remedy, consulted the best physicians, visited Hot Springs, Ark., three times, spending $1000 there, besides doctors' bills; but could obtain only temporary relief. My flesh was wasted away so that I weighed only ninety-three pounds; my left arm and leg were drawn out of shape, the muscles being twisted up in knots. I was unable to dress myself, except with assistance, and could only hobble about by using a cane. I had no appetite, and was assured, by the doctors, that I could not live. The pains, at times, were so awful, that I could procure relief only by means of hypodermic injections of morphine. I had my limbs bandaged in clay, in sulphur, in poultices; but these gave only temporary relief. After trying everything, and suffering the most awful tortures, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Inside of two months, I was able to walk without a cane. In three months, my limbs began to strengthen, and in the course of a year, I was cured. My weight has increased to 165 pounds, and I am now able to do my full day's work as a railroad blacksmith."

AFRAID OF THE PLAGUE.

France and Italy Taking Measures Against England and India.

London, Jan. 15.—France and Italy are taking strict precautions against England and India on account of the cholera and the bubonic plague, the former on account of the British steamship Nubia, which recently arrived at Plymouth with cases of cholera on board and from which all the troops except a few who are in hospitals have been landed. The Nubia has been docked in London, and no further cases of serious sickness among her recent passengers have been reported. There is no excitement at Plymouth, although the Hamburg-American line steamers will touch at Southampton instead of at Plymouth for the present on their trips from New York to Hamburg. France now subjects all passengers from Plymouth to five days' inspection. Both countries have issued decrees providing against the possible introduction of the plague.

COULD NOT TURN IN BED.

Terrible Suffering of an Elora Lady From Rheumatism—Fifteen Years a Sufferer, but Cured by Two Bottles of South American Rheumatic Cure.

No pen can describe the intensity of suffering that may come from an attack of rheumatism. "For fifteen years," says Mrs. John Beaumont, of Elora, Ont. "I have been more or less troubled with rheumatism, which took the form of pains in my back, often confining me to my bed, and rendering me part of the time wholly unfit for my duties. At times I suffered so intensely that I could not turn in my bed, and the disease was fast reaching a point where both myself and my husband had become thoroughly discouraged of recovery. A friend recommended South American Rheumatic Cure, and after the first bottle I was able to sit up, and before four bottles were taken I was able to go about as usual, and have been in excellent health ever since. "As a general cough and lung syrup Pyny-Pectoral is a most invaluable preparation. In fact, Pyny, the newest contribution to all who suffer from lung disease, comes to me of the highest character from all who have tried it. It is suitable for old or young, being pleasant to the taste. In sale with me it has been wonderful, and I can strongly recommend it as a safe and reliable cough medicine."

VICTORY FOR CANADA.

Uncle Sam's Curlers Beaten at the Big Bonspiel in Toronto.

Toronto, Jan. 15.

The third quinquennial curling contest between representative curlers of the United States and Canada is over and Uncle Sam's brithers have still an unbroken string of defeats. The game was played yesterday afternoon and evening on Victoria and Granite ice.

There were 26 rinks a side in the game, or 216 men.

The total was 471 points to 287. Although beaten, the visitors thoroughly enjoyed the game. They have several rink scalps to show and the possessors of these finished in an unusually merry mood.

"They talk about going to Florida for the winter," said one of them. "My choice would be a month of curling here every season."

The ice was keen, and nearly perfect, the contests invariably spirited and everywhere the best of good-nature and fellowship prevailed. In some quarters there was an impression that some of the visitors were not up to the fine points of the game, but every spectator was soon convinced that Uncle Sam's brithers are foemen worthy of any Canadian's steel. Of course they were beaten, but it must be remembered that the pick of the Dominion curlers from Winnipeg to Montreal were playing their cousins, and their hundred and odd minority is no disgrace.

The visitors were dined at the Granite and Victoria at 7 o'clock, and the afternoon gomes were played over again. Besides the jolly brithers recounted matches played years ago and a most pleasant time was spent.

President Thomas Woodyatt was at the head of the Victoria table. There was little time for speeches and he briefly proposed the health of the visitors. Louis Kirkover, the veteran Buffalo skip, responded.

At the Granite, C. C. Dalton, one of the officers of the association, was in the chair. He was happy in his little speech, and they drank to the health of their guests with enthusiasm. David Foulis of New York replied.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

Ex-Mayor Hodgens of London Kicked in the Head by One of His Horses and Nearly Killed.

Fire destroyed the big furniture manufacturing plant of Haywood Bros. & Co. at Baltimore.

Mr. Thomas Platt was yesterday elected Senator for New York State. He received 142 out of 149 votes cast.

Mr. John Sargent has been elected a member of the Royal Academy, and Messrs. Alfred Parsons and J. J. Shannon have been elected associates of the same body. All three are artists of note.

Mrs. Elizabeth Bender, relict of the late Philip Bender of Niagara Falls, Ont., died yesterday, aged 91 years and 5 months. She was an exemplary Christian and retained her faculties to the last. Mrs. Bender was the mother of ten children. Old age was the cause of death.

Ex-Mayor Hodgens of London, Ont., when examining the horses in his stable on Wednesday, dropped one of his gloves. On stooping to pick it up the horse kicked him in the head and he lay unconscious in the stall for one hour, when he was found and taken home. He did not regain consciousness for six hours. He was better yesterday.

William Post, mail robber; Michael Eagan, counterfeiter; George Polyeramisa, a Greek, counterfeiter, and another prisoner sawed their way out of Ludlow-street jail, New York, last night. The last-mentioned was recaptured, but the others are at large.

Bagby & Rivers' furniture factory at Baltimore suffered damage of $40,000 by fire of unknown origin last night. The loss is covered by insurance.

"Let parents not live for their children, but with them." The mother should allow no false modesty to stand in the way of her daughter's knowledge of herself, of her possibilities, of her perils. For over thirty years Dr. Pearce has used his "Favorite Prescription" as a strengthener, a purifier, a regulator. It works directly upon the delicate, distinctly feminine organs, in a natural, soothing way. It searches out the weak spots and builds them up. A woman who would understand herself should send 31 cents to the World's Dispensary, Buffalo, N. Y., for Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser, a book of 1008 pages.

RULES.

1. Every month during 1897, in each of the 5 districts, prizes will be awarded as follows:

The 5 competitors who send in the largest numbers of coupons from the district in which they reside, will each receive, at winner's option, a lady's or gent's Bicycle, value $100.

The 5 competitors who send in the next largest numbers of coupons from the district in which they reside, will each receive, at winner's option, a lady's or gent's Gold Watch, value $25.

2. The competitions will close the last day of each month during 1897. Coupons received too late for one month's competition will be put into the next.

3. Competitors who obtain wrappers from unsold soap in dealer's stock will be disqualified. Employees of Messrs. Lever Brothers, Ltd., and their families, are debarred from competing.

4. A printed list of winners in competitor's district will be forwarded to competitors 21 days after each competition closes.

5. Messrs. Lever Brothers, Ltd., will endeavor to award the prizes fairly to the best of their ability and judgment, but it is understood that all who compete agree to accept the award of Messrs. Lever Brothers, Ltd., as final.

Facts About Furs and Bankrupt Stocks.

Some dealers in Furs believe in selling Bankrupt Stocks but others there are who do not; yet, at the same time have offered several bankrupt stocks for sale within a short time, while claiming also to sell nothing in Furs but of their own manufacture. We certainly must stand away ahead of our competitors as we do not require the aid of such stocks but stand on the merits of our own manufactured goods, which we can always guarantee as such. Our reputation of 36 years standing without a failure is the best proof that customers believe in us and support us so well. We do not require to make any bombastic statements regarding the size or quality of our stock; both are only too well known in the town as well as in many other places at great distances. We wish to thank our customers for their patronage through the late season.

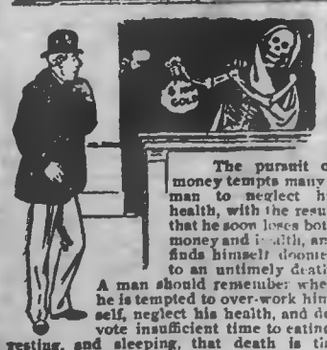
JOHN CRANE, Sec.-Treas.



The pursuit of money tempts many a man to neglect his health, with the result that he soon loses both money and health, and finds himself doomed to an untimely death. A man should remember when he is tempted to over-work himself, neglect his health, and devote insufficient time to eating, resting, and sleeping, that death is the tempter that holds out money as a bait. If a man will take proper care of his health, he will feel like work, and will find that he can do all the work that he cares to do within working hours.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery gets a man into working shape and keeps him there. It invigorates the liver, keeps the digestion in working order, the appetite hearty and keen. It keeps the blood pure and plentiful. It keeps out and drives out impurities and disease-germs. It wards off nervous and wasting diseases. It cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption. It is the product of the life-work of an eminent and skillful specialist, Dr. R. V. Pierce, for thirty years chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. Druggists sell it.

Mrs. L. F. Coates, of Blythebourne, Kings Co, N. Y., writes: "Three years ago, I was so sick I could not eat, sleep or walk, for I coughed all day and night. My weight was reduced from 150 to 127 pounds. The first night that I slept for hours at one time, was after I had taken three doses of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The offensive matter expectorated grew less every day and when I had taken the whole of one bottle I could sleep all night without coughing, and have been well ever since and weigh 178 pounds."

A good, practical, medical book is worth more in a home than a thousand novels. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is that kind of a book. It contains 1,008 pages and over 300 illustrations. A new edition given away absolutely FREE. For paper-covered copy send 21 one-cent stamps (the cost of customs and mailing only), to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y. For cloth binding, 50 stamps.

DISTINCTIVE DRESSES.

School Girls Are to Wear Pretty Frocks of Bright Materials.

The school girl has a style quite distinctly here own, and in the selection of her frocks and school fittings in general the wise mother will do well to study the appropriateness of each article.

First, they must be selected to please the wearer, and that means they must be pretty. Then the color must harmonize with her skin and eyes, and they must be warm, though light in weight. The most sensible material to choose for a school frock to be worn during the winter months is a storm serge, with the twill running crosswise, or a heavy cheviot.

No matter what the goods selected for the school frock it is essential that the linings be good and durable.

Silk is not advised for school wear. It cuts too quickly.

Percaline makes a suitable skirt lining. It is not heavy, nor will it pull out of shape.

Good cambric or sateen makes the best waist lining, as they conform well to the figure. The wrist and throat facings should be of silk in pretty contrast to the frock.

In selecting the proper color it is always safe to choose a navy blue, as it is becoming to nearly everybody. Brown is good for warm skins, but is far more hard to combine with other colors than is generally supposed.

Green is good with bright coloring, but red is essentially the most beautiful of all for winter days. It looks warm and furnishes that vivid dash of color so inspiriting in dreary weather. A dark face may have the dull tones, while the fair-haired child should be given the bright ones. The school girl's frock has become longer during the last year or so, doubtless because of the fact that the young Princesses of Wales no longer set the fashion for young girls' dressing, and the school maiden is free to lengthen her dress more nearly like that of her elder sister, the result being that instead of having knee frocks, the standard, the correct length is down to the tops of her boots.

To give the proper air of finish to a school girl's frock there must be no ribbons or hangings to tangle or catch and the entire garment should be fashioned in a way to allow of perfect freedom of movement; while for warmth and protection must fit well, but not tightly.

It is well to make it all in one, so that the weight may come from the shoulder.

Pockets should never be made in the skirt. They are sure to be filled with school girl trinkets and quickly give a dragged and untidy effect.

In chosing a hat, try to avoid the Alpine or Fedora shapes.

The Tam o' Shanter is very fetching and suits most young faces. It should be properly made on a nice frame of the material to match the frock, and turned up as it best suits the face beneath it. Instead of the conventional one or two quills, have a bunch of five. It takes away the bare look and ought to be very stylish and pretty.

Relief for Lung Troubles

The D. & L. EMULSION

In CONSUMPTION and all LUNG DISEASES, SPITTING OF BLOOD, COUGH, LOSS OF APPETITE, DEBILITY, the benefits of this article are most manifest.

By the aid of The "D. & L." Emulsion, I have got rid of a hacking cough which had troubled me for over a year, and have gained considerably in weight. I think this Emulsion is all I was glad when the time came around to take it.

T. H. WINGHAM, Q.E., Montreal

DAVIS & LAWRENCE CO., LTD., MONTREAL

A sensible coat is the double-breasted reefer, without buttons and having the high storm collar, and beneath the chin there should be a soft liberty bow of bright brown or scarlet.

For the depth of winter a muff will be needed. It may be made of fur if not of cloth like the dress, with afrill on either side of dark blue velvet faced with scarlet or brown.

The gloves must be well fitted and in the darker tones of tan and red. Above all, no fancy or light colored gloves should be worn.

A school girl's boots should be low-heeled, round toed, of strong kid, water proof and with uppers reaching halfway to the knee.

Boots that are too small are no longer worn; indeed, pinched feet are considered distinctly vulgar. The freedom of action of the foot alone is considered.

The Divided Pompadour.

The new style coiffure in vogue among London fashionables, in which the hair at the back is arranged in a series of loops and twists.

The Use of Fur in London.

For winter evening cloaks, fur makes the most delightful of all trimmings, and I recently saw a most exquisite evening mantle with a trimming of white Thibet goat, which is well worth describing, as it is specially typical of the mode of the moment. The material employed was a very beautiful floral brocade, with sprays of loose-leaved pink roses and pale-green foliage scattered over a kind of shot opalescent background, which seemed to be pink and green in some lights, and in others palest heliotrope faintly shot with gold. The mantle was very wide and full, covering the gown beneath completely, and the deep sling sleeves were quite novel, giving ample space for the sleeves of an evening gown, and yet being cut in such a way that they kept the arms perfectly warm. They were lined with white fox, the same dainty fur being used to line the whole of the mantle, while the deep roll collar was of white Thibet goat. Wide bands of white Thibet also trimmed the front of this beautiful cloak, reaching like two long stoles from throat to feet.

"Old, yet ever new, and simple and beautiful ever," sings the poet, in words which might well apply to Ayer's Sarsaparilla—the most efficient and scientific blood-purifier ever offered to suffering humanity. Nothing but superior merit keeps it so long to the front.

The Blouse's Peculiarity.

A peculiar feature of the blouse of the moment is its remarkable power of presenting a smart appearance in a simple guise. Some of the flannel blouses—the material seems really only flannel in name, so beautifully fine and soft is it—arranged with a centre box-pleat and a few short tucks distributed either side fulfil a most satisfactory mission in life for morning wear. The kind patterned over in Indian coloring and designs is the prettiest, although a hearty word of praise may also be given to the thin-line stripe of white on a colored ground.

China Dinner Cards

China dinner cards are little plaques of ware about two inches in diameter, with a raised plain space across the centre for the name. They are seen in Delft and Dresden decorations.

The Canadian Pacific Liner Empress of Japan Now Carries an Armament of Ten Guns.

Vancouver, Jan. 14.—The Canadian Pacific Liner Empress of Japan, which arrived yesterday from Hong Kong, was, during her stay in that port, fitted out as a British cruiser. The armament of the Japan, which is now at the British naval station Esquimalt, consists of ten guns, which can be mounted at any time within a few hours.

British Military Station Burned.

Halifax, N.S., Jan. 14.—A special cablegram to-night reports the total destruction by fire early this morning of the division offices of the Royal Engineers at Prospect, Bermuda. The building contained many valuable documents and military plans and a large stock of telegraph apparatus, all of which was burned. No estimate of the loss is given, but it will be heavy. The fire is supposed to have been started by an incendiary. An official enquiry will be held.

Catarrh in the Head

Is a dangerous disease. It may lead directly to consumption. Catarrh is caused by impure blood, and the true way to cure it is by purifying the blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures catarrh because it removes the cause of it by purifying the blood. Thousands testify that they have been cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

HOod's Pills are purely vegetable and do not purge, pain or gripe. All druggists. 25c.

CURED!

Cured Perfectly.

CURED AND A PERMANENT CURE!

Cured by Paine's Celery Compound?

Cured by the Only Medicine That Could Cure!

Cured by the Medicine that can Surely Meet Your Case!

Cured? Yes, perfectly and permanently cured. Paine's Celery Compound does not, like other medicines, confer only temporary relief. Its work is thorough and far-reaching, and nothing is left undone. Happy indeed are they who, suffering from disease and sickness, make use of Paine's Celery Compound to renew their lives.

Mrs. John Belanger, of St. Henri, P.Q., whose daughter has been brought to realise that she was nearing the end of her life's journey, and who was cured by Paine's Celery Compound, writes gladly the following letter regarding the permanency of the wonderful cure:

"Eighteen months ago I sent you a testimonial for your wonderful Paine's Celery Compound which had quite restored my daughter to health and strength after other medicines failed to cure her.

"I am pleased to inform you that the cure has been a permanent one, and that my daughter owes her present good health to your life-giving medicine. I think more of Paine's Celery Compound to-day than ever before."

FORTNIGHTLY CLUB COLUMN.

No. LXXXVI.

Tennyson's "Palace of Art."

The hero of "The Palace of Art" is a very different type from the hero of "A Vision of Sin." The latter is a sensual man, the former intellectual, but both miss the true interpretation of life, and, judged by any worthy standard, are failures.

In the poem before us there is a man prosperous, and of high intellectual and imaginative powers. He sets before him one object—to be happy. To this end he chooses "a huge crag platform," isolated from the abodes of men, and having no means of communication therewith, and here he erects his "Palace of Art." He resolves to live alone and calm, unmoved by the interests or the sorrows of the race of men.

His palace is an epitome of all forms of beauty and art. It is full of corridors that lead from room to room, and in the rooms are hung numberless pictures whose subjects are culled from the choicest beauties of nature and poesy. Here he sits and contemplates the common world below, saying—

"All these are mine,
And let the world have peace or wars,
'Tis one to me."

At last the climax of his self-assertion is reached, and he says—

"I take possession of man's mind and deed,
I care not what the sects may brawl,
I sit as God, held by no form of creed,
But contemplating all."

This mere sketch gives no idea of the pictorial richness of the poem, which is indeed marvellous. But what is the moral significance of the picture? Some men choose to be happy by indulging in their lower appetites and tastes. This man is not one of these. In him is the highest refinement. It is in beauty that he seeks his happiness, and that beauty is of no low order, but the beauty of high art and noble thought. With the giants of mankind he seeks to dwell; for the race of men he feels only scorn. Of living men he loves none, pities none. In him are embodied the highest refinement of thought and imagination, and absolute selfishness. Is he noble or contemptible? He would scorn to the dust a being in whom coarseness and selfishness were embodied, holding himself the antipodes of such an one. Is he so, or is he kin to him? Beauty is his god, refinement his highest virtue—of humility and self-denial, of sympathy and pity he knows nothing. Is he noble or contemptible? Intellectually, he is the antipodes of the selfish boor, morally is he not akin to him?

It will not be denied that one tendency of civilization is to produce such characters as this which is here idealized. The worship of refinement grows upon us. Is it true worship or idolatry? Of refinement, as such, no word but good. But I think that refined selfishness is a civilized devil.

This selfishness grows out of want of sympathy. Not only the pleasures of men, but their sorrows, not only their sorrows, but their hopes and creeds, are apt to be looked upon by the highly cultivated man as phenomena of a lower order of being, and thus he comes to think of himself as a sort of god. This is a danger common to all those who are striving after that cultivation of their powers which is one of the highest happinesses of life. Where culture intensifies men's sympathies with their fellowmen, and provokes an earnest desire to use every gift and every opportunity in their service, there culture is doing its true work upon the moral as well as upon the intellectual nature; where this result is not produced, there the moral nature is stunted in proportion as the intellectual nature advances.

The sequel of the poem shows the Nemesis and the cure. After three years of prosperity the very isolation and self-centredness which he had made his glory become his punishment—

"Deep dread and loathing of her solitude fell on her"—(i.e. his soul.)

Weird, haunting fears turn the palace into a ghastly tomb—

"Back on herself her serpent pride had curled.
"No voice," she shrieked in that lone hall;
"No voice breaks through the stillness of this world:
One deep, deep silence all!"

The thought of time and of eternity grows dreadful to him; loveless, comfortless, he who seated himself above sympathy, perishes for want of sympathy. The universe is a great tomb to him, which he alone inhabits. Then comes repentance—

"Make me a cottage in the vale
Were I may mourn and pray."

And then comes the brighter hope beyond—

"Yet put not down my palace towers, that are so lightly, beautifully built:
Perchance I may return with others there,
When I have purged my guilt."

Not in the love of beauty lay the evil. Keen sensibility and high culture are not sin. Refinement and love make the true man, and a "Palace of Art" built for himself and men, his brothers, should be a noble monument to the greatness of a man.

NO USE OF HIS LEGS.

Doctors Could Not Help Him, but two Bottles of South American Kidney Cure Removed the Disease — The Story of a Wingham Man.

Kidney disease can be cured. Mr. John Snell, a retired farmer of Wingham, Ont., says: "For two years I suffered untold misery, and at times could not walk, and any standing position gave intense pain, the result of kidney disease. Local physicians could not help me, and I was continually growing worse, which alarmed my family and friends. Seeing South American Kidney Cure advertised I grasped at it as a dying man will grasp at anything. Result — before half a bottle had been taken I was totally relieved of pain, and two bottles entirely cured me." To cure kidney disease a liquid medicine must be taken, and one that is a solvent, and can thus dissolve the sand-like particles in the blood. Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

A Brickmaker Listens to Reason—Uses Six Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and Tells it.

Brockville, Jan. 4 (Special)—Mr. W. H. Odell, perhaps one of the best known citizens of this town has lately recovered from a long continued and painful kidney ailment. He tells the story of his experience to the correspondent as follows:

"I have suffered for over a year from kidney disease, the pain in my back being so severe that I was unable to stand to my work."

"Noticing the published cures of what Dodd's Kidney Pills were doing for others I concluded to use them."

"Having used only six boxes I can say that I am perfectly cured and well so that I can attend to business as well as ever I could."

LOVERS PARTED FORTY YEARS.

A Quarrel Caused a Separation Which Lasted Four Decades.

Burlington, Iowa, Jan. 15.—One of the prettiest romances ever recorded in this locality is that of Silas M. Wheeler, aged 60, and Miss Martha E. Lincoln, aged 58, who to-day secured a license to marry in this city. Forty years ago these excellent people, then the flower of Des Moines County society, were lovers, but a quarrel over a trifle separated them, and Wheeler went to California, where he eventually grew quite well to do. Miss Lincoln several years later also moved to California, but remained in ignorance of the whereabouts of Wheeler till a short time ago, when a correspondence between them began. A few days ago Miss Lincoln came to her home near West Burlington to visit her aged mother, and a day or so later Wheeler arrived to visit his friends. Here the lovers met for the first time since they parted in anger, and the result of the meeting was the securing of the marriage license.

—AT THE—

GOLDEN LION.

We take pleasure in announcing to the Ladies of Peterborough and surrounding districts that we will add to the already many important departments of this Great Dry Goods House

A Ladies' Whitewear Department

In which will be found all kinds of Ladies Whitewear of the very latest style and cut. These garments are now in the hands of skilled operators and we will have them opened up for inspection in a few days. We would urge all ladies to see these goods, for they are all new and cannot be excelled for style and low price. Mr. Fair is at present visiting the American Markets and will inspect some of the leading manufactures of these goods with a view of adding to this New Department some of the Latest American styles.

SECOND CROP OF BARGAINS

As there is a good deal of winter yet before us, it is unnecessary to point out the wisdom of buying now.

This is the month of lucky chances and snaps in mid-winter goods. An aftermath of Bargains for shrewd buyers—lines which we have laid out during stock-taking such as Serges, Cheviots, Heavy Tweeds and other Remnants, as well as Millinery, to be sold even at HALF REGULAR PRICES.

We don't want to carry winter lines past their regular selling season. No relics here. This store is not a museum. We have neither old goods nor old ideas.

You need the goods—we need the room they occupy—so there is mutual benefit all round in the selling of them.

We don't "rest-up" during the winter months and take things easy until spring. While others are resting we're simply HUSTLING.

Select any piece of Overcoating in our store—and we will make you up an Overcoat or Ulster, any style you like, beautifully finished, from..... $12 up

We are determined to get the shears into every piece of winter goods in the store, by putting the knife into the prices.

LENGTHY SESSION OF THE CABINET

The Writs Issued for the Three Ontario Bye-Elections—Rumor That Mr. Haggart Has Resigned the Leadership of Eastern Ontario Conservatives—Other Notes.

Ottawa, Jan. 17.—(Special.)—Sir Richard Cartwright, Messrs. Fielding and Paterson left for Quebec last night to continue the tariff enquiry. They will be joined there on Tuesday by Mr. Borden and then proceed to the Maritime Provinces. Returning to Ottawa, Messrs. Fielding and Paterson will proceed as far as Winnipeg, when the tariff investigation will close.

An important meeting of the Cabinet, lasting seven hours, was held yesterday. A large amount of business had to be disposed of, as several Ministers are to be away from Ottawa for some days. The writs for South Brant, North Ontario and East Simcoe were ordered to be issued. In each riding nomination is fixed for Jan. 28 and polling for Feb. 4. Mr. Mulock will direct the Government forces in these bye-elections, and left for Toronto last night. He will not return until about polling day.

It is about settled that the Canadian building at Bisley will be erected under the personal supervision of Major Perley, formerly Chief Engineer of Public Works, and who has for years taken a great interest in rifle shooting and the D. R. A.

Major-General Gascoigne is at work on a pension system for the permanent force in the Dominion. When the present Minister took office he found that, although the Government was annually paying a certain sum of money for pensions, there was yet no system to it, and it had never been fully worked out in detail as the subject deserves to be.

Members of the medical profession who recently resigned from the staff of the Protestant Hospital intend going ahead with the construction of a new hospital in the city. Official notice is given of their intention to ask for a charter at the coming session of Parliament. St. Luke's General Hospital will be the name of the new institution. It is proposed to lease the Perley residence on Wellington-street for the purpose, if that building can be had at a reasonable rental. It is thought this building would be very suitable for the purposes

Among the notices for federal legislation this week is that of the British Pacific Railway Company, an enterprise backed by British Columbians, and which is intended to rival the C. P. R. The project is for a railway starting at Victoria, B. C., thence running north on Vancouver Island as far as the Seymour Narrows, crossing at that point to Butte Inlet, to the mainland, and thence westerly through the Yellowhead Pass to Edmonton and Prince Albert, thence to Winnipeg.

Another concern of which notice is given this week is the Toronto and Parry Sound Railway, from Toronto to Gravenhurst and thence to Parry Sound.

A number of Americans, mostly Philadelphia men, are seeking incorporation to build a traffic bridge across the St. Mary's River between the Canadian and American towns.

Capt. Sinclair has resigned his position as Governor-General's secretary on his acceptance of the Liberal nomination for Forfarshire. He is appointed acting Governor-General's secretary without pay from this date.

Lieut. Grant Hardie of this city, a graduate of the Royal Military College, who was recently appointed to a position on the Indian staff corps, has been attached to the Royal Fusiliers and stationed at Mhow, in the Central Provinces. Lieut. Hardie has notified his friends here of his safe arrival at Bombay.

The return of Mr. T. O. Davis, the new member for Saskatchewan, was gazetted yesterday. His election was contested by the rival Liberal faction.

Sub-Collector Battle of Thorold has been transferred to Hamilton, and T. F. Pattison has been appointed sub-collector at Thorold.

Evidently the two commissioners appointed to investigate into the affairs of the Kingston Penitentiary are in need of assistance. Neither of them has any legal knowledge. Accordingly O. K. Fraser, barrister, of Brockville, has been appointed third commissioner to act with them.

The time for commencing the election trials in the Lisgar and Selkirk cases has been extended for a period of six months. This application was necessary owing to the fact that the period mentioned for bringing an election petition on for trial under the Controverted Act expires in both cases on Jan. 31.

An order in council has been passed extending for two years from the first of January last the privilege to Icelanders to make entries on their reserve west of Lake Winnipeg on the odd-number sections.

Some prominent Liberals have bought Le Temps, the Capital's French-Canadian daily, and it will be run in the Liberal interest in future. It is understood Mr. Oscar MacDonell will remain editor. The paper was Conservative originally, and the Liberals had to run a little campaign sheet called Echo D'Ottawa during the general election.

The following new postoffices were established in Ontario on Jan. 1: Brown's Nurseries, Lincoln; Dryden, Algoma; Havermehl and Mulock, South Grey; Highland Grove, East Peterboro. The postoffices at Dolsen, Kent; Keith, Bothwell; Reidville, Addington; Rodgerville, South Perth, and Violet Hill, in Cardwell, have been closed.

There is a prospect of another lively fight between the Hull and Ottawa electric roads, the former company giving notice of application for permission to enter the territory of the Ottawa company. The application of the Hull company will be strongly opposed by the local concern.

SEVEN MILLION DOLLARS.

That is the Amount a Telegraph Operator's Single Invention Brings Him In.

Sleepy Eye, Minn., Jan. 16.—The sale of the Bramble rotary engine to the Allen syndicate of London, Eng., has been consummated, and Bramble, a telegraph operator, who was the inventor, has letters of credit on the Bank of England for $6,700,000. The amounts paid were: For the English patent $1,000,000; for France and Germany $2,000,000, and for the United States $3,100,000.

POOR LITTLE ORPHANS!

Sixteen Children Burned to Death in a Home Down in Texas.

Dallas, Tex., Jan. 16.—Fire completely destroyed the Bucklers' Orphans' Home, near here, early this morning. Sixteen children were cremated and nine injured, three of them fatally. The dead are: Bertie Britton, 10 years old; Martin and Milton Britton, 8 and 6 years old; Carlos Jones, 6 years old; Willie Richards, 9 years old; Grover Cleveland Yarborough, 12 years old; William Miller, 7 years old; Virgie Nelson, 9 years old; Eugene Black, 9 years old; Richard Marks, 9 years old; Arthur W. Edwards, 10 years old; Oscar Coward, 7 years old; Ray King, 8 years old; Charles Axbannon, 3 years old.

Injured: Dick Richards, 10 years old, fatally; Danny Gray, 6 years old, fatally; Charles Friend, 10 years old, fatally; Sadie Britton, 13 years old; Bennie Ware, 8 years old; Samuel Henderson, 11 years old; Earl Doodle, 7 years old; James Scott, 8 years old; Frank Chaffin, 7 years old.

All the dead except one were buried last evening in the cemetery of the Home.

The farmers in the vicinity turned out and assisted in making coffins, digging graves and burying the victims. There were 147 boys and more than 100 girls in the Home, but all are accounted for.

The fire was discovered about midnight by Mrs. Britton, the boys' matron. The attaches were hastily aroused and sent in all directions to arouse the children. Such was Mrs. Britton's anxiety for the safety of the inmates that she forgot her own children, and despite her frantic efforts at rescue they were burned to death. The fire is believed to have originated in the room under that occupied by Mrs. Britton, and was caused by hot coals falling from a stove on the floor. The fire spread with incredible rapidity. The children were hastily aroused and hurried out of the building, wrapped in their night clothes and bed quilts. All were badly frightened, and when the shrieks of those who were being cremated in the roaring mass of flames reached their ears they became almost unmanageable and were with difficulty prevented from rushing into the fire in an effort at rescue. The building was soon destroyed, and at daylight the work of searching the ruins was taken up. All the children were accounted for by noon. The Home is ten miles from Dallas, and it would have been impossible to get aid out in time had it been requested. The matter will be investigated.

A Motion to Arrest Judgment Has Been Filed in the Circuit Court.

Boston, Jan. 16.—Counsel for Thomas Bram, the convicted murderer of Captain Nash of the barquentine Herbert Fuller, to-day filed a motion in the United States Circuit Court for an arrest of judgment. The motion is based upon the ground of legal defect apparent upon the record of the case. It is in substance: That the judgment of the court should not be pronounced upon the prisoner, although found guilty, for the reason that legal objections lie to the indictment, or else to some other vital pleading in the case. The motion will be argued before the court with the motion for a new trial on Jan. 30.

The Evening Record says that Seaman Otto Roswell, who shipped at Hamburg as one of the crew of the schooner Mary Sanford, agrees with Captain Bryne of that vessel as to the probability that the belligerent cook of the schooner was Mate Thos. Bram, convicted of murder on the barquentine Herbert Fuller.

THEY DIDN'T READ IT

The Mandement Still Stays in the Background,

BUT THE DOCUMENT IS ALL READY

It is Supposed the Bishops Want Sanction From Rome to Make Themselves Safe An Explanation in Regard to Mr. Laurier's Treatment at the Funeral.

Montreal, Jan. 17.—(Special.)—There was no mandement read in the churches here to-day, and people are asking if the religious authorities have come to the conclusion that discretion is the better part of valor, and will abandon all action in the matter. This, however, is not the belief in well-informed circles. There can be no doubt that a document is ready and that it has been signed not only by the prelates of this province, but of the whole Dominion, but what the end of it will be few venture to say. Your correspondent has been informed that it is the intention of the bishops to have their pronunciamento on the school question bullet-proof, and that this is the cause of the heretofore unaccountable delay. In a word, the ecclesiastical disapprobation of the Manitoba school settlement has been submitted to Rome, and it is quite probable that the Papal authorities will have pronounced upon the wording of the joint letter or mandement and the advisability of its promulgation before it sees the light of publicity. Last evening your correspondent telephoned to a leading member of the French-Canadian clergy and he said there would be no utterances on the subject this Sunday. "And when will there be?" asked the correspondent. "Time will tell," was the rather unsatisfactory reply.

The Archbishop's organ treats as follows the story set afloat to the effect that Hon. Mr. Laurier had not been treated properly at the funeral of Mgr. Fabre: "This is an accusation which is injurious to us and we believe it to be our duty to say a word. As the space at our disposal in the cathedral was very limited, everyone knows that on the very day of Mgr. Fabre's death the chapter had decided that there would be no official invitations sent out, and, as a matter of fact, none were sent. When His Excellency the Governor-General wired us that he wished to be represented at the funeral service and His Honor the Lieut.-Governor of the Province of Quebec informed us also that he would attend it was decided to reserve for them a chair on each side of the catafalque. We had thought of doing the same thing for the Hon. Mr. Laurier and the Hon. Mr. Nantel, who represented the Provincial Government, and we would have done so if Hon. Mr. Geoffrion, coming himself to the Archbishop's palace and making known the Prime Minister of Canada's intentions, had not advised us to give the chairs of honor to the representative of the Governor-General and to Sir Adolphe Chapleau, for the reason that another policy would cause a thousand incumbrances as to questions of precedence. This advice appeared to us to be very wise and we adopted it. Now, can anyone see preferences or political preoccupation in all this?"

Duncan Kinsella, formerly a broker of this city, at present detained in the St. Jean De Dieu Lunatic Asylum, petitions the court for a writ of habeas corpus. He alleges: "That against his will, desire and consent, without any proceedings, civil or criminal, having been instituted against him, he is detained in the asylum and deprived of his liberty."

Kinsella has for years been very weak-minded, but the writ will issue.

Mr. D. B. Bogle, President of the Victory-Triumph Gold Mining Company, is at present in Montreal, and reports that the stock is selling quite freely in this city.

Dr. Webb, President of the St. Lawrence and Adirondack Railway, is in the city.

It is said that as soon as Hon. Dr. Borden returns from the Maritime Provinces he will appoint a commission to enquire into the trouble between the lieut.-colonel and several officers of the Royal Scots' Regiment.

THAWING DYNAMITE AGAIN.

Four Men Badly Mutilated at Hammond's Camp, Near Saw Mill Lake, Up in Algoma.

Port Arthur, Jan. 16.—(Special.)—There was a dynamite explosion at Hammond's Camp, near Saw Mill Lake, yesterday morning. Four of the men, Edward Gulshaw, John P. Wrns, William Duchaine and Joseph Drainville, were pretty badly mutilated. Gulshaw had his ear blown off and his face pretty well cut up. P. Wrns had his leg badly cut. Duchaine had a leg broken and was otherwise mutilated. Drainville had both a broken leg and a broken arm. The accident appears to have occurred while a dynamite can was being thawed near a fire outside, when it exploded and did all the damage. The men were brought to the track by the Saw Bill and Hammond teams, and came down in a caboose from Bonheur this morning. They are all now quartered in St. Joseph's Hospital, Port Arthur.

NOW FOR A RATE WAR.

The Soo Road Makes a Break of Thirty Cents on Every Class of Freight.

St. Paul, Jan. 17.—The Minneapolis and Sault Ste. Marie Railroad Company created a sensation last evening by announcing that Jan. 25 it will put into effect a freight rate between New York, Boston and Atlantic seaboard points and St. Paul and Minneapolis based on $1.05 first-class. This is a cut of 30c a hundred on every class of freight. The slash may cause the biggest rate war in years. The trunk line associations, whose rate is $1.35, are expected to meet the reduction if no go below the Soo's figures.

OTONABEE.

(From an Own Correspondent.)

The newly elected council met pursuant to statutory enactment, and after making delaration of office and qualification, Reeve Johnston took the chair. The following officers were appointed: D. P. McFarlane and Andrew Shearer, auditors; James Lavell, assessor; Wm. Drummond, collector; J. M. Drummond, clerk and treasurer; John Bell, sanitary inspector for that part of the township west of the 11th concession line, south of lot 21, and west of the 9th line, north of lot 20 to the Douro boundary, and John Dinsdale for the eastern half of the township, east of the above described line; Dr. Shaw, medical health officer. The following will compose the local Board of Health: A. Weir for three years, John Grady for two years, John Devell, whose term has not expired, Reeve Johnston and Clerk Drummond, ex-officio. The following communications were received: From R. Carey, Jas. France and G. B. Cooney, recommending that James Cooney be paid the sum of $5 for filling in a gravel pit on road allowance opposite his lot. The council after carefully considering the matter concluded that no compensation should be given. From J. Coyle Brown, in reply to a letter from the clerk re Otonabee and Asphodel school arbitration; the clerk was instructed to say in reply to Inspector Brown that this council refuses to pay any of the cost of arbitration until it is informed of the reason for the adjourned meeting of arbitrators. The clerk was instructed to have the town hall insured for $1000, contents $100, and to procure a hanging lamp for the hall. Councillor Weir was instructed to confer with the Curling and Skating Club Co. about paying a ground rent for the rink. The following indigent persons were allowed the following sums:—Jas. Rennie, $4 per month to the 1st of June; Jas. Metcalf and A. McDermott, $3 per month; St. Joseph's Hospital for keep of Mrs. Barry $1 per week; Jas. Armstrong and wife, $2 per week, and the reeve to allow Ed. O'Brien what he thinks necessary. On motion the following taxes were remitted:—Jas. Metcalfe, A. McDermott, Jas. Armstrong and the Agricultural Society. On motion the resolution passed at the last meeting of council, granting A. McFarlane $9.33, the township's portion of the cost of excavating a ditch through the old Cobourg railway dump, was rescinded, as he refused to accept it. The reason why that amount was granted was because Mr. McFarlane stated to the council at the November meeting that the work could be done for $25, and it was on that basis that the council agreed to pay one-third of the cost.

The following accounts were passed:—J. M. Drummond, 1896 salary, $240.00; refund postage, $20.00; Government returns, $5.00; jury selecting, $8.00; attending the meeting in Peterborough when dividing the county into districts, $2.00; refund express on statement of accounts, 35c.; J. Sullivan, gravel, $3.00; R. J. McCamus, widening Town Hall platform and frosting windows, $6.50; John Carey, nails for bridge at Lang's creek, 50 cents.

Council adjourned to 15th February.

LIBERAL VOTES STOLEN.

EVIDENCE IN THE BALLOT-BOX STUFFING CASES.

Witnesses who Decline to Tell How they Voted—A Stubborn Man has to Submit.

Neepawa, Jan. 15.—The ballot-box stuffing cases were resumed yesterday evening before Provincial Police Magistrate Hay. Twelve more witnessed testified to voting for Mr. Rutherford at Renwick's poll, making the total poll 28 there, when only 27 ballots marked for Mr. Rutherford were found in the box at the close of the poll. Seven or eight more witnesses are yet to be heard in this case.

Evidence in the Hamilton and McFadden cases is going on to-day. The number of electors who swear they voted for Mr. Rutherford is greater than the number of ballots in each box.

Carberry, Jan. 15—(Special)—The cases against Brooks, James Waller and M. Finklestein, were taken up this morning. In the Brooks case already 38 witnesses are still to be examined whose attendance could not be secured to-day. An examination of the ballot papers in the case showed that there were only 36 ballots in the box marked for Mr. Rutherford, and there are no rejected ballots marked for Mr. Rutherford.

Jas. Waller and Dr. Eaton were examined. Both declared they knew nothing about any scheme for stuffing the ballot boxes and were not supplied with ballots for that purpose.

In the Finklestein case 37 voters have already sworn that they voted for Mr. Rutherford at West Carberry, the polling place presided over by the accused. There are still a number of witnesses to be examined in this case. The ballots in the box showed 36 votes cast for Mr. Rutherford, and there was one rejected ballot marked for all three candidates. Difficulty was experienced in several cases in getting witnesses to answer and disclose how they had voted, and the Magistrate had to threaten several with committal. In the afternoon one witness was very defiant, and positively refused to disclose how he had voted when ordered by the Magistrate to answer. Sworn testimony was then given that the evidence of the witness was believed to be material in the case, and the magistrate issued a summons which was served upon the witness in the court room. He was then recalled and re-sworn, and on his refusal to answer the question was again ordered by the magistrate so to do. The witness still persisted in refusing, and the magistrate then issued a warrant for his committal to jail Portage la Prairie for seven days. The witness was then taken into custody by a constable, and was taken to a room in the hotel to await the next train going to Portage la Prairie. In the evening the witness sent to the magistrate and begged to be permitted to give his evidence, expressing great sorrow at his refusal to answer, and stating his willingness to give his evidence. By consent of all parties concerned the case was taken up again, and in reply to a question the witness stated that he voted for Mr. Rutherford. The witness was then released.

All three cases were remanded until January 22nd, at 10 o'clock, to enable the Crown to procure the attendance of other witnesses.

CURED OF SCIATICA.

Toronto Junction, Jan. 18 (Special)—Mr. H. Playter, is not a difficult man to find as everybody here knows that he is foreman at No. 1 Fire Hall. He was the picture of health when called upon by your correspondent and told his story thus:

"In April 1896 I suffered from a severe attack of Sciatica, affecting my left hip and the leg to the tip of my toes. I suspected it came from some form of kidney trouble and as they had been recommended I procured a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills."

At the end of the fourth day I was entirely relieved, but desiring a permanent cure I continued to use that and another box and am now cured cured and as well as ever in my life. A brother of mine living at Pine Orchard has been cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Shiloh's Cure, the great Cough and Croup Cure, is in great demand. Pocket size contains twenty-five doses only 25c Children love it. Sold by John Nugent 259 George Street.

RESOLUTIONS OF A PHARISEE.

I'm goin' to be meaner'n I was last year!
I don't give a durn for New Year's day;
If every man walked in the narrow way
Angels'd be wantin' to move down here;
This swearin' off bizness don't begin to pay—
I don't give a cuss for New Year's day.

I'm sorry I didn't smoke more last year,
An' I know I didn't swear half enough—
Things kep' a-goin' so daggone tough;
It's kinder gettin' that I don't keer
If I'm meaner'n pisen to the jays
Who're always "quittin'" on New Year's days.

I ain't got a thing that I'm takin' a-back.
An' I'll keep my pipes, 'n my jug 'n my jaw;
I'm goin' to quit bringin' myself up to taw,
Just 'cause a new calendar is hung on the tack.
I'm goin' to be meaner this year, I say—
I don't give a durn for New Year's day!

A Separate Cure for Each Disease

AT ALL DRUGGISTS—25c. A BOTTLE.

BY THE POPE'S DIRECTION

It is Said Archbishop Langevin Entered His Protest Against the Schools Settlement.

Quebec, Jan. 17.—Through a great deal of enterprise some newspaper men managed to get hold of a strictly private letter intended for the priests of the diocese of Quebec. The document was signed by Archbishop Begin. The first part of the letter dealt with the following:

"No bishop wants nor can approve the so-called settlement of the Manitoba school question, which definitely rests only upon the unjustifiable abandonment of the best established and most sacred rights of the Catholic minority.

"Mgr. Langevin's energetic protest against this settlement was in accordance with the direction of the Holy Father.

"This is not the time to examine this settlement in its various articles, but what I have already said and written is sufficient for you to conclude that I absolutely disapprove of it.

"Following the example led by other bishops of the Dominion, with a view to come to the aid of our brethren of Manitoba until justice is rendered to them, I ask $5 from each curate, $2 from each missionary, vicar and college professor, and $10 from each religious community. This money shall be sent to me before Lent."

The letter also enjoins on the cures to condemn the Laurier settlement of the Manitoba schools, whenever consulted on the subject by the faithful.

The above was not read in churches, but was reserved for the priests and curatee alone.

The only extract read in the churches to-day was the decree rendered by the Congregation de L'Index against Mr. David's book entitled "Le Clergé Canadien, sa Mission, Son Oeuvre."

At the appearance of the pamphlet, which has just been condemned, every sincere Catholic soul was filled with indignation, for under the cover of patriotism and religion were agglomerated wrong principles, cries to the prejudies and passions, abusive interpretations of documents, disguised historical facts, perfidious insinuations, serious irreverences towards the authority and persons of the bishops.

"Every faithful is obliged under the penalty of a grievous sin to immediately destroy or remit to his confessor Mr. David's pamphlet. No one should forget that nobody has any right to judge, condemn or approve authoritatively any doctrine or writings except the bishops. It is an abuse to buy, under cover of the authority of certain personages, dangerous writings. It is through your bishop and priests that you shall receive the teachings and directions of the Holy See.

"The laws of the church's government do not change under the caprice and passions of the public, as the laws of parliaments and governments do."

Then the letter eulogises Mr. David for having withdrawn his book from sale, and congratulates the gentleman on his submission to the decrees of the church.

This letter will be followed by a mandement shortly.

The reading of the letter in the churches to-day did not create much sensation, but that part of the private letter which was published in evening papers Saturday night was the subject of much discussion on the streets to-day.

As much as ten dollars was offered Saturday night for one copy of the letter, but it could not be got for love or money.

MAGOWN SPEAKS.

He and Mrs. Barnes Have Been Married Twice Over and are Now in Their Trenton Home.

Philadelphia, Jan. 17.—The friends of J. A. Barnes, formerly of Toronto, and of his former wife, who was a Miss Edith Riddell, a daughter of Dr. Riddell of Orangeville, Ont., and later of Parkdale, a suburb of Toronto, will read with interest the following statement made by ex-Mayor Frank A. Magown, ex-Mayor of Trenton, N.J.: "Mrs. J. A. Barnes and I were married at Milwaukee, Wis., immediately after her divorce was secured last June, I having received my decree the previous March. We were re-married yesterday by the Rev. W. A. Hunsberger in this city, in order to defeat any attempt that might be made by my too active political enemies and false friends, who have demonstrated in the past only too clearly their inclination to interfere in my family affairs."

Mr. and Mrs. Magowan are at the Hotel Waltan in this city, but will return to their home in Trenton to-morrow. Mr. Magown declined to state anything about the amount paid to Barnes in connection with the settlement of the latter's suit for $150,000 for the alienation of his wife's affections.

CATTLE QUARANTINE

The Regulations Arranged With the United States.

ANY OUTBREAK OF CONTAGION

Shall be Reported From Either Country—When Disease is Found Ninety Days' Quarantine Will be Enforced—Horses for Racing or Show to Go in on Inspection.

Washington, Jan. 16.—The agreement between the Secretary of Agriculture and the Canadian Minister of Agriculture relating to quarantine of animals between the United States and Canada provides that:

1. Each country shall adopt the veterinary certificates of the other.

2. That the chief of the bureau of animal industry and the chief inspector of stock for Canada will mutually inform one another of contagious animal diseases in either country, or of disease in animals imported from either country.

3. A 90-day quarantine shall be enforced by both countries upon all cattle imported from Europe or from any country in which contagious pleuro-pneumonia is known to exist; a 15-day quarantine shall be enforced upon all ruminants and swine imported from countries in which foot-and-mouth disease exists, within six months, and upon all swine imported from other countries.

Breeding cattle admitted into this country must be accompanied by a certificate that they have been subjected to the tuberculine test and found free from tuberculosis, otherwise they shall be detained in quarantine one week and subjected to the tuberculine test. All cattle found tuberculosic must be returned to the country whence shipped or slaughtered without compensation. Cattle for feeding or stocking ranches must be accompanied by a certificate showing that they are free from any contagious disease, and that (excepting tuberculosis) no such disease exists in the district whence they came. Cattle in transit will be admitted at any port of the United States and Canada in bond, for exportation by sea from any Canadian port or from Portland, Boston and New York in the United States. No animals covered by this memorandum may be placed on board cars till the litter from previous loads has been removed and the car thoroughly cleaned and disinfected. Inspectors may cause such work to be done at the expense of the railroad company or prohibit the use of the cars until it is done.

Sheep may be admitted subject to inspection at port of entry and accompanied by official certificate that sheep scab has not existed in the district where they have been fed within six months. If the disease exists in any of them they may be returned or slaughtered. Sheep may be admitted for transit in bond from one port to another in either country, and if for slaughter they may be admitted without inspection. Subject to inspection at shipping port, they may be admitted into either country for transit to any shipping port in Canada for export by sea, or to the United States for export from Portland, Boston and New York.

Swine may be admitted without inspection for slaughter in bonded cars to bonded slaughter houses or when forming part of settlers' effects and accompanied by a certificate that swine plague or hog cholera has not existed within six months in the district whence they came. Lacking such certificate they must be inspected at port of entry, and if diseased will be slaughtered without compensation.

Horses may be admitted in bond from one port to another in either country without inspection at the shipping port. Horses may be admitted for racing, show or breeding purposes on inspection at port of entry. Horses may be admitted for temporary stay, teaming or pleasure driving at points along the frontier for a period not exceeding one week on port of entry upon permit of Customs officer. Should he observe any evidence of disease he will detain the animals and report to the district inspector, who will decide whether the animals may be admitted, and horses used for driving or riding to or from points in Manitoba, Northwest Territories or British Columbia, on business connected with stock raising or mining, and horses belonging to the Indian tribes may be admitted without inspection, but must report to Customs officers both going and coming. Under all other circumstances horses must be inspected at port of entry.

RHEUMATISM CURED.

Eighteen Months Trying to get Cured—Had the Best Doctors—He Found What he Wanted in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Goderich, Jan. 11—(Special)—A case of great interest here just now is that of Mr. Alexander J. Sharkey, who for some time has been an extreme sufferer from Rheumatism. His statement to the correspondent is as follows:—

"For eighteen months I was a victim of Rheumatism and during the whole of that time was trying every means to cure it. I had the best doctors in Canada and took their prescriptions with faith and patience.

"I got tired at last, for I found the disappointment nearly as killing as the disease.

"But one friend wiser than others convinced me that my disease must be cured by way of the kidneys and recommended Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I have used two boxes of these pills to effect a perfect cure, and I don't care who knows it."

A LAYMAN PROTESTED.

Made a Sensation at the Confirmation of Dr. Creighton as Bishop of London.

London, Jan. 15.—During the course of the ceremony at St. Marylebone to-day confirming the election of Dr. Mandell Creighton as Bishop of London, in succession to Dr. Temple, now Archbishop of Canterbury, John Kensit, a layman, read a protest against Dr. Creighton's election, on the ground of the prelate's alleged desire to "undo the work of the Reformation by introducing the trinkets of Rome." He added that Dr. Creighton had been unfaithful to the promises made at his ordination to drive out all erroneous doctrines and punish the "disobedient clergy who are trying to introduce Popish doctrines." The Vicar-General refused to listen to the protest, and Kensit later protested again, twice asking why the Vicar-General did not call upon the objectors to come forward, and why he did not hear them. This called forth applause and stamping of feet, mingled with cries of "Hear, hear," and counter cries of "Remember this is a church," etc. After the ceremony Kensit and his friends distributed copies of the protest among those present.

Out on Suspended Sentence.

Albert Swayne was in the police court this morning, charged with the larceny of some clothing from Charlie Cavanagh. It will be remembered that Swayne was boarding at the Cavanagh's last spring, and left one morning taking with him more clothing than he brought. As the prisoner had just served a term of six months in the Central Prison he was allowed a chance to reform and let off on suspended sentence.

An Important Secret.

It is generally conceded that the handsomest advertising pamphlets issued by any proprietary medicine house in Canada come from the office of the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., and one which has just reached us is no exception to the rule. The cover is printed in colors, the main feature being the reproduction of painting from the brush of a famous German artist, entitled "An Important Secret." The pamphlet contains calendars for 1897 and 1898, together with a mine of information as to the curative qualities of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. This handsome pamphlet will be sent post paid to any of our readers who write their address on a post card and mail it to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

YOUNG WOMEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.

The Annual Meeting Held on Saturday Evening Last.

The annual meeting of the Y. W. C. A. was held in their rooms on Saturday evening, and the reports read by the officers of the Board and Association were of an encouraging nature, and showed that the work was being pushed forward in a practical way.

During the year 1896 the Board of Managers have held eleven regular and nine special meetings, with an average attendance of six. A house on Brock street is being got in readiness, and is to be opened very shortly as a boarding house in connection with the Association. Since April last 342 young women have made application to the employment bureau, and in mady instances situations have been obtained for them.

The following ladies were elected members of the Board for 1897: Mrs. (Dr.) Scott, Mrs. Brooks, Mrs. McGill, Miss Davis, Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. Walsh, Miss Forsyth, Miss Beck, Mrs. Fairbairn, Mrs. Beck, Miss Moore, Miss Nicholls, Mrs. A. L. Davis, Mrs. (Dr.) Burnham, Miss Smith, Miss Chamberlain, Miss Mann, Miss Stevenson.

The treasurer being absent from town, that report has not yet been presented.

A special meeting will be held on Tuesday at 3 30 p.m., for the purpose of electing officers for the Board.

ASHBURNHAM BRIEFS.

Mark Street Church Sunday School Holds its Annual Business Meeting on Wednesday Evening Next.

Mark street Sunday school will hold its annual business meeting on Wednesday evening, Jan. 20, at half-past eight, immediately after the prayer meeting.

Rev. Roger Allan, of Bethany, preached two powerful missionary sermons in Mark street Methodist church yesterday. In the morning his text was from Isaiah xlii., 4. The purpose of Christianity is the conquest and conversion of the world. Some claim that this can never be accomplished, claiming that the aim is too great, that the agency seems inadequate, that there is a conflict between science and religion, etc. The preacher ably showed that these claims are fallacious, and gave some interesting and encouraging figures about the progress of missionary work in various lands.

In the evening his text was Acts x., 44, from which he gave an interesting and profitable discourse.

Rev. W. C. Beer was in Bethany preaching missionary sermons for Rev. Mr. Allan.

CHURCH CHIMES.

Rev. W. L. Armitage preached in St. Luke's church last night.

Rev. H. Symonds, rector of St. Luke's, took the sermon in St. John's church last evening and delivered a most able address.

"O Lord be Merciful" was the title of the morning anthem in the Charlotte Methodist church. Miss F. Hall took the solos very sweetly.

The offertory solo in the Charlotte street Methodist church was taken by Miss Hendren yesterday morning. It was entitled "Flee as a bird."

Last evening Mr. A. L. Davis' fine baritone voice was heard to advantage in the Charlotte street Methodist church in the solo "Abide With Me."

"A woman standing on the moon" will be the subject of the sermon to be delivered next Sunday evening by Rev. Mr. Dykeman in the Murray street Baptist church.

There was a believers' baptism last night at the close of the regular service in Bethany Mission. Ten adults were publicly immersed by Pastor Zimmerman, assisted by Mr. J. C. Turnbull.

The new branch of the Women's Auxiliary, organized by the country members of St. Luke's church, called St. Luke's Sunnyside, will despatch a bale to the Sarcee Home this week. The Sarcee Indian reserve is situated about 10 miles south of Calgary. The Ven. Archdeacon Tims is at the head of the mission and there are about thirty-five children in the Home.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

Rink Talk and Items of Local and General Interest to Sportsmen.

HOCKEY.

Unfortunately no arrangements have been made for a special train to bring the hockeyists back from Norwood to-night, and therefore so large a crowd will not accompany the boys as would otherwise have been the case. The following players will represent the Intermediates and play against Norwood's first team:—Goal, Dixon; point, Thorne; cover point, Adams; forwards, Graham, Davidson, Crossley, Bellegham.

The team and its supporters go down on the 7.53 local on the C.P.R. this evening and will probably return at seven o'clock in the morning.

Port Hope hockeyists won from Whitby by six games to one on Friday last in Port Hope. Peterborough should lose no time in endeavouring to get on a game with Port Hope before the championship matches begin.

The O.H.A. Executive have a pretty kettle of fish on their hands in the MacDonald-Dixon professional business, as it will lead to a wholesale investigation, if the charges against these players for Berlin are sustained. MacDonald claims that there is nothing in the matter, and if affidavits count for anything he will elude the board this time. It is alleged that the Brampton club is responsible for the protest, which is based on utterances which the duo concerned are said to have let slip in an unguarded moment when the Berlin team played in Brampton. The matter should certainly be shifted to the bottom, as professionalism would speedily deprive hockey of all interest.

The Globe says: The Frontenacs of Kingston now think that there is no reason why they should be forced to play in Peterborough, since the R.M.C. have defaulted, and thereby lessened the travelling of the Peterborough team.

CURLIANA.

The results in the Innes medal series Saturday evening were as follows:

It is proposed to hold the Colts bonspiel for the Northern Division a week from Wednesday. This year the bonspiel will be played off in Peterborough. The draws for this group are as follows:—

Campbellford.....vs.....Peterborough
Lindsay.....vs.....Norwood

Campbellford will probably come up the evening before to play in order that, if beaten by Peterborough, the players can return home in the morning without having to lose a day. Of course, if they win from the local Colts they would be so overjoyed that a day would be neither here nor there, with them.

Two rinks of curlers from Port Hope went to Millbrook on Friday to play a friendly match. They were met at the station by Millbrook curlers, who escorted them to the Queens's hotel, where they were entertained at a most excellent, supper, after which they adjourned to the ice. The game resulted in a win for Millbrook, as shown by the following score:—

Majority for Millbrook, 1 shots.

The Lindsay Post, in speaking of the great bonspiel which opens there to-morrow morning, says: Nine sheets of ice have been prepared on the river, and three in the agricultural building. To-night the committee will get possession of the skating rink, when it will be flooded, and all day Monday men will be at work upon it to put it in good condition. Four sheets will be marked out there, and with the four sheets at the curling rink, the committee will have twenty sheets in all. These will be numbered as follows: The sheets on the curling rink, Nos. 1, 2, 3 and 4; the ice at the skating rink, Nos. 5, 6 7 and 8; at the agricultural grounds, Nos. 9, 10, 11; on the river, Nos. 12 to 20. The river rinks are a little above the Dundas & Flavelle Co.'s mill. These rinks will be used only in the day time when the weather is suitable; all the evening games will be confined to the three covered rinks. No charge is made for admission to any of the rinks—every person is made welcome. We would be very glad indeed if our citizens, ladies and gentlemen, would show to our visiting curlers the interest they take in the game by turning out in large numbers at the different rinks. We trust it is not necessary to ask the onlookers to accord to our visiting players the same fair treatment that they would like to be given to our own players when away from home.

THE DRAW IN GROUP SEVEN.

Umpire D. Carlyle has made the following arrangements for play in Group 7 of the Ontario Tankard primary competition:

A.—Peterborough Granites vs. Hamilton Thistle, at Victoria Rink, Toronto, at 9.30 a.m., Tuesday, Jan. 26; winner to play Toronto Granite same day at 2 p.m., at Victoria Rink.

B.—Toronto Caledonian against Galt, at Hamilton Thistle Rink, at 9.30 a. m., on Thursday, Jan. 21; winner of A plays winner of B at 9.30 a.m., Wednesday, Jan. 27, at Victoria Rink, Toronto.

ICE RACES.

Belleville ice races are now an assured thing. They will take place on the 21st and 22nd of this month. On each day two races will take place, best 3 in 5, mile heats. The entries close on the 20th inst. Following is the programme: First day—named race, $75; 2.29 class, $100. Second day—2.50 class, $100; free-for-all, $150.

Mr. Wm. Budkins' black gelding "William Henry," is entered in the named race. He is in fine condition, though perhaps a little fleshy.

Sour

Stomach, sometimes called waterbrash, and burning pain, distress, nausea, dyspepsia, are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. This it accomplishes because with its wonderful power as a blood purifier, Hood's Sarsaparilla gently tones and strengthens the stomach and digestive organs, invigorates the liver, creates an appetite, gives refreshing sleep, and raises the health tone. In cases of dyspepsia and indigestion it seems to have "a magic touch."

"For over 12 years I suffered from sour

with severe pains across my shoulders, and great distress. I had violent nausea which would leave me very weak and faint, difficult to get my breath. These spells came oftener and more severe. I did not receive any lasting benefit from physicians, but found such happy effects from a trial of Hood's Sarsaparilla, that I took several bottles and mean to always keep it in the house. I am now able to do all my own work, which for six years I have been unable to do. My husband and son have also been greatly benefited by Hood's Sarsaparilla—for pains in the back, and after the grip. I gladly recommend this grand blood medicine." MRS. Indoor Games during these long winter evenings are popular pastimes—so interesting and amusing in spending a pleasant hour or two with friends. We carry all kinds of games and are supplying evening parties at a discount off every former price.

Playing Cards.

Special prices for Evening Parties, whether Progressive Games, Pedro or Euchre—5c, 10c, 15c, 25c and 50c per package.

Crokinole.

Combination Crokinole, Checkers and Table. Readily taken up, and adapted to old and young of both sexes. A very social game, as it admits of free conversation and furnishes entertainment to any number of spectators as well as the parties playing. Sufficiently fascinating to make home the most attractive place.

Fort.

Purely a game of skill. Everyone present can take part. Played with one and balls.

Louisa.

Parchesi Revised. Combines chance with moderate skill. Played by the throws of two dice, four men of each player are entered.

Steeple Chase.

A mimic horse race. Horses are entered and moved over the spaces on the race track according to the throws of dice.

Parcheesi.

The back gammon board of India. The Eastern Rajahs are passionately fond of Parcheesi.

Halma.

A magnificent game to while away a pleasant hour. It is for two, three or four players, but even one may play a lone hand and improve the mental faculties by studying its "solitaires."

Go-Bang.

One of the most remarkable games. It is tit-tat-to improved. Yet with all its simplicity it fascinates old as well as young.

M. L. Henry & Co. to Their Customers

The very encouraging nature of our business during the past year has determined us to use our very best efforts in continuing to give our customers very special advantages in goods and prices during 1897. In order to do this we must have the cash to pay for what we buy. Our customers will therefore help us and help themselves as well by settling their accounts without delay. Our customers owing overdue accounts will confer a favour by calling at the store before January 20th, and make arrangements for settlement of same. M. L. THE COLLECTION OF TAXES.

Several of the members of the town council have declared in favour of the principle of the collection of municipal taxes in instalments, and doubtless all the members believe in the principle; but, just how to apply it in a practical way seems to be a little of a difficulty. It is impossible, it seems, to apply the instalment plan this year. The assessors are not yet appointed, and, according to the assessment law, they have till the last of April to complete their work. The law allows the entering of appeals by the ratepayers till the 14th of May. The Court of Revision is allowed till the last day of June. The right of appeal to the County Judge lies till the 5th of July. Then the Judge has to give notice and is allowed till the 31st of July to complete the roll, and after that the council will have to strike the rate. The collectors' roll has to be completed and accordingly, it will be well on to the end of August before the payment of taxes can be demanded.

But it is possible under the present law to bring on the early collection of taxes next year. It is allowable to take the assessment in the months of July, August and September. Then, mutatis mutandis, the same course of procedure is adopted, which would permit the county judge to complete the assement roll on the last day of December. The council could at the beginning of the next year strike the rate as early as they choose, and the collectors roll could be ready, say, the first of April.

The principle of paying the taxes in instalments admits of wide variation, and doubtless many plans will be proposed. Mr. W. H. Law has given some attention to the subject of the collection of taxes, and suggests a plan something like the following. He proposes having the taxes payable on the first of October with five days grace, which would bring the last day for payment on the 5th of October. Then a discount of one-half of one per cent. per month, equivalent to six per cent. per annum is to be allowed on all taxes paid before they became due. For instance, suppose a ratepayer wishes to pay his taxes on the first of June, he is to be allowed a discount of two per cent.; on the first of July one and a half per cent.; on the first of August, one per cent.; on the first of September, one-half per cent.; on October first, par. Payments after that date are to have the one-half per cent. per month added. Thus, November first, one-half per cent. added; December 1st, one per cent. added; January 1st, one and a half per cent. added and so on.

The half of one per cent. is specified because that is equivalent to the normal rate of interest (six per cent.) that the best of investments now bring. This system seems to be fair. The discounts for early payments afford the taxpayer interest at the highest current rate on his money, and the town loses nothing; the percentage added for overdue payments also protects the town from loss.

It is stated that some of the councillors are in favour of procuring private legislation to permit the earlier collection of taxes this year, but that seems to be hardly practicable or advisable. A private bill would involve a cost of about $100, besides a private bill could not be completed before April 15th, and therefore it would not be possible to have the taxes collected much earlier than is possible under the present statutes. The existing law, if taken advantage of, will permit the earlier collection of taxes if it is thought desirable, next year. It does not seem to be so urgent a matter as to require a special Act of Parliament.

The EXAMINER would be glad to receive concise letters from any persons having plans to propose for paying the town taxes in instalments—in the multitude of counsel there is wisdom.

Cheap Sleigh-riding.

The youngsters haven't had much chance for coasting this winter so far. That may be one reason why the Peterborough Book Store has more hand-sleighs in stock than usual; but it's no reason why there should be lots of fun yet and plenty of snow to make a brisk demand for hand-sleighs. However, come what may, these sleighs must be sold and to hurry them out we have marked them down to bare cost. P. UNTOLD MISERY
FROM RHEUMATISM
C. H. King, Water Valley, Miss., cured by
Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"For five years, I suffered untold misery from muscular rheumatism. I tried every known remedy, consulted the best physicians, visited Hot Springs, Ark., three times, spending $1000 there, besides doctors' bills; but could obtain only temporary relief. My flesh was wasted away so that I weighed only ninety-three pounds; my left arm and leg were drawn out of shape, the muscles being twisted up in knots. I was unable to dress myself, except with assistance, and could only hobble about by using a cane. I had no appetite, and was assured, by the doctors, that I could not live. The pains, at times, were so awful, that I could procure relief only by means of hypodermic injections of morphine. I had my limbs bandaged in clay, in sulphur, in poultices; but these gave only temporary relief. After trying everything, and suffering the most awful tortures, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Inside of two months, I was able to walk without a cane. In three months, my limbs began to strengthen, and in the course of a year, I was cured. My weight has increased to 165 pounds, and I am now able to do my full day's work as a railroad blacksmith."

MR. BLAKE'S CHANCE.

The Canadian Orator will have the Opportunity of his Life in Moving the Taxation Amendment.

Montreal, Jan. 15.—(Star Cable.)—At a Cabinet Council yesterday in London it is stated Ministers considered the way in which the amendments to the Queen's speech will be allotted. Though in no danger of defeat over a vote on the Irish taxation amendment, the defections in the Unionist ranks from that Island are not pleasant for the Government to contemplate. The Nationalist-Unionist coalition grows in strength, until in Hon. Edward Blake, who will move the amendment to the address, all parties are represented.

Ireland will not await a deliverance by a new commission through which the Government designs to delay dealings with the Irish demands for financial redress. If the Irish members of all political faiths fail to obtain some better satisfaction of their demands than the appointment of a new commission, they can make the whole session a campaign of obstruction, which would blast the Government program. The Irish Unionists are led by Col. Saunderson, member for North Armagh, and the vitality and intensity of the popular interest in the tax question in Ireland has been fully evinced by the great meetings held in Dublin, Limerick and Belfast, which attracted a strongly influential attendance, composed of men of all shades of political and religious faith, all eager to impress upon the British Government their demand for the redress of their financial grievance, whereby Ireland pays an annual excess of £2,500,000, as reported by the commission. This body's report showed that, "While the actual tax revenue of Ireland is about an eleventh of that of Great Britain, the relative taxable capacity of Ireland is very much smaller, and is not estimated by any of us as exceeding one-twentieth."

It is the duty of Mr. Blake, in representing the Dillonites, Healyites, Redmondites and Unionists, to voice this great grievance in such a way that all parties in Ireland will be satisfied. In moving the amendment to the Queen's speech, the Canadian statesman has the chance of his lifetime. He was chosen because he represents the cool-headed, argumentative and logical type rather than the hot-headed, warm-hearted enthusiast. That Mr. Blake will do the matter justice no one who has heard him before the Privy Council doubts. The subject calls for technical reasoning and in this Mr. Blake is a past master. It will be the greatest speech that Mr. Blake has made since he entered the British Parliament in August, 1892, after being triumphantly elected member for South Longford.

Rheumatism is caused by lactic acid in the blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla neutralizes the acid and cures rheumatism.

DEEDS HORRIBLE AS HELL

Eye-Witnesses Tell of the Armenian Massacres—Big Meeting in Massey Hall—$4000 Collected.

Toronto, Jan. 16.

Five thousand people shuddered in very horror last night as they listened to the young men and the young woman from down-trodden, persecuted Armenia tell blood-curdling tales of personal experience and of scenes they had been forced to witness in that land where rapine and murder had reigned untrammeled. Sympathy, too, took a very substantial form, for the result of the great mass meeting will be that over $400 will be placed in the hands of the Army for the immediate relief of the 24 Armenians present, as well as for those that are left of their friends in their Asiatic home.

Kriker Avalian addressed the audience in his native tongue, his speech being interpreted by a fellow-countryman, Garabet Binatian. He had seen a Turkish call to arms suddenly followed by a massacre of over 7200 Armenians. He told how he had contrived to escape to Constantinople, thence to Egypt and on to London, where he had been taken care of by the Salvation Army and brought to Canada.

Marcar Seropian of the city of Divrik was interpreted by Mr. Misrob Bayhdasanium, who has been for three years a student of McMaster University. The speaker's two brothers were murdered. He had, with a number of his countrymen, been huddled together in a restaurant, and when let out had been forced to witness his friends bayoneted, until the streets ran with blood. They had then been compelled to throw the reeking corpses of friends and relatives into a large room. He had been afterwards warned by a Greek friend that his turn was to come next, and had sought the protection of the Greek consul at Constantinople, who, in turn, had put him into the hands of the British consulate at Athens. Thence he was sent to London. His father had recently written him that he had since seen a young child covered with kerosene and burned to death. The young man's uncle had been murdered.

Mrs. Dildabarian, the only woman in the party, was vigorously welcomed, as with slow and graceful step she approached the chairman. Her address, as interpreted, was punctuated with expressions of grief at her wretched condition, for she had seen nearly every relative she had fall by the sword of the Turk. One scene in connection with the two massacres she had witnessed she could never forget. It was when the brutal Turks had rushed into her neighbor's house and carried on the end of a bayonet their little baby. She had made her escape from the country by means of the intervention of the British ambassador.

Garabet Binatian, the interpreter, gave the experience of a fellow-countryman. His friend, with hundreds of others, had been promised by the Turks that if they would give up Christianity they would not be molested. They had answered, "We might better die than give up the Christian religion."

Proceeding, he told of the manner the Turks had treated the pleadings of a mother for the safety of her only son. "We will save him," they replied, "but watch the fun." They then tied each arm to a post in the middle of the street. The ringleader cried out, "Who will cut off his nose?" "I will, I will," came a score of voices. One of them was deputed to do it, and he did his work well. With blood gurgling into his mouth, and down his throat, the young man looked piteously toward his mother, who was compelled to stand by and watch the "fun." After his nose was taken off they hacked off his ears. Concluding the speaker exclaimed, "God will avenge us if the powers do not!"

The Commissioner rendered "There'll be no more sorrow up there," in her usual feeling manner and followed with an earnest appeal for help in the Army's undertaking. The Armenian refugees, she said, had been taken care of by the Army on whatever shore they had landed throughout the world.

Miss Booth then announced a number of the subscriptions, which were headed by $5 from the Mayor, and $2 from Mrs. Henry Cawthra. A large number of other donations, varying from $1 to $10, were also announced.

HUGH JOHN IS OUT.

But There is a Possibility That the Supreme Court May Restore Him to the Vacant Chair.

Winnipeg, Jan. 15.—(Special.)—The Winnipeg election trial was called at the court house at 11 o'clock this morning, and within an hour Hon. Hugh John Macdonald was declared unseated. A hackman was called and testified that he had been hired by an agent of Mr. Macdonald to drive voters to the polls. Mr. Tupper, counsel for Hugh John, admitted this charge and the judges declared the election void. However, there will be a stay of judgment until the decision of the Supreme Court in the matter of preliminary objections. Should the Supreme Court decide upholding the preliminary objections, Hugh John would be confirmed in his seat. By agreement, no order was made as to costs. The effect of the preliminary objection before the Supreme Court is that it has not been proven that the petitioners were legally qualified voters, and, therefore, had no right to petition. There is the same preliminary objection before the Supreme Court in the case of Nat Boyd, M. P. for Macdonald, whose election was also voided.

"Let parents not live for their children, but with them." The mother should allow no false modesty to stand in the way of her daughter's knowledge of herself, of her possibilities, of her perils. For over thirty years Dr. Pearce has used his "Favorite Prescription" as a strengthener, a purifier, a regulator. It works directly upon the delicate, distinctly feminine organs, in a natural, soothing way. It searches out the weak spots and builds them up. A woman who would understand herself should send 31 cents to the World's Dispensary, Buffalo, N. Y., for Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser, a book of 1008 pages.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS ALWAYS CURE

AFTER TEN YEARS SUFFERING

Two Box Cure

MILVERTON, 25TH JULY, 1895.

Gentlemen,—For the last ten years I had been troubled with kidney disease, being so bad at intervals that I could not lie in bed at night nor stoop to the ground.

I had tried all the remedies I could find without effect, but heard of Dodd's Kidney Pills and procured a box.

I am most happy to say it for my own sake as well as for others that I am perfectly cured after using four boxes.

TEN YEARS TROUBLED

With Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia—Suffered Greatly and Found No Relief in the Scores of Medicines Prescribed.

South American Nervine Was Recommended, and Before Half a Bottle Was Taken Relief Came.

Have Since Improved Rapidly, and Am Now Completely Cured—So says Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont.

What ills come to humanity from a disordered liver! Henry Ward Beecher has said that it was impossible for a man to hold correct spiritual views if his liver was out of order. The liver is so important a part of the mechanism of man that when it ceases to work with ease the whole man is unable to do his work aright. Can we not appeal to thousands, nay, tens of thousands, for a verification of this fact? Certainly it is, that Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont., felt that the enjoyment of life had been taken from him, through the unhealthy condition of his liver. For ten years he says he was troubled with liver complaint and dyspepsia. Employing his own language: "At times my liver was so tender I could not bear it pressed or touched from the outside. Had tried a great many remedies without any benefit. Was compelled to drop my work, and being worse than usual, I decided as a final resort to try South American Nervine, which had been recommended to me by friends who had been cured by it. I got a bottle from A. S. Goodeve, local druggist, and commenced taking according to directions. Before I had taken half a bottle I was able to go to work again, and I have improved steadily since. I can conscientiously recommend South American Nervine to any suffering from dyspepsia or liver complaint." This is Mr. Reid's story as he tells it in his own words. Were it thought necessary it could be corroborated by a host of witnesses. Mr. Reid has lived a long time in Chesley, and his case was known to be a very bad one. But that makes no difference to Nervine. This great discovery rises equal to the most trying occasions. Let it be indigestion, the most chronic liver trouble, as with Mr. Reid, nervous prostration, that makes life miserable with so many, sick headaches, that sap all the effort out of man or woman, Nervine measures to the necessities of the case. It is a great medicine and thousands to-day in Canada are happier and healthier men and women, because of its discovery. There is no great secret about it, and yet there is an important secret. It operates on the nerve centers of the system from which emanate all life and healthfulness, or if disordered, sickness, even death. Nervine strikes promptly at the nerve centers, hence, as with Mr. Reid, where ten years' use of other medicines had done no good, less than a bottle of Nervine brought about encouraging results, and a few bottles cured.

JOHN CRANE, Sec.-Treas.

Did ever a woman experience true happiness until she bent over her rosy-cheeked, sleeping babe, tired of play and forgetful of toys. Never. True happiness for a childless woman is nature's most emphatic impossibility. The world teems with otherwise happy wedded couples that only need the link of a babe's divided caresses to unite them in mutual happiness through all eternity. Any woman may assure herself of happy wifehood, long life, love, and the great blessing of motherhood, who will take proper care of her womanly self, and resort to the right remedy for weakness and disease of the delicate organs peculiar to her sex.

The best of all-known remedies for the special weaknesses and diseases from which women suffer is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It acts directly and only on the organs that bear the burdens of motherhood. It makes them strong and healthy. Taken during the expectant period it banishes the usual discomforts and makes baby's advent easy and almost painless. It insures a robust newcomer and an ample supply of natural nourishment. All good druggists sell it.

"It is my heart's desire," writes Mrs. M. E. Simpson, P. O. Box 31, Kinderhook, Columbia Co., N. Y., "to tell you what Dr. Pierce's medicine has done for me. Two years ago I was in a very bad state. I took nine bottles in all of your 'Favorite Prescription.' I had been married five years and had not had any children. I now have a young son one year old. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription effected a positive cure — words cannot express my gratitude for the relief from the great suffering I so long endured. I do not think I should be here to-day had it not been for Dr. Pierce's medicines."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate the liver, stomach and bowels.

RED NOSES.

Causes Which Induce Them Pointed Out—Their Cure.

The bravado with which the summer girl is wont to carry off her tanned face, her nut-browned hands and even a crop or more of unmistakable summer freckles is worthy of respect, says Harriet Hubbard Ayer in the San Francisco Examiner. I believe no woman really ever enjoyed being freckled or tanned a real bronze color, but the natural fun-loving, out-of-door, healthy girl will say that she dotes on getting as black as an Indian, and contents herself with the reflection that at least no one knows she hates the brown line around her throat, but when it comes to the bright red nose for a continuous companion it is by common accord acknowledged the bete noir of many a maid and matron. The red nose has no defenders nor champions.

Red noses are superinduced by exposure to the heat, but are almost invariably associated with imperfect circulation and dyspepsia, not uncommonly also with tight corsets, tight garters or shoes. There is some disturbance of the health where the nose suddenly gets red and swollen, and both anemic and plethoric women will frequently, from opposite causes, suffer from this painful condition, and the scarlet flush often covers the middle of the brow and the upper part of both cheeks as well as the nose. The treatment therefore cannot be the same for all afflicted, since the thin-blooded women should have recourse to nourishing and tonic foods and the stout one to the diet advised for reducing flesh; both, however, require plenty of oxygen and unrestricted freedom of the body.

Hysterical women are troubled with flushed noses because they yield to emotions that disturb the cutaneous blood vessels. The best way to cure red noses of this kind is to overcome the cause.

Women subjected to flushed noses should rest an hour after each meal. Reading, writing, sewing, any occupation which involves activity of the brain or special strain of the eye muscles immediately after eating, will with certain women inevitably produce a red nose.

External treatment for a too blooming nose is at the best but temporary. Dr. Anna Kingsford recommends bathing the face itself in very hot water. I have not found this treatment efficacious. I have, however, seen the flush subside in a few moments as a result of putting both hands and feet in a hot mustard bath. Ice placed behind the ears will sometimes reduce the color.

Women subjected to red noses should religiously abstain from hot drinks—tea, coffee, highly spiced food, shell fish, any food difficult to assimilate. Green vegetables, ripe fruits, acid drinks (such as lemonade or lime-juice) are excellent acids to out-of-door exercise and frequent ablutions in overcoming a tendency to flushed nose and cheeks.

Bathing the face in Vichy water 'genuine' will sometimes take the redness as well as the swelling which often accompanies it from the nose. Soda baths are also recommended. A famous French authority, Dr. Cheron, advises arsenic as a positve remedy for red noses. The following is Cheron's treatment:

Arseniate of Soda .....0.05 grammes
Distilled water .....150 grammes

Dose—A tablespoonful at each meal in a glass of water colored only by a little light claret.

Also twice each week the following:

Citrate of Magnesia .....40 grammes
Currant Syrup ..... 20 grammes
Distilled water .....350 grammes

Take in two doses at intervals of fifteen minutes.

MISS HELEN KELLER.

The Celebrated Blind, Deaf and Dumb Girl Rides a Wheel.

Helen Keller rides a wheel! This is the latest accomplishment to be acquired by the marvelous young girl who has so interested scientific men and so amazed the unscientific world. Miss Keller, when a mere infant, became, through an attack of a violent disease, blind, deaf and dumb. This fall she entered Radcliffe College, Cambridge, Mass., and is now one of its brightest pupils. The story of her development is well-nigh incredible. Blind and deaf, having never heard human language, she has learned to speak German and French so well that a native to these tongues cannot tell she is a foreigner. Her English, too, is perfection. She reads all the great authors, can recite Shakespeare and Goethe and Hugo, writes good poetry herself and is quite adept in dead languages. To accomplish this marvelous result, years of infinite toil and patience were spent by her, and her interpreter and friend, Miss Sullivan, who, before taking up the instruction of Helen, was a teacher in a deaf-mute institution. The teacher began with establishing a sort of telegraph code between herself and her pupil in the form of finger taps on the palm of the little girl. Helen learned to give utterance to language by placing her fingers on Miss Sullivan's lips, face and throat and then imitating the motions made by her teacher with the same muscles. She sings delightfully, but has never heard her own voice. She knows what light is, without having seen, recites difficult lessons to better advantage than many of her fellow pupils, and has now taken to cycling, from which she derives as much joy as any of her companions who are in full possession of their faculties. Miss Keller rides tandem, fearlessly, and if she keeps on progressing she may be able to completely demonstrate the theory that all the senses are really one at root—touch.

MISS HELEN KELLER.

The Best Way To Cure

Disease is to establish health. Pure, rich blood means good health. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the One True Blood Purifier It tones up the whole system, gives appetite and strength and causes weakness, nervousness and pain to disappear. No other medicine has such a record of wonderful cures as Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's Pills are the best after-dinner pill; assist digestion, prevent constipation. 25c.

Extraordinary Freak of Nature.

The Rev. F. S. Bortain of Puebla, according to the Mexican Herald, writer as follows: "It may be of interest to some of the readers of the Herald who visit Puebla to know of one of the less visited attractions in the vicinity of the City of the Angels. I refer to the 'Coxcomate.' It is about twenty minutes distant from Puebla over the street-car line to Cholula. Any street car conductor can point it out to the curiosity seeker. It is to the right of the car line, about 500 yards distant.

"It looks from the car window to be a pile of white stones or a well-bleached haystack. But upon closer inspection it proves to be a tumulus of white calcareous stones evidently of water formation, about fifty feet in height and one hundred feet in diameter at the base. The form is that of a truncated cone. At the apex is an elliptical-shaped opening about twenty-five feet along the minor and fifty feet along the major axis. It is a bell-shaped cavity and lined with ferns of various descriptions. I should judge the depth to be at least 100 feet, and at the bottom, so far as visible, the opening must be sixty feet in diameter. In the bottom, on one side, are to be seen some gorgeous ferns and on the other side a pool of water.

"Tradition says that the ancient Aztecs were accustomed to worship here the genius of the spot, and occasionally threw in a live victim to appease his subterranean majesty. It is said a few victims of the Inquisition were thrown down here to reflect upon the controverted points of doctrine. At all events, it is a most singular freak of nature, as it is in teh middle of a level plain or rather a barley field. It looks to have been some volcanic bubble, of which the great Mexican upland is so full, and is well worth a visit on the part of the curious.

"Attough I have inquired among my Mexican friends, I have found no one who could tell me the meaning of the name 'Coxcomate.'"

The folly of prejudice is frequently shown by people who prefer to suffer for years rather than try an advertised remedy, The millions who have no such notions, take Ayer's Sarsaparilla for blood-diseases, and are cured. So much for common sense.

That hacking cough can be quickly cured by Hagard's Pectoral Balsam. Price 25c.

HERE IS A NEW SENSATION.

The Princess De Chimay Suspected of Being a Russian Spy.

London, Jan. 15.—A despatch from Buda Pest to The Pall Mall Gazette says that before the eloping Princess Chimay and her Hungarian gypsy paramour, Rigo, left Buda Pest for Nice yesterday the police made a raid upon the apartments which the couple occupied, upon the strength of information furnished to the police authorities that the Princess was a spy in the employ of the Russian secret service. The police found no evidence of the woman's connection with the Russian secret service, but in the course of their search found a packet of letters that had been addressed to her by a European monarch, which they seized.

TWO OFFICERS ESCAPED.

Capt. Boisragon and Consular Officer Locke Got Away From the Benin Tribe.

London, Jan. 15.—Despatches received at the Foreign Office this morning say that Captain Boisragon of the Niger Coast force and Consular Officer Locke, who were of the British Commercial Expedition, recently massacred by wild tribesmen in the territory of the King of Benin and were supposed to have perished with the others, have arrived at New Benin wounded and exhausted. They succeeded in escaping from the onslaught of the natives, and wandered in the bush for a week before reaching New Benin. All of the others of the party, Consul Phillips, Consular Officer Campbell, Major Crawford, Captain Maling, Dr. Elliott, two civilians and about 250 Kroomen and native carriers, with the exception of seven Kroomen, who made their escape and brought the news of the massacre to the officials of the Niger protectorate, are believed to have been killed.

AS WELL AS EVER.

A Brickmaker Listens to Reason—Uses Six Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and Tells it.

Brockville, Jan. 4 (Special)—Mr. W. H. Odell, perhaps one of the best known citizens of this town has lately recovered from a long continued and painful kidney ailment. He tells the story of his experience to the correspondent as follows:

"I have suffered for over a year from kidney disease, the pain in my back being so severe that I was unable to stand to my work."

"Noticing the published cures of what Dodd's Kidney Pills were doing for others I concluded to use them."

"Having used only six boxes I can say that I am perfectly cured and well so that I can attend to business as well as ever I could."

DOAN'S

Kidney Pills first proved to the people that Kidney disease is curable. Being the original Kidney remedy in pill form, the cures they have made, and the fame they have attained have opened the way for a host of imitations and substitutes, but those who have been cured of

KIDNEY

Complaints through the use of this wonderful medicine, those whose lame back is now free from pain, those who now have no headaches, those who have escaped from the death grip of Diabetes and Bright's disease by the use of Doan's Kidney

Boils.

Unnecessary pain is often caused by ignorance of what a boil really is. It does'nt come from the inside, as many suppose, and require to be "drawn out" by painful poulticing, etc. A boil is a microbe in the skin and can be removed without pain, without lancing or poulticing, by a simple little plaster made with

MINING NOTES.

Ontario Graphite.

The Ontario Bureau of Mines received from the Ontario Graphite Company two lead pencils, being the first samples of Ontario graphite turned out. Accompanying the pencils was a letter stating that after testing samples of their graphite, Johann Faber, the famous manufacturer of led pencils in Bavaria, and M. Schneider, of Nuremburg, another large manufacturer, had found it equal to their own Bohemian graphite and had given a trial order for forty tons of it for immediate shipment. The company's deposits are situated in Brougham, township, about twenty miles west of the town of Renfrew.

DEVELOPMENT NEEDED.

The London, England, Mining Journal says:—"Now that it is universally admitted that Ontario is probably one of the greatest depositories in the world of the precious and economic metals, it is to be hoped that the Ontario Government will move with the times and give mining all the prominence it is entitled to. It is surely time that more was done towards making known the mineral resources of Ontario, and considering the great importance of the country, generally, of a mining industry, the Ontario Government would be justified in spending large sums in aiding in opening up means of communication and advertising its resources. At present it requires considerable effort to get at the wealth, and it is most essential that railways should be built, telegraphic communication established, an improved mail service given, etc. The absence of railway and telegraphic facilities has, and will, seriously retard the development of mines." The Mining Journal will find that the Ontario government will be equal to the occasion, so far as the financial resources of the province will permit.

WARSAW.

(Correspondence of The Examiner.)

Dont miss the carnival.

Jim Greystock has returned from town.

Miss Lena Fletcher, of South Monaghan is the guest of Miss Sarah Payne.

Mr. and Mrs. Uriah Payne have been spending a few days with friends in Lakefield.

Miss Laura May, of South Monaghan, is visiting at Mr. John Tucker's.

Rev. Mr. Hyde, pastor of the Presbyterian church here, will exchange pulpits with the Rev. Mr. Reeves, of Lakefield, on the first Sunday in February.

The Normal School in connection with the Presbyterian church will be resumed on Thursday.

The hockey club has been organized, and the boys would be pleased to hear from their Lakefield friends at any time now.

An entertainment in connection with the Bethel church will be held in the church on Monday evening next at 7 p. m. An address will be delivered by the Rev. Mr. Speers, of Toronto, after which a number of dialogues, recitations, etc., will be given by the children.

The first grand masquerade carnival of the season will be held in the skating rink on Friday evening, January 22nd, when a number of valuable prizes will be given for fancy and comic costumes, racing, fancy skating, etc. The event of the evening will be a mile race, in which several local flyers will compete.

The boys deserve credit for the energy displayed in completing the rink, which is now under the capable management of Mr. John Lowry. The ice has so far been kept in firstclass condition and providing weather is favourable on Friday it is to be hoped that a good crowd will turn out and give the boys all the encouragement possible.

Mrs. Irwin and daughter, who have been visiting at Mr. John Doughty's during the past week, left for their home in Perrytown on Saturday.

PROCEEDINGS OF BELMONT COUNCIL.

(From Our Own Correspondent.

Pursuant to statute the council elect met in the town hall on Monday, Jan 11th, when the following gentlemen took the declarations for 1897: W. Burgess, Esq., reeve; J. A. Sexsmith, Esq., deputy-reeve; Messrs. John Vansickle, Alexander McArthur and Samuel McConnell as councillors.

W. Burgess, Esq., reeve, in the chair. Minutes of former meeting read and confirmed. On motion of Councillor Vansickle $2 was appropriated on the side lots 31 and 32, on the east half of the fourth concession, Methuen; Edward Youmans to be commissioner, he to report to the council.

After adjournment the application of E. Perry, to have his time extended two years to cut and remove the timber on 5th concession line, across the south-east quarter of lot 9 in the 6th concession. On motion of Councillor McArthur, Mr. Perry is to have to the 1st January, 1899, to cut and remove same, and Mr. Vansicle to have till January 1st, 1899, to cut and remove the timber on 1st concession line Methuen, across lot 3.

On motion of Deputy-Reeve Sexsmith, the cost of holding municipal election, 1897, $32, was paid as follows:

Clerk and deputy-returning officers	$10 00
W H Johnston—No 1	4 00
W Anderson—No 2	4 00
W J W Mellville—No 4	4 00
Stewart Post—No 5	4 00
Use of school house $1 50 each, 4 schools	6 00
	$32 00

On motion of Councillor McArthur the clerk was instructed to notify the county treasurer to make out tax deeds in favour of the municipality of the undermentioned, owned by the municipality:—Part of lot 28, concession 5, Belmont, 28 acres; part lot 28 in the 5th concession, Belmont, 82 acres; part lot 22 in the 6th concession, Belmont, 175 acres; east half lot 26 in the 5th concession, Belmont, 100 acres; south half lot 25 in the 7th concession, Belmont, 100 acres; north half of lot 3 in the 11th concession, Methuen, 100 acres.

Application of C. Youmans to purchase timber on side road lots 25 and 26, across the 4th concession of Belmont: Would give $1 50 for the timber, the money to be paid before timber is cut.

A bylaw not to collect the tax on dogs and bitches for the year 1897 received its several readings and passed.

A bylaw to appoint certain township officers was also passed, appointing Walter Wilde assessor, salary, to cover all, $40.00; Wellington Burgess and Frank Wilson, auditors.

A bylaw to appoint a local board of health, a medical health officer and a sanitary inspector was passed and signed:—Board of Health—Wm. Burgess, Esq., reeve; Porter Preston, clerk; and Messrs. J. L. Aunger, W. Coon and Robert Burgess; W. H. Jeff, M.D., medical health officer; W. H. Johnston, sanitary inspector.

On motion of Councillor Vansickle, the deputy reeve and the clerk are a committee to examine the boundary line between Belmont and Marmora across lots 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19 and 20, also examine the side road lots 15 and 16, across the 1st concession Belmont, and make an estimate of what it would cost to open the boundary line across those lots; and also an estimate to open side road, and estimate of cost to make a road across lots 14 and 15, and also to attend Marmora council if deemed advisable to ask council of Marmora to be at one-half of cost of opening boundary.

Also to be a committee to rebuild Plaster creek bridge, near Chas. Wilde's, and to report to council.

Application of W. W. Ellis to purchase the old cedar taken out of bridge near Pettibone's. Would draw three loads of gravel on bridge near Mrs. Pettibone's. Application granted.

Claim of Thos. Morrow for one sheep killed by dogs on Jan. 2. After Mr. Morrow has taken the affidavit as required by law, on motion of Councillor Vansickle Mr. Morrow was paid $2.37, that being two-thirds value.

Application of J. J. Sexsmith to purchase the timber on 6th concession line across lot 17, and that part of lot 18 to the Bay. Would give $2.50. On motion of Councillor Vansickle Mr. Sexsmith is to have the timber on those terms.

Application of Peter Buchanan for a grant of money to draw stone to fill in 10th concession line on lot 8. Received and laid over.

On motion of Councillor Vansickle the reeve was appointed to attend the land sale.

On motion of Councillor McArthur, J. J. Sexsmith was appointed caretaker of town for the year 1897, he to receive $6 for same.

On motion of Councillor Vansickle, T. Anderson was paid the sum of $2 for acting as poll clerk, polling subdivision No. 2.

On motion of Councillor Vansickle, the reeve is to procure a stove for town hall.

On motion of Councillor Vansickle, Wm. Bell, of Marmora, was paid the funeral expenses of Peter Palmater, and the taxes of the late Peter Palmater for 1896 are rebated. Amount voted 11th January, 1897, $146.

On motion of Councillor McArthur, the council adjourned to meet at the town hall on the first Monday in March, 1897, at one o'clock a. m.

PORTER PRESTON,

Pain Banished as if by Magic.

Nerviline—nerve pain cure—is a positive and an almost instantaneous remedy for external, internal, or local pains. The most active remedy hitherto known falls far short of Nerviline for potent power in the relief of nerve pain. A trial will demonstrate.

Just So.

It is the man who never advertises, or those who do it after a fashion, that complain of results. It is the puny egotist who has never read a whole chapter of the Bible at a time, that is the most pronounced skeptic; it is the bilious-tempered misanthrope that votes life not worth living; it is the crusty, old bachelor, with not enough soul to animate a mosquito that snarls out his complaint about marriage being a failure.

No one who has ever followed a wise and judicious course of advertising has ever failed to obtain results that have told on his business prosperity. There have been some who have advertised much in the manner of the timorous bather who takes a plunge in the cold surf only to rush out again and stand shivering upon the strand until nerved for another dip.

SHERMAN TAKES IT.

The Well-Known Senator Accepts the State Portfolio in McKinley's Cabinet.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Senator Sherman arrived in Washington this morning after his brief visit to the President-elect. He confirmed the press despatches that he had agreed to accept the Secretaryship of State, and said the information had been given out in Canton authoritatively. As to who his colleagues in the Cabinet might be, the Senator declined to even make a prediction. That was a matter, he added, that rested entirely with Mr. McKinley, and the President-elect would make his selection public when he thought the proper time had come.

Senator Sherman declined to discuss the subject of our foreign relations save in the most general terms.

WALTZED TO DEATH.

John Roche While Enjoying a Dance Fell Dead in His Partner's Arms.

Niagara Falls, Jan. 16.—While the dance of Division No. 1, Ladies' Auxiliary of the A.O.H., at St. Mary's Hall, last night, was at its height, and the dancers were enjoying a waltz, John Roche, a well-known young man in the West End of Toronto, fell dead in the arms of his partner. Heart disease was the cause.

The hall was crowded at the time, and great excitement prevailed. The ball came to an end at once. Roche was 20 years of age, and was in the employ of John O'Neil. He was a nephew of Mrs. Robert Perrie of the Old Fort, Toronto.

Something New

—AT THE—

GOLDEN LION.

We take pleasure in announcing to the Ladies of Peterborough and surrounding districts that we will add to the already many important departments of this Great Dry Goods House

A Ladies' Whitewear Department

In which will be found all kinds of Ladies' Whitewear of the very latest style and cut. These garments are now in the hands of skilled operators and we will have them opened up for inspection in a few days. We would urge all ladies to see these goods, for they are all new and cannot be excelled for style and low price. Mr. Fair is at present visiting the American Markets and will inspect some of the leading manufactures of these goods with a view of adding to this New Department some of the Latest American styles.

Robt. Fair,

Importer of Dry Goods & Carpets

Sign of the Golden Lion, 328 George Street, Peterborough.

SECOND CROP OF BARGAINS

As there is a good deal of winter yet before us, it is unnecessary to point out the wisdom of buying now.

This is the month of lucky chances and snaps in mid-winter goods. An aftermath of Bargains for shrewd buyers—lines which we have laid out during stock-taking such as Serges, Cheviots, Heavy Tweeds and other Remnants, as well as Millinery, to be sold even at HALF REGULAR PRICES.

We don't want to carry winter lines past their regular selling season. No relics here. This store is not a museum. We have neither old goods nor old ideas.

You need the goods—we need the room they occupy—so there is mutual benefit all round in the selling of them.

We don't "rest-up" during the winter months and take things easy until spring. While others are resting we're simply HUSTLING.

MISS RUDKINS

412 George St., Crystal Block, Opposite EXAMINER Office.

FOR—

FASTIDIOUS FELLOWS,

Who want to dress in style, and yet keep within their means, have a great chance, which is legally theirs, for the next few weeks. With three months of good stiff winter weather before us, we make a great offer to men:—

Select any piece of Suitings in our store—imported or domestic — Worsteds, Tweeds, Cheviots or Cassimeres—we will make it up for you in the highest style of the tailors' art, and guarantee finish fabric and fit, from..... .... $12 up

Select any piece of Overcoating in our store—and we will make you up an Overcoat or Ulster, any style you like, beautifully finished, from..... $12 up

We are determined to get the shears into every piece of winter goods in the store, by putting the knife into the prices.

GOOD NEWS

For You....

LADIES.

The whole of our stock is reduced, and must be disposed of regardless of old prices. We can do better for you this week than last. Here are some Seasonable Specials:—

Mantle Special.

Every Mantle that left our store this season was of the latest productions. The few we have to sell are the same—the only thing wrong with them is the price. They're the $5.50 and $6.00 grade for $3.00.

Glove Special.

Only a few dozen left, and we want to give you a bargain in them. Regular 25c a pair, to go for just one-half—12½c.

Mantle Cloths Special.

We are taking a clean one-fourth off the prices of our Mantle Cloths and Dress Goods.

We prefer to sell now at HALF price than carry anything over. All Trimmed Hats and Bonnets, no matter what they are worth, can be bought at just one-half. Ribbons all reduced.

THE OTTAWA BUDGET

Hon. Mr. Mulock in the Matter of Mail Contracts.

WORKING IN THE PUBLIC INTEREST.

Contracts Let to the Lowest Tenderers Regardless of Politics—Project for Quick Transit to the Old Country—From St. John's to Ireland in Half a Week.

Ottawa, Jan. 18.—(Special.)—During the absence of the Postmaster-General from Ottawa there will be a suspension of the work of renewing postal contracts, upon which Mr. Mulock has been engaged for several weeks. The contracts which have been cancelled were in all cases those which had been renewed by the late Government without tender. Mr. Mulock has let new contracts invariably to the lowest tenderer, provided the sureties were good. The politics of the tenderer has not been taken into consideration.

A good story is told of the way in which he received the deputation which waited upon the Government the other day to ask for an increased mail subsidy for the Quebec and Lake St. John Railway. The plea put forward by the deputation was that this was a colonization road and that therefore, in the interests of colonization, the increased subsidy should be given. It is said the Postmaster-General tilted himself back in his chair and very quietly informed the deputation that under those circumstances they had made a mistake, and had come to the wrong department.

"What do you mean?" ejaculated one of the astonished visitors.

"Why, this is not the Colonization Department," replied the Postmaster-General. "If you want to encourage colonization you must see the Minister of the Interior."

The deputation had to be content with this reply, and went away wondering what sort of a man the Premier, who happened to be present, had chosen for a colleague.

When Mr. Schreiber, Chief Engineer and Deputy Minister of Railways and Canals, was in New York last week he was waited upon by Mr. R. G. Reid, who has nearly completed the Newfoundland Railway from St. John's to Port Au Basque, on the west coast. Mr. Reid has just returned from England, where he has placed the contract for a fine steamer, which is to run from Port Au Basque to Sydney, were it will connect with the Cape Breton Railway. Mr. Reid's object in interviewing Mr. Schreiber was for the purpose of providing for close connections between the steamer and the railway.

Mr. Reid's contract with the shipbuilders calls for a first-class, high speed, screw steamer, 230 feet in length with 32 feet beam, at a cost of $260,000. The steamer will make three round trips per week between the two points. This will be the first fruition of many schemes for shortening transatlantic travel.

When the Intercolonial Railway was built it was intended to connect at Miramichi, N.B., by steamer with Western Newfoundland. From St. John's, Nfld., to Ireland the distance is about 1600 miles, which would be accomplished, at the rate of 20 knots, in 80 hours, or three days and a half. The Intercolonial scheme of fast steamers from Miramichi to Newfoundland was never consummated, but early next June, when the Newfoundland Railway has been completed and the new steamer placed on the route between its western terminus and North Sydney, the shortening of the ocean voyage by at least three days will be an accomplished fact. Some idea of the importance of North Sydney as a port of shipping may be gathered from the Harbor Commissioner's report for 1896, which shows that during the season of navigation 2195 vessels arrived there, representing a capacity of 762,000 tons. Of these 635 were ocean steamers of a capacity of 613,800 tons.

Mr. Justice Burbidge delivered judgment in the case of the Queen v. St. Louis. The information was exhibited to recover from the defendant the sum of $143,881 and interest, being part of an amount of $220,550 paid to him on certain contracts made between him and the Crown, whereby he undertook to furnish labor and stone for the construction of th Wellington-street bridge and the Grand Trunk bridge over the Lachine Canal at Montreal, and for the construction of lock No. 1 of the said canal. The total amount of the claim made by the defendant under such contract was $384,192, of which the Crown paid him $220,550. For the balance, $63,642, the defendant prosecuted a petition of right, which was dismissed by the Exchequer Court, but on an appeal being taken to the Supreme Court, the judgment of the Exchequer Court was reversed. With its defence to the petition the Crown had filed a counter claim for the same amount as the information in the present case is exhibited for, but withdrew it before judgment by consent. The defendant pleaded to the information, amongst other things, that the matters in issue in the present action were the same as the issues decided on the petition of right, and that the Crown was, therefore, precluded by the judgment of the Supreme Court from maintaining a new action. The learned judge of the Exchequer Court holds that the plaintiff's objection is well founded, and that the doctrine of res judicata may be invoked against the Crown. In the result, the information is dismissed, the Crown getting costs of the proceedings prior to March 7, 1896, and the defendant applied to amend his statement in defence, and all costs subsequent to that date to this allowed to the defendant and set off against the former. If the amount of the Crown's costs exceeds that of the defendant, the Crown to enter judgment for such balance of costs.

Mr. Fisher and Prof. Robertson leave for Hamilton to-morrow night to attend a meeting in that place on Wednesday morning of the fruit growers of the Hamilton, Grimsby and Niagara districts, who desire to discuss with the Minister of Agriculture the question of cold storage accommodation on Atlantic steamers. On Wednesday afternoon the Minister and the commissioner go to Brantford to attend the annual convention of the Dairymen's Association of Western Ontario.

Dr. Borden, Minister of Militia, left for Quebec this afternoon.

Mr Tarte, Minister of Public Works, arrived up from Montreal to-day, but he did not go to his office. He still feels pretty shaky.

Mr. A. H. Taylor, who was for nearly 30 years Grand Trunk ticket agent in this city, but who was recently superannuated, has been appointed customs appraiser at Ottawa, in succession to the late Mr. Patterson.

Mr. George Casey, M. P., of Elgin, who was here on Saturday, had a conference with the authorities of the Agricultural Department regarding the hog plague in Elgin. The disease is not the same as that which is playing such havoc in the Counties of Essex and Kent. It is a lung trouble, but is said to prove equally destructive.

Major Bliss, Assistant Adjutant-General, has a plan for making the Militia List a self-sustaining publication, and will have it issued semi-annually instead of annually.

Mr. Collingwood Schreiber, Deputy Minister of Railways and Canals, is back after a trip to New York with Mr. Pottinger, General Manager of the Intercolonial.

In the Supreme Court Justice Sedgwick announced that, for unavoidable causes, the court was further adjourned until Jan. 25, for the purpose of rendering judgments only. No judgments were handed down.

Mr. T. A. Duff of Toronto and Mr. C. A. Zavitz, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, are in town. They are making a tour of the eastern counties addressing meetings. They spoke on Saturday night before a large audience at South Indian and were given a splendid hearing. Both gentlemen paid a visit to the Experimental Farm this afternoon. They leave to-morrow for March Corners.

Andrew Onderdonk is in town, also Engineer Thomas Monro of the Soulanges Canal.

The City Council decided to-night to petition the Ontario Legislature to amend the Municipal Act by providing that no municipality shall have power to exempt manufacturers from taxation. This action is in line with the request of the Hamilton corporation last year.

AS TO RECIPROCITY.

Interview With Mr. Charlton at Washington.

MUTUAL BENEFITS WOULD RESULT

In the Opinion of the Member for North Norfolk—Conditions of Trade Between the Countries Analyzed—Canada Stands at the Parting of the Ways.

Washington, Jan. 18.—Mr. John Charlton is now in Washington. He has been a frequent visitor here in previous years. Mr. Charlton states that he is not here in an official capacity. In an interview to-day with a reporter of the United Associated Presses, Mr. Charlton, in discussing the question of the desirability of more liberal trade relations between the United States and Canada, stated that the recent change of Government in Canada had brought the question of reciprocity to the front. The Liberal party of Canada had always favored more intimate trade relations with the United States. The Conservative party, on the contrary, had uniformly been adverse to reciprocity except upon unattainable conditions. Now, Canada was governed by broader-minded and more liberal men. Hon. Wilfrid Laurier, the Premier of Canada, is a man of advanced views. He is a Liberal of the Liberals. His knowledge of American affairs is accurate and extended, and he ardently hopes for more intimate and friendly business and social relations between the two countries. Canada, said Mr. Charlton, will unquestionably attempt in the near future to obtain a treaty of reciprocity in trade with the United States, a treaty that will admit to freedom of mutual interchange, all natural products, and will cover in addition, as wide a list of manufactured articles as the establishment of a just equilibrium of mutual interests shall require.

When the conditions of trade between the two countries are carefully analyzed, said Mr. Charlton, it will be found that the advantages to be derived from a free interchange of natural products are not entirely upon the side of Canada. The removal of the Canadian duty on Indian corn would lead to an enormous consumption of that grain in Canada for stock feeding and other purposes. American pork would be largely used by Canadian lumbermen, if admitted free, and the repeal of the Canadian duty upon flour and meal would enable the United States to supply Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, and Prince Edward Island with breadstuffs, to the exclusion of Ontario and Manitoba.

Fresh beef from Chicago packing houses would find extensive sale in Canadian cities and towns and the repeal of the duty of 60 cents upon bituminous coal would crowd out the use of Nova Scotia coal in all of Canada west of and including Montreal.

The latest complete Canadian trade returns are for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1895. The total export of agricultural products to the United States for that year was $3,710,000 and the total export of animals and their products, the product of Canada, to the United States for the same period was $3,713,000.

The same year Canada imported from the United States a large quantity of animal produce and $4,800,000 of grain, flour, meal, garden seeds and broom corn, of which there was entered for home consumption $1,700,000. This statement of agricultural products does not include raw cotton, vegetable fibres or tobacco. The Canadian exports of forest products to the United States for 1895 amounted to $12,482,000. Of this amount over $3,250,000 consisted of sawlogs, shingles, bolts, stave bolts and pulpwood for American mills, and of tanbark and firewood. The entire importation of sawn lumber, shingles, laths, pickets and palings amounted to about seven hundred million feet, board measure, or less than 1-20 of the annual lumber product of the United States. The same year Canada imported lumber, timber, shingles and other forest products from the United States for consumption to the amount of $1,550,000.

As to the evident fear of the American farmer and lumberman that the free admission of Canadian farm products and lumber will lower prices in the United States, Mr. Charlton expressed the belief that these fears were ill-founded. The Canadian sought for free admission under the belief that he would receive increase of price. But for this belief he would be indifferent as to whether concessions were made or not. The amount of lumber or farm products admitted free would be so trifling when compared with the great bulk of American production, as to be likely to influence prices in the United States only slightly, if at all.

To the objection raised that reciprocity would make Canada rich, Mr. Charlton said that it would make both Canada and the United States richer, and that the benefits conferred would be mutual. If free intercourse between the States or groups of States, such as the eastern, the middle, the southern, the western and the Pacific slope, was advantageous, the same system could be extended with equal advantage to the group of States known as the Canadian provinces, and no influence, natural or geographical, would interfere with the harmonious operation of the principle in case of such extension. Canada, he said, would gladly meet the United States in the middle of the stream. She was prepared to settle the vexed Atlantic fisheries question on the basis of good neighborhood and modern commercial comity.

He was prepared to make arrange-

POST OFFICE REFORM.

The Post Office Department is one in which the spirit of reform has entered in earnest. Much cry is made that heads are dropping into the basket, but there is evidence that any action taken in this direction is in the public interest—in the interest of economy—in the interest of increased efficiency of the postal service. The policy of Hon. Mr. Mulock in regard to public contracts is plainly stated in the following letter, which was recently received by Mr. W. S. Calvert, M. P., West Middlesex, from the Postmaster General:

"I have your letter of the 23rd inst., stating that much exception is taken to the action of this department in cancelling the contracts for the Napier and Strathroy and Appin and Mayfair mail service, and asking for an explanation. In reply I beg to state that the reason that these contracts were cancelled is that they were let without tenders being asked. I am strongly of opinion that my duty to the Department obliges me to put all contracts for mail service up to tender before they are let, such being the only means of obtaining services at the lowest possible rates. The late Government took advantage of the power conferred on the Postmaster-General to receive contracts on the same terms and conditions to make the mail service contributory to their party necessities, and as a consequence the payment of exorbitant rates, even with full knowledge of the facts, has been habitual with the department. This I am determined to remedy, and I hope that in my efforts to put the service on a proper footing I shall have your hearty support. The result of the tendering so far is most encouraging, and I am satisfied that any temporary unpopularity we may suffer from the application of business methods in our work will be more than offset by the results. I would like you to assure the contractors in any such cases as these that the cancelling of their contracts implies no dissatisfaction with the manner in which they have attended to these services, and that I would be glad to receive tenders from them, which will have the same consideration as any others."

This is doing public business on business principles.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Mr. Boyd's, of Macdonald is about the first case on record in which a seat in Parliament was won by sleight of hand. Their is not even honour in a Parliamentary seat won like a disreputable game of draw poker, by marked cards.

Mr. N. Boyd and Mr. Hugh John Macdonald have been unseated for corrupt practices—in effect they resigned their seats to save investigation into the gross alleged and in one case, proven irregularities that prevailed in the elections they were heralded as winning.

The opposition organs are urging the Government to bring on the session, and with it their tariff bill. The Government will not probably be unduly hurried into bringing in a crude measure at the risk of its being chiefly composed, like Hon. Mr. Foster's notorious bill, of "clerical errors."

The opponents of the present Dominion Government, in their excessive zeal of criticism, in order to make a charge lie, very often have to lie to make a charge. The concoction published in various opposition journals, with a view of discrediting the Government by associating the notorious Ed. Farrer with Mr. John Charlton as ambassadors to Washington, to negotiate a reciprocity treaty, is a sample. The Government has sent no delegates to Washington, and any statement to the contrary is pure invention.

LAKEHURST.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

At the annual meeting of the Harvey Agricultural Society, the following business was transacted: The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. The report was then adopted by the meeting, which showed a balance on hand of $100.64, which leaves the society in very good circumstances.

The following officers were elected:
Pres.—Robt. Renwick.
Vice-Pres.—Thos. Elliott.
Directors—Wm. Weir, Jas. Weir, A. Thompson, A. G. Shearer, John Smith, H. G. Nesbitt, Wm. Mollmoyle, Absolom Hunt and John Chase.
Auditors—John Elliott and W. P. Chase.
Sec.-treas.—Archie Wilson, jr.

It was then resolved that the society hold its annual show for 1897 on October 6th. Other surrounding societies will please take notice, and try to avoid coming in contact with that date, as ours is one of the most enterprising shows of the day.—[Com.

TARIFF ENQUIRY.

Quebec Gentlemen Lay Their Views Before the Commission.

Quebec, Jan. 18.—Before the Tariff Commission this afternoon Mr. Lemoine of the flour and grain firm of J. B. Renaud was examined, and gave several reasons showing the faulty points of the present flour and grain tariff.

F. H. Andrews and A. E. Vallerand, oil men, were examined. Mr. Vallerand thought that the refiners in Canada could make a cheaper oil with American crude oil than by the Canadian product. The refiners should be more protected, by raising the protection to seven cents. A gentleman in Petrolea had written Mr. Vallerand that two months after the adoption of a higher protective tariff he would employ 500 hands more in his works and oil would be dealt out to farmers at a much cheaper figure.

Mr. Belanger of St. Thomas, Montmagny, manufacturer of plows, harrows, etc., demanded more protection on Canadian material, Canadian steel, etc.

Mr. Archer, coal merchant, thought it advisable to favor the coal trade between England and Canada. Our own mines do not produce the coal we get from England or from the States. Hence better terms should be given to English coals. If this was done Quebec and Montreal would benefit by it, as cargoes of coal would be an inducement to shippers and our lumber trade would thus get an indirect encouragement.

George M. Webster, coal merchant, was against the importation of Scotch coal, as it would interfere with the Sydney coal.

Mr. Francis Gunn, coal merchant and ship chandler, said North Sydney or Nova Scotia coal can equal the Scotch product. Vessels seeking freights in England would fix for a load at Quebec or Montreal if there is an inducement of some kind in the coal trade. Coal ships pay their own expenses very liberally, hence the shipping trade of the St. Lawrence would be encouraged by better terms on coals.

Mr. Felix Carbray, M.L.A., commission merchant and agent of the Nova Scotia mines, says that consumers are getting much cheaper coal to-day than ever before.

The sale has increased in twenty years or so from 500 tons to about 900,000 tons a year in the Province of Quebec alone. Any preferential terms to Scotch coal would be most disastrous to the Nova Scotia trade.

George Madden is in favor of encouragement to Scotch coal. It cannot injure the Nova Scotia coal trade in the least.

Mr. Marsh, shoe manufacturer, gave a nomenclature of overtaxed material in the shoe trade. In some circumstances leather was taxed 10 per cent. for glove makers and 17 per cent. for shoemakers. The tariff on the patent and enamelled leather was really too heavy, because it is not manufactured in the country at all. The tariff should be so arranged as to produce a reduction in leather used in shoemaking, but he advocates an increase of 10 per cent. on American shoes.

Mr. F. Gourdeau of the Tanners' Association wants 15 per cent. increase on shoe leather and 25 per cent. on enamelled leather. The tariff revision of 1894 has been injurious to Canadian tanners and, as a matter of fact several tanners have been run out of the trade by American competition.

Ald. Charles E. Roy, merchant in shoe findings, leathers, etc., says that he is a believer in the 10 per cent. revenue tariff. American competitors, he says, have ruined his business. The Canadian dongola combine is the cause of many evils. The bad produce made has been responsible for American importations.

John Ritchie, shoe manufacturer, pronounced himself in favor of more protection.

George E. Amyot, corset manufacturer, gives many examples of the defective arrangement of our tariff. His industry is one of the most unprotected, and the trade can't be maintained with the present state of things. American competition is keen and is getting sharper every day.

Mr. Stouffman, importer of corsets, maintained that the duty on corsets was more than 33 per cent. It is 40 per cent., according to him, and it could not be raised higher. He also maintained that Canadian and American manufacturers could not produce as good an article as the European corset.

What Will You Do?

Will You Risk Failure or Assure Yourself of Success.

If you were dangerously ill, would you call to your assistance some faith cure impostor or a third or fourth rate doctor? If you were obliged to defend yourself in court, would you employ a lawyer without ability or reputation?

If, from motives of true economy, you find it necessary to do home dyeing, is it wise and prudent to allow a dealer to hand you some make of poor and weak dyes with which to do your work? Common sense and the saving of time and money demand the use of Diamond Dyes, the only make that can bring good results and perfect satisfaction.

Common imitation package dyes ruin goods, ruffle your temper, and waste your money. They would never have a sale or a place in any home were it not for the love of profit so desired by short-sighted and greedy dealers. Diamond Dyes are as necessary for effective work as is the able physician when life is in danger.

Ivory Faces the Criminal Court in London

ON THE CHARGE OF CONSPIRACY

The Case for the Prosecution Outlined—An Effort to Shut Out Foreign Witnesses Failed—The Prisoner Pleaded Not Guilty and Appeared Cool and Unconcerned.

London, Jan. 12.—The trial of Edward J. Ivory, alias Edward Bell of New York, who was arrested in Glasgow, Sept. 12 last, charged with conspiracy to destroy life and property by the use of dynamite, was begun in the Central Criminal Court, Old Bailey, this morning, Justice Hawkins presiding. Ivory is accused of having engaged in a conspiracy with P. J. P. Tynan, alleged to have been the "No. 1" of the Irish Invincibles, who was so frequently mentioned during the trial of the persons charged with the murder of Lord Frederick Cavendish, Chief Secretary for Ireland, and T. H. Burke, Permanent Under Secretary, in Phoenix Park, Dublin, on May 6, 1882; John F. Kearney of New York, J. S. Wallace, alias Haines, of New York, and others. Tynan was arrested in Boulogne sur Mer, France, on the morning of Sept. 13 and Kearney and Haines were taken into custody in Rotterdam, Holland, on the same day. Tynan, Haines and Kearney were subsequently released by the French and Dutch authorities upon the ground that the offences with which they were charged were not included in the list of crimes mentioned in the extradition treaties of Great Britain with France and the Netherlands Kingdom.

When Ivory was arrested in Glasgow, where he had given the name of Bell, letters and other documentary evidence were found among his effects and upon his person, which disclosed his connection with Tynan, Kearney and Haines, and the Scotland Yard authorities demanded his extradition to London, which was granted, and after several arraignments in the Bow-street Police Station he was formally committed for trial. Ivory's counsel comprised J. F. Taylor, T. Matthews and Cecil Dwyer, Solicitor-General Findlay, Solicitor Sutton, Q. C.; C. F. Gill and Mr. Bodkin appeared for the prosecution on behalf of the Treasury, J. R. Carter, second secretary of the United States Embassy, and United States Consul-General Patrick A. Collins were present in court. Ivory was well dressed and appeared to be perfectly composed. He pleaded not guilty.

After the prisoner's plea had been entered Solicitor-General Findlay proceeded to narrate the events leading up to the arrest of Ivory in Glasgow, beginning from the time he left New York.

Mr. Taylor, for the defence, objected to the introduction into the case for the prosecution of anything that had taken place outside the jurisdiction of the United Kingdom which was calculated to operate to the prejudice of the prisoner.

Justice Hawkins overruled the objection.

Mr. Findlay then stated to the court and jury that there were two charges against the prisoner. The first of these charges, he said, was that of conspiring with Tynan and others to cause explosions endangering life, and the second was that of conspiracy with the same parties to cause explosions which would endanger property. Mr. Findlay then went on to trace Ivory's movements and actions after his arrival in Great Britain, and called attention to the fact of his having endeavored to find certain men whom he could engage to effectually cause the explosions. He next spoke of the prisoner's letters, in which, he said, the words "finding stock" meant finding agents. These letters, he contended, showed that the prisoner was acting in concert with Tynan and Kearney.

The Solicitor-General proceeded to read another letter, in which the prisoner had written these words, "Things look very bad for me as regards London stock; so much so that Billy Burt won't do."

This letter, he said, proved that Ivory had been engaged in making enquiries in London similar to those he had made in Glasgow in an attempt to engage men to cause an explosion. Counsel then read a letter written to Ivory by Tynan, in which the writer said: "We must have self-respecting men, not men who are losing their manhood through drink. We are both capable of doing the business personally in any event."

Mr. Findlay, continuing his argument, said that the evidence which the prosecution would produce would link Ivory with the doings of Kearney in Antwerp, and also show that the prisoner belonged to the Order of United Irishmen. He would also bring evidence to show that Ivory had attended a secret meeting of United Irishmen in Chicago, and that he left the United States in concert with Tynan, Kearney and Haines.

At the conclusion of the opening argument the taking of testimony was begun.

The first witness called was Julius Opholser, a waiter employed in the Victoria Hotel in Amsterdam. Opholser produced the register of the Victoria Hotel, showing the arrival on Aug. 30, 1896, of an American who gave the name of Wilkins. He was accompanied by a man supposed to be a German.

Clerks employed in the St. Panoras Station Hotel, London, identified the prisoner as having arrived at the hotel on Aug. 26 last and registered under the name of Edward Bell.

A chemist named Peckham identified Ivory as having applied to him for the purchase of a large quantity of sulphuric acid.

Thomas Charles Jones, a chemist in Holloway-road, testified that Ivory had called at his place of business and asked to purchase 25 pounds of chlorate of potash, saying that he wanted it for the purpose of making experiments.

Solicitor Taylor, for the defence, cross-examined the witness with great severity as to the identity of the prisoner as the man who had called at his laboratory.

Associated with the prisoner's counsel, which also includes Solicitor Charles Russell, son of the Lord Chief Justice of England, is Mr. John F. McIntyre, formerly Assistant District Attorney of New York County, who was engaged by Ivory's friends in New York to come to England and assist in his defence. It had been said that Mr. McIntyre would, perhaps, be permitted to plead in behalf of Ivory, but it is now known that his action in court will be limited to aiding the other counsel for the defence in an advisory capacity. Mr. McIntyre watched the proceedings closely, and occasionally conversed with the other lawyers as the case went on.

Witnesses from Antwerp were called to testify, when Mr. Taylor interposed, saying that no sufficient foundation had been laid by the prosecution on which to show concerted purpose or action on the part of Ivory with the other alleged conspirators, Tynan, Kearney and Haines. Ivory and the others, he admitted, had been seen drinking together, and there had also been an exchange of letters between the prisoners and Tynan, but these circumstances furnished no evidence of the existence of a conspiracy. The admission of the Antwerp testimony was postponed.

The manager of the Hotel Havre at Havre testified to the arrival of four men at his hotel who were supposed to have been Ivory and his three alleged associates. The court then adjourned.

THE QUEEN'S SPEECH.

Her Majesty's Utterance Expected to be Brief and to the Point.

London, Jan. 18.—It is understood that the Queen's speech at the opening of Parliament to-morrow will be unprecedentedly brief. It is expected to congratulate Parliament on the signing of the arbitration treaty with the United States, and upon the more satisfactory working of the alliance of the powers of Europe for promoting reforms in Turkey, and will express regret at the Benin disaster, and at the necessity for a punitive expedition. The legislative proposals are believed to be few, and the important measures promised will be confined to the relief of voluntary schools and an employers' liability bill, supplemented by minor measures relating to the improvement of agriculture in Ireland and enabling the military manoeuvres to be more conveniently carried out. A hint is also expected of the increased sums to be demanded for military services.

MACEO IN FLORIDA.

The Cuban Leader Hidden in the Southern State—Badly Wounded But Will Recover.

Troy, N. Y., Jan. 16.—A special to The Troy Budget to-night says: Dr. E. Vallencourt Deuil, one of the leading citizens here, has just made public the fact that Antonio Maceo is not dead, but is secluded in Florida. The information comes to him from Mrs. Victor Vuillame, a sister of Dr. Deuil, who resides at Daytona, Fla., in a letter to him bearing date of Jan. 1. Mrs. Vuillame positively asserts that Maceo has for some time been at the Palmeto Hotel, at Daytona. She states he is terribly wounded, but will recover, and thus far has seen only a few intimate friends. Daytona is located on Halifax River, near Mosquito Inlet, and is full of Cuban sympathizers. Maceo's presence there was kept a secret as far as possible.

HIS CAREER WAS SHORT.

A Very Ambitious Boy From Boston Who Had an Idea of Starting Business in Montreal.

Boston, Jan. 16.—Herbert L. Berry, 18 years of age, was arrested this morning for the embezzlement of $400 from the firm of Hutchins & Co. Berry was employed in the office of the firm, and on Dec. 23 last absconded with $400, with which he intended to go into the fur business in Montreal. The police last night learned that he had returned to Boston, and he was arrested. He said that on his way to Montreal he fell in with some strangers, who took from him $200 of his funds. When he reached Montreal he found it impossible to put his business schemes into effect, so he remained in that city while his money held out. He left for home last Thursday.

North Hastings' Oldest Inhabitant Hale and Hearty.

Josias Moore, of Bancroft, Ont., one of the oldest and best-known residents of Hastings County, can boast of wonderful health and vigor for his age.

"Although I am over 84 years of age," he says, "I feel as young as ever I did."

Mr. Moore, however had a narrow escape from death about a year ago. "I was so bad with indigestion," he writes, "that the doctors gave me up. I tried various alleged remedies but found them no good. One day our popular druggist, F. C. Humphries, sent me a sample of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to try. The result was marvellous. After taking two I was able to get up. Then I sent for a box. I could soon eat anything. In a short time I was able to walk two miles, to Bancroft and back, with ease."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills will, without fail, cure all kidney, liver, stomach and blood troubles. For sale by all dealers. Price 25 cents. One pill a dose; one cent a dose. Edmanson, Bates & Co., manufacturers, Toronto.

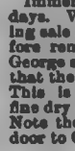
Mistakes Will Occur.

In newspapers, as in the best regulated families, accidents will happen. Yesterday an advertisement of Hall, Gilchrist & Co. was inserted, in which "6 Ladies' Health Brand Combinations, regular price $2.75, drive price for one day, only 25c.," appeared. This should have read as the copy of the advertisement read, "$1.85" instead of 25c. To show how the ladies study Hall, Gilchrist & Co's advertisement, and, at the same time, how they read the EXAMINER, by nine o'clock this morning several ladies were at the store, quoting the advertised figures. It pays to advertise, and it pays merchants to live up to their advertisements, which Hall, Gilchrist & Co., mean to do; hence the above correction of a plainly erroneous quotation.

"Very, Very Good."

A prominent lady visiting Peterborough from New York City was so highly pleased with the photographic work she saw in



Mr. Whiten's art studio that she made an appointment and had a dozen sent to her address, 170 Lexington Avenue, New York City. She writes Mr. Whiten: "Photos arrived all right; they are very, very good; I am much pleased with them." Three different persons recently on a visit here from Montreal also had a dozen each taken by Mr. Whiten and forwarded to their address in Montreal. The above speaks well for Peterborough and the high-class work turned out by Mr. Whiten. Entrance to studio, 186 Hunter street, opposite Oak Hall. d15tf

PETERBOROUGH II. WINS.

The Intermediate Team Downs Norwood I.

There were not many from town who accompanied the Intermediate team down to Norwood last night, but the game was one well worth witnessing and is described as being very fast.

The Peterborough team was composed of Dixon, goal; Thorne, point; Adams, cover point; Davidson, Graham, Crossley and Belleghem.

Though light in weight as compared to the Norwood men the Peterborough II. team showed conclusively that they had the staying powers, and though on a rink more than twice the size of their own, they speedily adapted themselves to the change and by their dexterous stick handling and good combination fairly outplayed their opponents, though only after the hardest and closest game which the Norwood rink has ever witnessed.

The attendance was large and the puck was faced at 9.20 and taken from the face off by Belleghem. Honours were even for the first few minutes, but the first game went to Norwood, being scored by Ashe, as the result of a magnificent rush up the rink. Time, 4 minutes.

In the next game everything seemed to be going Peterborough's way, but the boys had hard luck in shooting on goal. Norwood was finally able to relieve and carrying the play down into Peterborough territory, scored in seven minutes.

Three minutes later Norwood tallied again making the score 3-0 in their favour.

Even now the Peterborough boys did not lose heart in the least, being confident in the ability of the team to even things up once they got working together.

The next two games went to Peterborough in five and three minutes respectively, but the latter was disallowed as a claim of offside play. The boys, however, were ready to do the trick again, and tallied one more in seven minutes, making the score 3—2, at which figures it remained until half time was called.

The Peterboroughs went on the ice, confident after their rest, but Norwood pushed the play with such a rush from the face off, that Ashe scored in one minute. Score, 4—2.

The checking became very close in the next game, and Hendren pressed Graham too hard with the result that a "Fitzsimmons hook" caught him in the jaw and laid him low. Both men were sent to the fence for fifteen minutes.

Peterborough scored again in five minutes, and a half a minute later did the trick again, evening the score.

Norwood got the next two goals, but Peterborough tied their opponents by scoring twice in succession.

When time was called the score was even and it was decided to play on until the next goal was scored.

Peterborough did the trick in three minutes, thus winning the match.

Mr. Perry, of the Norwood High School, proved a most satisfactory referee.

It is said that all the Peterborough boys played up so well that individual mention is uncalled for. For Norwood Ashe and Code did great work.

The boys were treated to an oyster supper by the Norwood team and spent a very pleasant evening, returning on the seven o'clock express this morning.

A Sale of Local Importance.

When the clear-the-table time comes around at the Peterborough Bookstore, business takes on a fresh start and fresh interest of local importance springs up. The business that is too regular gets into ruts. The announcement of stock-taking at Stratton's Bookstore does not mean that any waste time is going on. On the contrary, investing time is the time when the nimble sixpence doctrine is pushed to its utmost extremity, and quick sales are the symbols of this business. Goods are now being snapped up at the reduced prices that hang fire before January, and genuine bargains lighten the labours of stock-taking. See advertisement. A. H. STRATTON & Co.

The balance in hand at the end of the year was $1,525.59 as above stated. In addition, there are held by the company four debentures of the town of Peterborough, amounting to $5,000 00.

Mr. Peck, the secretary-treasurer, then read the following

DIRECTORS' REPORT.

The Directors of the Company beg to submit the following report for the past year:

The affairs of the Company have been carried on with the strictest regard to economy. It has become necessary to make some repairs to and to repaint the fence on the west of the grounds and to make some repairs to the dwelling house and other minor repairs and improvements. In other respects the expenditure for the year has been of the ordinary character. Ordinary receipts of the year were less than in any of the previous four years. This is attributable to the number of interments and the number of lots sold being below the average. However, the net balance in favour of the Company on account of the year's operations is $656.00, the largest sum realized (except in the year 1893) in the past ten years. The balance in the bank is $1,525.59, and the Board has made application for another town debenture of $1,000.00 as an investment for so much of this balance.

The Board has again considered the question of obtaining a more satisfactory supply of water for the Cemetery, but so far has not been able to make such arrangements as it would consider satisfactory.

Respectfully submitted,
HENRY DENNE,
President.

Dated, 18th January, 1897.

Adopted on motion of Messrs. Charles Stapleton and W. H. Moore.

Mr. W. H. Ford submitted, as appended, his annual

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT.

GENTLEMEN,—I beg to submit the following report of the interments made at the cemetery for the year ending Dec. 31st, 1896.

In the spring maples were planted on the road in front of the land purchased from Mr. Bradbura, which are doing well. At the entrance in front of the stone steps three traps have been made, and turn gutters of cobble stone, with the interstices filled with Portland cement; also a drain laid with tile to carry the water from the traps. The road at the entrance has been gravelled with fine gravel. In the pine grove, at the east side of the cemetery, the black stumps have been removed, and 150 feet of the east river bank rip-rapped with large rocks and partly graded. Also a stone gutter, similar to those at the stone steps, has been made on Hillside Avenue, running north to Range Avenue, and the fence enclosing the cemetery repaired and painted.

I would recommend that additional drains be made in section "C" to connect with present drain on Ravine Avenue; that the marble grave marks which stand up out of the ground have initials or names cut on the top and set down in the ground to allow the mowing to pass over them. This work could be done for about $75, or would not exceed $100, which would be saved in a few seasons in the expense of cutting grass, and would greatly add to the beauty of the cemetery.

I append herewith my financial statement for the graves, ending December 31st, 1896.

Yours respectively,
W. H. FOORD,
Superintendent.

RECEIPTS.

EXPENDITURE.

By superintendent's salary	$ 600 00
By workingmen's wages	893 49
By horse hire	85 73
By balance	923 33
	$2,507 55

Received, on motion of Messrs. C. W. Sawers and Chas. Stapleton.

THE AUDITORS.

On motion of Messrs. J. J. Lundy and Chas. Stapleton, Sheriff Hall and J. A. Hall were re-appointed auditors.

Mr. Foord stated in answer to a query of Mr. Denne, that about $370 more money is outstanding than at this time last year.

Mr. W. H. Moore asked if all the iron fences had been removed from the cemetery. Mr. Foord replied that only a few remained, and that several of the owners of them wished to consult other members of the family before making any change.

Mr. Denne said he thought it was the wish of the Board that the fences should be removed by the families, and that there should be no compulsion exercised, if at all avoidable.

The directors were re-elected as follows: John J. Lundy, James Stevenson, Henry Denne, Chas. Stapleton, John Burnham, Q.C., Benj. Shortly, R. M. Dennistoun, W. H. Moore, C. W. Sawers.

At a subsequent meeting of the board the following officers were elected:—

President—Henry Denne.

Secretary-Treasurer—E. A. Peck.

Managing Committee—James Stevenson, Chas. Stapleton C. W. Sawers and the president.

On motion of Messrs. Stevenson and Dennistoun it was resolved to authorize the president and secretary to invest from $1,000 to $1,500 of the surplus in town debentures at 4 per cent.

The question of running a water main into the cemetery was discussed, inasmuch as Mr. Burnham stated that a new pipe would be laid to the corner of Romaine street in the spring. The Managers' Committee was instructed to wait on the Company, and ascertain at what rate the privilege could be obtained. A former proposition of the Water Company was to put in the service for $600, and supply water at the rate of $110 a year, but the Board is anxious to obtain the service at a lower figure.

On motion of Messrs. Charles Stapleton and Benj. Shortly, a resolution was adopted adding $50 per annum to the superintendent's salary, to date from March 1st, next.

Mothers

Anxiously watch declining health of their daughters. So many are cut off by consumption in early years that there is real cause for anxiety. In the early stages, when not beyond the reach of medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla will restore the quality and quantity of the blood and thus give good health. Read the following letter:

"It is but just to write about my daughter Cora, aged 19. She was completely run down, declining, had that tired feeling, and friends said she would not live over three months. She had a bad and nothing seemed to do her any good. I happened to read about Hood's Sarsaparilla and had her give it a trial. From the very first dose she began to get better. After taking a few bottles she was completely cured and her health has been the best ever since." MRS. ADDIE PECK, 12 Railroad Place, Amsterdam, N. Y.

"I will say that my mother has not stated my case in as strong words as I would have done. Hood's Sarsaparilla has truly cured me and I am now well." CORA PECK, Amsterdam, N. Y.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Owen Sound Work," will be received at this office until Friday, the 5th day of February next, inclusively, for the construction of sheet piling at Owen Sound, Grey County, Ontario, according to a plan and specification to be seen at the office of the Town Clerk, Owen Sound, and at the Department of Public Works Ottawa.

Tenders will not be considered unless made on the form supplied, and signed with the actual signatures of tenderers.

An accepted bank cheque, payable to the order of the Minister of Public Works, for one thousand five hundred dollars ($1,500.00), must accompany each tender. This cheque will be forfeited if the party decline the contract or fail to complete the work contracted for, and will be returned in case of non-acceptance of tender.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

We are face to face with stock-taking—weeding thinning counting—and during the precess Price-pruning and Profit-paring play an important part.

It does not matter what part of this store you strike, prices are slaughtered. Our fresh, up-to-date, extensive stock must be reduced during this stock-taking month. It is the clear-up and and clear-out time at the Peterborough Bookstore.

This business will stand no dull times. No stagnation. "No let-up." Buyers count. we are alive to the fact that we must make sacrifices. There must be no accumulation of stock from season to season. A $10 bill is now more potent than $15 worth of goods.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 19, 1897.

THE CHURCH OF ENGLAND.

ST. JOHN'S PARSONAGE,
Lakefield, Ont.,
January 14th, 1897.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—I shall be much obliged if you will allow me the privilege of your paper to correct a false impression held by some concerning the Church of England, as it is in the Mother Country. It is often said that her clergy are paid by the Government, i. e., the State. I daresay some of the clergy in England wish this were true; then they would not have to pay the taxes of a millionaire out of the income of a mechanic or a labourer. But unfortunately for them it is not true, as will appear from the following quotation taken out of Haslit's Annual for 1896, page 111:

"The Churches and services are now provided and maintained solely by churchmen and church endowments, whereby all apparent injustice to non-conformists is entirely removed."

Also the Year Book of the Church of England for 1896 shows that the incomes of the clergy are derived from tithes, glebes, pew rents, funded property, and voluntary offerings. I find no mention of any income received from the Government, except the incomes of a few army and navy chaplains.

The tithes, glebes and other property represent the gifts to the Church of churchmen at various times, and they are as much the property of the Church as any kind of property is of any property owner.

Thanking you I remain,

Yours faithfully,

G. WARREN.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Brodigan has returned home after a pleasant visit of several week's duration in the west.

Mr. B. E. Brooks, eldest son of Mr. Thos. Brooks, general manager of the Peterborough Lock Company, has returned from Cornell University, where he graduated in Mechanical and Electrical Engineering. Mr. Brooks has passed a very successful course. He took a high standing at all the examinations, and did particularly well at the final. He is to be warmly congratulated on his success, which, it is hoped, will be an earnest of greater success in his future career.

"GET A MOVE ON!"

Many a business man complains of stagnation in business without stopping to consider that, as its name implies, stagnation is the stopping (standing still) of business energy and enterprise. The healthy condition of water is motion. The healthy condition of business is activity. If a business man falls into the habit of "letting up" at this time of the year, he makes his own business stagnation.

Improvement in business comes from individual resumption of business activity. It is wise to start soon; it is wiser never to stop; for "Keeping everlastingly at it brings success." Stir yourself! Stir your help! Stir your customers! To stir things generally, and keep them stirred, is business. For this purpose there is nothing better than newspaper advertising. When about to do little or much of it consult THE EXAMINER.

A CASE OF GREAT HARDSHIP.

Poverty Punished as a Crime in a Christian Community.

A case of great hardship is reported to the EXAMINER as follows: Last Thursday morning a prisoner, just discharged from jail, called upon a clergyman at his residence in an almost frozen condition. He had just completed a six-months sentence for vagrancy. He had on the same summer clothing he wore when committed last summer—thin tweed, trousers, without lining, and without drawers, a thin shirt open at the throat, a thin coat and an ordinary stiff hat. It will be remembered that that morning the thermometer was five degrees below zero. Clad in such summer clothing fit enough for July when he was committed to jail, without gloves or mits, he was in a pitiable state of starvation from cold. Besides he had lost the fingers of one hand at least, and the stumps with their deadened circulation were particularly exposed to cold. Without a home to go to, without clothing suitable for the bitter cold of the day, without a cent of money, without a body accustomed to the outside temperature of winter, but on the other hand, made tender by six months confinement in a warm place, a Christian fellow citizen was sent forth. In making his journey to the clergyman mentioned the unfortunate had to pass four churches, where on Sundays is often heard the words of Holy Scripture—"Inasmuch as ye did it not unto the least of these * * * ye did it not unto me."

There is no disposition to harshly place the blame of such a deplorable condition upon anybody and it is to hoped that some explanation may be made that will mitigate the severity of the censure that should fall upon a Christian community where such an occurrence is permitted. The prison officials doubtless did what was their duty in the case—no matter how great their inclination, they are not provided with the means of meeting the necessities of such cases—but it is greatly to the blame of the authorities that provision is not made to permit officials to see that persons discharged are not sent out into the cold world—cold in a double sense—with an equipment of clothing that is barbarously insufficient for the season. It is wrong that men should be thus thrown upon the world in a condition, which, if they were criminally inclined, would be a temptation to theft—for all that a man hath will he give for his life, and a man rather than freeze or starve will be tempted to steal. In this case the man was not a criminal, his only offence was his poverty and for this he spent six months in gaol, herding with thieves and reprobates, sharing the punishment of criminals, sharing their food and their restraint. This man has, according to his own statement, served his country in the army for eight years, and investigation shows that he is not a bad nor vicious man, but respectably connected. But he committed the crime of being poor, and has suffered the penalty—with the severest punishment and most cruel neglect, when his legal punishment was concluded.

With the multiplicity of charities in town, it would be thought that there would be some organized provision for looking after prisoners when they are discharged from jail—to lend them a helping hand, and to see that the vicious are not tempted with crime, and that those willing and able to work get employment, and to see that all, whether good or bad, receive comfortable clothing, and, temporarily, at least, the bodily comforts that we all have in abundance.

This sad case emphasizes the necessity for the county taking steps to establish a house of refuge for the shelter of those who need relief, where those able and willing to work have a chance to earn their living according to their capacity. A prison cell is not the place to put men and women, who are simply unfortunate or broken in health, and have no means of support. It is a place for criminals, and for the vicious tramp element, who will not work and make it their business to "sponge" upon society. But it is barbarous to the last degree, to treat poverty as a crime, to clothe honest indigence with the uniform of vice, and to turn them adrift uncared for and unprotected—to, in fine, join with the primitive murderer in disclaiming responsibility for the welfare of our brethren.

The authorities of the town of Peterborough have a great responsibility to assume in consequence of their attitude towards the erection of a House of Refuge, and their refusal to co-operate with the county and it is to be hoped that the case mentioned will stimulate reflection, and lead to an appreciation of our responsibilities as a Christian community.

HOCKEY.

The Norwood II team comes up Wednesday evening to play the Peterborough III seven, the first match in the junior series of the O.H.A. As the first team in Norwood was beaten Saturday by their juniors by the score of 2-1 in a practice game, a fine match may be expected Wednesday. The puck will be faced off at 8 p.m.

Norwood seniors will not play a return match here, arguing wisely that if beaten on their own rink, they would stand no chance in Peterborough.

CURLIANA.

The great Lindsay bonspiel opened this morning at ten o'clock, when the double rink competition draws were started. The two local clubs have sent over four very strong rinks, which will without doubt be heard from before the bonspiel is over. Peterborough is represented by the following players:

Thistles.

J Stanger,	J S Knapman,
E Rutherford,	G J Horkins,
W G Ferguson,	C McGill,
S Ray, sk.	T Rutherford, sk.

Granites.

C LeBrun,	G Giroux,
E H D Hall,	W E Whiten,
T P Attrill,	W L Allen,
R S Davideon, sk.	H M A len, sk.

These rinks will also remain in Lindsay to compete in the single rink competition. It is to be hoped that none of the local men are drawn to play on the river on such an intensely cold day.

The Thistles have been running in hard luck so far this season and have allowed the Granites to wrest the Kendry Cup and Jones Medal from them for the year. The last game in the latter competition was played off last night between Skips McKee and Boucher and resulted as follows:

Thistles.	Granites.
Dr Caldwell,	A E Finnemore,
W J Thompson,	W Manson,
J Stanger,	G S Matthews,
John McKee, skip..14	Dr Boucher, skip,....16

As the Granites had a lead of nine points in the competition, they acquire the right to hold the medal for the year and, as with the Kendry Cup, will play off amongst themselves for its possession. The total score is as follows:

J Connal.....25	R H Kells.....7
Geo Edmison.....15	H Lefrun.....12

A SPLIT IN A CURLING CLUB.

The Ingersoll curling club is split on the question of whiskey or no whiskey with their match refreshments. The feeling is carried so far that a rink playing in a match with Woodstock left the ice and refused to play after luncheon at which ale and a wee drap whuskey were supplied by the bon vivant wing of the club. If a curler feels that a little sip of spirits helps to keep out the cold, it may not do him much harm—it certainly won't hurt a teetotal curler to "wink with the other eye," when a convivial brother executes a "wick" on his palate with a nip of "Burke's Irish," or "Doctor's Special." The teetotal contends that there is a danger of the absorptive curler becoming a "tee"-totum, and thus we have war declared between the tee-totals and the tee-totums. If the tee-totals persist in their opposition to "club" whiskey, the opposing wing will have to take to arms—to resort to the pocket pistol. It's a question whether the "unco' guid" didn't even up the social score by performing the unsportsmanlike act of deserting the game and inhospitably leaving their visiting opponents standing like fools on the ice with nobody to play with.

The drawing for positions in the Lindsay double rink competition took place in the parlour of the Benson House at nine o'clock last night, and was attended by a large crowd of enthusiastic and interested curlers from different points:

FIRST DRAW.

Millbrook v. Orillia.
Fenelon Fal's v. Bobcaygeon,
Lindsay v. Keene.
Lakefield v. Hamilton.
Peterborough Granites v. Peterborough Thistles.
Whitby and Oshawa have a bye.

SECOND DRAW.

Winner No. 1 v. winner No. 2.
Winner No. 3 v. winner No. 4.
Peterborough Granites v. Peterborough Thistles.
Whitby v. Oshawa.

The first draw was played this morning, commencing at 10 o'clock. The second draw was played in the afternoon. Drawing for the single rink competition will take place this evening. A large number of entries have been received for the singles, and a large number was expected for to-day. Some disappointment is felt by the local curlers at the absence of the Toronto men, only one single rink having entered. It was hoped that sufficient entries in the single rink competition would be received to-day to bring it up to the most sanguine expectations of the promoters of the bonspiel. The weather is clear and cold, and a fine week's sport seems assured. Owing to the limited number of entries it is probable that all the competitions will take place in the covered rinks.

The famous Winnipeg quartette has arrived. Chris Cornell, the vice-skip, is an old Lindsay boy, and he is receiving a royal reception in his native town.

Lindsay's Civic holiday will come some time in February, when the curlers will storm Toronto and Hamilton with 12 to 15 rinks.

The great and wonderful City of Toronto is expected to send ONE SINGLE RINK! to the Lindsay bonspiel. The liberality of the Lindsay curlers in supplying such handsome prizes evidently was too much for them. Skip Ferguson writes that the ice is in fine condition, and all games will be played under cover.

A Wonderful Entertainment Coming to Peterborough.

It is not often that the people of Peterborough have the opportunity of seeing such a wonderful entertainment as that which will be offered to them on the 21st inst. That most marvellous invention, "the Cinematographe," which was the greatest attraction, and which has been delighting so many thousands in Toronto and other western towns for the past three months, will be at Bradburn's Opera House, Peterborough, for one week, commencing on Thursday, the 21st January. It is impossible to properly describe the wonderful entertainment given by the Cinematographe, but imagine yourself taking a tour in a couple of hours to England, France, Spain, Italy, Germany and other parts of the world, and actually seeing things occurring exactly as though you were on the spot looking at them. Persons and vehicles passing along the streets of London or Paris, busses and street cars running, people riding bicycles and on horseback, all moving naturally life size, soldiers drilling and marching, cavalry charging, artillery firing, the ocean waves rolling, people bathing, buildings falling, processions, trains arriving and the passengers alighting, and many other amusing and entertaining scenes, and you have some idea of what the Cinematographe will show you, as if everyone you see were alive and actually in front of you. It has been spoken of by the press and everyone who has seen it, as something marvellous, and those who do not see it now will miss the sight of a life time. It provides an interesting and novel entertainment lasting over an hour, thirty scenes being given, and those who wish can see them two or three times over, as most of those who patronize it frequently do.

UNTOLD MISERY
FROM RHEUMATISM

C. H. King, Water Valley, Miss., cured by

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"For five years, I suffered untold misery from muscular rheumatism. I tried every known remedy, consulted the best physicians, visited Hot Springs, Ark., three times, spending $1000 there, besides doctors' bills; but could obtain only temporary relief. My flesh was wasted away so that I weighed only ninety-three pounds; my left arm and leg were drawn out of shape, the muscles being twisted up in knots. I was unable to dress myself, except with assistance, and could only hobble about by using a cane. I had no appetite, and was assured, by the doctors, that I could not live. The pains, at times, were so awful, that I could procure relief only by means of hypodermic injections of morphine. I had my limbs bandaged in clay, in sulphur, in poultices; but these gave only temporary relief. After trying everything, and suffering the most awful tortures, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Inside of two months, I was able to walk without a cane. In three months, my limbs began to strengthen, and in the course of a year, I was cured. My weight has increased to 165 pounds, and I am now able to do my full day's work as a railroad blacksmith."

European Nations Express Pleasure at the Signing of the Arbitration Treaty—The Pope Rejoices Too

New York, Jan. 17.—The London correspondents to-day, with the exception of The Sun's, unite in saying that the Anglo-American arbitration treaty gives general satisfaction. Mr. Ford in his despatch to The Tribune says: "The weekly reviews take up to-day the joyful refrain heard all the week from the daily press over the negotiation of the arbitration treaty. England has only one voice on this question. English opinion, however, is less impressive than European opinion. The treaty has commanded the attention of the continental press to an unusual degree, and is described at once in Vienna, Rome and Paris as a fresh landmark in the progress of civilization."

Perhaps the highest tribute presented is an unconscious one from the German press, which complains that so notable an example of the utility of arbitration in Anglo-American relations will encourage unduly the peace party in the Fatherland.

Harold Frederic in his special to The Times says: On all sides, from all Englishmen whose opinions are entitled to respect, here or in the United States, I hear nothing but anxious wishes that the treaty may be ratified, coupled with the desire to say or do nothing which may impede its passage through the Senate or give offence by a seemingly impertinent assumption that the thing is done, before the body in whose power the final direction lies have given their authoritative assent.

In the course of his remarks at the City Temple to-day Dr. Joseph Parker referred to the arbitration treaty recently signed by Great Britain and the United States. The occasion, he said, is too grand to be celebrated by official dinners and holiday making, but instead should be marked by religious services.

Made Themselves Immortal.

Washington, Jan. 17.—Dr. T. Dewitt Talmage, pastor of the Presidential Presbyterian Church in this city, in his sermon this morning referred to the pending arbitration treaty with Great Britain, characterizing it as the mightiest, grandest movement for driving brutal war out of the earth. He said the men who on either side of the sea did most to effect the plan of arbitration have made themselves immortal. The eve of the present administration of the United States Government has been honored with the gladdest event of eighteen centuries. All civilized nations will copy the sublime example. He implored the Senate to promptly ratify the treaty. Mr. Cleveland was not present at the service.

The Pope Is Glad, Too.

London, Jan. 17.—The Rome correspondent of The Chronicle telegraphs that the Pope expressed the utmost satisfaction upon hearing of the signing of the Anglo-American arbitration treaty. He said he had hoped that the Papacy would be the permanent tribunal of arbitration for all nations, but was glad that the principle of arbitration had been adopted by Great Britain.

MARTIN IT WILL BE.

Belief That the Winnipeg Fight Will be Between the Same Pair as Before.

Winnipeg, Jan. 17.—(Special.)—Notwithstanding rumors to the contrary, there is every probability that Joseph Martin will again be Hugh John's opponent when the Winnipeg election is brought on.

Jack F. Jackson, who, through the medium of politics and bogus cheques, achieved much notoriety, was on Saturday sentenced to one month for obtaining money by fraud. Jackson was employed by the Conservatives during the memorable Macdonald-Martin election, and supplied the Liberals with many of the bribery charges on which they were able to void Hugh John Macdonald's election.

John O'Donohue, a member of the Winnipeg School Board, has received an appointment in the custom house here on the nomination of Joseph Martin. O'Donohue is the Roman Catholic who achieved notoriety by opposing his church on the school question, and was elected to the Public School Board.

George Saunders, one of the deputy returning officers in the Macdonald constituency election, was committed for trial Saturday charged with ballot box stuffing. In all these cases, where there have been commitments, the defendants have not put in a defence, preferring to reserve their defence until the trials come before the upper court judges.

Dr. J. K. Barrett, Inspector of Inland Revenue, will be transferred to the Kingston district and the present inspector at Kingston will succeed the Doctor here. Mr. Barrett has been one of the most conspicuous figures in the Separate school agitation, and the title of LL. D. was conferred on him by the Catholic University of Ottawa for the part he took in the agitation. It was in his name that the school case was taken to the Privy Council of England.

THE GOVERNOR'S CONDITION.

A BAPTISM OF FIRE.

Winnipeg Grand Opera House Destroyed—Two Other Serious Fires on Sunday in the Prairie City.

Winnipeg, Jan. 17.—(Special.)—The Winnipeg firemen were kept busy on Sunday, several serious fires engaging their attention. About 2 o'clock Sunday morning the Grand Opera House, on South Main-street, was discovered in flames, and within a few hours the theatre and entire block in which it was situated were totally destroyed, scarcely a dollar's worth of stuff being saved. The theatre was only opened a couple of months ago, Beach and Sharp being its proprietors. It was formerly known as Wesley Hall block, and was owned by Mr. McNaught, solicitor of the Northern Pacific Railway. It adjoins the handsome Hotel Manitoba, and that place had a narrow escape, the interior being flooded with water to save it. Under the theatre were three stores: Pangally & Ford, W. R. Richardson and Charles Lacey, all three being in the upholstering business. They lost everything.

How the fire started is a mystery. The loss is about $40,000.

The second fire was at Dawson's fruit and confectionery store, North Main-street, and this place was also completely destroyed.

A third fire occurred at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon and was at the Assiniboine Tenement block, a handsome structure just erected over the ashes of the Cauchon block. The two-storey annex of the Assiniboine block was destroyed, but the main portion was saved, though all the tenants lose heavily by smoke and water.

CURED OF SCIATICA.

Toronto Junction, Jan. 18 (Special)—Mr. H. Playter, is not a difficult man to find as everybody here knows that he is foreman at No. 1 Fire Hall. He was the picture of health when called upon by your correspondent and told his story thus:

"In April 1896 I suffered from a severe attack of Sciatica, affecting my left hip and the leg to the tip of my toes. I suspected it came from some form of kidney trouble and as they had been recommended I procured a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills."

At the end of the fourth day I was entirely relieved, but desiring a permanent cure I continued to use that and another box and am now cured cured and as well as ever in my life. A brother of mine living at Pine Orchard has been cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

AFTER FORGERS' SCALPS.

Representative Sherman Will Introduce a Bill for the Protection of Ticket Agents.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Representative Sherman of New York introduced a bill today to prevent the sale of railway tickets by "scalpers," and to punish forgers of such tickets. It provides that all railway ticket agents shall be furnished with a certificate setting forth their authority to make such sales, and that any person not possessed of this authority shall be punished by a fine or imprisonment for each violation of the law. The bill further provides that any unused part of a ticket must be redeemed by the company from whom it was purchased at a rate which shall be equal to the difference between the price paid for the whole ticket and the cost of a ticket of the same class between the points for which the ticket was actually used.

The sale by any person of the unused portion of any ticket, except to the company from whom it was originally bought, shall be punishable by a fine or imprisonment. The bill applies to roads under the jurisdiction of the inter-state law.

Facts About Furs and Bankrupt Stocks.

Some dealers in Furs believe in selling Bankrupt Stocks but others there are who do not; yet, at the same time have offered several bankrupt stocks for sale within a short time, while claiming also to sell nothing in Furs but of their own manufacture. We certainly must stand away ahead of our competitors as we do not require the aid of such stocks but stand on the merits of our own manufactured goods, which we can always guarantee as such. Our reputation of 36 years standing without a failure is the best proof that customers believe in us and support us so well. We do not require to make any bombastic statements regarding the size or quality of our stock; both are only too well known in the town as well as in many other places at great distances. We wish to thank our customers for their patronage through the late season.

OFFICE—FURNITURE WAREROOMS

Travelers shudder with horror at the thought of the train-wrecker who stealthily undermines the supports of a railway bridge and precipitates a passenger train with its load of precious human freight to a horrible death by fire and water. There is a deadlier enemy than the train-wrecker that menaces not only travelers but stay-at-homes. Its name is indigestion. It slowly undermines the supports that hold up the bridge of life and surely precipitates untold thousands into the dread valley of consumption. If people will only take the right precaution they can avoid this calamity and even remedy it after it has occurred if they will act in time.

All cases of indigestion and every disease that has its inception in indigestion or faulty nutrition are cured by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption. It cures wasting diseases. It is an unfailing remedy for nervous prostration. It is the great blood-maker, flesh-builder, and nerve tonic. Thousands have testified to its merits. There is nothing else "just as good." Druggists sell it.

"I beg leave to inform you," writes Mrs. J. Ehely, of No. 1301 Thomas Place, Minneapolis, Minn., "that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cured my trouble in my neck—Goitre. It went away in three months. At the sixth bottle it began to grow smaller. Before, it had grown larger very perceptibly. I am very grateful for the cure."

Healthy babies. Healthy mother. Healthy father. These are what you find in the homes that have a copy of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. Send 31 one-cent stamps, to cover cost of customs and mailing only, to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

STYLES TO PREVAIL.

THOSE IN VOGUE TO CONTINUE FOR SOME TIME TO COME.

The Fancy for Bright Colors Waxing Instead of Waning—Some Dainty Blouses—A Beautiful Dress—The Divided Pompadour.

As far as late winter modes are concerned everything is settled, and those high in authority in matters pertaining to dress declare we need not look for any decided changes for at least six weeks or two months. This is indeed most pleasing news, for certainly fashions were never prettier or more fetching than at the present moment.

FANCY WAIST WITH LACE BOLERO.

Outer garments as well as gowns are chic and handsome, and so extremely varied in both design and texture as to prove universally becoming to the maiden or the matron, be she slim and sylphlike or of more generous proportions.

The fancy for bright colors seems rather to wax than wane as the season advances. The subdued greens, the dull blues and the somewhat dingy tones of terra cotta, which seemed to us once upon a time the only colors possible to wear, have vanished altogether. Now the most vivid shades of purple, emerald green and sapphire blue, deftly mingled with deep yellow and brilliant red, shine upon us with varying degrees of brightness from all the newest winter models, whether they help to lighten in a measure the gloom of our rather dismal northern winter. The color that leads in popular favor at the present moment is purple in all its pretty shades, from the brightest to the very dullest tone; and so far is this craze carried in the world of millinery that no hat is considered quite up-to-date which does not boast among its varied trimmings and immense bow of purple ribbon, preferably of a bright tone, and one or more bunches of violets.

The prevalence of fur as a trimming grows in favor from day to day. Look which way you may, the eye is certain to light upon a gown or mantle that has succumbed to its many charms, although it is to be remarked that artists in the modiste world prefer quality to quantity when using this rich garniture. Both narrow and broad bands of sealskin are much sought after for trimming velvet and silken gowns, and strange and incongruous as it may seem, the best results are achieved when this trimming is used in combination with soft chiffon and lace.

Velvet also continues to play a most important part in decorating modish winter garments, and miroir velvet, showing an exceedingly rich and lustrous surface, seems to be the kind most in demand for this purpose. Artistic costumes makers counsel against quantity when this handsome material is used, and also advise against its admixture with fur, wisely reasoning that one but serves to cheapen the other.

Apropos of the bolero, quite the newest thing in this line is formed of four small pieces of velvet cut to so overlap each other as to form sharp points in front. A lovely bolero of this description to be worn at a holiday festivity is made of emerald green velvet, embroidered with small turquoises, and each point prettily outlined with jeweled passementerie. It will be worn over a bodice of fine black chiffon, closely accordion-plated, made high in the neck and with long tucked sleeves extending over the hand in the most proper manner. The collar band is of turquoise-blue satin ribbon, over which plaited frills of pale blue chiffon fall softly, repeating in the most charming manner the turquoise blue of the embroidery.

The illustration shows a pretty separate waist of pink silk and mousseline de soie, has full fronts, a deep belt fastened in shirred headings on the side, and a stock collar with a mousseline ruche and silk tabs edged with mousseline pleatings. The guipure lace bolero forms tabs at the lower edge, and is finished with a pleating. The long wrinkled mousseline sleeves are shirred with headings, and headed by three ruffles on the shoulder.

In spite of all rumors and predictions to the contrary, blouses remain as popular as ever, and never were they more attractive or fascinating than this season. Some of the newest and prettiest models are composed of bright-hued silk and trimmed with rows of narrow black velvet ribbon, while others again have only the standing collar, cuffs and bolero outlined with three rows of velvet ribbon. The blouses are strikingly chic and stylish. One is made of geranium red velvet, a shade of red, by the way, that is marching right along in popular favor, and trimmed with ivory-white silk and lace. It is intended for evening wear, with a plain satin of moire silk skirt. The other is much more simple in both design and material and the home dressmaker will find it an easy model to copy.

A Hall Fireplace.

If you can't have a fireplace both places have one in the hall in preference to having it in the parlor. There is nothing so attractive in a house as a furnished hall. Have an oblong table against the wall; on it a wrought iron bouquet lamp, with a round yellow globe; a tall clock near by, a few rugs strewn around and a short settle each side of the hearth at right angles, and, of course, as many pictures as possible, and you have as cosy and homelike a spot as heart could wish.

More Curative Power

Is contained in a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla than in any other similar preparation. It costs the proprietor and manufacturer more. It costs the jobber more and is worth more to the consumer. That if not already thoroughly wet, the injured part should be drenched with water and the clothes cut away.

That in case of fire and severe burns much can be done to relieve the sufferer before the arrival of a physician.

That everything must be sacrificed to getting them off without pulling, as the slightest dragging may bring the skin, too.

That if patches of clothing adhere and will not drop off they must be allowed to remain for a time.

That cloths should be dipped in a thick solution of common baking soda in water and laid over the burned surface, bandaging them over lightly to keep them in place.

That as soon as a dry spot appears on this dressing it must be wet with the soda and water by squeezing some on it, and there will be no smarting while it is saturated and the air is excluded.

That if a rubber sheet is not at hand, a piece of thin oilcloth, a gossamer cloak or any water-proof article should be spread on the bed, with a blanket over it, to receive the sufferer.

Origin of the Phrase "To Eat Crow."

The following is given as the origin of the saying, "To eat crow": During the civil war, or shortly after its close, a United States soldier shot a tame crow, the owner of which came upon him before he had time to reload his piece, and compelled him to eat a mouthful of the bird. This satisfied the owner of the bird, who walked away, but before he had gone a great distance he was overhauled by the soldier, who had loaded up again, and compelled him to return and eat a mouthful or two of the crow. The owner the next day complained at the post. The commander sent for the soldier complained of, and asked him: "Do you know this gentleman?" The soldier drawled out: "Ya-as; we dined together yesterday." In everyday conversation "to eat crow" is understood to mean that an individual takes back all he previously said in regard to a certain matter.—San Francisco Call.

Scott's Emulsion is Cod-liver Oil prepared as a food. At the same time, it is a blood maker, a nerve tonic and an up-builder. But principally it is a food for tired and weak digestions; for those who are not getting the fat they should from their ordinary food; for children whom nothing seems to nourish; for all who are fat-starved and thin.

It is pleasant to take; at least, it is not unpleasant. Children like it and ask for more.

CANADIANS IN LONDON.

Mr Dobell and Others Reorganize the Canadian Section of the Chamber of Commerce.

London, Jan. 18.—At a meeting this afternoon, called to reorganize the Canadian section of the London Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Richard Dobell presided. Among those present were Sir Robert Gillespie, the agents general of British Columbia and New Brunswick, and Mr. John W. Laurie, M.P. for the Pembroke and Haverford West district. Mr. Dobell suggested that the topics which the section took up should be the tariffs, the Canadian insolvency laws and the Hudson Bay Railroad. In connection with the latter Mr. Dobell regretted that the British Government had declared the scheme to be impracticable, and would not assist in carrying out the project. Mr. Laurie was elected chairman and Mr. Vernon was elected vice-chairman.

AS TO RECIPROCITY.

ments for a deep waterway from Lake Superior to the ocean, providing for the cost of construction on the basis of relative interests and for a fair system of joint control, and in all of these purposes Mr. Laurier and his Government will be actuated, not only by a desire to establish the relations between the United States and Canada upon a mutually advantageous and friendly basis, but also by the hope that such arrangement will prove conclusive to the peace and welfare of the two great Anglo-Saxon nations of the world.

One statement which Mr. Charlton emphasized seems to possess significance. He represents Canada as now standing on the parting of the ways. On the one hand are friendly business and social relations with the United States and the gradual closing of the gap which has been widened since 1866. On the other hand are Imperial confederation, Empire consolidation a distinctively British system, embracing the Mother Land and all her colonies; improved steamship and cable services, differential duties in England in favor of the colonies and in the colonies in favor of England; colonial representation in the Imperial Parliament, and a movement all along the line for the consolidation and unification of all the scattered outposts of Britain's Imperial world-wide domain. When Canada shall present her overtures to the Government of the United States for more extended trade relations the latter will decide upon which of these ways she will enter.

THE WAR IN CUBA.

Insurgents Say the Spaniards are Hemmed in in the Cities and Dare Not Come Out.

Tampa, Fla., Jan. 18.—Passengers by the Olivette bring news of the war situation in Cuba. Port Au Principe and Santiago are practically in the hands of the Cubans, the Spaniards not daring to leave their fortresses except under the protection of a strong escort. In fact the whole eastern portion of the island is now under the government of Cubans.

It is now certain that the Cuban general, Jose Maria Aguirre, died of pneumonia at El Ingles, in the Province of Havana, on the 29th ult. The Spaniards are driven from the country into the cities and are fortifying themselves. The stories published in this country that the Cuban leaders are ready to treat with the Crown on a basis of autonomy are denounced as slanders.

Maceo and His Burial.

New York, Jan. 18.—A Tribune special from Jacksonville, Fla., says: A letter was received here on Friday from Lieut.-Col. Andre Hernandez, now in command of the department of the Cuban army encamped near Havana, giving the true account of Maceo's death and his subsequent burial. As he says that he was in command of the Cuban detachment that recovered the body from Major Cirujeda's command, and afterwards buried it, his statement should settle the matter. It is dated Jan. 8, from the "encampment near Havana." The letter says: "It was on Dec. 7 that we suffered a great misfortune in the tragic death (by ambush) of our leader, Maceo. This is the greatest misfortune we have suffered since the beginning of the war, but it only encouraged us to fight the harder, and avenge his death. We were encamped near the fight that day and heard the firing. Maceo came across the trocha unknown to us, with but 40 men. More than 1500 Spanish, who had been informed of his trip, ambushed him. He rode into it, and was shot at the first fire.

"We heard the firing, and, thinking that some of our friends were attacked by the Spanish guerillas, started off at once to their aid, though we had but 400 men. When we reached the scene of the slaughter it was mostly over, and then we were told that Maceo was dead, and that the enemy had his body tied to a horse's tail and were taking it off. Our men were perfectly frantic over the report, and begged to be led against the Spaniards. We dashed forward with drawn machetes, and what a fight it was.

"The Spaniards met us, and the encounter was horrible. Our men fought to kill, only bent on avenging Maceo's death. Our trusty and sharp machetes fell with regularity, and I think we killed more than 200 of the enemy, and, what is more, we had the consolation of recovering the body of our beloved leader, Maceo. The Spaniards fought hard again to regain it, charging upon us repeatedly, but our sharp machetes were too much for them, and they sullenly retreated.

"Our little force suffered terribly. Our cavalry, which went in 80 strong, came out with only 22 men, and the infantry suffered almost in the same proportion. But for all that we were consoled by the fact that our brave brothers gave up their lives in a good cause, and to save the body of our lamented Maceo from the desecration that the Spaniards would have inflicted.

"We buried the body in a secret and secure place. Only myself and a few selected men and officers know the locality. In due time it will be marked. If known now, the murderous Spaniards would try to get it, and parade it as showing their great triumph. Poor Maceo sleeps in peace, but his brothers remain to avenge him—and that they are doing daily. I have a good many important things to tell you in connection with this, but I don't dare to put them in this, as I am not positive that the letter will get through safely.

(Signed) "Andre Hernandez."

OPTIONS.—The management has secured the following interests in both British Columbia and Ontario:—Options on three promising locations near the famous "JUMBO" mine, Rossland, B.C., two properties in the Slocan District, B.C., one in the Whitewater Basin, being under option held by us, the other in which an interest is being negotiated for at present.

A location in Boundary Creek District, B.C., which is well mineralized, and will be carefully examined in the spring by our experts in connection with contemplated purchase.

Two locations in Rainy River District, one of which will be examined minutely as soon as transportation admits it in the spring, whilst the other is under negotiation.

Locations in Jackfish Bay, having an area of about 500 acres, as well as several other partially developed properties in the Lake of the Woods, Trail Creek, Slocan, and Boundary districts, which are receiving the attention of the management.

OBJECTS.—(1). The Company will secure by exploration, through its Mining Agents and employees, gold, silver and other mineral claims, and will sell the same, or partially develop and sell, to other persons or companies as will secure the best and quickest returns to its shareholders. There are scores of mining claims which show surface indications of gold or silver, or both, but unless and until they have been thoroughly tested by some expenditure in opening them up, they cannot be submitted to the examination of skilled Mining Engineers. This Company will start operations with options and contracts extending over the best mining fields in Canada, and will continue to secure more while developing those in hand. The extent to which expenditure will be made will depend on the advice of experts. Before offering any property for sale the Company will be ready to lay before intending purchasers the carefully-prepared reports of the best Mining Experts. The prices will vary with the stage of development and the nature of the reports. In this way no investor need be misled. They will know what they are getting so far as the best advice can guide them, and they will have the chances always before them of great gains, and a minimum chance of loss. The services of a practical and thoroughly reliable man, who has explored the Kootenay, have already been secured for the Company in British Columbia.

(2) The Company will also promote and form other Companies, both on this Continent and in Europe, for the purpose of acquiring and operating mines now secured, or to be secured, by this Company.

(3) Will deal in mining shares, and act as Mining Brokers generally, and appoint Agents throughout Canada and elsewhere to represent the Company, and especially the Brokerage Department of the Company.

(4) Will be a medium of information to its shareholders on all matters pertaining to mining and mining stocks in Ontario, British Columbia, and elsewhere, enabling each shareholder to receive the very latest news from the Company's confidential Agents at the mining centres.

(5) Having its private prospectors, good claims can be secured at first cost, of which every shareholder gets the profit and all the profit. Ordinary Mining Companies are often capitalized at tens of thousands of dollars beyond the first cost, thereby depriving the shareholder of the first, and frequently the largest, profit. Every prospector of this Company will be in the position of a private prospector and locator for each shareholder. There will be no middle owners and no middle profits.

Write or call for prospectus, or any other information desired will be given upon demand.

A limited number of shares, first issue, are now offered to the public at 10 CENTS per share, in blocks of not less than 100 shares. Those desiring to become subscribers to the first issue can do so by communicating with

—AT THE—

GOLDEN LION.

We take pleasure in announcing to the Ladies of Peterborough and surrounding districts that we will add to the already many important departments of this Great Dry Goods House

A Ladies' Whitewear Department

In which will be found all kinds of Ladies' Whitewear of the very latest style and cut. These garments are now in the hands of skilled operators and we will have them opened up for inspection in a few days. We would urge all ladies to see these goods, for they are all new and cannot be excelled for style and low price. Mr. Fair is at present visiting the American Markets and will inspect some of the leading manufactures of these goods with a view of adding to this New Department some of the Latest American styles.

SECOND CROP OF BARGAINS

As there is a good deal of winter yet before us, it is unnecessary to point out the wisdom of buying now.

This is the month of lucky chances and snaps in mid-winter goods. An aftermath of Bargains for shrewd buyers—lines which we have laid out during stock-taking such as Serges, Cheviots, Heavy Tweeds and other Remnants, as well as Millinery, to be sold even at HALF REGULAR PRICES.

We don't want to carry winter lines past their regular selling season. No relics here. This store is not a museum. We have neither old goods nor old ideas.

You need the goods—we need the room they occupy—so there is mutual benefit all round in the selling of them.

We don't "rest-up" during the winter months and take things easy until spring. While others are resting we're simply HUSTLING.

FOR—

FASTIDIOUS FELLOWS,

Who want to dress in style, and yet keep within their means, have a great chance, which is legally theirs, for the next few weeks. With three months of good stiff winter weather before us, we make a great offer to man:—

Select any piece of Suitings in our store—imported or domestic — Worsteds, Tweeds, Cheviots or Cassimeres—we will make it up for you in the highest style of the tailors' art, and guarantee finish fabric and fit, from..... .... $12 up

Select any piece of Overcoating in our store—and we will make you up an Overcoat or Ulster, any style you like, beautifully finished, from..... $12 up

We are determined to get the shears into every piece of winter goods in the store, by putting the knife into the prices.

GOOD NEWS
For You....
LADIES.

The whole of our stock is reduced, and must be disposed of regardless of old prices. We can do better for you this week than last. Here are some Seasonable Specials:—

Mantle Special.

Every Mantle that left our store this season was of the latest productions. The few we have to sell are the same—the only thing wrong with them is the price. They're the $5.50 and $6.00 grade for $3.00.

Glove Special.

Only a few dozen left, and we want to give you a bargain in them. Regular 25c a pair, to go for just one-half—12½c.

Mantle Cloths Special.

We are taking a clean one-fourth off the prices of our Mantle Cloths and Dress Goods.

We prefer to sell now at HALF price than carry anything over. All Trimmed Hats and Bonnets, no matter what they are worth, can be bought at just one-half. Ribbons all reduced.

THE QUEEN'S SPEECH

Says Britain's Foreign Relations are Friendly.

IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT OPENED.

Expressions of Gratification at the Signing of the Arbitration Treaty—Lord Salisbury and Mr. Balfour Speak and the Address in Reply Passes—Table News.

London, Jan. 19.—Parliament reassembled to-day, and the members of the House of Commons, as usual, proceeded to the House of Lords to hear the reading of the Queen's speech, which was read by the Lord Chancellor.

The speech starts out by saying that the relations with all foreign nations continue friendly, refers to the appalling massacres in Turkey and notes that the ambassadors and the Porte are still conferring, and goes on to speak in a congratulatory way of the success of the expedition to the Soudan. Her Majesty refers to the Venezuela boundary dispute, and hopes the trouble will be settled amicably without exposing to risk the interests of any colonists who have established rights in the disputed territory.

Regarding the arbitration treaty with the United States, the speech says:

It is with much gratification that I have concluded a treaty for general arbitration with the President of the United States, by which I trust that all difficulties that may arise between us may be peacefully adjusted. I hope that this arrangement may have further value in commending to other powers the consideration of the principle by which the danger of war may be notably abated.

Her Majesty speaks of the trouble in Matabeleland and Mashonaland, compliments the troops for courage and steadfastness and deplores the loss of valuable lives in repressing the outbreak.

The appointment of the commission to look into the causes of depression of the sugar industry is referred to and then the Indian famine is taken up. Her Majesty expresses sympathy with her Indian subjects, and says:

"My Government in that country is making every effort to mitigate the suffering and lessen the calamity by the development of railways and irrigation work. The forethought given through a long series of years to the preparation for the most effective arrangements for alleviating distress caused by famine makes their task more hopeful than in the case of previous visitations. My people throughout my dominions at home and in India have been invited to second with their liberality the exertions of the Government. Papers showing the extent of the famine and the measures taken to relieve the suffering will be laid before you."

The speech says the bubonic plague in Bombay and Karachee shows no signs of decrease, and promises the most stringent measures to eradicate the pestilence.

Regarding the estimates Her Majesty says: "While desirous of guarding against undue expenditure, I have felt that the present condition of the world will not permit you to depart from the spirit of prudent foresight in which you have during recent years provided for the defence of the empire."

In concluding the speech outlines the legislative program as follows:

A measure for the promotion of primary education by securing maintenance of voluntary schools will be laid before you, and, if time permits, you will be invited to consider further proposals for educational legislation.

It is desirable to make better provision for the compensation of working people who suffer from accidents, and a bill with that object in view will be submitted to you.

Your consent will be asked to provisions which, in the judgment of the military authorities, are required for the efficiency of military defences of the empire.

A bill will also be submitted to you to improve the arrangements for the water supply of the Metropolis.

In order to promote the interests of agriculture, which are of paramount importance in Ireland, you will be asked to consider a bill to establish a Board of Agriculture, and further legislative proposals will be brought before you, if the time at your disposal is sufficient for the purposes.

Bills admitting the evidence of accused persons, amending the law in respect of bills of sale and the registration of land, for revising the acts in respect of the formation of limited companies, an amendment to the Agricultural Holdings Act in Great Britain, the exclusion of goods manufactured in prisons in other countries, the establishment of reformatories for inebriates, and for amending the existing procedure in respect of private bills coming from Scotland and Ireland have been prepared.

I heartily commend your important deliberations to the guidance of Almighty God.

The benches of the House of Commons were crowded with members, and the galleries were packed with privileged spectators. Right Hon. Arthur J. Balfour, First Lord of the Treasury; Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies, and Sir William Harcourt, the leader of the Opposition in the House, were greeted with prolonged cheers as they entered the chamber.

After the Queen's speech had been read by the Speaker, Viscount Folkestone, member for the south division of Wiltshire, moved the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne, and in the course of his remarks referred to the approaching completion of the sixtieth year of the reign of Her Majesty Queen Victoria, and expressed hope that the event so unique in the annals of the country would be befittingly celebrated.

Sir William Harcourt said that the most important as well as the most satisfactory statement contained in the Queen's speech was the reference made to the relations between Great Britain and the United States. He heartily congratulated the country upon the conclusion of the differences regarding Venezuela, and gave them unstinted praise for the general arbitration treaty which was recently signed by the British Ambassador at Washington and the American Secretary of State. Sir William's remarks were received with cheers.

Sir William Harcourt, continuing his remarks, said that there could not be a better celebration of the 60th year of Her Majesty's reign than that her Government should be among the first of the nations to set the example of settling their differences by arbitration. He denounced the Nile campaign, and asked the Government to justify their Egyptian policy. In regard to Armenia he was glad to hear that the Government had abandoned hostility to Russia in the matter.

Right Hon. A. J. Balfour, Government leader in the House, made a speech, in which he spoke of the Anglo-American arbitration treaty in terms similar to those employed by Prime Minister Salisbury in the House of Lords, and his references to the subject were greeted with cheers.

Treating of other matters that would come before the House Mr. Balfour intimated that the Government would at a future date deal with the question of the financial relations between Great Britain and Ireland. In the meantime he felt it necessary to say that there were large matters which the former commission had been bound to investigate, but which it had refused to do. The Government would therefore take measures to effect such an investigation, and would shortly announce the terms upon which the investigation body would be appointed. He also intimated that the Government would afford a chance for the House to debate the subject after the debate on the address in reply to the Queen's speech had been finished, and before the budget should be taken up.

Edward Blake (Liberal), member for the south division of Longford, accordingly withdrew a motion regarding the Irish taxation question, which he had proposed as an amendment to the address.

IN THE UPPER HOUSE.

Lord Salisbury Regrets Rosebery's Retirement—The Arbitration Treaty.

There was an unusually large attendance at the opening of the House of Lords, which met at 4 o'clock.

The lately appointed Archbishop of Canterbury, the Most Rev. Frederick Temple, and the recently created Bishop of London, the Right Rev. Mandell Creighton, took the prescribed oath as members of the Upper House.

The Prince of Wales and the Duke of Cambridge occupied a bench, and the galleries were filled with the wives and daughters of the members.

After the Lord Chancellor, Lord Halsbury, had read the Speech from the Throne, the customary address in reply to the speech was moved by the Marquis of Bath, who was attired in the uniform of an officer of the Yeomen of the Guards. The motion was seconded by Lord Kenyon.

Prime Minister Salisbury said he regretted Lord Rosebery's retirement from the leadership of the Liberal party for the moment. He paid a high tribute to Lord Rosebery's patriotic policy as shown in his speech upon the occasion of his retirement, and then proceeded to defend the consistent policy of the Conservatives. The Government, he declared, had not initiated the anti-Russian policy of 1878. It was the Crimean War that initiated it, but the powers were not generally agreed that if reforms were not granted in Armenia material pressure would be applied to the Sultan by the rest of Europe. There were but slightly different wordings, he said, in the communications of the powers in regard to the way it should be done, but all of them were convinced that unless the Sultan should introduce genuine and effective reforms the worst results must follow.

In regard to the Nile campaign the Premier said that Dongola was taken because it was on the route to Khartoum, which place must eventually be taken from the Dervishes. He repeated that it was the intention of the British Government to re-conquer the Soudan for Egypt.

In regard to the treaty of arbitration just concluded with the United States, he said he could not speak fully upon the subject because the agreement had not yet been ratified. Still he would say that the people must not think that they were living in the millennial dispensation. He hoped, however, that something would be done to dimish the risk of war. He would not say that the treaty would remove the greatest risks of war or restrain a Napoleon or a Bismarck, but the policy with the United States was full of an infinite number of small differences which, sometimes exaggerated, caused irritation and enmity. The formation of a tribunal of arbitration would settle these differences, would prevent such and stop the two nations who understand each other so well that unless they are friends they are almost certain to be enemies.

Another advantage would be derived from the treaty in this respect: A Minister dealing with a subject involving the honor of his country, or which some persons claim involves its honor, has to think how to furnish an account of the transaction which will soothe the jingoes. Arbitration would be a bulwark for such a Minister, for it would be impossible to say he had trifled with the honor of the country if he said he had submitted the matter to the decision of an impartial tribunal.

Lord Salisbury pictured the nations groaning under excessive armaments, and declared that the Government believed the measure they had taken was valuable in that it would lead to the gradual disappearance of vast armaments before the growing tendency to substitute judicial decisions for the course arbitrament of war. This would be something to look back upon.

In conclusion, Lord Salisbury said: "I hope that the effort, small as it is, will be successful that more extensive and more successful it will be made."

The Prime Minister was heartily cheered when he finished his speech.

Lord Castletown (Liberal) gave notice that he would raise the question of the financial relations between Great Britain and Ireland.

The address in reply to the Queen's speech was then adopted, and the House adjourned.

PALMER'S AWFUL DEED.

Shot His Brother, Mother and Sister and Made His Escape.

Toronto, Jan. 20.

Mrs. Arthur Palmer is stopping at the residence of Mrs. Gardhouse, 356 Borden-street. She is the wife of the man who on Monday shot his brother dead, and wounded his mother so badly that she died subsequently, and inflicted wounds on his sister from which she may not recover. The tragedy took place at Larchmont Manor, N.Y. The despatches received yesterday give no details as to how or why the crime was committed, but it is supposed to have occurred over a property dispute.

Palmer, after doing the shooting, disappeared, and up to date he has not been traced. One supposition is that he is making for Toronto, where his wife is, with the intention of killing her.

Mrs. Palmer had been stopping with her brother, Mr. Eastbury, at 6 Yorkville-avenue. The police have been notified and are watching both houses. If Palmer shows up he will be arrested quickly.

At 6 Yorkville-avenue, Mr. Eastbury refused to make any statement, but said he would be prepared to talk today.

A late despatch from New York says: Leonard Palmer, who fell before his brother's revolver, was an assistant teacher in Grammar School No. 39, in East One Hundred and Twenty-first-street, whither he journeyed every morning. His sister Gertrude was 32 years old, a handsome woman, of fine physique. The mother was 70 years old. There are three other brothers.

Arthur Palmer, the murderer, was a stalwart fellow, who had been married two years. It is thought that his mind had become unbalanced from overwork.

A pathetic feature of the tragedy is that the mother and sister when called upon to make ante-mortem statements last night protested, with all the energy at their command, against the fugitive being held accountable for the crime.

They did not—they could not—deny that it was he who had fired the shots, but they made excuses for him.

"Arthur could not help it," they moaned. "Spare him! The poor boy did not know what he was doing."

OUR BUTTER AND CHEESE.

Trade in the Former Doubled With England During 1896.

London, Jan. 19.—(Telegram cable.)—The imports of Canadian butter into England for the year 1896 were 33,857 cwt.; for the previous year they were 31,160 cwt. Cheese imports in 1896 amounted to 1,234,297 cwt., and in 1895 1,046,704 cwt.

Much interest is taken in commercial circles here in the development of the trade between the South African colonies and Canada.

The condition of Lieut.-Governor Kirkpatrick during the last three days was considered more or less serious by the physicians, but they are convinced that the result of the operation will be entirely satisfactory.

In addition to the fetes and other celebrations to commemorate the sixtieth anniversary of Her Majesty's accession, many honors and titles will be bestowed, a number of these going to Canada. It is understood that the mayors of the chief cities will be among the recipients of these favors. The Lord Mayor will probably give a great banquet in the Mansion House, to which many representatives of the colonies will be invited.

Navigation Closes Nov. 30.

Detroit, Jan. 19.—Judge Swan, in the United States Circuit Court, has rendered a decision in the case of the Northern Steamship Company against the steamer Selwyn Eddy, in which he declares that the term "season of navigation" means that it ends Nov. 30.

A Million Acres of Gold Lands.

London, Jan. 19.—A British syndicate has received from the Government of Dutch Guiana a concession of a million acres of gold lands.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

In the matter of bye-elections, there is some degree of similarity in the methods of the late Conservative and the present Liberal Government. The Liberals fix the date of the elections, and the Conservatives "fixed" the elections. We have ample proof of this, and more is forthcoming.

Mr. Nat Boyd, of Macdonald, and Mr. Hugh John Macdonald, late of Winnipeg, though unseated by the courts, have still some hopes of regaining their seats through appeals on technicalities. They won once by the worst villainies of expert technicalities, and they hope that it is not too much to expect that technicalities will again befriend them.

The Mail and Empire is again coming to Mr. Laurier's assistance, and arranging Cabinet changes. It causes Mr. Tarte's resignation of the portfolio of Public Works, and appoints him to the leadership of the Liberal party in Quebec. The truth that the Mail and Empire doesn't tell gives a certain gentleman some solicitude for his laurels in the matter of mendacity.

The increase in the export of butter from Canada during last year is remarkable. Figures from a reliable source show that the total imports into the United Kingdom from the beginning of September to December 26th (17 weeks) increased 57,268 cwts., of which 37,040 cwts. were colonial. Here is where Canada figures. Her increase for the period mentioned was 34,350 cwts., leaving Australia only the small gain of 2,690 cwts. The 20,228 cwts. increase from foreign countries is pointed out to be only 2½ per cent., while the Colonial, or we may say Canadian, increase is 38 per cent. This is another feather in Canada's cap.

Conservatives are now making the claim that in the case of recent voiding of elections there was no proof of corrupt practices. The very best of proof. The effect of the Dominion election law is that corrupt practices have to be proved to an extent to reverse the majority. In Macdonald Mr. Boyd was returned by a majority of 338, and Mr. Macdonald by a majority of 125. Both these gentlemen "caved" at the outset, practically admitting the fear that there was sufficient corrupt practices to affect, in the two contests, some 426 votes.

The Liberals may not preach so well as Conservatives but they at least practice what they preach. Liberals have always combatted the evil practice of the late government in bringing on bye-elections just to suit their party convenience and to promote party interests. By having bye-elections on different dates, the healers of the party, the faro dealers, the poker experts, the champion teachers of ballot box stuffing, were permitted to exercise their beneficent influence in several ridings in succession. But the Liberals have changed all that. When there were vacancies in North Grey, Queen's and Sunbury, the vacant seats were filled by elections held on the same day and in the vacancies now existing in this province all occurring about the same time—the dates of the elections are fixed for February 4th and the probabilities are that all three seats, formerly held nominally by Conservatives, will be filled by supporters of the present Government.

How many persons are ashamed to go into company on account of their foul-smelling breath, caused by catarrh or cold in the head? If they would study their own interests they would soon have sweet breath like their neighbors. There is one sure cure for Catarrh and that is Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure. Give one blow through the blower and you get relief immediately. Price, including blower, 50 cents.

LAKEWADE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Mr. McLean has the same school for 1897. The trustees are very much pleased to have him another year as he is a good teacher.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wilson lost their little daughter, Mary, on the 13th. Diphtheria was the cause of her death. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson sympathize with them in their sad bereavement.

Miss Effie Newberry is very low with diphtheria.

Mr. Bennett has gone with a gang of men to work the gold mine on J. Vanalokie's place. They report a very rich mine.

The people are keeping indoors as much as possible on account of the diphtheria.

Mr. Youmans has a small grant of money on C. N. Dingman's new road. A few men are working it out these days.

The annual cheese meeting of this place was held on Saturday last. It was a very quiet meeting. Mr. J. Radcliff, who so ably and creditably filled the office as president for the past four years, resigned. He could not be persuaded by the company to stay in another year, stating he had too much to look after. He has a farm to attend to, is agent for farming implements, and township clerk, and postmaster also, but we are glad he is still with us, as he is a patron and one of the directors Mr. John A. McColl was elected president of the company. After accepting the office urged upon him he got up and made a nice little speech, which was appreciated by all present. I think we are not astray in saying that Mr. McColl is the right man in the right place. We congratulate him and wish him the best of luck in his new office and a happy New Year.

Corey Dingman and Harvey Carroll are here from Rochester. They, with Leslie Carroll were making calls these last few days. They made John Carroll, Bert Carrol, W. Bound and C. N. Dingman a friendly call. They are looking hale and hearty.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Caroll were visiting at her parents last Sunday.

W. Rusaw and M. Dingman were visiting at W. Bounds on Sunday last.

There is very poor sleighing here at present. I think there will be less as it is storming now and it is a sleet and is a very warm morning.

It is very dull times around Lakewade, just now, as can be seen by two vacant houses, both on Main street, one at the west and the other at the east side of the post office.

HE WAS WASTING AWAY.

THE CONDITION OF MR. GEORGE SENEY, OF MOUNT PLEASANT.

Doctors Were Unable to Agree as to His Trouble—He Was Almost a Physical Wreck When Relief Came.

From the Millbrook Reporter.

Mr. Geo Seney, who resides near Mount Pleasant, Durham county, Ont., is a man well known throughout the county. He is the owner of the Seney House in Mount Pleasant, and until about a year ago conducted it to the satisfaction of all his patrons. Mr. Seney is one of the multitude who owe health and strength to the healing virtues of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and in conversation recently with a correspondent of the Reporter gave the following particulars of his illness and cure: "I found my health gradually giving way," said Mr. Seney, "but it was not until I had become so emaciated as to be almost unfit for business that I felt alarmed, and then I called in two physicians for consultation. The doctors disagreed as to what my trouble was, but the one to whom I gave the preference informed me that my trouble was due to a secretion of morbid matter in the blood, and accordingly he lanced several little sacs that had formed on my neck. This gave me some relief, but my constitution was so run down that I was almost a physical wreck. My appetite was very poor, and I was wasting away rapidly. My nerves seemed to be all unstrung, and I was greatly depressed in spirits. Medicine seemed to be doing me little or no good, and I did not know where to look for relief. I had read and heard much of the curative properties of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and at last decided to try them. Before I had finished my second box there was a marked improvement in my condition, and after continuing the pills for some time longer, I was restored to my accustomed vigour and good health. It is now over a year since I discontinued the use of the Pink Pills, and I have continued enjoying the blessing of good health. I am strong in my commendation of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and trust that the recital of my experience may be a beacon to some other poor sufferer who may read it."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a tonic medicine, enriching the blood and strengthening the nerves, thus reaching the root of disease and driving it from the system. They are beyond doubt the greatest medicine of the 19th century, and have cured in hundreds of cases after all other medicines had failed. The great popularity of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills has caused unscrupulous dealers to imitate them extensively, and intending buyers are urged to see that every box is enclosed in a wrapper bearing the full registered trade mark "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People." Pills coloured pink, but sold in loose form by the dozen, hundred or ounce, or taken from glass jars, are fraudulent imitations and should always be refused, no matter how plausible may be the story of the interested dealer offering them.

Heart Disease Relieved in 30 Minutes.

Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart gives perfect relief in all cases of Organic or Sympathetic Heart Disease in 30 minutes, and speedily effects a cure. It is a peerless remedy for Palpitation, Shortness of Breath, Smothering Spells, Pain in Left Side and all symptoms of a Diseased Heart. One dose convinces. This is the only remedy known to the medical world that will relieve in a few moments and cure absolutely. The ingredients of Dr. Agnew's Heart Cure are essentially liquid, and hence neither it nor anything like it can be prepared in pill form. Sold by H. S. Mcdonald.

NEWS FROM OTTAWA

The Scotia Junction Trouble Amicably Settled

BY THE RAILROADS INTERESTED.

Grand Trunk and Ottawa and Parry Sound Magnates Do the Sensible Thing and New Trains Will Connect—The Walker Failure Was a Pretty Big Affair.

Ottawa, Jan. 19.—(Special.)—General Manager Hayes and Mr. William Wainwright of the Grand Trunk were in the city, and had a conference with officials of the Ottawa, Arnprior and Parry Sound Railway Company in regard to the trouble that has arisen over the crossing of the two railways, which has resulted in such serious inconvenience to the people of the Parry Sound district and the deflection of considerable of the trade of that section from Toronto to Montreal and Ottawa. Messrs. Hayes and Wainwright arrived on the Grand Trunk private car, and immediately proceeded to the office of C. J. Chamberlain, general manager of the Booth system. They were in consultation for a couple of hours, and succeeded in amicably adjusting their differences. The terms upon which the two companies have agreed to interchange freight and passengers at the crossing point in question have not transpired, but both parties admit that a satisfactory arrangement has been come to. As a result of this, commencing on Monday morning next, the Ottawa, Arnprior and Parry Sound Express will leave Ottawa at 9 o'clock, in place of 8 o'clock, as heretofore, which will enable connection with it to be made at Scotia by passengers going north from Toronto, the trouble being previously that the Parry Sound train passed that point an hour or so before the arrival of the Grand Trunk train from the Queen City. The officials of the companies concerned have agreed to erect and maintain a Union Station at the crossing point, but in the meantime temporary accommodation for the interchange of passengers and freight will be provided by the O., A. and P. S. people.

Dr. Bourinot, C.M.G., secretary of the Royal Society, left for Halifax today, where he is to meet Mr. Sandford Fleming, who is expected by the steamship Vancouver on the 23rd inst. As Archbishop O'Brien, who resides in Halifax, is president of the Royal Society this year, arrangements will be made with him for the meeting of the society, which is to take place in that city from June 21 to 26. It is probable that a brass table with a suitable inscription upon it will be set up in Halifax, to commemorate the famous voyage of John Cabot, who gave England her first claim to the Atlantic coast of North America. Representatives to the June meeting are expected from the historic city of Bristol, whence Cabot sailed for the New World.

Representations have been made to the Fisheries Department for a reduction in the size of mesh used in sturgeon fishing in Lake Winnipeg. As the Minister regards the industry as one deserving of encouragement a reduction has been authorized from 12 to 11 inches. A request was also made for permission to use pound nets in Lake Winnipeg, but the prohibition against them still continues.

An Order-in-Council has been passed abolishing four customs outports of the port of Pictou. There are Wellington, Milliford, Weller's Bay and Pringer. The preventive station of Black River bridge has also been abolished.

The failure of W. H. Walker of Ottawa is a pretty big affair. Notice has been issued from the Prothonotary's office in Hull of the judicial abandonment by Mr. Walker of his property for the benefit of his creditors. The total claims listed aggregate $172,430. The largest creditor is E. C. Hammond of Toronto for $73,000. Hon. R. W. Scott is down individually for sums aggregating over $14,000, and his name appears with Senator Clemow's for a couple of thousand more. Senator Clemow has a claim of his own for $7000, a joint claim with the estate of C. T. Bate for $9000 and another with Sir Adolphe Chapleau and A. Audet for $12,000. The estate of H. C. Pinhey claims $6000, A. A. Audet $10,850, John R. Tilley of New York $6000, and Mrs. Laura Willard of Prescott $12,000. Other creditors are the Ontario Bank $2000, Seybold and Gibson $1500, Blaikie & Co., Toronto, $1500, A. Masson $1000, C. A. Blanchet $1600, and a multitude of Ottawa claims from these down, as well as a considerable number of outside ones, some of large amounts. Mr. Walker some years ago dropped his law business to go into mining. It is said the $172,000 of creditors' claims referred to above does not indicate half of the money he or his associates lost. Mr. Walker's specialty was graphite. He never really tackled anything else, and he tackled that all pretty much in one spot in Ottawa County, a few miles from Buckingham, on the River Lievre.

The Normal School opened to-day. There were 80 students enrolled at the opening. The official list shows an attendance of 100 students, 76 being ladies and 20 gentlemen.

The past 24 hours have been the coldest this winer. At midnight last night the mercury stood 13 degrees below zero; by 6 a.m. it had fallen to 20 below, and at 8 a.m. it registered 32 below.

Mr. Tarte has abandoned his Winnipeg trip for the present.

Mr. Oscar McDonnell, editor of Le Temps, has left for Montreal to undergo another operation for cancer.

Hon. Sydney Fisher, Minister of Agriculture, and Prof. Robertson left to-night for Hamilton and Bradford.

It is reported that Mr. Allen, ex-M.P., will be appointed Collector of Customs at Windsor, Ont.

Hon. Wilfrid Laurier left for Montreal this evening to attend the Mayor's banquet there to-morrow.

Arthur Brophy, who was with the Dominion Express Co. at Montreal, has been appointed Private Secretary to the Hon. R. W. Scott, Secretary of State.

TWELVE STOKERS KILLED.

Appalling Calamity on a French Steamer—Others Died From Scalds by Steam.

San Francisco, Jan. 19.—The steamer Rio de Janeiro brings news that one of the boilers of the French steamer Sachalien exploded while the vessel was off the Chinese coast on Dec. 2, bound from Singapore for Hong Kong. Eleven of the stokers in the fire-room and one engineer were killed instantly by the explosion or by the scalding steam. The chief stoker was so badly injured that he died a few hours afterwards, and four other firemen died the next day as a result of their burns.

The vessel was crowded with passengers, and there was the wildest confusion on board. The passengers had just assembled in the saloon for dinner when there came a loud report like that of a cannon from the direction of the engine room. The deck-boards were torn up, gratings were sent flying in the air and the steamer trembled from stem to stern. A dense cloud of steam and smoke issued from the hatches with a deafening roar of escaping steam.

The officers of the vessel who were on the decks rushed to their places at the lifeboats, and from the cabins came screaming women and shouting men. It was some time before order could be restored and the extent of the disaster ascertained.

As soon as the steam had cleared away men were sent below in the stoke hole. Eleven Lascar firemen lay about the floor before the ruined boiler, dead or writhing at the last gasp, with their flesh parboiled by the terrific bath of superheated steam in which the explosion had plunged them. Ten other firemen were badly burned. Four of them died during the night following the explosion.

It Was Patti.

A lady passenger in a Great Western train was much disturbed in her attempts at a nap by some one singing in the next compartment, so she asked the guard to interfere. That official did so, and got laughed at for his pains, and the singing went on. At the next station the lady sent for the station master, and requested him to succeed where the guard had failed. The station master went to the next compartment, and immediately returned to apologize. "I am very sorry, madame," he said, "but I really cannot ask your neighbor to stop singing. She is Mme. Patti."—London Truth.

IT IS IN THE AIR.

Tweed People Talk About it.

It is in the air.
Can't stop it spreading.
Can't keep down a good thing.
People who don't know about it want to known.
People who do know, want to tell about it.
It is kidney education.
Tweed people are learning fast.
Here are some facts.

One of the best known residents of Tweed is Mr. W. H. Houston, who relates the following interesting facts: Mr. Houston says, "I have been very bad for several years with pains in my side and back.

"I had to urinate very frequently, in fact my rest was disturbed by frequent rising at night for that purpose. I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills, at Newton's drugstore, and have experienced great relief from the first.

"I am sure that I have been greatly benefited, and can recommend them highly to anyone troubled as I was."

Mr. Rae Stephens, one of the best-known business men in Detroit, died yesterday, aged 52. He was born in Cobourg, Ont., and graduated from Victoria College. He learned the piano business with Vose of Boston, then went to Detroit, and engaged in the music business, being the head of the Rae Stephens Music Company. Mrs. Archie Powell and Miss Hattie B. Stephens of Cobourg are his sisters.

SKIN DISEASES!

One Remedy Which has Never Failed—Tried and Tested Ointment.

Because other alleged remedies for piles, scrofula, eczematic eruptions, scald head, chafing, black heads, salt rheum and skin diseases generally have proved useless, don't condemn Dr. Chase's Ointment. It has never been known to fail. For instance, Nelson Simmons, Mayersburg, Ont., writes:

"I used Dr. Chase's Ointment for Itching Piles, and can recommend it highly. Since using it I have had perfect freedom from the disease."

Peter Vanallen, L'Amable, Que., had the eczema for three years. He tried three doctors, but received no benefit. One box of Dr. Chase's Ointment and three boxes of Dr. Chase's Pills cured him completely. Large scales covered his legs and body, but the Ointment soon removed them. He will swear to these facts.

Chase's Ointment may be had from any dealer or from the manufacturers Edmanson, Bates & Co., 45 Lombard street, Toronto. Price 60 cents.

Mother's greatest remedy for coughs, colds, bronchial and lung affections is Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. The medicinal taste is wholly disguised making it pleasant to take. Large bottle 25 cents.

A Fall in Milk.

This morning while Mr. John Newall was delivering milk to his various customers in Ashburnham he came to grief on Lake street through the king bolt breaking in his wagon while travelling at a good rate of speed. The horse made off with the two front wheels, leaving the body of the waggon and the remaining hind wheels on the road. Mr. Newall and milk cans went into the ditch.

Opening To-morrow Evening.

The Cinematographe Company will arrive in town to-morrow morning, and will give the first of its marvellous exhibitions in Bradburn's opera house to-morrow (Thursday) evening. So much has been said of this wonderful entertainment by all who have seen it, and the press wherever it has been exhibited, that it will no doubt be well patronized in Peterborough. No one should miss seeing it, as this will be the only occasion on which it will visit this town. There will be a matinee on Saturday afternoon.

A Change in Business.

Fairweather & Co., manufacturing furriers of Toronto, Peterborough and Lindsay, announced yesterday that an important change in their business will take place on or about the end of February. Amongst other things which will be announced later, the Lindsay branch of the business is to be sold out, and all the capital and energy of the business centred in Peterborough and Toronto. In order to reduce their stock here to as low a margin as possible, they offer all their fine fur goods at actual cost price, also some lines at less than cost, as on 15th of February they commence to take stock preparatory to the change. During this sale all goods will be sold only for cash, and on no account will they be booked. All accounts owing the firm will have to be settled before Feb. 15th, otherwise they will be placed in the hands of a solicitor for collection.

A Sale of Local Importance.

When the clear-to-table time comes around at the Peterborough Bookstore, business takes on a fresh start and fresh interest of local importance springs up. The business that is too regular gets into ruts. The announcement of stock-taking at Stratton's Bookstore does not mean that any waste time is going on. On the contrary, inventory time is the time when the nimble sixpence destrines is pushed to its utmost extremity, and quick sales are the symbols of this business. Goods are now being marked up at the reduced prices that bring fire before January, and genuine bargains lighten the labours of stock-taking. See advertisement. A. H. STRATTON & Co.

A CATHEDRAL WEDDING.

Celebration of the Costello-Herbert Nuptials This Morning.

Peterborough lost one of its fairest belles this morning when Miss Lida Costello was united in marriage to Mr. Bert Herbert, of Rochester, N.Y.

The ceremony took place in St. Peter's Cathedral, at eight o'clock, and was performed by Rev. Father Fitzpatrick in the presence of a large number of the bride's relations and friends.

Miss Costello was charmingly attired in cadet blue with garniture of guipure lace, and wore a chenille hat with white osprey and trimmings of lace and flowers. Her cousin, Miss May Pope, was the bridesmaid and was similarly attired.

The groom was supported by Mr. Angus Macpherson.

Miss McCabe presided as the organ.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the wedding party repaired to the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. Daniel Costello, George street, where the wedding breakfast was served. The bride was the recipient of a large number of beautiful presents.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert were accompanied to the Grand Trunk station at noon by a large number of the bride's young friends. The newly-married couple will visit a number of points west before taking up their residence in Rochester.

LEPLANTE-GIRARD NUPTIALS.

They were Celebrated Yesterday in St. Peter's Cathedral.

A very pretty wedding, though quiet, took place in St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday, when Miss Phedora de LePlante, daughter of Mr. Noah T. de LePlante, was united in marriage to Mr. Alphonse Girard of St. Gervaise, Bellechasse, Quebec.

Ven. Archdeacon Casey performed the ceremony, and in accord with the old Quebec custom there was no bridesmaid in attendance. The groom was accompanied by Mr. A. Letellier.

The bride was becomingly costumed in a handsome cloth travelling suit.

The wedding breakfast was served at the residence of the bride's father, Lock street, and the east bound C.P.R. express bore the newly married couple away to their new home.

DRIVER LAWRENCE SUSPENDED.

He Was Absent From his Post When the Alarm Sounded.

When the alarm was turned in last night for the Dickson Company's conflagration, Driver Lawrence was absent from his post, being, it is said, in the country visiting his mother, whom he states was ill. The hook and ladder waggon was, in consequence, delayed fully fifteen minutes in reaching the fire.

This morning Lawrence was suspended by Chairman White, of the Fire, Water and Light Committee.

The whole matter will be fully ventilated before the Fire, Water and Light Committee.

CONFLAGRATION ON THE RACEWAY.

The Dickson Company's Heavy Loss Last Night.

THE CONSOLIDATED MILLING COMPANY SUFFERS HEAVILY.

Another Big Fire Takes Place on the Dickson Raceway—The Loss is Roughly Estimated at $75,000, on Which There is $41,000 Insurance—The Fire Companies Interested in the Loss.

The fine properties fitted up as a flour mill and an elevator, on the raceway of the Dickson Company, being owned by that corporation, and operated by the Consolidated Milling Co., is a smoking ruin this morning as the result of a most disastrous fire which occurred on the premises last night.

The alarm was sent in by Capt. Mason at about a quarter to ten o'clock. On ascending the hill on the way up from his store on George street to the residence of Mr. Wm. Davidson, Dickson street, where he intended spending the evening, he noticed smoke rising from the mill and hurrying into the house sent in the alarm and the entire neighbourhood was roused in a twinkling.

Mr. Wm. Davidson and Capt. Mason were amongst the very

FIRST ON THE SCENE,

having only to run down the incline at the rear of the garden and cross the raceway. When they arrived the fire had not burst out of the mill, but from the ten inch space between it and the elevator smoke was pouring forth in great volumes, and these two gentlemen think that if hose had been accessible at this juncture, the property could have been saved. The fire brigade arrived immediately afterwards, but the few minutes elapsing between the turning in of the alarm and their appearance was sufficient to doom the mill and elevator, as in an incredibly short space of time the flames took full possession of the interior of the buildings, and were entirely beyond control. The fact that the elevator was covered with sheet iron, prevented the flames from at once breaking forth and enveloping the building, although long tongues of flame began to shoot out of the windows just as the first hose wagon turned the corner from Hunter street to be driven up the raceway. By about the fire had worked up through the interior and broken out through the roof, which had been so undermined by the flames as to cause it to fall in shortly before eleven, when the fire enveloped the mill and elevator, as well as a building known as the carpenter shops and formerly occupied by the Lindsay-Saldon firm.

HALF PAST TEN

The heat became so intense and the sparks descended in such showers that thousands of citizens who had assembled were forced to move from the side of the hill descending to the raceway and the residences of Messrs. Wm. Walsh and Wm. Davidson at the top of the incline were seriously imperilled. The sparks were showered on the two houses and the outbuildings in such quantities that it was feared these properties were also doomed but through the energy of of the Water Co., a stream of water was turned on the premises in time to prevent the fire getting a start. As an evidence that the danger was as great as imagined, the lawns are thickly besprinkled with huge cinders this morning.

Shortly after eleven o'clock the first wall fell, being that in the rear of the main building, and about the same time the planing mill took fire and was so rapidly consumed as to be completely destroyed by midnight.

It is not known how the fire originated but it is thought a spark from the furnace did the mischief. The night watchman, Mr. David McGrath, was in the mill at about ten minutes after nine and replenished the furnace with coal. He then proceeded on his regular round down the raceway, across the Hunter street bridge and up through the company's property on the other side of the river. When just opposite the mill at the corner of the lumber yard, he noticed the at the rear and hurriedly ran up the river and over the company's private bridge to send in the alarm, but Capt. Mason had been before him.

The mill and elevator had been entirely refitted last fall by the Dickson Company for the use of the Consolidated Milling Company. In November the latter company stored forty cars of wheat in the elevator, and of this comparatively little has been used, as the mill only started up on the 1st of January, and had not been operated at night as yet. There was also a quantity of flour in barrels and bags destroyed, although about 75 barrels and 100 bags were taken out by the firemen. The flour, however, was spoiled later through the spread of the fire to the spot where it had been placed.

The entire loss is placed at about $75,000. The Dickson Company estimates the three in the neighborhood of $40,000, the mill being fitted up with the latest and best equipment procurable. The general "blanket" policy which covers the entire Dickson property, applies to the destroyed buildings and the insurance is placed at $18,000 to be divided amongst the following fire insurance companies, Royal, North British and Mercantile, Lancashire, Guardian, Phoenix of Hartford, Manchester, British American, and Western, being placed through Messrs. Cox & Davis. The Merchantile also covers a small risk through Mr. W.H. Hill.

On the stock in buildings belonging to the Consolidated Milling Company and valued at about thirty or thirty-five thousand dollars, there is an insurance of $33,000 placed through Mr. W. H. Hill as follows:—London $3,000, National $5,000, Connecticut $2,000, Hand in Hand $10,000, Norwich Union $3,500, and Imperial $1,500.

Figuring Up

We are face to face with stock-taking—weeding thinning counting—and during the process Price-pruning and Profit-paring play an important part.

It does not matter what part of this store you strike, prices are slaughtered. Our fresh, up-to-date, extensive stock must be reduced during this stock-taking month. It is the clear-up and and clear-out time at the Peterborough Bookstore.

This business will stand no dull times. No stagnation. "No let-up." Buyers count. We are alive to the fact that we must make sacrifices. There must be no accumulation of stock from season to season. A $10 bill is now more potent than $15 worth of goods.

Don't let go your dollars until you have seen what we are doing in the way of reducing prices in Books, Stationery, Wall Papers, Window Shades, Cornice Poles, Fancy Goods, Presentation Goods, Bibles, Hymn Books, Prayer Books, Games, Sleighs.

RELIGION TO BE TAUGHT IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

SO THE FORTNIGHTLY CLUB HAS DELIBERATELY DECIDED.

This is the Decision in Last Night's Debate—An Interesting and Able Discussion—Rev. H. Symonds the Judge—Eloquent Efforts by Messrs. Hampden Burnham, D. W. Dumble, Sheriff Hall and Rev. W. R. Young.

A large and representative audience assembled in the Y. M. C. Hall last night to listen to the debate on the subject—"Resolved that the Christian religion should be a compulsory subject of education in our schools."

Rev. H. Symonds, president of the Fortnightly Club, occupied the chair, and was charged with the important duty of giving a decision on the subject.

Mrs. G. A. Smith furnished a delightfully well-performed pianoforte selection, and after a few introductory remarks of welcome and explanation, the business of the evening proceeded. The first speaker was who opened the debate by defining the subject and saying that religion as a matter of education could not be said to be the Christian religion, as a matter of worship or belief, therefore the subject of discussion was whether the history of the Christian religion should be placed on the same planes as arithmetic and other subjects which had been considered so necessary by the people as to have been made compulsory. He then went on to say that the information acquired by children in attendance at church and in Sunday schools was not educational nor compulsory and that therefore there was a residue who, since they did not attend Sunday school or church and since the schools did not teach religion, grew up in ignorance. Instruction in the Christian religion was not general at home and we therefore found that education in the Christian religion was very faulty. Reverse the process, said the speaker, and place arithmetic in the place of religion, and what sort of arithmeticians would we turn out, if we had only casual attendance on Sundays and at fitful intervals during the week? It was necessary, therefore, to improve our system. The question was, was it feasible to introduce the teaching of the Christian religion. He contended that as a matter of history it would have no effect in making Methodists, Anglicans or Roman Catholics. We had the history of our country taught in our schools, but that did not Liberals or Conservatives. A bias to political or religious convictions should be avoided in our public schools. He advocated bringing children within the influence of the Gospel, without saying that Gospel was to be in any sense denominational. Since, then, it was feasible, he showed that it was necessary. The present condition of our public schools was breeding secularism—men were becoming humanitarians or secular utilitarians. Mankind was the modern God and utilitarianism was his prophet. It was idle to point to the progress of the world—that progress was material chiefly. It was true that in knowledge, morality, inventions and works of charity, the age was far in advance of proceeding ones, but the apostles of this progress were Herbert Spencer, agnostic, and Huxley, Bradlaugh and Ingersoll, more than agnostics. Their idea was that religion was not necessary to the development of an ideal world. People boasted of liberty—they had mistaken defiance for liberty—shook their fists in the face of all restraint, human or divine, and it must be remembered that the council of God was not a parliament of people, nor was the will of a mere majority a law for God. Men seeking representative offices canvassed for votes like beggars for alms, and when elected by such means instead of, perhaps, far better men, they boasted of comprising bodies that represented the people, and then proclaimed, "vox populi vox Dei." All could admit that it was desirable that all men should have an equal chance to be comfortable and happy, that the family of the poor man should have an equal chance with that of the rich as far as possible, but these things did not comprise more than the material necessities of mankind, and the speaker concluded by quoting the verse of Holy Scripture—"For thus saith the Lord, let the wise man not glory in his wisdom."

MR. HAMPDEN BURNHAM,

MR. D. W. DUMBLE,

the first speaker on the negative, began by criticising the line of argument pursued by the leader of the affirmative—it was self evident that a child in school should know what the Christian religion meant as a matter of definition. He contended that in our state-endowed schools the Christian religion should not be taught. If religion, as a mere theory, be taught, there is little objection, but to teach dogmas as a compulsory subject, was wrong. He defined society as an aggregation of individuals that agreed to accept certain laws, and to make certain mutual sacrifices of opinion for the common good. Laws are made by majorities, and minorities necessarily submit. Laws must be made that are generally acceptable—laws that conduce to the general harmony. Therefore he held it impracticable and impossible to take children of mixed creeds and teach them a one-man theory of religion—trouble and discord would be inevitable. Mr. Burnham's contention supposed an examination of the children in religion. Teachers would differ in their theories, and with a succeeding teacher they would have to unlearn what they were before taught. Every denomination would object to the teaching of another's theory of religion. Compulsory education in religion would bring back the days when persecution was employed to enforce religious belief. The speaker then contrasted the condition of those countries where religious teaching was compulsory with those where freedom in this respect was practised, greatly to the advantage of the latter. If we decided to teach religion in our schools we must first agree upon a common creed. It was asked if it was to be expected that a teacher who was not spiritually-minded could be expected to teach spirituality—religion was a vitality, not a mere bald definition. The most confirmed infidels would accept Christ as the greatest of human teachers, but they denied the truths of the gospel he taught. Moral teaching affected the life. Human law could not compel a man to observe his duty towards his Maker—the conscience could not be taught by the law and religion could not therefore be made a subject of teaching.

REV. W. R. YOUNG

was the second speaker in support of the affirmative of the proposition. After allusion to Mr. Dumble's assertion that the majority ruled and was right, the speaker quoted Noah as a case where the minority was in the right. He said that the real question was the teaching of religion as opposed to mere denominationalism. He thought the Apostles' creed would embrace the general and comprehensive grounds of belief that might be acceptable, to which all denominations could subscribe, but he suggested a broader and more general creed that he thought none could object to—belief in God, in the Trinity, in the Bible as a full and sufficient revelation of God's will, in sin, in the atonement, in regeneration by the Holy Ghost, in the immortality of the soul and in the eternity of rewards and punishment. A process that would develop the physical, mental, moral and spiritual nature of a pupil represented complete education. And we only had all these conditions present—and only complete education—when the Christian religion was taught in addition to other branches. The real question was how we could best bring the spiritual development in true and harmonious relation with the physical and mental and moral. Education without religion fell short of its vital import. The condition of the nations where Christian religion was taught was compared to those that did not teach it with the obvious inference. The highest type of manhood required the teaching of the Christian religion. If we had more religion taught in our schools we should be better morally all round, we should have purer politics, and we should have none of the ballot box stuffing and similar practices that brought the blush of shame to our cheeks. (Cheers.) In reply to the argument that ministers and Sunday schools should teach religion, the speaker pointed out that it was an impossibility to develop the spiritual life in children by devoting one-seventh of the week to the most important part of their education. The speaker concluded his address by declaring that we must, as honest people, face the question and in some way bring about a system of education in which the vital importances of the Christian religion should have adequate recognition.

MR. SHERIFF HALL,

in opening, disclaimed any pretension to the eloquence that was the specialty of the previous speakers. He took the position that the Christian religion should not be made a subject of compulsory education in our schools. He defied any one to show that the Bible anywhere required that religion should be taught in the schools. He pointed out that the great Founder of the Christian religion distinctly disclaimed any connection with the state. He also showed that in the early ages of the Christian church there had been a growth and progress that had never been equalled or approached at any other period, and during this era of increase the state not only did not compel religious instruction, but persecuted Christians with unrelenting severity. The speaker contended that religion was solely a matter of conscience, with which the state had nothing to do. The Christian religion has to do with the inward man, and no man was ever made a Christian under compulsion. Women composed a great majority of the church, and the experience of mankind was that never, under any circumstances, could women be brought to do anything under compulsion. Great agnostics like Huxley, Darwin, etc., had a Christian education, yet it did not make them better men—it made infidels of them. The nations that had refused to adopt a system of compulsory religious education were the greatest. Dilke was quoted to show that the British colonies had freedom in respect of religious education, and here the condition of morality, religious progress, enlightment and advanced civilization were far ahead of any country where state interference with religious education was adopted. Bryce had said a similar thing in respect to the United States, where the system of education was entirely secular. The speaker referring to state instruction, pointed out that the state that taught the most religion of any in history committed the greatest crime that ever was perpetrated in the death of Christ, and in Scotland, where religion was most thoroughly taught the last man to die for the sake of freedom of conscience, was killed because he could not believe in the Trinity.

Mr. Burnham, in rejoinder, pointed out that the affirmative did not contend for compelling belief of any kind. We were now bad, and let us become better, and in order to do so we should learn something of the truths of religion in our schools in theory if not in practice. Religious education was not to be made a matter of belief but of history

THE SUM OF THE WHOLE QUESTION.

Rev. Mr. Symonds in summing up gave a full and judicial analyses of the arguments presented by both sides. He pointed out the difficulties that surrounded the question of the state teaching religion as a compulsory subject, and also pointed out that the true object of education was to influence the whole nature of man—then why should the spiritual nature be neglected? He frankly stated that he had a strong bias in favour of the affirmative, but hoped to be absolved from being influenced by such a feeling. He highly complimented all the speakers on their admirable speeches, but he was compelled to say that the weight of argument rested with the affirmative, which seemed to be the popular decision with the large audience.

In conclusion, Rev. Mr. Symonds announced that on Friday evening in that hall Rev. Prof. Clark, of Trinity University, Toronto, would deliver his celebrated lecture on "Burns," to which all would be welcome.

CURLIANA.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—As an interested spectator of many of the games in the Innes Medal and Kendry Cup competitions, I would like to enquire how the Granite club can reconcile the fact that in spite of the stringent rules which were adopted regarding the non-strengthening of the rinks when playing off the draws in these competitions, yet in fully four-fifths of the matches played we find the same names recurring again and again.

This is notoriously the case as concerning a particular lead to whom the Granites seemed to pin their faith to such an extent as to play him in almost every match.

In the agreement regarding the draws in these two competitions, it was by mutual consent that the effort was exerted to check such unsportsmanlike conduct as strengthening a weak rink for a game.

I would like to hear what the Granites have to say in their defence, particularly in regard to their continually playing the same lead throughout all the different draws of the series.

I will be indeed pleased to hear of a Granite man coming forward and explaining a matter which has cast somewhat of a blot on their escutcheon. The club has now the two trophies—but at what cost?

Yours truly,
VETERAN.

A despatch from Lindsay announces that the Peterborough Granites won from the Winnipeggers this morning in the Lindsay bonspiel double rink competition.

As will be seen in another column the Granites beat the Thistles out in the preliminary draw of the double rinks competition at the Lindsay bonspell. Skips Ray and Rutherford are both in the single rink competition and have won their first draw.

HOCKEY.

The hockey match at the rink to-morrow night between the third team of the Peterboroughs and Norwood's second team is exciting a great deal of interest and being the first league match of the season should draw a big crowd.

"Very, Very Good."

A prominent lady visiting Peterborough from New York City was so highly pleased with the photographic work she saw in

Mr. Whiten's art studio that she made an appointment and had a dozen sent to her address, 170 Lexington Avenue, New York City. She writes Mr. Whiten: "Photos arrived all right; they are very, very good; I am much pleased with them." Three different persons recently on a visit here from Montreal also had a dozen each taken by Mr. Whiten and forwarded to their address in Montreal. The above speaks well for Peterborough and the high-class work turned out by Mr. Whiten. Entrance to studio, 158 Hunter street, opposite Oak Hall. d15tf

UNTOLD MISERY FROM

RHEUMATISM

G. M. King, Water Valley, Miss., cured by

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"For five years, I suffered untold misery from muscular rheumatism. I tried every known remedy, consulted the best physicians, visited Hot Springs, Ark., three times, spending $1000 there, besides doctors' bills; but could obtain only temporary relief. My flesh was wasted away so that I weighed only ninety-three pounds; my left arm and leg were drawn out of shape, the muscles being twisted up in knots. I was unable to dress myself, except with assistance, and could only hobble about by using a cane. I had no appetite, and was assured, by the doctors, that I could not live. The pains, at times, were so awful, that I could procure relief only by means of hypodermic injections of morphine. I had my limbs bandaged in clay, in sulphur, in poultices; but these gave only temporary relief. After trying everything, and suffering the most awful tortures, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Inside of two months, I was able to walk without a cane. In three months, my limbs began to strengthen, and in the course of a year, I was cured. My weight has increased to 165 pounds, and I am now able to do my full day's work as a railroad blacksmith."

SCIENCE OF CYCLING.

ENTHUSIASTS INTERESTED IN THE MECHANISM OF NEW WHEELS.

Experts Say That Riding Is the Only Test of Good or Bad Features—The Chainless Machines — Improvements Forced by 'Cyclists.

There is no question that since the bicycle became popular the knowledge of mechanics has increased wonderfully among the people. This was shown last year at the industrial show, when women and elderly persons examined with the greatest care the internal parts of the machine, and compared them with others they had seen, sought only to follow popular adaptations. It is true that the public must always remain the final judge of constructional features, as well as of appearances, for it is only by riding that the good or bad features of a bicycle can be determined.

The interest that the public has taken in wheeling has been of such a character that the intricacies of the construction of a bicycle have been studied until they are to-day familiar to all intelligent riders. It is for this reason that the reports of agents and traveling salesmen are so important a factor to the manufacturer, and it is not at all uncommon for the latter to submit to his agent any novel idea that he may think of introducing in his production for a certain season and also be largely governed in his decision as to its practicability.

An instance of this has already been seen this season in the attention which the people have paid to the chainless bicycle, even before they have had an opportunity to see it. It has only been in response to a popular demand in the direction of the appearance of the bicycle that the flush joint has been adopted this year by so many makers of high grade wheels.

Wooden rims and narrow treads were forced on manufacturers by the public demand for lightness and these features would not now be discarded under any circumstances. In all the places where the 1897 models are now being shown all the points, cones, ball cases, reinforcements, sections of tubing, adjustments, etc., are separately exhibited and can be handled and examined. It is daily becoming more evident that the time is rapidly approaching when the individual rider will be able to take his wheel to pieces and put it together again with the art of the skilled mechanic.

There is one particular in which a thorough knowledge of the construction of his wheel helps a rider very much; that is in the event of his having to go to a repair shop. Many of these shops have sprung up, and are conducted by people who take advantage of the rider's comparative ignorance, and are bent only on making a good-sized job of anything that comes into the shop. A lady some three months ago was riding on King street, Toronto, when she heard something rattling on her wheel, and proceeded with it to a repair shop.

The man examined her wheel and informed her that it would have to be taken apart and completely gone over, the expense would be about two dollars, and the job would take two or three days.

She left her wheel, with word that her husband would call in the same evening. He knew something of a bicycle, and found that the rattling was occasioned only by the chain striking against the dress-guard, and the remedy involved only a few minutes' time and a cost of 10 cents. The bicycle has been in constant use, and has run splendidly ever since.

There is some discussion going on as to the material and construction of bicycles for children. It has been stated that 1897 will see juvenile wheels which will be duplicates of those made for adults in everything except size. Of course, it is impossible to obtain the same price for a child's wheel as for one built for a full-grown person, and yet the saving in the cost of manufacture is insignificant.

It is acknowledged that nothing is too good for the children, yet machines for juveniles, like others, must be made according to the price for which they can be sold.

It is said that in the wooden frame bicycle there is a solution of the problem of safe and suitable juvenile machines at a reduced price. If this construction can be adapted to this purpose it would be more acceptable than machines of the heavy type sold now, and are the only ones in which economy, safety and durability can be successfully combined at the price for which they must be sold.

A useful article that will be put on the market is an automatic chain lubricator that is attached by a spring placed around the axle, between the sprocket wheel and crank. The body of the lubricator contains a pad-wick or ribbon, which is saturated with an emulsion, and sets between two teeth of the large sprocket wheel. As the chain revolves, enough of the emulsion is deposited between the rivets of the chain to keep it in easy running condition. It is said that the lubricator will run five hundred miles without refilling, and also to have given satisfaction to riders who have tested it.

There is no part of the bicycle that rusts so frequently as the spokes of the wheels. Saturate a rag or piece of cotton waste with kerosene and dip in powdered pumice stone; rub briskly, and the rust will quickly disappear.

It is manifest that during 1897 there will be a call for large sprockets and higher gears on all new machines. Although the merits of large sprockets are as yet a subject not definitely settled, there will be a number eager for something new who will refuse to ride a wheel that has not front and rear sprockets of a much larger diameter than heretofore.

The very class which desires these, however, is the one which advocates featherweight machines. As a consequence, they will be confronted with a perplexing problem when they are ready for the new mount. The manufacturers assert that the larger sprockets, necessitating, of course, an increased length of chain, will increase the weight of the machine.

While to outsiders this increase in weight will not matter much and may seem a small matter to quibble over, to those who will be most anxious for the large sprockets the question is a serious one, as they have decided views on the subject of weights.

Too Expressive a Name.

Smiley—"Guess that new coal-dealer down the street will have to change his name if he expects people to patronize him."

Banga—"Why? What's his name?"

Smiley—"Lyttleton. Some people might not notice it, but I'm afraid most of folks would shy at a name like that on a coal-dealer's sign."

The best way to cure disease is to drive it from the system by purifying the blood with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Early Coinage.

The early methods of coining money were exceedingly imperfect. The metal, having been brought to the required standard of fineness, was melted and cast into small bars, which was reduced into thin plates under the hammer. Square pieces cut from these plates were rounded at the forge and then by means of rude dies—one fixed like an anvil to a block and the other held in the hand and struck with a mallet like a punch—the round lump of metal was flattened and coined at the same time. The difficulty of thus placing the two dies exactly opposite suggested occasional improvements; but it was not till about the sixteenth century that the forge and hammer gave place in France and England to the mill and screw, a method by which the bars were reduced to their proper thickness by rolling and the pieces were coined by the pressure of a screw. In the British mint screw presses impelled by steam are still used, while in the United States, in France and in some other countries the lever presses have been substituted.

Remarkably Rapid Advance.

M. Hanotaux, the Minister of Foreign Affairs at Paris, has come forward as a candidate for the seat of the late M. Challemel-Lacour in the French Academy, M. Hanotaux, who only thirteen years ago was a professor earning a stipend of $10 a week, is the author of some very remarkable historical publications, his work on Cardinal Richelieu having won for him much fame, and his election is considered certain.

"Let parents not live for their children, but with them." The mother should allow no false modesty to stand in the way of her daughter's knowledge of herself, of her possibilities, of her perils. For over thirty years Dr. Pearce has used his "Favorite Prescription" as a strengthener, a purifier, a regulator. It works directly upon the delicate, distinctly feminine organs, in a natural, soothing way. It searches out the weak spots and builds them up. A woman who would understand herself should send 21 cents to the World's Dispensary, Buffalo, N. Y., for Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser, a book of 1008 pages.

A Hunting Motor Horse Now.

Everything now seems to conspire to kill the breed of horses. When the horseless carriage came into existence it seemed that at least the breed of hunters could not be touched, but the hope was vain. He is to be relegated to the Museum of Antiquities, according to the New York Press. The hunting motor horse has appeared. The dangers of the hunting field will no longer exist; we shall jump the fences with mathematical accuracy; the height and breadth to be cleared will depend simply on engineering skill. The mechanism which is to bring about the result consists of two strong steel bars shaped like skates, which project on each side of the front wheel. A spring causes these to strike the ground with the required force, which propels the machine into the air so that it can clear five feet in height, and about twenty-five feet in breadth, and land you safely—at least, so the inventor says.

Toronto Junction, Jan. 18 (Special)—Mr. H. Playter, is not a difficult man to find as everybody here knows that he is foreman at No. 1 Fire Hall. He was the picture of health when called upon by your correspondent and told his story thus:

"In April 1896 I suffered from a severe attack of Sciatica, affecting my left hip and the leg to the tip of my toes. I suspected it came from some form of kidney trouble and as they had been recommended I procured a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills."

At the end of the fourth day I was entirely relieved, but desiring a permanent cure I continued to use that and another box and am now cured cured and as well as ever in my life. A brother of mine living at Pine Orchard has been cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Facts About Furs and Bankrupt Stocks.

Some dealers in Furs believe in selling Bankrupt Stocks but others there are who do not; yet, at the same time have offered several bankrupt stocks for sale within a short time, while claiming also to sell nothing in Furs but of their own manufacture. We certainly must stand away ahead of our competitors as we do not require the aid of such stocks but stand on the merits of our own manufactured goods, which we can always guarantee as such. Our reputation of 36 years standing without a failure is the best proof that customers believe in us and support us so well. We do not require to make any bombastic statements regarding the size or quality of our stock; both are only too well known in the town as well as in many other places at great distances. D. BELLEGHEM, Issuer of Marriage Licenses, Hunter Street Peterborough. OFFICE—FURNITURE WAREROOMS

The newly wedded couple step through the door of the future. They pass from the happy, thoughtless present into an avenue of possibilities. The future is what they make it—what their health makes it—happy or miserable—a success or failure—full of the love and brightness and joyfulness of mutual love and helpfulness, and healthy, rosy, rollicking children, or, tortured with pain and sickness and mutual fault-finding and dependence, and lacking the binding tie of healthy, happy offspring. A world depends upon the young wife. If she has taken proper care of herself and is healthy in a womanly way, the probabilities are all in favor of a happy home filled with the music of childish laughter. Too many young women neglect to take care of their womanly selves. They shrink from the distasteful "examinations" and "local treatment" upon which most physicians insist. There is no need for this.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription acts directly on the important and delicate organs concerned in wifehood and motherhood. It makes them strong and healthy. It allays inflammation, heals ulceration, soothes pain and gives the tortured nerves rest and tone. It prepares for wifehood and maternity. Taken during the expectant period, it banishes discomfort and makes the coming of baby easy and comparatively painless. It insures the new-comer's health and an ample supply of natural nourishment. Over 90,000 women have testified to its merits. Druggists who offer substitutes aim to get a few pennies extra profit.

Dr. Pierce's great book, "Common Sense Medical Adviser," would prevent more than half the sickness in any family. It gives the best advice for curing common ailments without a doctor. It tells all about anatomy and physiology and the origin of life, and is a most valuable, medical work. A free copy in paper covers sent for 21 one-cent stamps to pay cost of customs and mailing only. World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y. For cloth-bound, send 50 stamps.

BLOOM ON THE PEACH

SOME GOOD THINGS TO BE SACRIFICED FOR THE COMPLEXION.

Doctors and Dermatologists Are Not so Potent, After All, as Judicious Diet and a Correct Course of Living—A Word in Season.

The complexion of young girls is very often a source of trouble to them, and continues to be so in spite of doctors and dermatologists and medicaments of all sorts. Perhaps when all things else have failed they will find the whole trouble done away with by a judicious diet and course of living. In many places there are no doctors especially skilled in relation to the skin, and mothers content themselves with thinking it will all come right in time. But they need not wait for time if they will follow a wise routine in matters of bath and diet, says a writer in Harper's Bazar.

In the first place, they should abolish the cold bath entirely, understanding that it is only the very rugged who can endure it, and that very few take it to advantage anyway; and they should use only the warm and hot baths, and use them frequently—the hot bath, a quick one taken at bedtime, with proper precautions about taking cold afterward. With this there should be not only exercise about the house in the way of familiar duties, although it is always in the same overbreathed air, but there should be rapid walking and hurrying out of doors, without any other fixed purpose than that of enjoyment, now and then a short run, if it may be taken without discomfort, and sometimes, properly protected, a tussle with a rainstorm, but never exposure, when unveiled, to cold and sharp winds.

And for the rest, diet is to be called upon to work miracles. Pastry is to be abandoned; all sorts of rich cakes and desserts as well; sweetmeats, candies, oily nuts, the whole delicious bonbon tribe, together with the homely old colonial doughnut, the rarebit and cheese in any form. Fruit, too, will be taken with hesitation, and more generally cooked than uncooked; fritters will be forsaken, potatoes will be replaced by bread, and the bread will be, as far as possible, of coarse grain rather than of fine flour.

Neither tea nor coffee will be drunk by our young aspirant for a good complexion, nor chocolate, be it said; she can have milk if it agrees with her, preferably skimmed milk and buttermilk. She will be surprised to find how soon she can dispense with much drinking at her meals, and how refreshing water alone will become. If she drank no water at all while eating, and as much as she wished a couple of hours later, it would be better yet; but if that is too much of a sacrifice, she would do well to try to limit herself to no more than a dozen tablespoonfuls of liquid with each meal. Of course, it is unnecessary to say that she takes no wine nor anything of that sort.

With this she should allow herself plenty of good and well-cooked meats, and dish gravy when it is free from fat; not always a great deal of beef, but rather mutton and poultry and game. Meat increases the muscular firmness and strength, and is supposed to add more to the nervous force than other diet; and often a low condition of the nerves has more to do with the skin trouble than anything else. Some of the most irritating, disfiguring and painful of skin troubles arise from worry or overstrain, or from malnutrition.

It must be understood, then, that the diet is to be bountiful and generous, but that it is to be thoroughly digestible, and never greasy nor too rich, and that all eating between meals and before going to bed is to be given up. Any girl who brings her habits down to these simple ways, and has regular and prolonged sleep, will soon have the peachy skin that belongs to her years, unless she has some more deep-seated and ineradicable trouble than is common.

For those who have no trouble with their skins, of course, such strictness of regime is not requisite; but the bloom will be kept a great while longer, which has not been interfered with by indigestible dainties and lazy habits.

Mrs. Joseph Norman, of 60 Sorauren Ave., Toronto, writes: "Pyny-Pectoral has never failed to cure my children of Croup after a few doses. It also cured me of a severe cold on the chest, after several other remedies had failed. I have also proved it a complete cure for my self, and I prefer it to all other cough remedies."
H. O. Barbour, of Little Rocher, N.B., writes: "As a cure for coughs PYNY-PECTORAL is the best selling medicine I have ever handled, and my customers will have no other."

The Proofreader's Errors.

No newspaper worker has to contend against greater obstacles than does the proofreader, and when everything is taken into consideration the average excellence of his work is little less than marvelous.

His errors of omission may be easily pardoned. Whenever the type calls a lovely young bride a "bird" the offense may lightly be overlooked, since the meaning is not entirely obscured. But the proofreader's errors of commission belong in a different category. Whenever he attempts to straighten out the tangled meaning of something he doesn't understand the result often is something to make the judicious grieve.

At the conclusion of the Li Hung Chang festivities in New York, and just before the distinguished Celestial left for China by the Canadian route, I wrote a paragraph, saying: "Before Li Hung Chang goes back to China he ought to see the United States." It came out in cold type: "Li Hung Chang is visiting the United States before going back to China." Simultaneously I found on my desk a note from the proofreader. It said: "You'll have to keep tab a little closer. That Chinaman has been in New York a week. Don't you read the papers?"

W. W. Naughton, the San Francisco sporting writer, once included in his sporting notes for the Examiner an item saying that "the young salmon are beginning to run." It appeared in print: "The young salmon are beginning to swim."

When Mr. Naughton asked for an explanation the proofreader cheerily remarked: "That's all right, Billy. You had that mixed up with your turf stuff, but I straightened it out for you."

"But why didn't you let it go as I wrote it?" persisted Naughton.

"I couldn't," was the reply. "Who ever heard of a fish running?"—Chicago Times-Herald.

The folly of prejudice is frequently shown by people who prefer to suffer for years rather than try an advertised remedy. The million who have no such notions, take Ayer's Sarsaparilla for blood-diseases, and are cured. So much for common sense.

The Canary Islands Are Cheerful.

A tourist in the Canary Islands, writing for Good Words, says:

"I know nothing more cheerful to the vagabond than the readiness of friendship among the common people of the Canary isles. Go where you will abroad, you may shake the hand of a beggar, loafer, peasant and cottager. All have the same free and hearty welcome for you. They seem to delight in outlandish acquaintances, and if you happen to be a woman you instantly appeal to their better selves. Here, as elsewhere, I have kindly memories of people whose names I never knew and who did not know mine. I remember driving by diligence with a brave and heroic-looking young gentleman beautifully clad, a short, smart jacket and a wide-brimmed hat.

"Men of breeding might go as far as his native village to acquire his perfect manners. Wondering who this picturesque and operatic young man might be I afterward questioned the diligence driver (a rascal I had reason to suspect of stealing my bag with all my things and the wonderful bargains in Orotava lace and embroidery I had driven) and learned that he was a village butcher. So with all the trades people here. I wanted to match some stuff sold me by a woman of Orotava down at Santa Cruz, and was informed I should apply to Don Pablo or Don Pedro, and then to Don Nicholas of the Puerto. Surnames are suppressed—every one is still as well born as they were on the peninsula in the days of Lope de Vega and the German ambassador, asking for a servant's credentials, was presented with proof of his descent from a Gothic king."

The Unspeakable Turk.

She smiled coldly upon him and turned away. He was rich, of aristocratic parentage, and of courtly bearing, and her chill refusal cut him to the heart, says the New York World.

"The time will come, Gwendoline, de Peyster," bemoaned John Smith, half aloud, as with eyes blinded with tears he wandered down the marble steps.

A year passed by. The maid still remained unwedded, and society wondered where Smith had gone. He had sold all his effects and had departed to oriental lands. Whither, no one knew.

Then one morning society looked into the public prints with bulging eyes, for there, in cold type, it was chronicled:

"The engagement is authoritatively announced of Miss Gwendoline de Peyster and Nhoj Thtima Bey, a talented young Turkish diplomatist, who arrived here a few weeks ago from Bagdad. Miss de Peyster had met him in this city several years ago, and their former friendship ripened into an engagement. The bey speaks English with commendable fluency. He purposes to give up a promising career in the Turkish diplomatic service and to reside permanently in this city. Miss de Peyster has had many suitors, among them men of vast wealth, and of prominent positions."

So it was that John Smith fulfilled his own prophecy.

Open as Day.

It is given to every physician, the formula of Scott's Emulsion being no secret: but no successful imitation has ever been offered to the public. Only years of experienced and study can produce the best.

W. H. Cadney, Fort Burwell, Ont., says: "I was afflicted with Rheumatism and tried all cures. I did not get relief until I tried Miller's Compound Iron Pills, and before I had finished two boxes I was completly cured, and now feel like a different man. Only 25 cents a box. UNDER WATER 18 HOURS.

The Possibilities in Favor of the Submarine Boats Are Looking Up.

An Italian inventor named Corsetto has constructed an apparatus which he calls a "methydric sphere," and by means of which he professes to be able to descend to any depth in the sea, says a writer in the Scientific American. In his experiment at Spezzia he stored some 2000 cubic feet of compressed air in his apparatus, which he entered with two friends, and which was then lowered to a depth of some thirty feet. As after an expiration of nine hours the "sphere" had not yet been seen to reascend to the surface a message was sent to the admiral in command of the naval department, who at once sent a diver to the spot. The "sphere" was found still resting on the sea bottom, but the diver heard nothing in answer to his knocks. Some barges having been brought to the spot by a tug, the "sphere" was hauled up with ropes, and as soon as it emerged its door was opened, and the inventor appeared with a livid face and half asphyxiated. His two companions were unconscious, but were quickly resuscitated. They had remained eighteen hours under water. The inventor explains that so far all his experiments were successful, but on this occasion when he intended to return to the surface the air pressure at his command proved insufficient to expel the water ballast, of about two tons weight, which had so far kept his appliance submerged, and hence they had to remain where they were until rescued. At any rate, three persons were enabled to remain under water for eighteen hours, and this experiment may not be without significance as regards the much-discussed problem of submarine navigation.

NORTH HARVEY.

From Our Own Correspondent.

A very pleasant time was spent at the basket social on Friday evening last. A very large crowd gathered and the school house, where the entertainment was held, was packed to its utmost capacity. Quite a crowd from Bobcaygeon came and helped to swell the number and all the logging camps in the vicinity furnished their quota. Taken altogether it was the most successful thing of the kind that has been held here and was in a great measure owing to the high esteem in which Mr. McKnight is held by everyone here and in the surrounding country. All classes and creeds were represented, which speaks well for the non-sectarian spirit of the people. There were about sixty baskets which Mr. D. Lavery disposed of by auction in his usual business-like manner. There was some spirited bidding when some of the young men thought there was danger of losing their best girl's basket, which caused considerable amusement to the rest. Those who were not lucky enough to get a basket were supplied with individual lunch bags which were well filled with good things. After tea was disposed of there was a very good programme, but owing to the length of time taken up for tea only a part of it was given as follows:

Several selections ..... Orchestra
Recitation....."Rosny's Story"....F Crowe
Clarionet duet..Masters H Reid and W Moore
Song, "Golden Years are Passing by"....Miss McGuire
Scotch song, "Jessie's Dream"....Miss Beatty
Speech..... Rev Bryce Innis, B A
Speech..... Mr Wm Hickson

Special praise is deserved by Miss Beatty, organist, Miss Bisch, Miss McGuire, Mr. Ross and all the members of the orchestra. The ladies who had charge of the affair deserve great praise also for their trouble in making it a success. The meeting closed by singing the National Anthem. The proceeds amounted to $31.

WARSAW.

From our own Correspondent.

On the afternoon of the 28th ult., the primary class in connection with the Presbyterian church Sunday School assembled in the manse, and presented their teacher, Rev. R. Hyde, with an address and the present of a nice, comfortable library chair. The following address was read by Master Rollie Doughty:

DEAR TEACHER,—We, the the members of your class present you with this small token of our love. Wishing you a Merry Christmas and a happy New Year.

Signed on behalf of the class.

ROLLO DOUGHTY.
JOHN MCINTOSH.

Masters John McIntosh and Richard Moffat handed the chair to their teacher, who replied very feelingly to the address, and thanked the members of the class for this second token of their affection and love. He likewise wished each member of the class many happy returns of the season, and when our days are completed in this life, hoping that all shall live here, so that in the life to come, we shall spend an eternity in realms of bliss, where parting shall be unknown.

The members of the class spent the afternoon with their teacher, and his estimable wife, entertaining them with readings, recitations and music. About 5 p.m. all the class sat down to enjoy their tea. A pleasant time was spent around the table. As the shades of evening began to deepen, all took their departure for home and thus ended the second happy gathering in the manse.

GALWAY.

From Our Own Correspondent.

AT THE LINDSAY BONSPIEL.

Double and Single Rink Competitions—Hamilton Knocked Out by Oshawa—Winnipeg Wins a Game.

Lindsay, Jan. 19.—The big bonspiel is on, with all that could be desired as regards the weather, below zero and calm. The committee in charge of the arrangements have everything in perfect order, and the first bonspiel at Lindsay is an assured success. The majority of the rinks came from points in the Midland District. The members of the Winnipeg Rink, Messrs. W. E. Allerby, Dr. Jamieson, H. Payne and Chris Cornell, were extended a very hearty greeting on their arrival. This was not alone due to the good feeling engendered by their having come so far to take part in the bonspiel, but also to the fact that they had in the past extended many courtesies to the Lindsay rinks taken to the Winnipeg bonspiel by Mr. Flavelle. Mr. Cornell, as is well known, is an old Lindsay boy, and his reception was especially hearty.

Play began at 10.10 this morning at the curling and skating rinks, many spectators being present. The following is the result of the morning and afternoon games:

RHEUMATISM CURED.

Eighteen Months Trying to get Cured—Had the Best Doctors—He Found What he Wanted in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Goderich, Jan. 11—(Special)—A case of great interest here just now is that of Mr. Alexander J. Sharkey, who for some time has been an extreme sufferer from Rheumatism. His statement to the correspondent is as follows:—

"For eighteen months I was a victim of Rheumatism and during the whole of that time was trying every means to cure it. I had the best doctors in Canada and took their prescriptions with faith and patience.

"I got tired at last, for I found the disappointment nearly as killing as the disease.

"But one friend wiser than others convinced me that my disease must be cured by way of the kidneys and recommended Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I have used two boxes of these pills to effect a perfect cure, and I don't care who knows it."

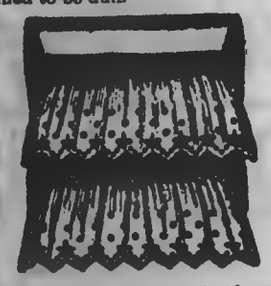
WHITE GOODS SENSATION!

The men are puzzled to know how it is that so many ladies are flocking to the Golden Lion buying Whitewear in January! The remark has been heard that the very thought of it sends a cold chill down his back, but there's a-something about it lady shoppers understand. We have made it worth their while to buy Whitewear here just now—even if it is midwinter! Big stores like ours have to be on the alert to make business interesting, and these special buying chances in January stimulate trade when it is inclined to be dull.



There is a great change in the new styles and qualities this year; and, besides, the prices are lower. Having no old stock to work off, ladies need have no hesitation. Such values as are represented in this store have never been equalled, in a regular way, much less discounted. Prices are decidedly below anything ever before attempted. We mean that exactly as its written!

LADIES' CORSET COVERS 10c, 20c, 30c, 35c, 50c, and 65c.
LADIES' NIGHT DRESSES 50c, 75c, $1, $1 25, $1 50, $1.65, $2 up to $3 the garment.
LADIES' DRAWERS 25c, 35c, 45c, 50c, 55c, 85c and $1
LADIES' WHITE SKIRTS 75c, $1, $1.25, $1 50 and $1 75.

FREE—With every 50c purchase of Whitewear we give a Sheet of Popular Music Free.

SECOND CROP OF BARGAINS

As there is a good deal of winter yet before us, it is unnecessary to point out the wisdom of buying now.

This is the month of lucky chances and snaps in mid-winter goods. An aftermath of Bargains for shrewd buyers—lines which we have laid out during stock-taking such as Serges, Cheviots, Heavy Tweeds and other Remnants, as well as Millinery, to be sold even at HALF REGULAR PRICES.

We don't want to carry winter lines past their regular selling season. No relics here. This store is not a museum. We have neither old goods nor old ideas.

You need the goods—we need the room they occupy—so there is mutual benefit all round in the selling of them.

We don't "rest-up" during the winter months and take things easy until spring. While others are resting we're simply HUSTLING.

A NEW ISSUE OF POSTAGE STAMPS

Suggested as One Way in Which Canada May Mark the Queen's Diamond Jubilee — Important Announcement in Regard to Return of Letters - Ottawa News.

Ottawa, Jan. 20.—(Special.)—Rumor has it that Parliament will be asked to pass an address to the Queen inviting the Duke and Duchess of York to visit Canada during the present year.

Representations have been made to the Postmaster-General that it would be fitting for the Government to recognize the Queen's jubilee year by an entirely new issue of postage stamps. Since the matter was first called to the attention of Mr. Mulock some of the philatelic societies have been moving in the same direction, although doubtless these gentlemen are more in erested from a personal than from a patriotic standpoint. On his return to Ottawa, it is said, the Postmaster-General will decide whether or not to recommend his colleagues to make a change in the present stamp issue.

Capt Spain, in charge of the fisheries protective service, leaves for the Maritime Provinces to-morrow. He will visit all the vessels of the protection fleet now in winter quarters, and make arrangements for such repairs as may be necessary. During his absence from Ottawa Capt. Spain will hold one or two official investigations.

So far as the Fisheries Department is concerned it may be stated that no radical changes in the service will be made pending the decision of the Judicial Committee on the question of fisheries jurisdiction. Until such judgment is given fishery matters will be pretty much at a standstill.

An order-in-council has been passed approving of the draft of the licenses to be issued to American fishing vessels this year. This license will contain the same clause as last year, which declares that it will become null and void if any of the goods, supplies and advantages obtained thereunder are sold or transferred to another United States fishing vessel which has not obtained a license. In 1895 only 45 United States fishing vessels took out licenses, and it was discovered that they were in the habit of selling the supplies procured under license to other vessels without licenses. Last year, with the clause inserted, 78 vessels took out licenses.

The Department of Inland Revenue was notified to-day that Messrs. Hiram Walker & Sons have discovered a firm in Chicago which is putting up an inferior class of whiskey, labelling it Canadian "Club" and imitating the corks, capsules and labels of Messrs. Walker, as well as the Canadian Government stamp. The firm will prosecute the parties to the full extent of the United States law. A few weeks ago the firm was successful in securing a conviction for infringement of their trade marks in the States. The imitation of the Canadian Government stamp on a sample in possession of the department is exceedingly good.

Mr. John E. Redmond, M. P. for Waterford, arrived here at noon to-day. He was met at the station by a number of Ottawa Home Rulers. Mr. Redmond lectured at the opera house to-night on "Fifteen Years in the British House of Commons" to a fair crowd. During the course of the afternoon Mr. Redmond called on Chevalier Heney at his residence on Daly-street and denied all knowledge of the attack of his (Redmond's) paper, The Independent, on Mr. Heney, when the latter was in Ireland attending the Irish race convention. He said he was only a small shareholder in the paper in question, and had no knowledge that the communication was about to appear. Mr. Heney asked him if he had not told a gentleman in Montreal yesterday that the letter had been rent by one Moore from Ottawa to Dublin. Mr. Redmond admitted that he had done so. The Chevalier holds that, in view of this equivocation, Mr. Redmond's explanation is hardly satisfactory.

Dominion Analyst Mr. Macfarlane and his staff have completed the examination of a large number of samples of strained honey, collected in different parts of the country. The analyses reveal that in many instances there is a large percentage of cane sugar and glucose instead of the pure honey. No prosecutions have yet been instituted. The analysts are now turning their attention to cream tartar.

Prof. Robertson will leave for the Northwest Territories on the 28th to confer with farmers at different points where creameries are to be established to be managed by the Government for a term of years. His first meeting will be at Indian Head on Monday, Feb. 1. The next meeting will be at Calgary on Wednesday, Feb. 3. He will then go up the Calgary and Edmonton Railway. Other places to be visited later will be announced shortly. It is expected that the Government will take charge of about fifteen creameries in the Territories, manufacture butter for the farmers and export it direct to Britain.

A few weeks ago Dr. Gaudet, surgeon of St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary, was suspended for alleged intemperance. The inspector, in reporting on the case, observed that it was but justice to state that as a surgeon Dr Gaudet had been very successful; that during an epidemic of typhoid fever which visited the prison last year, but one of forty-four proved fatal and this, in view of the fact that the hospital facilities at St. Vincent de Paul are entirely inadequate for such emergencies. Since his suspension a considerable body of evidence has been laid before the Minister of Justice denying that there was any adequate ground for the discharge of Dr. Gaudet, and he has accordingly been reinstated.

The Postoffice Department calls attention to the fact that the rules now permit the return to the senders direct, without being forwarded to the dead letter branch and without charge except as noted below, of letters which fail of delivery to the address, provided they bear upon the face or back the name and address of the sender. Request letters are returned at the end of the period specified, and letters with the name and address only at the end of two weeks. These letters are not subject to any fee upon return, and the only charge made is in the case of letters originally insufficiently prepaid, where the original rating is collected. Delay in returning, caused by the forwarding of undelivered correspondence to the dead letter branch, as well as the payment of the returned letter fee, can be avoided if the public will take advantage of the regulation above set forth, and stamp or write their names and addresses upon all letters mailed.

It is said Sir Arthur Haliburton, the youngest son of the late Mr. Justice Haliburton (Sam Slick), is about to retire from the War Office, and will probably receive a peerage, with the title of Lord Haliburton. He married some years ago the widow of Sir George Clay, baronet, and is childless.

A full length portrait of Chief Justice Sir Henry Strong has just been executed for the Supreme Court of Canada. The portrait was painted by Robert Harris, President of the Royal Canadian Academy of Arts, and is regarded as one of the happiest of his efforts.

Mr. Whyte, western superintendent of the C.P.R., is in the city to-day, and had an interview with Mr. Sifton, Minister of the Interior.

Mr. Hurley, M.P., has sent to the Fisheries Department a splendid specimen of gar pike, which was caught in the Bay of Quinte. It will be mounted and placed on exhibition in the Fisheries Museum.

Sir Henri and Lady Joly returned to the city to-day.

His Excellency the Governor-General left for Montreal this afternoon to attend Mayor Smith's banquet.

Mr. Tarte went to Montreal to-day. He will take a further rest there.

It is conceded that the suggestions made by the Toronto Board of Trade in reply to the circular of the Department of Trade and Commerce are the best which have so far reached the Government.

No report has been received from Collector of Customs Davis since he went up to Fort Cudahy, on the Yukon, last June, and now that the winter has set in there is no probability of any word reaching here till next year. The only possibility is that if Surveyor Ogilvie gets through to the Pacific Coast he may bring intelligence with him of the season's doings up the Yukon.

Major-General Gascoigne is in New York enjoying a holiday.

The examination of bookkeeping of the Postoffice Department, which has been authorised by the Postmaster-General, will take some time yet.

BRAKESMAN KILLED.

Richard Baycroft Met With a Terrible Death at Gravenhurst

Barrie, Ont., Jan. 20.—A distressing railway accident occurred at Gravenhurst early this morning. Richard Baycroft, brakesman, was working on top of some freight cars while the train was shunting, and accidentally fell to the track, the cars passing over him and mangling his body horribly. Death came instantly. Deceased was about 30 years of age and belonged to this town. He was married about a year ago to Miss Morley. She has been with him at Gravenhurst for some time. Two fellow-brakesmen went north this morning to bring his remains here for burial.

Tuberculosis is Infectious.

New York, Jan. 20.—The Board of Health yesterday officially declared tuberculosis an infectious and communicable disease. Hereafter physicians in private practice and heads of hospitals and other institutions, whether private or public, will be required to report all cases of tuberculosis to the health authorities. New cases must be reported within a week after their diagnosis. It is proposed to have a city sanitarium for the isolation of certain cases, which may also be used as a school to educate those suffering from the malady.

Bellevue Hospital Scorched.

New York, Jan. 20.—Bellevue Hospital Medical College, in the grounds of Bellevue Hospital, in East 26th-street, was gutted by fire this morning. The flames did not touch the hospital. Thirty bodies in the dissecting room were cremated. Loss, $20,-

The Prince de Chimay Will Get His Divorce

WITHOUT PRODUCING TESTIMONY.

Princess' Counsel Asks That the Woman Have the Privilege of Seeing Her Children From Time to Time—

How Newspaper Men Were Kept From Hearing Trial.

New York, Jan. 20.—Auguste Vierait cables The Journal from Charleroi, Belgium: A great crowd of barristers and journalists assembled to-day in the Court of the First Instance here on the occasion of the opening of the Chimay divorce suit. The German, English, French and Belgian papers were well represented.

Maitres Auguste Beernaert and Leon Delacroix appeared for Prince Chimay, who sat near them. Maitre Allain of Paris was counsel for the Princess, who of course, did not attend.

The proceedings were opened at 9.30 a.m. by the judicial registrar declaring that, as no plea of non recevoir had been adduced by either side, the court admitted the demand for a divorce, and the president affirmed. They would have to examine whether there were grounds for granting the decree de plano, in other words, at once, or whether they ought to order an investigation.

The public prosecutor called attention to the fact that the public was composed of "professionals in indiscretion," and added that there was ground to fear that their appearance meant a diffusion of scandalous narrative to the further ends of the world, hence he asked, for the sake of the honor of the Chimay family, that the case be heard behind closed doors.

The robed barristers were accordingly only allowed to remain, and the rest of the court was cleared.

In the course of the proceedings in camera, Delacroix deals with a certain number of facts concerning the Princess' private misconduct, which constitute a grave wrong, demanded by the law to justify the granting of a divorce. Counsel took special pains to explain the relations of the Princess with Rigo, declaring that the period of her first faux pas dated as far back as the early days of her marriage.

He read extracts from Gil Blas of Paris, asserting that the Princess was not one of those women who concealed a flirtation, and that Rigo, calling himself Alcase, successively lived in Villers Le Tour and Long Prez in the Chimay country. Indeed, at one time the burgomaster of Long Prez interviewed, on special orders from the chief of police, and requested him to show his identification papers. The Princess sometimes drove up in a carriage into the courtyard of the inn where Rigo lived and sent away the vehicle, while at others she made it wait before the front door.

Before she eloped the Princess sent a letter to her husband, asking forgiveness, and paying tribute to his gentle and upright character, and declaring she wished to live no longer near her children, whose minds she would sully.

She left for Paris with Rigo, the steward of the chateau and his wife. En routs the steward asked if she did not regret her children. The Princess answered:

"Yes, but don't let's think about it any more. Let's have a good dinner."

All four visited together the Ambassadeurs and Paillard's restaurant. In the course of the dinner the Princess, thinking she saw the steward's wife casting too many loving glances at Rigo, wrote to the husband several hours later, warning him to keep a close eye on his better half.

Counsel concluded by asking that a decree of divorce should be pronounced without preliminary enquiry, since the facts were proven.

Maitre Allain, for the defence, admitted the charges against the Princess, but contended that the story of her conduct in the inn at Long Prez was not sufficiently established any more than were other statements spread about in public regarding Rigo and the Princess.

Allain added that Mrs. Ward gave her daughter a deplorable education, so that she was not in the least fitted for the life of the sort her new situation demanded. On the other hand, the Prince was not sufficiently obliging towards her. He possessed no authority over his wife, whom he neglected in order to go hunting.

Finally, the counsel stated, that he had no objection to an immediate decree of divorce.

GUILTY OF TWO MURDERS.

The McLeod Indian Charcoal to Hang March 16 - Reception to Albani and Miss Beverley Robinson.

Winnipeg, Jan. 20.—(Special.)—Charcoal, the McLeod Indian, has been found guilty of two murders and sentenced to hang March 16.

Counsel for the Liberals applied to the judge to-day for an order extending the time for trial of the Marquette election petition. The application was opposed by counsel for the Conservatives and dismissed.

Premier Greenway is in poor health and has gone to rest at his country home, Crystal City.

Government House was the scene to-night of a brilliant reception. It was given by Governor Patterson in honor of his guests, Madame Albani and Miss Beverley Robinson.

Buffalo Lady Suicides.

Buffalo, N.Y., Jan. 20.—Mrs. Mary Elizabeth McCullough, wife of Dr. John J. McCullough of No. 1175 Main-street, took her life this morning by cutting her throat from ear to ear with a razor. Mrs. McCullough was one of the estimable women of the community. She act was due, it is thought, to a fit of temporary insanity. Mrs. McCullough was 50 years old, and the mother of two children.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

HON. J. I. TARTE is recovering from his illness.

MR. HUGH JOHN MACDONALD hasn't the monopoly of having a nose. Somebody smelled out the corruption in the Winnipeg election, and he modestly retired.

THE Brantford Courier says that Mr. Henry, the Conservative candidate in the bye-election in South Brant, will be returned by an increased majority. Has the Courier some inside information to the effect that all the expert ballot-box stuffers are not in gaol? Perhaps a few yet undiscovered may be spared from Macdonald and Winnipeg before the bye-elections in these places come on.

THE Mail and Empire is joined to its idols. It is fatuous enough to defend the monstrous corruption that has been proven in Manitoba in connection with the elections there. It calls the filing of a bill of particulars in an election contest "defamation of character." The Mail and Empire is barking back a long way in its efforts to destroy responsible government, and one would not be surprised to hear it demanding that Lord Durham's bones should be exhumed an buried by the common hangman.

A STORY comes from Ottawa that is eminently creditable to the Postmaster-General. The two sons of the late Thomas McGreevy are employed in the Post Office Department as temporary clerks. When the victorious Liberals came into power, certain French members of the party clamoured for the dismissal of Mr. McGreevy's sons. Mr. Mulock said he would not do so before he ascertained whether their services where satisfactory and necessary. His officers reported that the young McGreevys were giving satisfaction, and the Postmaster-General declined to discharge them. All these yarns about guillotining public officials are to a large extent imaginary, so far as dismissals are gratuitous. It is very probable that no official has been dismissed without furnishing a justification by conduct unbecoming an official. Government officers, no matter what their politics, so long as they attend to their business properly are safe.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION.

The ninth annual convention of the township of Smith was held in the Presbyterian church on Tuesday of last week. The convention was well attended by the delegates and by the village people, and a very pleasant and profitable time was spent.

The afternoon session opened with Mr. Northey in the chair, at 2 o'clock by a prayer and praise service conducted by the Rev. A. C. Reeves. The President's address followed, and the Nominating Committee were appointed.

Reports were received from the different schools, the reports showing the schools to be in a very prosperous and healthy condition.

A very interesting conference on "How can we retain the senior scholars in the Sabbath School," was held and brought considerable discussion, and which proved of profit to all.

Rev. G. Clare's "Bird's Eye View of the Lessons of 1897," was very helpful to the teachers and scholars present, and enlightened a great many. A conference followed on the above subject.

Rev. T. J. Edmison gave a very interesting address to children, quite a number of whom were present, and the address was greatly enjoyed by both old and young.

The Nominating Committee brought in their report was as follows:

President—Mr. R. Clifford.

Sec.-Treas.—Mr. J. H. Sherin.

Committee—The pastors of the various churches and the superintendents of Sunday schools within the bounds of the Association.

The session was brought to a close with singing and prayer.

EVENING SESSION.

The evening session commenced at 7.15 with the president in the chair.

Devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. A. C. Reeves.

Rev. Mr. Potter of Peterborough delivered an address on "Influences Producing Fruitful Work in the School." The address was one of the features of the evening, and those present appreciated it very fully, the teachers especially, as it gave them many hints for successful work in Sunday schools.

Rev. Mr. Dykeman of Peterborough was unable to be present, and his time was taken up with the Question Drawer, by Rev. C. McLeod, who proved a very apt person to conduct the answering of the numerous questions in a satisfactory manner.

During the evening Miss E. Fitzgerald rendered a solo in pleasing style.

The convention was brought to a close by singing and prayer.

YOUNG'S POINT.

From Our Own Correspondent.

The ice harvest has started here and a number of the villagers have stored away their summer supply. There has not been much cold weather for the formation of deep ice, but the quality is excellent. Clear Lake is a splendid place to take out ice and there was very good sleighing last week to draw it.

Large quantities of wood pass through here en route for Lakefield and Peterborough. A little sleighing would help the wood-drawers.

The Young's Point dramatic club held their weekly meeting on Tuesday night and after some business was disposed of the following programme was rendered:

Mrs. Jos. Stewart, of Peterborough, is the guest of Mrs. Wm. Graham.

Mrs. Walter Young has gone to Toronto to have an operation performed on her eyes. We sincerely hope the operation will be successful.

This is elegant weather for the blacksmiths, as horses need to be sharp shod. Our friend Mr. C. Heard is very busy these days, and the ring of the anvil can be "heard" all day.

As Mr. Frank Young was taking a load of wood to Peterborough on Tuesday an accident occurred which might have proved fatal to himself and his horses. He had proceeded as far as Douglas' hill, one mile below the Point, when the wagon began to slide, and there being no protection on the side of the hill the wagon and horses went over the embankment. Frank fortunately jumped before the wagon upset, thereby escaping injuries. The wagon was badly broken, and one of the horses sustained some severe cuts. The horses ran away after freeing themselves from the wagon, and were caught coming through the Point by the owner, Mr. W. J. Young. The council should repair this hill, as it is very dangerous.

Dr. Munhall's Compensation for Securing the Conversion of Twelve Hundred Wicked Ottawa People.

Ottawa, Jan. 20.—(Special.)—Dr. Munhall, the American revivalist, who has just concluded three weeks' revival services here, was last night presented with a purse of $700 as a voluntary offering from the citizens of Ottawa. Twelve hundred people professed conversion during the services. Of these 633 were Methodists, 232 Presbyterians, 165 Church of England, 81 Baptists, 42 Congregationalists, 16 Roman Catholics, 54 who gave no church, and others.

Proceedings of the British House of Commons.

AMNESTY FOR IRISH PRISONERS

Was Made the Subject of a Motion, But it Did Not Pass—The Matter of Taxation in Ireland—The Countess Cowley's Divorce Case—European News Generally.

London, Jan. 20.—The business of the House of Commons to-day was the debate on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne.

Patrick O'Brien, member for Kilkenny city, moved in amendment to reconsider the sentences of the Irish prisoners who had been condemned to imprisonment upon charges of treason.

The amendment was seconded by J. C. Flynn, member for North Cork.

Mr. Timothy M. Healy, member for North Louth, supported the amendment moved by Mr. O'Brien, and, in the course of his speech, declared British agents in America had provoked the outrages with which the condemned were charged.

Sir M. W. Ridley, Home Secretary, said that he was unable to see any reason for advising that amnesty be granted to the political prisoners referred to in the amendment, much as the Government desired to remedy any Irish grievances. These men had been found guilty of crimes abhorred by the civilised world, and the fairness of their trial and the impartiality of the courts had been attested this very day by the withdrawal of the charge against Bell, or Ivory, before the same judge that sentenced the Irish prisoners whose liberty is now sought. Mr. O'Brien's amendment was defeated by a vote of 204 to 132.

The Times expresses the belief that the Royal Commission will pursue its enquiry into the financial relations of Ireland.

With the exception of The Daily News, the Liberal organ, the newspapers all admit that Mr. Balfour's announcement in the House of Commons yesterday, that a separate occasion would be given for the discussion of the Irish financial commission's report, and that the Government proposed to complete the investigation, will considerably shorten the debate on the address.

The Standard (Conservative) declares that many Liberals objected to the main conclusions of the recent commission.

The Daily News says that the decision to enter upon a fresh enquiry extricates the Irish members from a dilemma, because the Irish Unionists would have declined to support Mr. Blake's amendment to the address, which was regarded as a vote of censure on the Government.

DIVORCE CASE IN ENGLAND.

Countess Cowley Charges Her Husband With Flagrant Misconduct.

London, Jan. 19.—The trial of the action for divorce brought by Countess Cowley against her husband, Henry Arthur Mornington Wellesley, Earl Cowley, was begun in the Divorce Division of the High Court of Justice this morning. The grounds upon which the suit is based are desertion and habitual adultery with Mrs. Charles Charrington. Countess Cowley testified that her husband practically deserted her in 1892, when he ignored her and openly showed his preference for the society of Mrs. Charrington. The Earl, the Countess said, was accustomed to spend several hours each day with Mrs. Charrington in that lady's boudoir and continued to do so until Mrs. Charrington's husband interfered and put a stop to their intimacy. Upon cross-examination the Countess admitted that she had had disputes with her husband concerning household bills, which differences had led to an agreement between them to separate.

Countess Cowley denied that she had accounted to her husband's desertion of her. She had always been willing to act as a wife should, providing she was treated by her husband as a faithful wife should be treated.

Mr. Charrington was called to the stand and testified that he had been aware that Earl Cowley was a frequent caller at his house, but he was not aware that his calls were made after he (the witness) had left the house. Witness said that he was now living apart from his wife.

Yesterday's Proceedings

London, Jan. 20.—The trial of the action for divorce brought by Countess Cowley against her husband, Earl Cowley, was continued in the divorce division of the High Court of Justice this morning. Counsel for the plaintiff read the deposition of Charles Legg, employed as a valet in the Government House at Ottawa, Ont., in which the deponent stated that he was previously in the service of Charles Charrington, whose wife is named as co-respondent with Earl Cowley. The next that witness deposed, frequently visited Mrs. Charrington after her husband had left the house, and was always shown to the lady's boudoir. Whenever Earl Cowley called Mrs. Charrington was not at home to other callers.

The case was adjourned after the reading of Legg's testimony.

PROPOSE TO CELEBRATE.

Birmingham People Desire to Mark the Signing of the Treaty.

London, Jan. 20.—A meeting was held in Birmingham to-day to perfect arrangements for a suitable celebration of the signing of the general arbitration treaty between the United States and Great Britain. Among the speakers was Mr. G. F. Parker, United States consul at Birmingham, who said that the treaty would undoubtedly be ratified by the United States Senate, and that the people of both countries in the meantime must be patient. Mr. Parker said that he had recently made a tour of thirteen of the American States and had not in the course of his travels seen a single trace of anti-British feeling.

THE ARBITRATION TREATY.

London Times Fancies the U. S. Senate May Not Ratify It.

London, Jan. 20.—The Times comments editorially this morning upon the fears expressed by a correspondent in the United States that the general arbitration treaty will, perhaps, be not ratified by the Senate. The Times finds it difficult to believe that the treaty will be rejected after having found the approval of the executives of both countries. England, however, it continues, has done her part, and no blame will fall on our shoulders if it lapses.

WESTERN ONTARIO DAIRYMEN.

Mayor Elliott Welcomed the Delegates to Brantford—Many Excellent Papers Discussed With Interest.

Brantford, Jan. 20.—The Western Ontario Dairymen's Convention held its opening session last night. Mayor Elliott was present, and on behalf of the citizens gave the delegates a hearty welcome to our city.

The Mayor's address of welcome was replied to by Mr. A. Pattullo, M.L.A., president of the association. Addresses were delivered by Mr. Derbyshire of Brockville.

Mr. McDonald, M.P., president of the Quebec Association, gave an interesting account of the success of dairy products in his section.

Mr. Monrad of Illinois gave a very instructive address on the cost of the production of butter.

Mr. C. C. James addressed the convention on the success of Canada's manufactory and agricultural interests.

W. D. Heard, ex-Governor of Wisconsin, gave an eloquent and taking address.

This morning's session was very largely attended.

Inspector Miller read a very interesting paper on the care of milk, which brought out an instructive discussion on the effects that roots and apples would have on milk, it being considered as very injurious.

G. H. Barr of Sebringville read a very instructive paper on practical cheese making, also advocating good salaries for good cheese makers, which called forth a discussion by a number of those present.

J. H. Monrad of Illinois gave a very instructive address on the curing room and curing cheese; also on testing milk.

RHEUMATISM CURED.

Eighteen Months Trying to get Cured—Had the Best Doctors—He Found What he Wanted in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Goderich, Jan. 11—(Special)—A case of great interest here just now is that of Mr. Alexander J. Sharkey, who for some time has been an extreme sufferer from Rheumatism. His statement to the correspondent is as follows:—

"For eighteen months I was a victim of Rheumatism and during the whole of that time was trying every means to cure it. I had the best doctors in Canada and took their prescriptions with faith and patience.

"I got tired at last, for I found the disappointment nearly as killing as the disease.

"But one friend wiser than others convinced me that my disease must be cured by way of the kidneys and recommended Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I have used two boxes of these pills to effect a perfect cure, and I don't care who knows it."

The Prodigal's Fate.

English Sunday School Teacher (solemnly)—And now, Albert Edward, you may relate the terrible fate of the prodigal son after leaving his father's house and squandering his patrimony in riotous living.

Albert Edward (in an awed whisper)—'Ee—'ee—'ee 'ad t' go to Hamerica han get married, ma'am.—Truth.

The sugar-coating, which makes Ayer's Pills so easy to take, dissolves immediately on reaching the stomach, and so permits the full strength and benefit of the medicine to be promptly communicated. Ask your druggist for Ayer's Almanac, just out.

THE "BIG" FOUR.

A Quartette of Remedies that are Effecting Wonderful Cures.

"I was sick for three years," says James Simpson, of Newcomb Mills. "I tried various alleged patent cures and several boxes of a certain pill which has been greatly cracked up. I got no relief. Then I tried Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Since, I have been able to work every day and feel like a new man. Your pills alone cured me at a cost of 25c."

"I have been subject to severe colds every fall and spring," says Miss Hattie Delaney, of 174 Crawford street, Toronto. "I used many cough medicines, but none cured me until at a cost of 25 cents I tried Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine."

"My husband was troubled with the worst kind of piles," writes Mrs. Jane Potts, of Meyersburg. "He was often unable to work. Since using your Chase's Ointment he is completely cured. It is truly worth its weight in gold instead of the price you charge, only 60 cents."

"I bought a box of your Catarrh Cure for 25 cents at Mr. Boyle's drug store here," says Henry R. Nicholls of 176 Rectory street, London, Ont. "I am thankful to say it cured me."

Tobacco Business Changed Hands.

Having purchased the tobacco business formerly carried on by Ed. B. Clegg, No. 215 George street, I have restocked the store with a full and well-selected assortment of choice cigars, tobaccoes, pipes and smoker's sundries, and solicit a share of public patronage. Prices low enough to suit all.—W. B. RICKEY. d will meet on Thursday evening, 21st inst., in the Collegiate Institute at eight o'clock. Rev. Mr. Symonds deals with "The Relation of Religion and Science," after which Mr. Sorsoleil, of the South Central staff, gives an illustrated essay on "Plant Life." He will have some very choice specimens. This is an open meeting to which all are invited. Bring your friends.

The Natural Science Association

To Reduce the Force.

It is reported in military circles that it is the intention of the militia department to reduce the units of the permanent force to one-half their present strength, and that they will be made teaching institutions solely. It is said also that the number of district officers commanding will be reduced to four for the Dominion, and that the work formerly done by the latter will go to the inspectors of the different arms.

A Master Mechanic's Rights.

This morning Master Mechanic and Boss Carpenter Wright, of Calcutt's brewery, did what he thought not right. It appears that he laid down his lighted pipe, which he had been smoking, and not finding it right there considered everything as not being right, blamed one of his assistants for not leaving it right where he put it. The assistant declared right there and then that Mr. Wright was not right in stating right here. Mr. Wright, you went right to your overcoat, said he, and put it right in the right hand pocket. Go see if I am right. If I'm not right, Mr. Wright, I will treat right away. Mr. Wright went right away in order to make things right. Right there he found his coat in the right hand corner of the room, and on the floor right below found his pipe. The right side of Mr. Wright's overcoat was burnt right out, together with his right hand mit, and a right good bandanna. Mr. Wright states that 'tis not right to carry a lighted pipe right in one's pocket.—COM.

The Cinematographe.

The marvellous Cinematographe will open a week's engagement at Bradburn's Opera House to-night at 7.30 p.m., and will run continuously until 10.30 p.m. every evening, with matinees on Saturday and Wednesday at 2.30 p.m. until 5.30 p.m. Come when you like and remain as long as you feel disposed. Thirty-two select views will be shown. Admission to all parts of the theatre—adults 25c, children 10c. If you are in the theatre one hour before the hours of closing, you will see the entire programme. In speaking of this wonderful invention, the Toronto Globe says: "His Excellency the Governor-General visited the Cinematographe at 96 Yonge street last evening. He was so pleased with the entertainment that one scene—the Regent street quadrant—had to be twice repeated. His Excellency thinking he recognised one of the pedestrians, and wishing to satisfy himself. After the last scene the Governor-General had a chat with M. Mester, and expressed himself greatly pleased and astonished. His Excellency also invited Mr. Hill to give a private view about Christmas time at Rideau Hall. In consequence of the immense success achieved, the invention will remain at 96 Yonge street another week."

"FIRST BLOOD" FOR PETERBOROUGH.

A Neat Win in the First Junior O. H. A. Match—A Fine Fight, the First Half, Honours Even — The Second Half the Visitors did not Find the Posts—Score 8 to 3 in Favour of Peterborough.

"It was a hot game!" This was the opinion of the large number of spectators who witnessed the first match in the Junior Series of the O. H. A. at the rink last night, when Peterborough's III team and Norwood's II team crossed sticks for supremacy.

It was shortly after eight o'clock when Referee Crossley appeared on the ice. The teams which lined up before him were composed as follows:

Peterborough III.		Norwood II.
Wasson	goal	Beckett
Glover	point	Clancy
Borland	cover	Pearse
Grubbe	forwards	Cameron
King		Pettigrew
Watt		Pengelly
Rubidge		Persey
C Graham	umpire	N Stephenson

When the game started the play was very even and there was conclusive evidence that this hockey match was going to be a very exciting one. First the puck would be at one end and back it would be shot to the other. This was kept up for eight minutes when Watt and Rubidge by a nice combination play caused a goal to be scored for Peterborough. The next game was also a long one and was a splendid exhibition of hockey, King scoring for Peterborough in nine minutes. The next two games were much shorter and fell to the vistors for whom Pengelly and Pettigrew played a very fast game. The fifth and sixth games were scored by Peterborough and Norwood respectively, leaving the score three all when half-time was called by Time-keeper Ashe of Norwood.

When play was resumed it was seen that the local team were warmed up to their work and the score which was run up is ample evidence, although the game was not less fast than before, yet it would seem that a Peterborough man was always at the right place and at the right time and the home seven added five more goals to their score at the end of the regulation time, leaving the score for the match 8 to 3 in favour of Peterboroughs.

NOTES.

The off-sides last night were very numerous.

There were a few unavoidable accidents. Cameron got his skate broken on the first half and Petigrew got severely cut about the eye by coming in contact with a stick during a lift.

The date for the return match in Norwood has not yet been decided.

The visitors were entertained by the local boys at McCallum's restaurant.

Referee W. Crossley's decisions were very impartial and gave general satisfaction.

Messrs. Ashe and Code, of Norwood's first team, accompanied the visiting team.

The local defense was entirely composed of lacrosse boys, and their work in the second half was exceptionally fine.

WILL INVITE LAURIER.

To Open the Peterborough Central Exhibition Next Year.

At the close of the general meeting of the West Peterborough Agricultural Society yesterday afternoon a meeting of the directors was held, when it was unanimously resolved to invite Sir Wilfred Laurier to be present and open the exhibition next fall. Mr. Geo. E. Elliott, president, and Secretary Gross, were appointed as a committee to extend the invitation.

A discussion was held as to the advisability of endeavouring to secure the Breeders Fat Stock Association Fair for Peterborough on the first available opportunity and a committee was appointed to make application for the same.

The feasibility of inaugurating a spring horse fair of stallions was also discussed at length, and if the drill shed can be secured for the occasion the show will in all probability be held in April.

Messrs. Felix Brownscombe and J. Fred Davidson were appointed auditors.

THE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY MEETS.

THE DIRECTORS' SATISFACTORY REPORT PRESENTED.

The Financial Statement—The Officers Elected for the Ensuing Year.

At the annual meeting of the West Peterborough Agricultural Society, which was held Wednesday afternoon in the town council chamber, the president, Mr. Geo. E. Elliott, took the chair, and others present were: W. J. Green, secretary; James Davidson, Dawson Kennedy, Ed. W. Elliott, John Garbutt, William Collins, Jos. Barnard, George Fitzgerald, R. Vance, W. Stewart, John Stothart, George McWilliams, W. C. Rightmeyer, Thomas Hall, Joseph Garbutt, John Stothart, T. M. Hunter, R. H. Braden, Herman Wilson, S. D. Rightmeyer and J. Southard.

DIRECTORS REPORT.

The report of the directors was submitted as follows:—

To the Members of the Peterborough Agricultural Society:

Gentlemen,—Your directors in presenting their annual report for the year 1896, take pleasure in congratulating themselves and you upon the success which attended the exhibition held in the interests of the society last season, notwithstanding the unfavourable conditions under which the exhibition was held, the weather being not at all agreeable for exhibition purposes. His Excellency the Governor-General, and Lady Aberdeen, who formally opened our exhibition, and who had an opportunity of witnessing a number of similar exhibitions throughout the country, took occasion to remark, after having examined our inside and outside exhibits, that it was the most successful exhibition which they had the pleasure of visiting during their sojourn in Canada, outside of the larger and more pretentious places. It is very gratifying to know that notwithstanding the large expense necessary to the holding of a successful exhibition, that the receipts are in excess of the expenditures, and had it not been for the unfavourable state of the weather, we have no doubt but we would have been able to show considerable of a surplus. The weather is one of the things we have to make allowances for, some years being favourable and other years not so satisfactory.

The receipts for membership tickets for last year were in excess of the year previous, while the Government grant was about $40 less, and the receipts from all sources for the uses of the exhibition also show an increase. The fact that your exhibition receives and pays about $3,250 annually in connection with the exhibition shows the large attendance, support and approval that it meets with by the public generally to enable them to continue and proceed from year to year with the satisfactory exhibitions that are continually being held in Peterborough.

It is to be regretted that the Exhibition does not receive the hearty support in some quarters that it was anticipated it would receive. The large sums of money that are spent in Peterborough from year to year in connection with the holding of this exhibition, warrant us in expecting from Peterborough a more hearty and generous support than we have received during the past two or three years.

We have to thank the town council and the county council and the Farmers' Institute for the generous support always received at their hands, but the citizens of Peterborough generally do not favour us with that patronage at the exhibition, which we feel we should receive from time to time to make our exhibition a successful one, both financially and otherwise.

The object the directors have in making the Peterborough Central Exhibition one of the foremost exhibitions in the province, is to show that surrounding our county town the farmers are as enterprising and progressive, and can produce as good cereals, grain and stock as can be produced in any other portion of the province, and in doing this, and in holding our exhibitions practically in Peterborough, we are, while advancing our own interests, giving advantages to Peterborough, which we fully anticipate in future they will appreciate and support.

The directors tender their warmest thanks to those who have in any way assisted them in their work, and to the judges they desire to convey their thanks for the time, care and attention given to the awarding of the prizes, and whose decisions have been more satisfactory than usual.

During the coming season it is to be hoped that even greater efforts will be put forward to make this year one of the most successful of the many successful exhibitions held, and we have no doubt that the directors whom you elect today will put forth every effort to keep Peterborough in advance in agricultural matters.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

THE "FOREST QUEENS" AT HOME.

The Members and Their Friends Spend a Very Pleasant Evening.

The At Home held by the members of Court Forest Queen, Canadian Order of Foresters, last night, proved to be one of the society as well as one of the social events of the season, the affair being attended with unqualified success.

The first part of the programme consisted in the public installation of the newly elected officers by Mr. F. J. Jameson, the district representative on the Supreme Executive. He was assisted by Mr. Wm. Galley, P.C.R., acting as Grand Marshall.

The officers who were conducted to the chairs for the term were:

W J Wattam	Past Chief Ranger
John Crane	Chief Ranger
John H Smith	Vice Chief Ranger
Alf Terrill	Rec Secretary
R A W Hay	Fin Secretary
James Best	Chaplain
W Pringle	Treasurer
D Menzies	S Woodward
Herbert Morphet	J Woodward
W Borland	S Beadle
B Belleghem	J Beadle
Physicians	Drs Eastwood and McCullough
Trustees	Dickson Davidson, R H Kells and A E Dixon

At the conclusion of the interesting ceremony, and after the various charges had been duly delivered, Mr. Jameson made a few remarks on Forestry in general and the benefits to be derived from membership in the order.

The following programme was then introduced, the newly installed Chief Ranger occupying the chair:

Instrumental solo	Miss Roger
Vocal solo	Mr Lount
Recitation	Miss Alma McCollum
Vocal solo	Mrs W A Sanderson
Recitation	Miss Alma McCollum
Instrumental solo	Miss Roger

That Miss Roger possesses a most delicate touch and that her technique is beyond criticism was evinced by the masterly manner in which she gave Moszkowski's waltz in "A," and also one of Schutt's. As a pianoforte soloist Miss Roger is certainly one of Peterborough's first artists. Mr. Lount's "Rory Darlin'" was well received, and though he has not been heard much in public recently, his fine baritone voice has lost none of its richness. Miss Alma McCollum's two recitations were greatly appreciated, additional interest being evidenced through the fact that the fair reciter was also the authoress. Miss McCollum's gestures are most graceful, and with her gift of expression her two numbers formed one of the most pleasing events of the evening.

Mrs. W. A. Sanderson, after an absence from the concert platform of almost a year, was warmly welcomed back last evening, and her excellent rendering of "Afterwards," showed that her voice had lost none of its attractiveness and power.

The guests were invited to partake of refreshments after the programme had been finished. There were served in the large room attached to the Foresters' fine suite of apartments. The tables were afterwards removed, and those so inclined indulged in dancing for several hours. Small tables were scattered around in the court room for cards and games, and those not wishing to dance enjoyed a pleasant evening through these other forms of amusement.

President Isaac Lewis of Sabina, Ohio, is highly respected all through that section. He has lived in Clinton Co. 75 years, and has been president of the Sabina Bank 20 years. He gladly testifies to the merit of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and what he says is worthy attention. All brain workers find Hood's Sarsaparilla peculiarly adapted to their needs. It makes pure, rich, red blood, and from this comes nerve, mental, bodily and digestive strength.

"I am glad to say that Hood's Sarsaparilla is a very good medicine, especially as a blood purifier. It has done me good many times. For several years I suffered greatly with pains of in one eye and about my temples, especially at night when I had been having a hard day of physical and mental labor. I took many remedies, but found help only in Hood's Sarsaparilla which cured me of rheumatism, neuralgia and headache. Hood's Sarsaparilla has proved itself a true friend. I also take Hood's Pills to keep my bowels regular, and like the pills very much." ISAAC LEWIS, Sabina, Ohio.

AN OPEN LETTER.

To the President of Fortnightly Club and Debaters of Tuesday Evening's Topic.

GENTLEMEN,—Being somewhat in sympathy with the vanquished, I venture to put before you some thoughts that occurred to me during the course of last evening's debate. I must confess I was a little disappointed at the verdict.

The debate in itself was thoroughly enjoyable, the speakers knowing well the entertaining art of eloquence; but seeing that the subject touched upon such sacred ground, there was, as everyone must acknowledge, an undercurrent of downright seriousness.

The speakers were all men, who declared themselves willing, apart from denominational interest, to stand by a certain broad definition of religion as clearly laid down by one of themselves, yet so far as I could understand, the points advanced by the negative on this very platform were not met by the affirmative. Moreover, the negative made a declaration which was not contradicted, and, as I should have supposed, ought then to have been allowed weight and standing. I have never ventured upon public questions before, but I hope I may be able to express my ideas clearly to you.

The leader of the affirmative gave as his chief argument that the teaching of Christian religion was as much needed as history or arithmetic, that if scholars were taught the intricacies of these, why not also the history, the rise and progress of Christian religion? So far good; but the negative took exception to the scope thus given to religion, showing that religion was not a matter of history to be mapped, dated and blackboarded altogether, as common subjects; that the rise and progress of religion was the outcome of a peculiar spiritual conviction to each separate individual, a thing apart by its very spirituality, from anything else in the whole of humanity, and the furtherance of this point declared a law compelling this could not be enforced. That law could reach what a man did, or even what he said when in connection with the rights of his fellows, but that law could not, nor ever would, bind a man's mind or his soul by any government compulsion whatever—this point was not met by either affirmative or judge and, acknowledging that there is a limit to all things, even to law, I think the affirmative failed here.

All the speakers declared, tacitly or otherwise, that the basis and authority of Christian religion was derived directly from the Bible, yet in this the affirmative did not, to me, uphold their end of the plank. Writing to the Galatians Paul says, "If there had been a law which could have given life, verily, righteousness should have been by law."

Notwithstanding the broad declaration of the aims of religion the affirmative in reply said that to teach a religion was not to teach a belief!!! Does not every Christian teach "I believe?" If religion involves faith, how can it avoid, if being properly, taught, to teach belief?

There was a point upon which neither side touched. I will, however, give my brother in church fellowship, Mr. Sheriff Hall, the credit of having it amongst his "seventeen points" which he had no time to lay before us. If the negative had brought it forward I should have been even more heart and soul with them. It was this: The reverence due to sacred things. If it is a given maxim that a woman cannot and will not be compelled, it is also as true that the irreverence of children is proverbial. Reverence for holy things is in the histories of the Bible from beginning to end—it is the chief thing in the laws and sayings of the Almighty. To teach children is a laborious work. Teachers will tell you how weary they grow day after day with the control of children, the clothing of ideas to suit their intelligence, the beating into dull brains of things that are always slipping out again, the correction and orderly marshalling of child thoughts; and, say, why should that which was guarded by the Almighty with unspeakable awe, the pollution of which roused even the Saviour to anger, be made part and parcel of the daily burden of a teacher's routine. Children are irreverent; congregated together, full of life and mischief, they grow a thousand times worse. Religion to the uninitated is the dullest subject to comprehend. What influence could the ordinary head-weary teacher have to preserve the reverence of holy things?

One day in seven was sufficient for the rest from toils necessary for every day requirements—one day in seven was appointed to be kept holy—one day in seven kept absolutely holy now would be sufficient, it seems to me, for the accomplishing of a work that no law, no man, can force upon a country or a fellow, nor do I intend to say that six days should be entirely without religion. I take it that the Holy Spirit would not fail to see to the fermenting of the yeast thus set to work—"a little leaveneth; too much maketh bread unsetable."

If our spiritual masters and pastors, aye, and our daily teachers, were everyone of them fathers of sons and daughters, and exemplified by principle, practice and precept, to fathers, the religion of the Great Father; if their wives, being mothers, were as bright and shining lights to other mothers — then the father's bowed head—the mother's knee would be sufficient teacher and school, "prie-dieu," and sanctuary for all the children who endure public school hours in public public schools. And the God of the fatherless careth for the orphan.

Then there would be no party conflict over sacred things, there would be no jogging among our statesmen for a feasible plan to unite every man's special convictions into a comprehensive whole, to be incorporated by COMPULSION into children's minds. Neither would there be the tearing away by irreverent childhands of the sacred veil of reverence from the suffering of a Holy Son by a Father's will for the saving of human children.

The negative also made this point, that the teachings of the Bible as set forth by Christ were in no way mixed up with politics or government. Cæsar's to Cæsar, God's to God. "My ways are not your ways," saith the Lord. "Neither are your thoughts my thoughts." Give us responsible Christian mothers and fathers in our daily schools for our babes, our sons and daughters, and give every child the same chance to become a Christian by abolishing every sect from the schools of our land.

CURLIANA.

The Lindsay Post in its notes on the carnival speaks as follows:—"Another very exciting contest developed last evening on Ice No. 4, at the curling rink, when Skip Ray, of Peterborough, met that wary and experienced veteran, Mr. James Keith. The game aroused intense interest, and at the last end was a tie. Skip Keith was left a very difficult shot, guards having been placed by the Peterborough men, and was unable to dislodge the winner, so Ray won.

"The Winnipeg rink, skipped by Dr. Jamieson, met and defeated a rink of Peterborough curlers, skipped by R. S. Davidson, by a very handsome score. The Winnipeg men wear red coats, and present a very striking appearance on the ice—and off it also, if we be allowed to hint at little confidences between members of the fair sex accidentally overheard by our reporter.

A REPLY TO VETERAN.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I do not like the word "notorious" as applied by your correspondent "Veteran" in last night's edition of your valuable paper. In fact I do not think it is used grammatically. If he had used the word "spleen" and applied it to himself it would have been more to the point. The rancorous manner in which he expressed himself is only exceeded by its rankness.

I deprecate the use of the printing press, or any other press, in making public such diatribes.

I understand that a ladies' curling club is being formed in Peterborough, which will challenge the Thistles for second place, and I trust that when the event is played off we shall see none of this bitter spirit displayed in the public press.

I would recommend "Veteran" to appear at the coming carnival as a curler, when no doubt he will divide the honours with the organ grinder and the ubiquitous negro.

Yours,
GOBBLE-GOBBLE.

Jan. 21st.

ANOTHER REPLY TO "VETERAN."

To the Sporting Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—A "Veteran" finds fault with the Granites for playing one man in a large number of the games for the Innes Medal and the Kendry Cup. In the first place "Veteran" must know that the draws for those competitions were made by the two secretaries two weeks or more before the games were played, and without consulting any one. In consequence certain players were unable to play on the nights allotted to them—players from both clubs. The rules agreed on allowed one substitute, if necessary, and both clubs availed themselves of the privilege. Let my friend "Veteran" look over the scores of the Innes Medal contest, and he will see that one player of each club played in three matches—and the man from the Granites at whom he is hinting lost two games out of the three. Besides he played second stone, not first, as "Veteran" says.

So "Veteran" seems to be away off—no man of the Granites played lead in more than one game; one man played second stone in three games, two of which his side lost. The gentleman who drew up the rules on behalf of the Thistle club, their secretary, also played in three games, so that "honours are easy. Before a "Veteran" makes any more assertions like "in fully four-fifths of the matches played we find the same names recurring again and again," he should put on his glasses and read the names again, for he is unfortunately mixing up scratch games with match games.

Yours,
A GRANITE.

HOCKEY.

The Executive of the O. H. A. appears to be making every effort to give it to Peterborough "in the neck"—to use a vulgarism. Since the first schedule was drawn changes have been made time and again, and every time to Peterborough's disadvantage. At first Queen's team was to come here to play off in the Senior series, now home and home matches have to be played, and the same change has been made in regard to the Junior series, as instead of the Frontenacs playing off the deciding game here home and home matches will be played. Such action on the part of the sub-committee of the Executive will eventually have the effect of freezing Peterborough out of the O.H.A. altogether and forming a Midland district league next year.

MARK STREET SUNDAY SCHOOL ANNUAL MEETING.

The Superintendent Shows an Encouraging State of Affairs.

On Wednesday evening, Jan. 20, the annual business meeting of Mark street Methodist Sunday school was held, Rev. W. C. Beer presiding. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed, after which the superintendent, Mr. H. Fife, gave his report, which showed an encouraging state of affairs. There are 18 teachers and officers on the roll, and on eight Sundays all were present. Their average attendance for the year was 16. During the year the senior classes have greatly improved, and the infant class numbers about 25. The library, on which nearly $60 was spent this year, is in good condition.

The secretary, Mr. W. J. Paterson, then presented his report:—

Total on roll	143
Average	98
Number of verses recited	10,340
Receipts	$104 47
Expenses	104 65
Deficit	18

Though there is a slight deficit the school did as well, financially, as in the previous year.

The librarian being absent, the assistant librarian, Mr. C. Crowe, reported 252 books on hand, and that 2672 books were exchanged during the year.

The election of teachers and officers resulted as follows:

Superintendent—Mr. M. W. Matchett.
Asst. Superintendent—Mr. J. Herman Beer.
Secretary—Mr. W. J. Paterson.
Treasurer—Mrs. Wand.
Librarian—Mr. Ritchie.
Asst. Librarian—Mr. C. Crowe.

LANTERN LECTURE AT ST. LUKE'S.

The Reformation in England was the Subject Taken by Rev. R. Symonds

The entertainment in St. Luke's school house last night consisted of a lecture on "The Reformation in England" by Rev. H. Symonds, illustrated with lime-light views by Mr. R. M. Roy. The lecturer commenced with a short introductory sketch of the introduction of Christianity into Britain, its re introduction into England and its history down to the Reformation.

The main points touched upon were, the dissolution of the monasteries, the work of Bible translation, the growth of the Book of Common Prayer, the re-action with its evil accompaniment of persecution under Mary, for which, however, the baleful influence of the bigoted Philip of Spain was mainly responsible, concluding with the settlement under Elizabeth and the glorious struggle with Spain, which resulted in the destruction of the naval power of the latter, and laid the foundations of England's present naval supremacy.

Before commencing the lecture a few miscellaneous views were thrown on the canvas. Of these the most interesting was a coloured view executed by Mr. Roy from a photograph, representing a new church recently erected at Aomori in Japan, where Rev. J. Chappell, formerly assistant at St. Luke's, is labouring. The building is a commodious structure, built not on ecclesiastical but on Japanese lines. In the foreground is the congregation, with Bishop McKim and Mr. and Mrs. Chappell in the centre.

The views illustrative of the lecture, purchased for that purpose by Mr. Symonds, were declared by Mr. Roy to be the finest he ever saw. Special mention may be made of the views of Geneva, of Lady Jane Grey refusing the Crown, of Cranmer crossing the Traitor's Gate, of the Massacre of St. Bartholomew's and of a splendid series of the Spanish Armada.

Miss Nettie Bell, of Douro, a young lady of promising talent, gave a selection on the pianoforte, and the entertainment closed with the National Anthem.

Just Arrived.

We have imported for your special benefit a choice lot of British Columbia canned Salmon, Cross & Blackwell's celebrated English pickles. Sardines in oil; also in mustard. We have the finest line of groceries obtainable always in stock. A call will not disappoint either you or E. BROWN & Co., 393 George street.

P.S.—We have made special arrangements to handle Goodersham & Worts' whiskey on draught.

"Very, Very Good."

A prominent lady visiting Peterborough from New York City was so highly pleased with the photographic work she saw in Mr. Whiten's art studio that she made an appointment and had a dozen sent to her address, 170 Lexington Avenue, New York City. She writes Mr. Whiten: "Photos arrived all right; they are very, very good; I am much pleased with them." Three different persons recently on a visit here from Montreal also had a dozen each taken by Mr. Whiten and forwarded to their address in Montreal. The above speaks well for Peterborough and the high-class work turned out by Mr. Whiten. Entrance to studio, 158 Hunter street, opposite Oak Hall. d15tf

UNTOLD MISERY FROM

RHEUMATISM

C. H. King, Water Valley, Miss., cured by

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"For five years, I suffered untold misery from muscular rheumatism. I tried every known remedy, consulted the best physicians, visited Hot Springs, Ark., three times, spending $1000 there, besides doctors' bills; but could obtain only temporary relief. My flesh was wasted away so that I weighed only ninety-three pounds; my left arm and leg were drawn out of shape, the muscles being twisted up in knots. I was unable to dress myself, except with assistance, and could only hobble about by using a cane. I had no appetite, and was assured, by the doctors, that I could not live. The pains, at times, were so awful, that I could procure relief only by means of hypodermic injections of morphine. I had my limbs bandaged in clay, in sulphur, in poultices; but these gave only temporary relief. After trying everything, and suffering the most awful tortures, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Inside of two months, I was able to walk without a cane. In three months, my limbs began to strengthen, and in the course of a year, I was cured. My weight has increased to 165 pounds, and I am now able to do my full day's work as a railroad blacksmith."

BREEDERS' REQUESTS.

Shorthorn and Horse Associations Interview the Government

Toronto, Jan. 20.

Some years ago the Prince of Wales gave an annuity of $50 (£10) to be devoted as a prize to encourage the interest in agriculture in the Province of Ontario. The $300 principal has, up till the present year, been in the hands of the Agricultural Association, but it has now been handed over to the custody of the Government, which, therefore, is called upon to give the prize. The latter has never been exclusively devoted to any particular branch of agriculture, and the shorthorn breeders think it should this year be given for short-horn cattle. A deputation accordingly put these facts before the Government yesterday, and asked that the prize be given to them this year. Other deputations of breeders making similar requests will probably follow.

The Horse Breeders' Association also sent a deputation to ask for a grant of $2000 for their annual spring show. They showed how the horse trade had suffered more than any other during the past five years through the introduction of bicycles, electric cars, etc., but claimed that the tide was now turning, and the price of a well-bred horse was steadily rising. They thought this tendency should be encouraged in every way by the Government, and therefore asked for a renewal of the $2000 grant in order to do so.

Prof. Andrew Smith and Messrs. Jas. Russell, Richmond Hill; Arthur Johnston, Greenwood, president of the Shorthorn Breeders' Association, and Mr. H. N. Crossley of Rosseau composed the combined deputation.

Mr. Robert Beith, M.P., of Bowmanville, who is prominent in the raising of prize cattle and horses, wrote regretting his inability to be present.

CURED OF SCIATICA.

Toronto Junction, Jan. 18 (Special)—Mr. H. Playter, is not a difficult man to find as everybody here knows that he is foreman at No. 1 Fire Hall. He was the picture of health when called upon by your correspondent and told his story thus:

"In April 1896 I suffered from a severe attack of Sciatica, affecting my left hip and the leg to the tip of my toes. I suspected it came from some form of kidney trouble and as they had been recommended I procured a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills."

At the end of the fourth day I was entirely relieved, but desiring a permanent cure I continued to use that and another box and am now cured cured and as well as ever in my life. A brother of mine living at Pine Orchard has been cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

A GIRL BRIDE.

Married at 16 and Her Father is After Her Now to Take Her Home.

Port Huron, Mich., Jan. 19.—William Quant of Columbus Township is in the city making enquiries as to how he can get possession of his daughter, Mary, now living at Petrolea, Ont., the wife of Lewis Whitehall. The couple were married several weeks ago, the girl's age being given as 18 when the marriage license was secured. The father wants the girl back home, claiming she is not yet 10 years of age. The groom had been working in the neighborhood of the girl's home, but after the marriage took her to his former home in Canada.

A TERRIBLE SCANDAL

Developed in the Chimay Divorce Case in Belgium.

KING LEOPOLD SAID TO BE IN IT

The Prince Makes Twenty-Three Charges of Misconduct Against His Wife—Gypsy Rigo Said to Have Been the Favorite Paramour of the Beautiful Woman.

Charleroi, Jan. 19.—The action for divorce brought by Prince de Chimay against his wife opens to-day in camera. Maitre Allain of the Court of Appeals of Paris will defend the Princess. To a representative of the Associated Press he said: "The case will be a cause celebre, and the divorce of the century, principally because the mother takes the Prince's side, and because of the prominence in it of a king's name.

"The newspaper statements saying that the Princess' defence will be grounded on nervousness are untrue. The Princess is perfectly well in mind. She is willing to allow her husband the custody of their children, but insists on her right to visit them occasionally. It is equally untrue that the Princess has lost her fortune. She still has a good income."

When Maitre Allain was asked if the Princess loves Jancsi Rigo, her gypsy lover, the distinguished lawyer replied: "I am quite sure that she does not."

An Abominable Scandal.

London, Jan. 19.—The Brussels correspondent of the Central News telegraphs the following despatch purporting to be an account of what took place at the hearing of the Chimay divorce case, which began at Charleroi to-day. As the case is being tried in camera, the story is possibly inaccurate in detail, but is given out for publication: Prince Chimay's counsel brought to the cognizance of the court 23 facts, showing acts of adultery on the part of the Princess with several persons, but principally with Rigo, her present paramour, whose relations with the Princess were open and notorious in the neighborhood of Chimay, the place of residence of the Prince, in the Province of Hainault, and caused an abominable scandal.

Maitre Allien, counsel for the Princess, admitted the principal facts, but denied some of the details regarding the cynicism of the Princess, who, he said, had a good heart, but had been spoiled by bad education.

M. M. Bernateron urged the court to pronounce a decree of absolute divorce.

The court then adjourned for a fortnight and in the meantime the public prosecutor will decide the point raised by Bernateron.

Counsel for the Princess declared that she would leave to her husband the settlement of alimony.

KING LEOPOLD, A DANDY.

The King of the Belgians Became Entangled With Princess Chimay.

Cannes, Jan. 19.—The recent publication of the raid made by the police of Budapest on the apartments of the Princess de Chimay in that city and the discovery there of a bundle of letters said to have been written by a certain royal personage has caused a great sensation in European court circles.

It was openly asserted at the time that the royal author of these letters was Leopold, King of the Belgians. A correspondent to-day interviewed a high Belgian military official, who gave an interesting talk concerning certain adventures of the Princess de Chimay with royalty at Brussels.

"The Princess," he said, "was the object of the King's attentions from the very moment she arrived at Brussels. He requested a private interview, which took place at the palace of Laeken, near Brussels, and at which, according to the Princess's own account, the King approached her as the Sultan might approach an odalisque."

She told the story proudly everywhere. Other interviews took place subsequently at the same palace and always in the afternoon. It is asserted that the King at a garden party at Laeken openly neglected the guests and ladies of high rank, and even Ambassadors, in order to seek the Princess and have a long conversation with her.

At another garden party the Princess stood alone on one of the steps of the great staircase leading to the conservatories. She was the object of the looks of all. The guests, who stood there, gazed contemptuously at her.

The Princess was extremely embarrassed and did not know how to get out of the situation. An officer passed. She stopped him and asked him to give her his arm so that she might reach one of the less frequented sidewalks.

But such was the reprobation with which everyone regarded her in consequence of her conduct with the king that the officer refused, dryly remarking: "Madame, je ne suis pas de semaine," this being a military phrase signifying that as he was not on duty at the time he was able to refuse his arm.

All this is quite in keeping with old King Leopold's reputation.

The dyspeptic carries a dreadful load on his back. It seems as if he were really made up of two men. One of them ambitions, brainy and energetic; the other sick, listless, peevish and without force. The weak man weighs the other one down. The dyspeptic may be able to do pretty good work one day, and the next day because of some little indiscretion in eating, he may be able to do nothing at all. Most cases of dyspepsia start with constipation. Constipation is the cause of nine-tenths of all human sickness. Some of its symptoms are sick and bilious headache, dizziness, sour stomach, loss of appetite, foul breath, windy belchings, heartburn, pain and distress after eating. All these are indicative of derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels, and all are caused by constipation. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the quickest, easiest and most certain cure for this condition. They are not violent in action.

Send 21 cents in one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, illustrated.

W. H. Cadney, Port Burwell, Ont., says: "I was afflicted with Rheumatism and tried all cures. I did not get relief until I tried Miller's Compound Iron Pills, and before had finished two boxes I was completly cured, and now feel like a different man." Only 25 cents a box. ROSSEAU EXCITED.

An Old Man Died and Was Buried Without a Coffin—Strange Actions of His Son.

Rosseau, Ont., Jan. 19.—Jas. Cooney Blair, known as the Earl of Sunny Brook, near here, died on Sunday, and it is said was buried by his son four hours after death without a coffin. The body was found with only about a foot of earth over it. The son was in Rosseau asking among friends about money, saying his father had left some somewhere. The case has caused considerable excitement at Rosseau, and an inquest will probably be held to ascertain the cause of death.

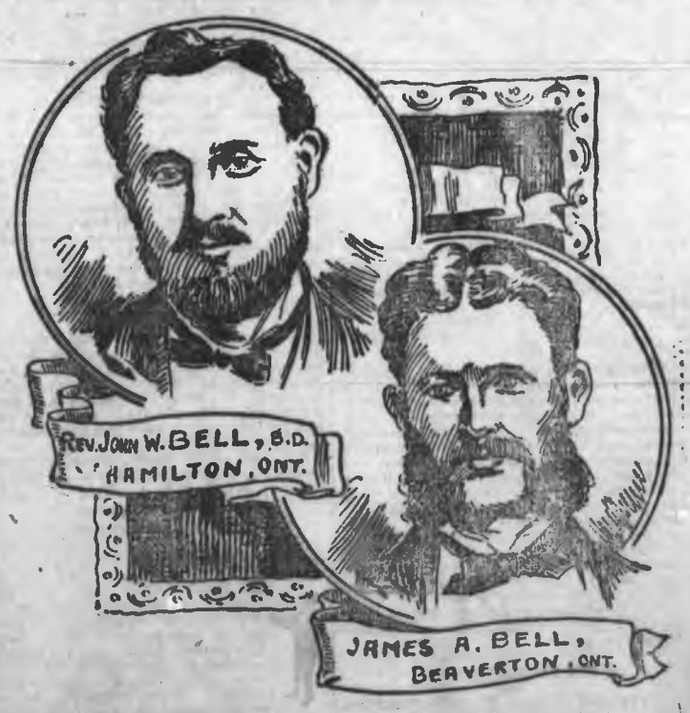
BUILT UP THE SYSTEM IN A WONDERFUL MANNER.



James A. Bell, of Beaverton, Ont., brother of the Rev. John Wesley Bell, B.D., prostrated by nervous headaches A victim of the trouble for several years.

South American Nervine effected a complete cure.

In their own particular field few men are beter known than the Rev. John Wesley Bell, B.D., and his brother Mr. James A. Bell. The former will be recognized by his thousands of friends all over the country as the popular and able missionary superintendent of the Royal Templars of Temperance. Among the 20,000 members of this order in Ontario his counsel is sought on all sorts of occasions. On the public platform he is one of the streng men of the day, battling against the evils of intemperance. Equally well known is Mr. Bell in other provinces of the Dominion, having been for years a member of the Manitoba Methodist Conference and part of this time was stationed in Winnipeg. His brother, Mr. James A. Bell, is a highly respected resident of Beaverton, where his influence, though perhaps more circumscribed than that of his eminent brother, is none the less effective and productive of good. Of recent years, however, the working ability of Mr. James A. Bell has been sadly marred by severe attacks of nervous headache, accompanied by indigestion. Who can do fit work when this trouble takes hold of them and especially when it becomes chronic, as was, seemingly, the case with Mr. Bell? The trouble reached such intensity that last June he was completely prostrated. In this condition a friend recommended South American Nervine. Ready to try anything and everything, though he thought he had covered the list of proprietary medicines, he secured a bottle of this great discovery. A second bottle of the medicine was taken and the work was done. Employing his own language: "Two bottles of South American Nervine immediately relieved my headaches and have built up my system in a wonderful manner." Let us not deprecate the good our clergymen and social reformers are doing in the world, but how ill-fitted they would be for their work were it not the relief that South American Nervine brings to them when physical ills overtake them, and when the system, as a result of hard, earnest and continuous work, breaks down. Nervine treats the system as the wise reformer treats the evils he is battling against. It strikes at the root of the trouble. All disease comes from disorganization of the nerve centers. This is a scientific fact. Nervine at once works on these nerve centers; gives to them health and vigor; and then there courses through the system strong, healthy, life-maintaining blood, and nervous troubles of every variety are things of the past.

License Inspector West Peterborough

You sometimes hear men telling with foolish conceit of how hard they overwork and that they neglect their health in the pursuit of money. There are thousands of men who admit these things with a sort of pride, and slap themselves on the chest and laugh at the idea they will some-day regret their recklessness and neglect. They laugh at Death, but in a short while, a very short while, the laugh is on the other side. Death waits while they laugh. He who laughs last, laughs best, and in due time Death dances on the prostrate body of the laugher. There are many funny things in this world but death is not one of them. Neither is ill-health for it is one of Death's weapons and the most effective.

When a hard-working man feels out of sorts, and has a poor appetite, and doesn't sleep well, and goes to work in the morning tired-out and heavy headed, he should take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is the best health-bringer and health-keeper known. It corrects all disorders of the digestion, invigorates the liver, restores the appetite and keeps it hearty and keen. It drives impurities from the blood and disease-germs from the body. It builds healthy flesh, firm muscles, steady nerves and active brain cells. It brings restful sleep and restores ambition. It cures nervous irritation, nervous exhaustion and nervous prostration. It cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption. It is the discovery of an eminent and skilful specialist, Dr. R. V. Pierce, now and for thirty years past, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y.

DR. PIERCE'S PELLETS. Good temper is largely a matter of good health, and good health is largely a matter of healthy activity of the bowels. Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. They are safe, sure and speedy, and once taken do not have to be taken always. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. They never gripe. Druggists sell them.

RUN BY SUN'S RAYS.

A PRACTICAL SOLAR ENGINE TO WORK THE WORLD'S MACHINERY.

A Chicago Inventor Claims to Have One That Can Be Run Without the Aid of Coal, Oil or Any Other Kind of Expensive Fuel.

If the hopes of Louis Gathemann, a Chicago inventor, are realized, the heat of the sun's rays, furnished free of cost, will run the machinery of the world a few years hence, says the Chicago Chronicle. The solar engine, as Gathemann calls his invention, is to displace coal, oil and other expensive fuels now in use.

Louis Gathemann believes that he can make old Sol his prisoner and force the sun to the work hitherto assigned to weaker agents. The sun, he says, will do the work better, quicker and infinitely cheaper than coal, gas and oil. By the use of his solar engine he proposes to collect the rays of the sun in huge lenses and focus these upon boilers filled with water. The heat of the sunlight, which averages 100 degrees through the entire year, and rises to 150 degrees in the summer, will, it is said, be concentrated to 800 degrees Fahrenheit. This temperature is sufficient to convert the water in the boiler into steam almost instantly. The steam is then to be conducted by pipes to an engine of the ordinary type, where a dynamo may convert the steam power into electricity and conduct it to distant places.

The electricity may also be stored away for future use, or the steam power may be utilized on the spot. A single solar motor is to contain a sectional lens of not more than 500 square feet, being 50 feet long and 10 feet wide, with a curvature of one-eighth of a circle. As Mr. Gathemann figures it, such a machine would cost about $1500 and could furnish the year round at a mean solar temperature of 100 degrees a constant force equal to seven horse power. By covering an acre of ground in the outskirts of a city with these machines, Gathemann believes that he could get a constant equivalent of not less than 600 horse power. He estimates the cost of a plant like this at $20,000 to $30,000, which is about twice as much as a steam boiler with 600 horse power would cost.

"The advantage of the solar engine," said Mr. Gathemann, "lies in the reduced running expense. To obtain 600 horse power from an ordinary engine coal to the value of $900 a month is required. This does not include oil, repairs and other current outlays. With the solar engine the expenses are almost nil. The sun does not charge us for the use of its rays. The water may be obtained from an artesian well especially drilled for the purpose. The expenses of supervision would also be greatly reduced with the use of the solar engine.

"I am not the first man to experiment with a solar motor. A Frenchman recently made some experiments in this direction, and John Ericsson, of Monitor fame, built and operated a solar engine. I believe it worked successfully, though it did not present sufficient advantages over the systems in use to bring about a change. When Captain Ericsson died his project was neglected. The engine was built on the plan of a concave glass, with the boiler suspended within the curvature. The trouble was that the entire surface was exposed to the air, so that a large part of the heat was allowed to escape, and furthermore, the boiler by being above the glass threw a shade over the reflector."

Mr. Gathemann is an old settler, and is well known in Chicago, especially among the Germans. He has won considerable reputation on certain inventions in milling machinery which have netted him a small fortune. He is the inventor of the sectional lens telescope, for which he claims a great future, and has invented a submarine gunboat with many new devices, some of which were accepted by the German Government.

Keep up hope. There are thousands of cases where recovery from Consumption has been complete. Plenty of fresh air and a well-nourished body will check the progress of the disease. Nutritious foods are well in their way, but the best food of all is Cod-liver Oil. When partly digested, as in Scott's Emulsion, it does not disturb the stomach and the body secures the whole benefit of the amount taken. If you want to read more about it let us send you a book.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Belleville, Ont.

Sympathetic.

Young Hopeful—"Father, it worries me such a lot to think how much trouble I give mamma."

Father—"She hasn't complained."

"No; she's very patient. But she often sends me to the shops for things, and the shops are a good ways off sometimes, and I know she gets tired waitin' when she's in a hurry."

"Not often, I think."

"Oh, she's most always in a hurry, She gets everything ready for cake, and at the last minute finds she hasn't any flour; or she starts on a pudding and finds she hasn't any suet or something; an' then she's in an awful trouble 'cause the oven is all ready, and maybe company coming, and I can't run a very long distance, you know, and I feel awful sorry for poor mother."

"Humph! Well, what can we do about it?"

"I was thinking you might get me a bicycle."

The folly of prejudice is frequently shown by people who prefer to suffer for years rather than try an advertised remedy, The millions who have no such notions, take Ayer's Sarsaparilla for blood-diseases, and are cured. So much for common sense.

Artistic Furnishings.

China globes, spherical in shape, and in plain colors, Delft, Dresden or Japanese decoration are very much newer than the umbrella shades of silk, and all the latest ones bought are of this kind. The downfall of the silk ones was probably because they were so expensive and soiled so quickly.

A new idea, producing a very handsome effect in mantel decoration, is to have it of peacock feathers. One feather after another is sewed alternately high and low upon a piece of silk, close enough together to hide the foundation, and the upper edge is finished by a lapped border of single feathers run around it.

There is a great fad at the present time for having a border of plates in the dining-room, and a plate rack is a necessity of the modern dining hall. Old blue and white ones are considered especially desirable.

If your wicker chair becomes soiled have it painted in white enamel touched with gilt and well cushioned in blue and white cretonne, and it will be dainty enough for the Queen.

The newest centre pieces and doilies are round, with a hem about an inch wide turned onto the right side. The scallop is worked at the edge of this holding it in place. A new pattern of pine needles in greens and browns has caught popular favor.

Insight.

"When two women quarrel I can always tell which is to blame."

"How do you do it?"

"I know that the one who seems most amiable has been the aggressor."

The impurities in the blood which cause scrofulous eruptions are thoroughly eradicated by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Try it.

FOUND A JEWEL.

An Important Find by a Brockville Jeweller.

Mr. Joseph Lane, the well-known jeweller of Brockville, says: "For some years I have suffered with severe pains in my back and sides and flashes of heat between my shoulders. I had a tired, wornout feeling. "The numerous medicines that I took gave me very little relief. Hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills I thought I would try a box, and got one at Curry's drugstore. "After the first two or three doses I felt much relieved, and the longer I took them the greater the change for the better in my condition. I am much better in every respect and recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to all sufferers from kidney trouble as the best remedy I know of."

Two Box Cure

MILVERTON, 29TH JULY, 1895.

Gentlemen,—For the last ten years I had been troubled with kidney disease, being so bad at intervals that I could not lie in bed at night nor stoop to the ground. I had tried all the remedies I could find without effect, but heard of Dodd's Kidney Pills and procured a box. I am most happy to say it for my own sake as well as for others that I am perfectly cured after using four boxes.

Facts About Furs and Bankrupt Stocks.

Some dealers in Furs believe in selling Bankrupt Stocks but others there are who do not; yet, at the same time have offered several bankrupt stocks for sale within a short time, while claiming also to sell nothing in Furs but of their own manufacture. We certainly must stand away ahead of our competitors as we do not require the aid of such stocks but stand on the merits of our own manufactured goods, which we can always guarantee as such. Our reputation of 36 years standing without a failure is the best proof that customers believe in us and support us so well. We do not require to make any bombastic statements regarding the size or quality of our stock; both are only too well known in the town as well as in many other places at great distances. We wish to thank our customers for their patronage through the late season.

World's Fair Medals.

The Department of Agriculture has just had mounted in a very neat and appropriate frame the eighteen medals awarded at the World's Fair in Chicago to the Province for its exhibits in horticulture and agriculture. It is claimed that no other Province or State in the world can boast of such a record, as, in addition to the medals, the province has also received nineteen diplomas in the same classes. These diplomas and medals, which when arranged will make a very handsome picture, are to be hung in a conspicuous place in one of the main corridors of the Parliament Buildings.

A Sale of Local Importance.

When the clear-the-table time comes around at the Peterborough Bookstore, business takes on a fresh start and fresh interest of local importance springs up. The business that is too regular gets into ruts. The annonncement of stock-taking at Stratton's Bookstore does not mean that any waste time is going on. On the contrary, inventory time is the time when the nimble sixpence doctrine is pushed to its utmost extremity, and quick sales are the symbols of this business. Goods are now being snapped up at the reduced prices that hung fire before January, and genuine bargains lighten the labours of stock-taking. See advertisement. A. H. STRATTON & Co.

LINDSAY BONSPIEL.

The Curlers Still Pegging Away With Vim on Good Ice.

Lindsay, Jan. 20.—The curlers are still pegging away with great vim and unflagging enthusiasm. The weather has moderated somewhat, and thus greatly improved the ice. Some very interesting and stubbornly-contested games were played last evening in the single-rink competition. The interest of the spectators centred principally in the contest between the rinks skipped by Rev. J. W. McMillan, Lindsay, and Sheriff Paxton of Whitby. Also a very exciting contest developed last evening on Ice No. 4, at the Curling Rink, when Skip Ray of Peterboro' met that wary and experienced veteran, Mr. James Keith. The game aroused intense interest, and at the last end was a tie; Skip Keith was left a very difficult shot, guards having been well placed by the Peterboro' men, and was unable to dislodge the winner. The Winnipeg rink, skipped by Dr. Jamieson, met and defeated a rink of Peterboro' curlers, skipped by R. S. Davidson, by a very handsome score. Below are the results of the games played morning and afternoon:

Millbrook—Needler, skip, 16. Oshawa—Dingle, skip, 9.

Bobcaygeon—Read, skip, 16. Lindsay—Storer, jr., skip, 12.

OPTIONS.—The management has secured the following interests in both British Columbia and Ontario:—Options on three promising locations near the famous "JUMBO" mine, Rossland, B.C., two properties in the Slocan District, B.C., one in the Whitewater Basin, being under option held by us, the other in which an interest is being negotiated for at present.

A location in Boundary Creek District, B.C., which is well mineralized, and will be carefully examined in the spring by our experts in connection with contemplated purchase.

Two locations in Rainy River District, one of which will be examined minutely as soon as transportation admits it in the spring, whilst the other is under negotiation.

Locations in Jackfish Bay, having an area of about 500 acres, as well as several other partially developed properties in the Lake of the Woods, Trail Creek, Slocan, and Boundary districts, which are receiving the attention of the management.

OBJECTS.—(1). The Company will secure by exploration, through its Mining Agents and employees, gold, silver and other mineral claims, and will sell the same, or partially develop and sell, to other persons or companies as will secure the best and quickest returns to its shareholders. There are scores of mining claims which show surface indications of gold or silver, or both, but unless and until they have been thoroughly tested by some expenditure in opening them up, they cannot be submitted to the examination of skilled Mining Engineers. This Company will start operations with options and contracts extending over the best mining fields in Canada, and will continue to secure more while developing those in hand. The extent to which expenditure will be made will depend on the advice of experts. Before offering any property for sale the Company will be ready to lay before intending purchasers the carefully-prepared reports of the best Mining Experts. The prices will vary with the stage of development and the nature of the reports. In this way no investor need be misled. They will know what they are getting so far as the best advice can guide them, and they will have the chances always before them of great gains, and a minimum chance of loss. The services of a practical and thoroughly reliable man, who has explored the Kootenay, have already been secured for the Company in British Columbia.

(2) The Company will also promote and form other Companies, both on this Continent and in Europe, for the purpose of acquiring and operating mines now secured, or to be secured, by this Company.

(3) Will deal in mining shares, and act as Mining Brokers generally, and appoint Agents throughout Canada and elsewhere to represent the Company, and especially the Brokerage Department of the Company.

(4) Will be a medium of information to its shareholders on all matters pertaining to mining and mining stocks in Ontario, British Columbia, and elsewhere, enabling each shareholder to receive the very latest news from the Company's confidential Agents at the mining centres.

(5) Having its private prospectors, good claims can be secured at first cost, of which every shareholder gets the profit and all the profit. Ordinary Mining Companies are often capitalized at tens of thousands of dollars beyond the first cost, thereby depriving the shareholder of the first, and frequently the largest, profit. Every prospector of this Company will be in the position of a private prospector and locator for each shareholder. There will be no middle owners and no middle profits.

Write or call for prospectus, or any other information desired will be given upon demand.

A limited number of shares, first issue, are now offered to the public at 10 CENTS per share, in blocks of not less than 100 shares. Those desiring to become subscribers to the first issue can do so by communicating with

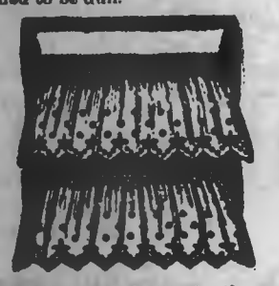
WHITE GOODS SENSATION!

The men are puzzled to know how it is that so many ladies are flocking to the Golden Lion buying Whitewear in January! The remark has been heard that the very thought of it sends a cold chill down his back, but there's a-something about it lady shoppers understand. We have made it worth their while to buy Whitewear here just now—even if it is midwinter! Big stores like ours have to be on the alert to make business interesting, and these special buying chances in January stimulate trade when it is inclined to be dull.



There is a great change in the new styles and qualities this year; and, besides, the prices are lower. Having no old stock to work off, ladies need have no hesitation. Such values as are represented in this store have never been equalled, in a regular way, much less discounted. Prices are decidedly below anything ever before attempted. We mean that exactly as its written

LADIES' CORSET COVERS 10c, 20c 30c, 35c, 50c, and 65c.
LADIES' NIGHT DRESSES 50c, 75c, $1, $1 25, $1 50, $1.65, $2 up to $3 the garment.
LADIES' DRAWERS 25c, 35c, 45c, 50c, 55c, 85c, and $1
LADIES' WHITE SKIRTS 75c, $1, $1.25, $1 50 and $1 75.

FREE—With every 50c purchase of Whitewear we give a Sheet of Popular Music Free.

SECOND CROP OF BARGAINS

As there is a good deal of winter yet before us, it is unnecessary to point out the wisdom of buying now.

This is the month of lucky chances and snaps in mid-winter goods. An aftermath of Bargains for shrewd buyers—lines which we have laid out during stock-taking such as Serges, Cheviots, Heavy Tweeds and other Remnants, as well as Millinery, to be sold even at HALF REGULAR PRICES.

We don't want to carry winter lines past their regular selling season. No relics here. This store is not a museum. We have neither old goods nor old ideas.

You need the goods—we need the room they occupy—so there is mutual benefit all round in the selling of them.

We don't "rest-up" during the winter months and take things easy until spring. While others are resting we're simply HUSTLING.

FOR—

FASTIDIOUS FELLOWS,

Who want to dress in style, and yet keep within their means, have a great chance, which is legally theirs, for the next few weeks. With three months of good stiff winter weather before us, we make a great offer to men:—

Select any piece of Suitings in our store—imported or domestic — Worsteds, Tweeds, Cheviots or Cassimeres—we will make it up for you in the highest style of the tailors' art, and guarantee finish fabric and fit, from..... .... $12 up

Select any piece of Overcoating in our store—and we will make you up an Overcoat or Ulster, any style you like, beautifully finished, from..... $12 up

We are determined to get the shears into every piece of winter goods in the store, by putting the knife into the prices.

GOOD NEWS

For You....

LADIES.

The whole of our stock is reduced, and must be disposed of regardless of old prices. We can do better for you this week than last. Here are some Seasonable Specials:—

Mantle Special.

Every Mantle that left our store this season was of the latest productions. The few we have to sell are the same—the only thing wrong with them is the price. They're the $5.50 and $6.00 grade for $3 00.

Glove Special.

Only a few dozen left, and we want to give you a bargain in them. Regular 25c a pair, to go for just one-half—12½c.

Mantle Cloths Special.

We are taking a clean one-fourth off the prices of our Mantle Cloths and Dress Goods.

We prefer to sell now at HALF price than carry anything over. All Trimmed Hats and Bonnets, no matter what they are worth, can be bought at just one-half. Ribbons all reduced.

Connection of Senator Cox and Mr. Jaffray

WITH THE B.C. SOUTHERN RAILWAY

Canadian Literature Going to Old France—Ottawa People Send Aid to the Famine Sufferers in India—The Showing of the Walker Estate.

Ottawa, Jan. 21.—(Special.)—The other day it was denied that Senator Cox and Mr. Robert Jaffray of Toronto had secured the British Columbia Southern Railway charter. In British Columbia, however, the report is firmly believed. The Vancouver World says that Colonel Baker, a member of the Provincial Government, and one of the chief owners of the British Columbia Southern Railway, realized some time ago the hopelessness of attempting to build the line unless heavily subsidized by the Federal Government, or taken over by the Canadian Pacific as part of its system. He realized, too, the fact that a land grant alone would not enable the company to make such financial arrangements as would ensure the completion of the road, and surrendered to others whatever right or interest he had acquired in the enterprise. The syndicate embraces prominent capitalists in Toronto, Montreal and Ottawa. Hon. Mr. Cox, The Vancouver World says, "is familiar with railway matters, he having been for a number of years president of the Midland Railway of Canada. He is known to be an energetic business man, and realizing the importance to Canada of the completion of the line from Lethbridge by way of Fort McLeod into the Kootenay, a project in which the Government of the Dominion is equally interested, it is not likely the negotiations looking to an early start being made on the undertaking will either be wearisome or protracted. Senator Cox will command the ear of the administration in this matter. There is, therefore, every reason for hoping that during the forthcoming session of Parliament such legislation will be enacted as will ensure an early start being made, and the speedy completion of an all-rail route from the east."

Mr. Edouard Richard, formerly Liberal M. P. for Megantic, and who has lately distinguished himself in the world of letters by the publication of "Missing Links in the History of Acadia," proceeds to Paris, where he will resume work among the archives of the Ministry of Marine. He takes the place formerly occupied by the late Joseph Marmette, the historical novelist. Mr. Richard has lately been elected a fellow of the Royal Society, and has received the honorary degree of Doctor of Letters from Laval University. No better appointment could have been made. On Mr. Richard's return to Canada it is reported he will take over the duties of Clerk of the Senate, in succession to Mr. Langevin, who will be retired.

Mayor Bingham to-day received a letter from Mr. Charles Magee, president of the Bank of Ottawa, stating that at a meeting of the directors of the bank to-day $500 had been subscribed towards the India relief fund. Mr. Magee enclosed a cheque for the amount, also $200 additional from the individual directors present at the meeting. The Mayor has been requested, as hon. treasurer of the fund, to forward these amounts, together with additional subscriptions, to the Lord Mayor's fund in London, Eng. His Worship chipped in $100 as his contribution. The Bank of Ottawa has agreed to transmit without any charge any amounts that may be subscribed.

F. B. McNamee, the well-known contractor, was in the city to-day on business with the Minister of Railways and Canals. It is said there is every probability of extensive repairs being made to the Welland Canal next summer. There is what is known as the "deep cut" between Welland town and Thorold town. Here the earth that was taken from the canal was banked up on either side. The past two seasons the weight of the earth has been so great that it has been with difficulty that sufficient water has been kept in the bed of the canal to prevent a cave-in of the banks. Repairs must of necessity be made in this particular locality at an early date. Mr. McNamee will urge the reopening of the dry dock in Port Robinson. It is admittedly the best location in Canada for a large dry dock. The people of Welland County have for years been urging its repair, but without effect.

At the Carleton County Assizes to-day Dr. Henderson of this city was awarded a verdict of $1,380 in his action against the Canada Atlantic Railway for injuries received by being struck by a locomotive when crossing the railway track on Elgin-street some months ago. All the questions submitted for their consideration by His Lordship were answered in Henderson's favor. The jury found that the bell of the engine was not rung continuously as it approached the crossing, and that this had the effect of causing the coachman to drive nearer the tracks than he would have done, and contributed to the accident. The jury also came to the conclusion that the engine was going faster than six miles an hour, and did not believe that the flagman raised the flag in warning to an approaching vehicle. The noise of the train, in the jury's opinion, frightened the horses and caused the accident. In consideration of all this, the jury awarded $380 damages for the horse and carriage, $600 damages for injuries sustained by the mental shock and $400 damages for physical shock, a total of $1380. His Lordship reserved judgment, as the points of law bearing on the questions answered by the jury are to be argued at Toronto.

At a meeting of the creditors of the estate of W. H. Walker, held in Hull to-day, Mr. F. H. Birks of Hull was appointed curator, and Messrs. the Hon. R. W. Scott, Senator Clemow and H. C. Hammond of Toronto were made inspectors of the estate. The assets consist mainly of the immovable property in Buckingham, all of which are under seizure at the suit of the mortgage creditors.

Either Minister Dobell has again been putting his foot in it, or cables misrepresent him. Mr. Davies takes the more charitable view and discredits the statement cabled from England to the effect that the Hon. Mr. Dobell agreed with Mr. Goschen, First Lord of the Admiralty, that the Hudson's Bay route was impracticable for steamers.

The Minister of Marine and Fisheries is in receipt of a communication, under date of Jan. 19, from Judge King, the Canadian arbitrator in the Bearing Sea claims, in which he says: "We are beginning to see the end, as far as taking evidence in Victoria goes."

Tenders will immediately be asked for supplying steel rails for the Intercolonial Railway. The advertisement will appear in England as well as here.

This year the Royal Canadian Academy of Arts will hold its annual meeting and exhibition in this city. His Excellency will open the annual exhibition of paintings on the evening of March 9.

Major Evans of the Royal Canadian Dragoons, Winnipeg, is in the city.

The Capital had its first real snowstorm of the winter last night and this morning, about six inches having fallen. Some of the railway trains were behind time in consequence. The snowfall has been quite a boon to the working class.

The Interprovincial convention of the Y. M. C. Associations of Ontario and Quebec commenced here to-day. Mayor Bingham delivered an address of welcome on behalf of the city.

Senator Temple is in town.

The Pontiac and Pacific Junction Railway has paid up arrears of wages owing to its employes.

Hon. Mr. Blair says the report that he is shortly to make an inspection of the Intercolonial Railway is premature.

Offers of assistance are already coming in to the D. R. A. authorities from Canadian manufacturers towards the permanent quarters at Bisley, including furniture, etc. It is to be hoped that the lumber necessary will also be forthcoming. There has been an offer of free transportation across the Atlantic of freight.

Mrs. Crabb, a milliner on Bank-street, was fined $5 for infringement of the early closing bylaw. Mrs. Crabb contended that she had to keep open at night on account of her registry office, as servant girls could not get out at any other time.

AN OPEN VERDICT.

The Rosseau Mystery Remains a Mystery—Jurors Deliberated for Two Hours.

Rosseau, Ont., Jan. 21.—The inquest on James Cooney was resumed at 2 o'clock p.m., when several witnesses were called. One feature of the evidence worthy of mention was some conversation between Arthur Baines and James Cooney during breakfast at the Monteith House on Wednesday morning before there had been anything done in the matter, and some talk of holding an inquest. James Cooney stated to Baines, "Well, they might find some marks on his head caused by the hard lumps thrown into the grave." It might be gathered from this that the son had some idea of such a mark as was proven by the post mortem to be on the head. Again, in his evidence to-day, he stated that he put the soft earth in first and the hard afterwards.

Another feature of the evidence brought out was the probable disposal of the farm to Mr. E. Evans, who was to meet the deceased at Rosseau on Saturday last and settle the bargain. This would deprive the son of any interest in the farm. The son admitted that it was to his interest for his father to live as long as possible, as he could live with him on his pension of $12 per month and improve the place, which he expected to receive at his father's death, and pay off the debt against it.

At 7.30 this evening the inquest was resumed, when Coroner Young made his address, dwelling on the facts bearing on the case in an impartial manner. The jury retired at 7.45 and were out for two hours and a quarter and returned with the following verdict:

"The said James Cooney came to his death on Sunday, Jan. 17, from a bruise on the right side of his head above the ear, the cause and date of such injury being unknown."

BALLOT BOX STUFFING

Another Deputy Returning Officer Sent for Trial.

WOULD NOT OFFER ANY DEFENCE

Prefers to Wait Until the Case Comes Before the Judges—Mr. Joseph Martin Announces Definitely That He is Out of Politics—Other News From the Prairie Capital.

Winnipeg, Jan. 21.—(Special.)—Malcolm Orr, one of the deputy returning officers in the Macdonald Dominion election, was to-day sent up for trial. The evidence for the prosecution went to show that seven ballots cast in Orr's poll for the Liberal candidate, Mr. Rutherford, had been destroyed or in some way got rid of. The defence reserved its evidence until the case comes up at the assizes, as has been done in all the other cases where deputy returning officers have been committed for trial. The reason for this course is that the Conservatives claim that the magistrates selected to conduct the preliminary trials are partisan. They contend that when the cases come before judges a different complexion will be put on them.

There is a warm discussion now going on in Winnipeg Board of Trade circles. The Dominion tariff commissioners will be here shortly, and the subject of controversy is whether evidence should be submitted by the board as an organization or by individual members on their own responsibility. Of course, there is more or less politics in the question, which makes it difficult to decide.

Eastern Assiniboia people are vigorously protesting against the proposal to annex Eastern Assiniboia to the Province of Manitoba.

Archbishop Langevin writes that he is well satisfied with his mission in the east. He feels sure that, now that the people of Quebec are becoming familiar with the meaning of the school settlement terms, they will stand by the Manitoba minority. His Grace says he will leave Quebec for home the latter part of the month.

The Manitoba Patrons of Industry in convention at Brandon yesterday appointed a delegation to meet the Dominion Tariff Commissioners, and passed a resolution which said: "We unhesitatingly, and without reserve, condemn the principle of protection and call upon the Government to redeem its election pledges at the forthcoming session of Parliament."

Joseph Martin left to-day for Toronto and Montreal, and will be absent in the east a month. Before he left he stated definitely that, if Winnipeg was opened, he would not again contest the seat. He declared that after considering the matter fully he had determined to remain out of politics.

Winnipeg bank clearings, week ended to-day, were $1,067,522, balances $165,837.

PALMER'S VICTIMS.

Funeral Services in the Methodist Church at Mamaroneck—No Trace of the Murderer.

Mamaroneck, N.Y., Jan. 21.—Funeral services were held to-day in the Methodist Church over the remains of Mrs. Harriet Palmer and Leonard Palmer, who were murdered a few days ago by Arthur Palmer, a son of the former. Among the chief mourners were William A. Palmer, Lofton T. Palmer and Jesse Palmer, brothers of the murderer. While the burial service was being read George Palmer, Arthur's cousin, who, it is claimed, had threatened to complete the work of killing the family, begun by Arthur, attempted to enter the church and was placed under arrest. It was feared by the authorities that if he was permitted to enter the church he would put his threat into execution.

The condition of Miss Gertrude Palmer, another of her brother's victims, was much improved to-night, and it is now thought that she will recover.

No far the authorities have not been able to get the slightest clue to the whereabouts of the murderer.

A despatch was received here from Toronto this morning, which stated that Arthur Palmer's wife, who is visiting her parents in that city, was completely prostrated by the news of her husband's crime.

THE WESTERN DAIRYMEN.

Papers and Discussion on Butter Making—Officers Elected for the Current Year.

Brantford, Jan. 21.—The Western Ontario Dairymens' convention's morning session opened with an excellent and instructive paper read by J. B. Muir, an experienced butter maker, in which he advocates the co-operation system.

J. H. Monrad addressed the convention on winter butter making. He said that with reasonable care winter butter making should be as successful as in summer.

Prof. Robertson started an interesting and instructive discussion on butter making in creameries.

Hon. Mr. Fisher spoke on winter dairying, advocating the use of the plant all the year round. To make winter dairying a success it required warm barns, bright light and sunshine.

The following is the list of officers for 1897: Hon. president, Hon. Thomas Ballantyne; president, A. F. McLaren, Stratford; vice-president, J. A. Pierce, London; second vice-president, H. Eagle, Attercliffe; third vice-president, A. Ware, Ayton; representative to Industrial Fair, A. F. McLaren; representative to Western Fair, J. S. Pierce and R. Robertson; representatives to Fat Stock Show, H. Eagle and R. M. Ballantyne.

The delegates to-day are visiting the different manufacturies and places of interest in the city.

The Board of Trade annual banquet will be held at the Kirby House to-night, where a large gathering is expected.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

"This country wants statesmen at the head of affairs, and not politicians," writes Major Sam. Hughes, in the Lindsay Warder. There are comparatively very few fair-seeing citizens who will join Major Hughes in denying that the country has what it wants at the head of affairs in the ministry of Mr. Laurier.

The Montreal Star demands that Mr. Charlton, who, is at Washington, should come home at once and repudiate the rubbish which Canadian papers have been publishing on the score of his alleged doings and sayings in that city. Failing this, says our contemporary, Mr. Charlton should resign his seat in the Canadian Parliament. Let us see. Mr. Charlton will be 66 years of age on Feb. 3. Does the Star expect him to live to be a hundred, which he would have to do to overtake all the nimble-footed lies that newspapers, in the interest of the Opposition, have set on foot?

Canadian distillers should furnish a pretty good quality of grog considering the "bulge" they get. They enjoy, it has been shown, a protection of 55 cents per gallon on what costs them 20 cents to produce, equivalent to a protection of 275 per cent. At least these are the figures and deductions of the Templar. And distilling isn't an "infant" industry either. The Templar also points that if the excise duty on spirits were advanced from the present rate of $1.70 to $2.15, the distillers would still have a protection of 50 per cent. and, if the present consumption continued, one million one hundred thousand dollars would be added to the revenue of the country.

The Montreal Star, referring to the methods revealed, in the Manitoba elections, says: "If the evidence that has been given remains uncontradicted, there can be but one opinion as to the wisdom of exposure and the need of impressive punishment. Much as we condemn corrupt campaign methods, the country can afford even toleration for them, when it simply dare not permit any jugglery in the polling booth. When the voter comes up to the ballot box, having made his choice between the "issues," having—and the later politics demand this clause—made his choice between selling his vote or casting it himself, anyone who by force or fraud prevents him from marking his ballot as he has decided, or contrives that it shall not be counted, strikes a blow at the foundation of social order—forces a fatal violation of the "good faith" under which men consent to obey laws made through the ballot box."

"The palmy days of the prize ring has evidently passed away, and the game of fisticuffs is placed on the list of outlawed sports. Even in the United States where, with an airy disregard of morality or decency, almost "everything goes," no spot for pitching the 24-foot ring can be found and bruisers have to bring off their exhibitions on Mexican soil, if at all. While a knowledge of how to use one's hands is proper enough in its place—that of the manly art of self defence—it is quite out of place in this civilized age as a medium of aggression. In Canada we are going a step further and showing the cold shoulder to boxing and sparring exhibitions. As a rule the authorities are justified in preventing them on the same ground that a farmer or other citizen is protested against the hay-fork man or the confidence man. The so-called exhibitions generally come under the head of getting money under false pretences, for the fistic farces presented by broken-winded and rheumatic ex-pugilists and awkward amateurs are but sorry equivalents for the price of admission. But on the grounds of their demoralizing effect—their giving a low and brutalizing twist to the juvenile mind—they should be taboo. The city of Montreal has shut her gates to the bruising fraternity, and even the suburb of St. Henri, won't have them at any price. Evidently the prize fight is on the high way to that limbo to which has been consigned bull-baiting, the bear garden, and to which bull fighting is rapidly going.

CONSERVATIVE PARTY CHANGES

Montreal Herald.

It is announced by the Toronto World, a paper usually well informed as to Conservative affairs, that Mr. Haggart has resigned the party leadership for Eastern Ontario, and that it will be assumed by Mr. Peter White, who was speaker of the late Parliament.

Mr. Haggart's conduct in absenting himself from the Conservative campaign in the Cornwall bye-election, a contest which took place in one of the most important of the constituencies in the party territory over which he has hitherto exercised jurisdiction, and his absence from the Province at a time when bye-election struggles are in progress in three other Ontario constituencies held by Conservatives during the last session of Parliament, certainly constitute a virtual resignation of the trust formerly reposed in him. It is not hard to believe that he has relinquished the claim to leadership in the party; that his present tour in the Northwest is equivalent to a confession that he has realized that as leader he is no longer acceptable to the party in Ontario and that he has forstalled by resignation the humiliation of rejection in a party caucus.

For there is not the slightest reason to question the temper of the better elements in the Conservative party in Ontario. It is bent upon a thorough re-organization. Advices from all parts of the Province show that the party in the Province is keenly alive to its weaknesses and is determined upon such an upheaval as shall put its best men in their proper place.

WAGGON TIRES IN RELATION TO ROADS.

The following is from the report of Mr. A. W. Campbell, Provincial Road Inspector, upon the highways of several townships in the County of Oxford:

People tax themselves in time, labour and money for constructing roads, and then purchase narrow tired wagons to destroy them. If tires of from four to six inches were used on lumber wagons a very great change would be quickly noticed in the condition of the roads. The difference between a narrow tire and a wide tire on a road, is about the same as the difference between a pick and a pounder. The one tears up, the other consolidates. When wide tires come into general use, a great part of the question of Good Roads will be solved, as the wear of the road is nearly as important an item to consider as its construction. With wide tires, the cost of keeping roads gravelled would be reduced one half.

It is objected to broad tires that they are heavy to draw over a rutted or stony road. It is, however, the narrow tires which are so largely responsible for the ruts, and for working the stones loose; instead of which wide tires would keep the roadbed smooth and compress the stones into it.

The dyspeptic carries a dreadful load on his back. It seems as if he were really made up of two men. One of them ambitions, brainy and energetic; the other sick, listless, peevish and without force. The weak man weighs the other one down. The dyspeptic may be able to do pretty good work one day, and the next day because of some little indiscretion in eating, he may be able to do nothing at all. Most cases of dyspepsia start with constipation. Constipation is the cause of nine-tenths of all human sickness. Some of its symptoms are sick and bilious headache, dizziness, sour stomach, loss of appetite, foul breath, windy belchings, heartburn, pain and distress after eating. All these are indicative of derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels, and all are caused by constipation. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the quickest, easiest and most certain cure for this condition. They are not violent in action.

NORTH PERTH CONSERVATIVES

Met at Milverton Yesterday, Heard Speeches and Elected Officers.

Milverton, Ont., Jan. 21.—The North Perth Conservative Association met here to-day with a full representation of delegates from all parts of the riding. Addresses were delivered by Major O'Donahue of Stratford, R. F. Hesson, ex-M.P., Thomas Magwood, M.L.A., and others. The member, Mr. McLaren, telegraphed that he was unable to be present. The following officers were elected: Col. Campbell, hon. president; John Watson, hon. vice-president; J. C. Monteith, Stratford, president; H. B. Morphy, Listowel, vice-president; A. C. Steele, Stratford, secretary. After the usual resolutions supporting the Dominion and Provincial Opposition leaders, the meeting closed with a determination to keep North Perth represented as at present in both Houses.

A BRITISH BLUE BOOK

Showing Correspondence in Regard to Turkey.

PRAISE FOR PREMIER SALISBURY

Austria and Italy Joined Britain, Germany Was Guarded and Russia Objected to Coercive Measures—Details of the Benin Massacre—General News by Cable.

London, Jan. 21.—The Government has issued a blue book containing the official correspondence in regard to the projected reforms in Turkey. The correspondents show that on Sept. 23 last, Lord Salisbury proposed that the powers take measures to enforce their proposals, and that in the event of unwillingness on the part of any power to assume its share in the coercive measures applied, that power should not oppose the action of any other. Austria gave her assent to to this proposition without qualification, and later Germany assented, with the proviso that any coercive action taken by the powers against Turkey must be unanimous, and further, that the integrity of the Ottoman empire must be maintained. Italy gave her assent to the proposal, but Russia objected to any scheme which involved the application of coercion to make it operative. In interposing this objection M. Shishkin, then at the head of the Russian Foreign Office, stated that coercion was repugnant to the Czar. In reply to this Lord Salisbury expostulated with the Russian Minister, saying it would be useless for the powers to make further concerted representations to the Porte in regard to reforms unless they were prepared to enforce their proposals.

On Nov. 24 M. Shishkin wrote to Lord Salisbury saying that the Czar had agreed to consider the question of coercion if the Sultan should prove recalcitrant and the other powers were unanimously in favor of resorting to coercion. About the end of December France gave a similar assent to measures of coercion, and the Governments of Russia, Austria and Italy reaffirmed their adhesion to that plan of action.

Lord Salisbury's correspondence on the subject closes with a letter dated Jan. 3.

All the newspapers will to-morrow publish comments on the correspondence contained in the blue book. The Liberal organs join with the Conservative papers in paying tributes to Lord Salisbury for his great diplomatic triumph in inducing the powers to assume a strong attitude on the Turkish question. Even those papers which have heretofore carped on Great Britain's alleged futile efforts to bring about a concert of the power regarding Turkey now join in the chorus of praise of the British Prime Minister's masterly diplomacy.

THE BENIN MASSACRE.

Details of the Treachery of the Barbarous African King.

London, Jan. 21.—Further details have reached here of the recent massacre of members of a peaceable British expedition by natives of the Benin country, and the facts as now known have excited the deepest indignation even among the "little Englanders," who declare that prompt punishment should be meted out to the murderers. As reported at the time in despatches of the United Associated presses, the expedition started from Bonny, in the Niger coast protectorate, West Africa, for Benin City, its object being to ask the King of Benin to remove the obstacles he places in the way of trade. The expedition consisted of Acting Consul-General Phillips, Major Copeland-Crawford, Deputy Commissioner Captain Boisragon, commandant of the Main Maling Wing, officer of the same force; Messrs. Locke and Campbell, of the Consular staff; Dr. Elliott, medical officer, and Messrs. Powis and Gordon, civilians, together with about 250 Kroomen and native carriers. None of the men were armed, and they were in nowise prepared to meet an attack, should one be made upon them. This was considered a remarkably foolhardy method of entering Benin, as it has been known for some time that the King of that country was hostile to the British, notwithstanding the fact that he had entered into treaty obligations with them. It was set forth as an explanation of this action that the expedition did not desire to make any show of force against the King, it being thought that its objects would be more readily attained were no firearms carried. Tis was a fatal mistake, as subsequent events proved.

The expedition left Bonny about Jan. 1, and about two weeks later the yaiht Ivy, belonging to the Consuls General, returned to Bonny from Sapele, where the expedition had left it preparatory to making the land journey to Benin, with the news of the massacre of the entire expedition. Later it was learned that seven of the Kroomen escaped, and still later that Captain Bilsragon and Consular Officer Locke had also escaped.

Now it is learned that after the expedition left Sapele it proceeded without difficulty, save that experienced from the nature of the country, to within a few miles of Benin City. Some of the Kroomen had been sent forward to cut a path through the jungle, and when the rest of the expedition were almost within sight of the town, they came upon the bodies of these pioneers who had been massacred. Before the expedition could rtreat the Benin tribesmen attacked thm, and, having them completely at a disadvantage, the party were almost completely annihilated. Capt. Boisragon and Consular Officer Locke were wounded, as were also the seven Kroomen who subsequently reached the coast. They managed, however, to crawl unobserved into the almost impentrable jungle, and, after days of horrible suffering from their wounds and the exhaustion of their tollsome journey, succeeded in reaching New Benin, on the coast, some 230 miles west of Bonny.

Mr. Campbell, one of the consular officials, was captured, and it is supposed that he was taken to Benin to be executed.

It has been learned that Captain Boisragon and Mr. Locke each had a revolver, and, before they made their escape into the bush, they shot several of the attacking party.

The King has sent to the British the rings that were worn by Mr. Phillips. This is regarded as an act of defiance, which the King will soon have cause to regret.

Mr. Powis was the agent of Miller Bros. & Co., of Glasgow, and Mr. Gordon represented the African Association of Liverpool. Both had been on the coast as traders for years.

The expedition was divided into two sections to facilitate traveling. As they progressed into the country they were greeted in a friendly manner by the residents of several villages, which led to the hope that no opposition would be met with along the route. When tre commander of the expeditione had reached a pointe 20 miles from the Benin River, couriers from the King arrived bearing peaceful messages, which added to the feeling of security which prevailed with the party. Here it was determined to send a number of the carriers ahead as bearers of presents to the king. They followed the route laid out by the pioneers and met with no hostility from any of the natives who were seen. These carriers were four hours ahead of the main body of the expedition, when, without warning of any kind, they were attacked by a large number of warriors, who had already despatched the pioneer Krooman. Every one of the carriers and those with them were massacred. The second company entirely unaware of the fate of their predecessors, were marching along, when suddenly they came upon the piled up bodies of their massacred companions. There were no signs of an enemy about, the Benin warriors having hidden themselves in the thick jungle to await the coming of the second party. As the latter were stopped by the sight of the bodies and began to examine them, a murderous volley was poured into them by the ambushed natives. Acting Consul-General Phillips, Dr. Elliott and Mr. Powis were instantly killed. Major Copland Crawford was wounded and died shortly afterwards. The natives again fired upon the party and then fell upon them and either shot, stabbed or clubbed them to death.

RHEUMATISM CURED.

Eighteen Months Trying to get Cured—Had the Best Doctors—He Found What he Wanted in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Goderich, Jan. 11—(Special)—A case of great interest here just now is that of Mr. Alexander J. Sharkey, who for some time has been an extreme sufferer from Rheumatism. His statement to the correspondent is as follows:—

"For eighteen months I was a victim of Rheumatism and during the whole of that time was trying every means to cure it. I had the best doctors in Canada and took their prescriptions with faith and patience.

"I got tired at last, for I found the disappointment nearly as killing as the disease.

"But one friend wiser than others convinced me that my disease must be cured by way of the kidneys and recommended Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I have used two boxes of these pills to effect a perfect cure, and I don't care who knows it."

BUILT UP THE SYSTEM IN A WONDERFUL MANNER.

James A. Bell, of Beaverton, Ont., brother of the Rev. John Wesley Bell, B.D., prostrated by nervous headaches

A victim of the trouble for several years.

South American Nervine effected a complete cure.

In their own particular field few men are beter known than the Rev. John Wesley Bell, B.D., and his brother Mr. James A. Bell. The former will be recognised by his thousands of friends all over the country as the popular and able missionary superintendent of the Royal Templars of Temperance. Among the 20,000 members of this order in Ontario his counsel is sought on all sorts of occasions. On the public platform he is one of the strong men of the day, battling against the evils of intemperance. Equally well known is Mr. Bell in other provinces of the Dominion, having been for years a member of the Manitoba Methodist Conference and part of this time was stationed in Winnipeg. His brother, Mr. James A. Bell, is a highly respected resident of Beaverton, where his influence, though perhaps more circumscribed than that of his eminent brother, is none the less effective and productive of good. Of recent years, however, the working ability of Mr. James A. Bell has been sadly marred by severe attacks of nervous headache, accompanied by indigestion. Who can do fit work when this trouble takes hold of them and especially when it becomes chronic, as was, seemingly, the case with Mr. Bell? The trouble reached such intensity that last June he was completely prostrated. In this condition a friend recommended South American Nervine. Ready to try anything and everything, though he thought he had covered the list of proprietary medicines, he secured a bottle of this great discovery. A second bottle of the medicine was taken and the work was done. Employing his own language: "Two bottles of South American Nervine immediately relieved my headaches and have built up my system in a wonderful manner." Let us not deprecate the good our clergymen and social reformers are doing in the world, but how ill-fitted they would be for their work were it not the relief that South American Nervine brings to them when physical ills overtake them, and when the system, as a result of hard, earnest and continuous work, breaks down. Nervine treats the system as the wise reformer treats the evils he is battling against. It strikes at the root of the trouble. All disease comes from disorganization of the nerve centers. This is a scientific fact. Nervine at once works on these nerve centers; gives to them health and vigor; and then there courses through the system strong, healthy, life-sustaining blood, and nervous troubles of every variety are things of the past.

Called to the Pastorate.

Since the resignation of Rev. Dr. McClelland Havelock Presbyterian church has been without a pastor, but there is now a prospect of having the vacancy filled and the work continued satisfactorily. At a meeting of the congregation on the 17th inst. it was unanimously decided to call Rev. D. A. Hamilton, of Harriston. The call was sustained at a pro re nata meeting of the Peterborough Presbytery, at Peterborough, on the 17th inst., and arrangements were made for Mr. Hamilton's induction to the pastorate on the 3rd prox., at 2 o'clock p.m., should he accept the call. We sincerely hope that Mr. Hamilton will see his way clear to take up the good work in this important field, and we promise him our good wishes and a hearty co-operation.—COM.

A Splendid Lecture.

The lecture by Rev. J. G. Potter in Mill street church on Monday, says the Port Hope Times, notwithstanding the counter attractions and the very severe weather was very well attended. The lecturer began with a story of the celebrated Jurist Chitty. A father entered Chitty's office, accompanied by his son who wished to enter upon the study of law. "Can he eat sawdust without butter?" was the first question. Is he willing to encounter difficulties without flinching? The royal road to fortune is the road to hard work. The lecture was encouraging and the appearance and manner of the lecturer greatly increased the general effect and was bound to put one in good cheer. The interest was sustained throughout, and an evening with Mr. Potter should make the worst pessimist believe that, after all, in spite of hard times, life is worth living.

Grey Lamb Caps for $1.25.

This is one of the surprising bargains that Fairweather & Co. are offering just now. If you are in doubt as to the advisability or desirability of purchasing your fur wants from us during our great change-of-business sale, then pursue the common sense, practical course in such matters—call on us, make a close personal examination of our entire fur stock and let us name you prices, with your knowledge of the character of our goods, so that you can take in the exact situation and arrive at your own conclusions. Talk and windy professions are one thing, seeing for oneself and having convictions forced upon you by the logic of facts is another. This great clearing sale will last for one month only, as the change in our business takes place on or about the last of February. Sensible people follow these inducements. This is personal to you. We will look for you. Let self-interest be your guide. Its points now to Fairweather & Co., Manufacturing Furriers. All accounts owing the firm must be paid on or before 15th February.

SUDDEN DEATH OF MRS. GRACE STEWART.

In Good Health Yesterday but Stricken Down in the Night.

Mrs. George Paton received word this morning, informing her of the sudden death of her daughter, Mrs. Grace Stewart.

Mrs. Stewart gave birth to a child about a week ago and was convalescing and thought to be entirely out of danger by yesterday, when she was able to be up and move about the house.

Her husband took his usual run on the C.P.R. as far as Havelock, yesterday, but passed through on the express this morning on his way back to the city.

Mrs. Stewart's many Peterborough friends will extend sympathies to the parents, husband and children of the deceased whose young life has thus been cut short so suddenly.

PERSONAL.

Hon. Geo. A. Cox, of Toronto, is in town to-day.

Mrs. J. R. Stratton has been visiting Mrs. A. Patton, Lindsay, for the last day or so

Mr. J. J. Lundy and Mr. E. A. Peck were in Lindsay, yesterday, looking after the E. D. Orde estate, the former being amongst the many victims.

Councillor Cobb has returned from Toronto where he was attending a meeting of those protesting against what they think is an effort which is being made to close the old policyholders out of the Massachusetts Benefit life Association. Mr. Cobb has been placed on the Executive Committee.

Mr. Thos. Dunn has just returned from Toronto where he made arrangements to handle the Gourlay, Winter & Leeming lines of pianos in this district. Mr. Dunn will open up in the Conger Fair stand on George street in a few days with a full line of the Gerard Heintzman, Knabe, Karn and New York Fischer makes. Being popular and well known throughout the Midland District, he should make a success of the venture.

Grand Removal Sale.

Immense bargains for the next few days. W. W. Johnston will have a sweeping sale of the D. O. LeGendre stock before removing it to his own stand, 410 George street. Anyone can see at a glance that the stock is fresh, new and up-to-date. This is a good opportunity of buying fine dry goods at greatly reduced prices. Note the address—323 George street, next door to G. Carton's grocery. 4d15

Shaft Bolt Broken.

Mr. George Farr, of Harwood, was badly bruised and wounded early in the week as a result of falling out of his rig while driving into Cobourg. The shaft bolt became loosened and the shaft dropped down. This caused the rig to zig zag so that Mr. Farr was thrown violently out upon the ground. He sustained a bruise upon the forehead and a scalp wound on top of the head. It is a great wonder he was not killed. A physician dressed the wound, however, and Mr. Farr pluckily went about his business as usual.

The Cinematographe.

That wonderful exhibition of the triumph of photographic reproduction was presented to a good house at the opera house last night—the opening of a season of a week. Photography gives us "speaking likenesses" but the Cinematographe endows them with all the attributes of life, motion and action—"as natural as life." Imagine a canvas screen about ten feet square, with a photographic scene flashed upon it, the figures of life size and actually moving and acting as though the original view were before the spectator's eye, and you have a faint idea of the Cinematographe, but only a true idea will be gained by seeing what can not be described. For instance a scene is put upon the canvas—a plain. In the distance a cloud of dust is seen, and presently a squadron of French currassiers comes into view, each moment more distinctly. Closer they come, charging furiously, the dust rolling from the horses' feet, and the scene looking and being as near life as stirring reality. The scene closes with the horses coming so near that they appear about to rush upon the spectators. The Cinematographe was invented by M. Lumiere, a French photographer and electrician, about eight months ago at Lyons. The pictures, about the size of a postage stamp, are on a long narrow continuous film, nearly a hundred feet in length, and an inch in width, and reproduced by being passed very rapidly before a powerful electric lamp, and magnified to life size. A long list of scenes is presented—landing from a Thames steamer, hundreds of faces and figures—Regent street, with its motley peopling—Rotten Row, with its gay life, sea scenes, with the rollers breaking into spray upon the rocks, and scores of others, introducing thousands of figures moving and acting like life. The exhibition is amazing in the life like effects produced. It is abundantly worth seeing. Space will not permit further reference to this marvellous exhibition. It must be seen to be appreciated. If the town knew what it is like the Opera House wouldn't hold the crowds. It appeals equally to young and old, cultured and illiterate. One week will be the length of the stay of the Cinematographe in Peterborough.

FIRE INSURANCE RATES.

Necessity For Peterborough Being on the Alert—The Underwriters Looking Out For Themselves.

At the recent meeting of the Canadian Fire Underwriters' Association it was decided to make a very substantial increase in premiums in the cases of some towns whose fire appliances have not been brought up to the agreed standard of qualification. About forty towns will be affected by this action of the Underwriters. Already under these conditions Windsor, Chatham, Welland, Merrickville and other cities and towns have had their insurance rates substantially advanced.

This is a matter that very closely concerns Peterborough. A heavy responsibility rests upon the town council to see that there is no deteriation at least if there is no improvement) in our fire system. It is the duty of our representatives to deal with the matter immediately, and a practical manner. It will not do to permit any relaxation in this matter. The insurance people are in no very pleasant temper now. In addition to raising the rates in the town mentioned, the plate glass insurance companies in Toronto have advanced the rates for store fronts to 7 cents per foot for three years. The Underwriters are evidently determined to have their pound of flesh, and intend to insist on the conditions on which towns are rated being rigidly complied with.

Under these circumstances, the town authorities of Peterborough should see to it that our fire department should be maintained, so far as possible, up to the agreed standard of qualification. It is natural that after a time there should be some little degree of carelessness, but our authorities must see that the conditions are maintained that will keep our appliances, etc., as nearly up to the mark as possible.

This may involve some expense, but it is to be remembered that a degree of indifference that would lead to the lowering of Peterborough's rating, would mean, as good authorities say, an addition of about $10,000 or $15,000 a year in the payment of premiums.

MEETING OF THE NATURAL SCIENCE ASSOCIATION.

Two Very Interesting Papers Read at Last Evening's Meeting.

At last night's meeting of the Natural Science Association, two interesting and highly instructive essays were given by Rev. H. Symonds and Mr. Sorsoleil, of the South Central School staff.

Both papers teemed with such interesting points that their reproduction in full would furnish most appreciable reading matter, but unfortunately only a brief synopsis can be given.

Rev. Mr. Symonds paper treated of the conflict between science and theology, some extracts from which are appended as furnished by the secretary.

"We are all of us familiar with the fact that there is, or supposed to be, a conflict between science and religion. No attitude of any particular body of Christians has found favour with science, as their methods are so diverse, they desire to go on propounding theories and discovering facts, leaving theology to stick to its hard and fast creeds and confessions. Let science have the week days and religion the Sundays. The militant scientist says, "I find my pathway continually blocked by the inveterate prejudices of theology;—I regard these prejudices as hostile to the best interests of mankind, and I believe it to be my duty to combat them." The militant theologian agrees in principle. There is a third school, however, which recognises a relationship between them. Such scientific men as Lord Kelvin, Stewart, Bonney, Dallinger and many others who have the utmost respect for theology believe that no statement of Christian doctrine can ever be so perfect that no better could be conceived of, consequently with advancing knowledge, with new conceptions of the relations of things, there comes new theological ideas requiring some modification of previous statements. It is this school of thought which commends itself to me as in the right track and through which I believe in time will cause a reconciliation of science.

"Now to define terms and give our position. Natural and physcial science covers the whole field of knowledge. But to study scientifically is to study systematically and historically and thus may theology be studied. I have purposely used the word theology in preference to faith or religion as I believe it to be more correct.

"Theology bears the same relation to religion, as botany bears to the vegetable world. Theology is the science concerned with ascertaining, classifying and systematizing all attainable truth about God and his relation to the universe therein and especially to man.

"The two chief periods in this strife are, (1) that of Copernicus and Galileo and (2) that of our own times. The story of the conflict of science and theology in the 19th century is a complicated one. It broke out when geologists proclaimed upon the testimony of the rocks that the earth must be countless thousands of years old. It is only fair to say that the theologians nor the scientists were not all on one side in the Darwinian conflict, which is still going on to-day. We are not, however, to suppose that the faults of this long struggle have been all one side—men of science have erred no less than theologians.

"Properly speaking there ought to be no conflict between these. Every truth is a truth about God, and must help us to arrive at clearer conceptions of His greatness, and we shall see that all churches and sects that are serious and sincere, that are moved to restore a neglected truth or to bring the light of the Gospel to neglected classes of people are albeit imperfectly doing God's work and have their place in the preparation for

"That one far off Divine result Towards which the whole creation moves."

Mr. Sorsoleil followed in a condensed paper on "Primary Botany," in which he brought up some excellent points deserving of consideration. He referred to the very limited knowledge of botany among the young people, and as an instance he gave an illustration showing that the only classification in flowers and plants which the majority could make was weeds and May flowers.

He did not, however, advise that the subject of botany be added to the curriculum of the junior classes, but he suggested that the children make collections of plants, flowers and even geological specimens, and endeavour to glean information in that manner. The readers in the schools contained some good treatises on that subject, but they were only the cold, bare facts, and comparatively little knowledge could be attained therefrom.

CIVIC NOTES.

Details in Connection with the New Sewerage System.

At a meeting of the Sewerage Committee, last night, the question came up for discussion as to the division of the cost of the sewer between the general ratepayers and those resident on the streets directly concerned.

The $31,000 raised by debentures defrays the cost of the outfall sewer as far north as Townsend street, and the expense will be borne by the ratepayers in general, but some sliding scale will have to be adopted in regard to meeting the expenses of the system as the work proceeds.

It is the opinion of the committee that a plan of the town and of the proposed system should be taken to Toronto, where they have experience in such matters, and laid before the engineers there for advice on the subject.

Although the outfall sewer was built of brick from Lake to Townsend streets, instead of pipe, as was at first contemplated, and the expense thereby increased by about $4,000, yet it is gratifying to Mr. Best, chairman of the Sewerage Committee, to be able to announce that there is a surplus of $850 left over of the money raised by debentures.

Another question to be decided is how this $850 can be applied. If possible the town would like to use it to assist in defraying the cost of the town's proportion of the cost of building the sewer from Townsend street north, but as the debentures were issued for the specific purpose of constructing the outfall, it is not known whether the money can be applied in any other way or not.

Considerable difference of opinion exists as to whether the tenants of the town property on George street, from Charlotte to Simcoe streets, will have to pay their assessment in regard to the cost of the sewer, or whether the town will have to foot the bill.

All this will be thrashed out at Monday evening's meeting of the council.

WHO IS MR. BULOCKS?

The appended letter has been received by the Mayor. It speaks for itself, and as Mr. Yelland knows nothing of the matter, any information will be thankfully received by him:

To the Mayor of Peterborough:

Dear Sir,—I write you to see if you could give me any instruction how to find out where the furniture and clothing belonging to Mrs. Smith, who was sent to the Mimico insane asylum, and her daughter to the Orphan's Home, Toronto. The little girl tells me that the stuff was put in a room with a man named Bulocks. Her people wrote from England for me to look after it for the little girl, as she lives with me. Plea e let me know if you can and oblige me and the orphan girl.

HOCKEY.

The decline of certain Canadian winter sports in the last ten years and the attendant rise of interest in other seasonable amusements is a never-ending topic for discussion, says the Montreal Herald, and many are the reasons given on this side and on that. Tobogganing seems to be as dead as a door nail, and, for aught of interest that is taken in its revival, that most excellent sport seems, at first sight, to be destined to figure in the limbus of a forgotten, though by no means inglorious past. Snow-shoeing still has its devotees, but they are all high priests—the worshippers have sought and found strange gods. There are still snowshoe clubs in Montreal, and some of them flourish in a moderate sort of way, but this is in spite of their being snowshoe clubs, not because of it. It would not be unsafe to suggest that many of the newer members of existing snowshoe clubs would not know a pair of snowshoes if they saw them, while the older men have their trusty shoes hung up in their parlours, with neat pink or blue bows tied to the corners.

But it must not be imagined from this rather discouraging state of affairs that an interest in winter sports does not exist in Canada. At the time that the mountain was dotted with the torches of snowshoers and the frosty air rang merrily with the shouts of tobogganers, skating had almost become one of the lost arts so far as any general interest in it was concerned, and hockey was merely a name to the bulk of the people. At a small celebration a few nights ago a gentleman high in hockey councils, spoke of the days when to play hockey matches each club had to pay so much apiece for the players it had on the ice, and whether the match was concluded or not at the end of an hour they all had to leave the rink! There were no "big gates" in those days, and the game must indeed have been a hardy youngster to have survived such treatment.

It is not difficult to find a cause for these changes in sentiment. The sport-loving public is constitutionally fickle, and as season roll by it demands new pleasures. The old ones pall. Hockey, exciting and all as it is, has no more chance of remaining for ever enshrined in the sport-loving heart than had tobogganing or snowshoeing. This statement may perhaps be doubted by some of the more enthusiastic, who still have ringing in their ears the cheers of recent contests—but what man ten years ago would have dared to prophesy a decline of general interest in lacrosse and a rise of Rugby football to popular favour in Canada? But this is not written in any pessimistic sense, for the possibility of a lessening interest is now popular sports in years to come need have no effect upon those games at present. Too much popularity is a bad thing, and perhaps when the toboggan and snowshoe cease more bold sway we will look back with thoughtful pity upon the days when we leaned over an uncomfortable gallery and screamed ourselves black in the face over young man below who were banging at an ineffensive puck.

RELIGIOUS HISTORY IN THE SCHOOLS.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—The kindly and interesting letter of "A Member of F. Club" in your issue of last evening calls for recognition. The question is simply this:—"Can history be taught properly when all reference to the Christian religion is omitted?" To a non-believer, and hence an impartial judge, the answer must instantly be "No." But it seems to a believer the question presents difficulties. In the course of a believer's explanation (meaning by "believer" the writer of the letter) it crops up that the reasons are those of expediency, as if, indeed, the subject were one of secondary importance, and as if we were warranted in suppressing facts.

The single exception is the reason founded on "Render unto Cæsar, etc." If this verse means what "A Member" claims, it means more. It means that we should ignore God in all things pertaining to our life in this world. But that cannot be. The truth is that the fault lies not in the introduction of such a subject into the curriculum, but in the system which prevents such an introduction. As for the irreverence of a crowd of children—that applies to Sunday schools as well.

Your, etc.,

FOR HISTORY WITH THE FACTS LEFT IN.

NO. II.

SIR.—In reply to the courteous letter of a "Member of the F. C.," permit me to remind him that I admitted that there were points made by the negative which were not fully answered by the affirmative but that in my opinion these were not sufficiently powerful to out-weigh the arguments of the affirmative, and from the reception accorded to the verdict for the affimative I gathered that such was also the view of the audience.

I do not attach the same importance which "A Member of the F. C." does to the contention of the negative that "religion was not a matter of history," because, as I understand it, Christianity consists in the surrender of the heart and of the will to Jesus Christ, and the following in His footsteps. Hence the importance of the historical study of the life and teachings of Jesus Christ. In this matter, therefore, I was of the opinion that the leader of the affirmative had the best of the argument. I do not, of course, identify the knowledge of the facts and teaching of Jesus with religion, but I do strongly hold that such knowledge is an indispensible prerequisite for a pure Christianity.

Yours, etc.,
HERBERT SYMONDS.

NEWS NUGGETS.

Paragraphs Picked Up and Pencilled for Public Perusal.

—The conditions of the weather have been favourable to influenza among horses and some cases have developed in this section of the country.

—The Collegiate Institute and the Peterborough Business College play a challenge match of hockey on the Riverside Park rink, Ashburnham, the beginning of next week.

—Remember the entertainment under the auspices of the Collegiate Institute "Lit" in the Institute buildings on Saturday evening. A fine programme; 10 cents is the admission fee.

—In the junior fancy skating for the medal, girls are eligible as well as boys. Mrs. J. A. Aylmer, champion amateur figure skater of Canada, has kindly consented to act as judge.

—Work is being rapidly pushed on the construction of the lager beer department in connection with Calcutt's brewery. Bricklayers and carpenters re-commenced work yesterday morning.

—The proprietor of some hennery in town took advantage of the late fire and, making a hog of himself, filled his sack just full enough to carry a short distance. On making the grade up a back hill the bag burst, leaving its contents on the sidewalk.

—Mr. Clare Calcutt met with a rather painful accident Wednesday afternoon, while engaged in placing stringers in the lager beer department in connection with Calcutt's brewery. The huge stringer fell on his left foot, badly crushing it. Clare is confined to his room for the time being, though no bones were broken.

—Among the mail arrivals at this office this week is a little book sent out by the Dominion Brewing Co., of Toronto. The contents comprise a list of all the various arena of sport and the game laws in brief. Several pages are blank and ruled for making entries. The sporting matters have been compiled by an expert. It is a useful little book.

"Very, Very Good."

A prominent lady visiting Peterborough from New York City was so highly pleased with the photographic work she saw in Mr. Whiten's art studio that she made an appointment and had a dozen sent to her address, 170 Lexington Avenue, New York City. She writes Mr. Whiten: "Photos arrived all right; they are very, very good; I am much pleased with them." Three different persons recently on a visit here from Montreal also had a dozen each taken by Mr. Whiten and forwarded to their address in Montreal. The above speaks well for Peterborough and the high-class work turned out by Mr. Whiten. Entrance to studio, 128 Hunter street, opposite Oak Hall. dl5tf

A Sale of Local Importance.

When the clear-the-table time comes around at the Peterborough Bookstore, business takes on a fresh start and fresh interest of local importance springs up. The business that is too regular gets into ruts. The announcement of stock-taking at Stratton's Bookstore does not mean that any waste time is going on. On the contrary, inventory time is the time when the nimble sixpence doctrine is pushed to its utmost extremity, and quick sales are the symbols of this business. Goods are now being snapped up at the reduced prices that hung fire before January, and genuine bargains lighten the labours of stock-taking. See advertisement. A. H. STRATTON & Co.

TWO COUNTY WEDDINGS.

Celebration of the Fraser-Tudhope and Sanderson-Burgess Nuptials.

FRASER-TUDHOPE.

The residence of Mr. Robert Tudhope, sen., was the scene of an interesting event on Wednesday, 13th instant, when his youngest daughter, Maggie, was joined in wedlock's bonds to Mr. Thomas Fraser, of Hastings, eldest son of Mr. Arch. Fraser, of Norwood.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Andrews, of Keene, in the presence of about 100 invited guests. The bride was becomingly dressed in mauve silk with silk lace and pearl trimming, and was assisted by Miss Davidson, of Otonabee, who wore blue shepherd's plaid trimmed with white silk, while Miss May Davidson performed the duties of maid of honour, and was dressed in pink with white lace trimming. Mr. John W. Rork of Norwood, an intimate friend of the groom, officiated as groomsman. The ceremony being over, the company sat down to a sumptuous wedding dinner, after which a few hours were spent in social amusement, and the happy young couple took their departure for Hastings amid showers of rice and old shoes.

The presents were numerous and costly, attesting the high esteem in which the bride and groom are held. Among the gifts was a handsome silver tea service, from the "A. I." Rice lake campers. Mr. and Mrs. Fraser have the best wishes of their many friends.

SANDERSON—BURGESS.

One of the prettiest weddings ever witnessed in Belmont took place on the evening of 13th Jan. at the residence of Mr. Jas. Burgess, Belmont, when his daughter Rosa, was claimed as the bride of Mr. W. J. Sanderson, of Asphodel, but who until recently lived in Smith.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. F. Somerville, of Norwood, over sixty guests being present, only four of whom were not relatives of the contracting parties, one being Miss Reddon, of Norwood, who presided at the piano, and rendered "Mendelssohn's Wedding March" and "A Dream of Heaven", after which followed an elaborate wedding dejeuner.

The bride was a pleasing picture as she entered the drawing room dressed in white silk grenadine with silk lace and pearl trimmings and wearing delicate sprays of orange blossoms. She was assisted by Miss Maggie McKee, of Smith, niece of the groom, who was gowned in white sicilian finished with pearls and lace, among which nestled tiny white flowers. Mr. Walter McKee, of Monaghan, was groomsman.

The esteem in which the bride is held was attested by the costly array of presents among which were an elegant gold locket the gift of the groom, a cathedral clock the gift of the groomsman, and a large handsomely bound family bible the gift of the bride's father. The groom's gift to the bridesmaid was a pretty gold chain bracelet.

Mr. and Mrs. Sanderson will receive the heartiest congratulations of their host of friends and will be extended a warm welcome to their new residence near Norwood. At home after the 25th inst.

Messrs. Micks and Cox:—

GENTLEMEN,—After giving your Acme Heating Drum a fair trial in China Hall, we have no hesitation in pronouncing it a perfect success. Our store is 20x100 feet with glass front and all of one side of glass facing the north; and the Drum with a small wood stove heats the store more perfectly than it has ever been heated before, even when we had two coal stoves which we formerly used.

Yours truly,
Peterborough, Jan. 18th, '97. McFARLANE WILSON.

Messrs. Micks & Cox:—

GENTLEMEN,—After giving the Acme Heating Drum purchased from you a full trial in severe weather we have no hesitation in pronouncing it a complete success.

Your Drum is an application of the correct principle in proper heating devices, in drawing the cold air from the floor, heating it and circulating it through the building. We heat three rooms by means of a moderate sized wood stove with your Drum attached, and find our offices very much more comfortable than formerly, at the same time using a third less fuel than without the Drum.

Yours very truly,

A healthy woman will always find Love. Health and Beauty are twins that do not have to seek far or long to find Cupid. It is the woman who suffers from ill-health as a result of weakness and disease of the distinctly feminine organism, who leads a loveless and childless life. It is in every woman's power to be healthy and consequently attractive. The main-spring of woman's nature is in her distinctly womanly-self. When she suffers in that part of her organism, she suffers in every nerve and fiber of her body, and her suffering is pictured in her face, and reflected in her disposition and temper.

It is easy for a woman to be well and strong in a womanly way. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription acts directly upon the important and delicate organs that constitute womanhood. It makes them strong and healthy. It allays inflammation, heals ulceration, soothes pain and gives the tortured nerves rest and tone. It prepares for wifehood and motherhood. Taken during the expectant period it banishes the usual discomforts, makes the coming of baby easy and painless, and insures the health of the newcomer. Thousands of women have said so. All good druggists sell it.

"Please accept my thanks," writes Mrs. Maud Pearce, of Stoutsville, Fairfield Co., Ohio, "for the good your medicines have done me. I truly believe that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription saved my life. It is a sure and certain cure for 'female troubles.' I am having perfect health. Nothing did me any good until I heard of you. My good health pleases me and pleases my husband. Every invalid lady should take Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery.'"

One line in a good, practical, home medical book will sometimes save a life. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is the best book of that description published. Over a million women own copies and thousands of them have written testifying to its great value. A new edition is ready and will be given away FREE. For paper-covered copy, send 21 one-cent stamps, to cover the cost of customs and mailing only, to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y. For cloth binding, 50 stamps.

WAS IT MURDER?

The Rosseau Sensation Shows Some Ugly Features—James Cooney Fined

Rosseau, Ont., Jan. 20.—James Cooney was arraigned before Magistrate Matthew Wilson at 2 o'clock today on the charge of burying his father, James Cooney, on Sunday, Jan. 17, secretly and without a burial permit. The magistrate found him guilty and imposed a fine of $10 and costs or 17 days in jail.

The post mortem examination on the body was conducted by Dr. J. P. Waddy, and the inquest was commenced at 4 o'clock, conducted by Dr. Young. The first witness called was the constable, J. G. Dixon, who stated how the body had been found and the bringing of it to Rosseau.

The next witness called was the son, James Cooney, who gave a rambling statement of the death, saying his father had been sick since a week ago last Saturday and had not been out of bed. The only medicine he had given him was salts, the only nourishment a little milk and some gruel he had made for him. He said he used to take any money he could get his hands on and frequently took a dollar or any change he could, and Saturday, the 9th, the first day of his father's illness, during his absence from the room, he went through his pockets and took out 50 cents. He then stated his father had died about 10 o'clock Sunday morning. About two hours afterwards he picked him up and moved him into another room, and then went out to dig the grave, carried his father out on his back and put him in the grave. He did not search the pockets at the time of death, but returned on Monday to the grave, dug up the body and searched for the money, but found none. He believed his father had about $30 on him. On Sunday he stated he would bury his father on Wednesday, and later on admitted he had buried him on Sunday.

Dr. Waddy was next called. He found an injury on the head sufficient to cause death; nothing apparently diseased in the stomach or bowels, all of which were in a healthy condition; found the stomach and bowels empty of any food. The cross-examination of Dr. Waddy will be taken up at 10 o'clock to-morrow. The inquest was adjourned until then.

CURED OF SCIATICA.

Toronto Junction, Jan. 18 (Special)—Mr. H. Playter, is not a difficult man to find as everybody here knows that he is foreman at No. 1 Fire Hall. He was the picture of health when called upon by your correspondent and told his story thus:

"In April 1896 I suffered from a severe attack of Sciatica, affecting my left hip and the leg to the tip of my toes. I suspected it came from some form of kidney trouble and as they had been recommended I procured a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills."

At the end of the fourth day I was entirely relieved, but desiring a permanent cure I continued to use that and another box and am now cured cured and as well as ever in my life. A brother of mine living at Pine Orchard has been cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

WHERE IS PALMER?

The Fugitive Murder Believed to be Still in the Neighborhood Where the Crime Was Committed.

Mamaroneck, N. Y., Jan. 20.—Arthur Palmer, the fugitive murderer of his mother, brother and probably his sister, is still at large, and no clue has yet been discovered as to his whereabouts. The local and county authorities seem hopelessly at sea over the case. All their clues have come to naught. While some people believe he has left the neighborhood, others think he is in the vicinity awaiting his chance to kill the remaining members of the family. The report that he was seen at Mount Vernon yesterday is pointed to by those who believe that he is still in the neighborhood of his crime as corroborative of their belief. They are of the opinion he was looking for his brother, Jesse Palmer, who is a merchant in Mount Vernon, but who was at his sister's bedside at the time it is alleged the murderer was seen at that place. They also say if he had started for Toronto that he must have reached there before this, and, in that event, the police would have known it, as they are on the lookout for him. It is evident the authorities fear he is still around, for two officers are kept on duty at the Palmer homestead night and day. Miss Palmer still lies in a comatose state, and the doctor attending her stated this morning that, although there were symptoms of peritonitis, she might live for several days. Nothing had been heard from the Toronto police up to noon to-day.

REBELS MADE A DASH.

They Drove the Spaniards Out and Made a Haul From the Stores and Public Buildings

New York, Jan. 20.—A Herald special from Jacksonville, Fla., says: According to advices received by Cubans here, 500 insurgents, under command of Col Francisco de Paulo, dashed into San Miguel de Padrone, Havana Province, Saturday night. The Spanish contingent, consisting of 600 men, withdrew from the town without firing a shot. The insurgents held possession for three hours, looting the stores, public buildings and many of the residences occupied by Spanish families. They captured the mayor and forced him to deliver the tax money in his possession, amounting to $3060. After firing the business portion of the town and several private residences the rebels withdrew. As soon as the insurgents withdrew, the inhabitants, men, women and children, busied themselves trying to extinguish the flames and saving their effects from the burning building. While thus engaged the Spanish forces returned and, it is alleged, opened fire on the men, women and children, who were fighting the flames. Volley after volley was poured in on the hapless inhabitants, many of whom, in their terror, rushed into the burning houses and were cremated. The Spanish then charged through the streets, using the bayonet on all whom they met, sparing neither women nor children.

The report says forty persons were killed outright, 18 of whom were women and children. Sixty others were wounded, some of them fatally. Several of those wounded fell by the side of the burning buildings and perished. Adding to the forty killed outright those who fled into the burning buildings and perished and those who died of their wounds, nearly 100 persons fell victims to the Spaniards.

In reporting the affair the Spanish commander, it is said, stated that the insurgents attacked the town, but were repulsed with heavy loss. He then adds that twelve of the inhabitants were killed by insurgents' bullets.

The folly of prejudice is frequently shown by people who prefer to suffer for years rather than try an advertised remedy. The millions who have no such notions, take Ayer's Sarsaparilla for blood-diseases, and are cured. So much for common sense.

Murderer Burned at the Stake.

AIMED AT CANADIANS

The Corliss Amendment to be Incorporated Into the United States Immigration Bill.

Washington, Jan. 20.—The Senate conferees to-day agreed to incorporate in the Immigration bill the main provision of the Corliss amendment to the House bill. An understanding has been reached by the committee, and the bill as agreed upon will probably be reported for final passage within a day or two.

The Corliss amendment is aimed against the daily incoming of Canadians, who work on this side and retain their domicile in Canada. It specifically prohibits the entry of aliens who come here to perform labor of any kind unless they declare their intention to become citizens of the United States and give up their home in the foreign country. The bill was originally drafted by the United Trades and Labor Council of Buffalo, in conjunction with Immigration Inspector De Barry, and received the endorsement of labor bodies throughout the country.

Facts About Furs and Bankrupt Stocks.

Some dealers in Furs believe in selling Bankrupt Stocks but others there are who do not; yet, at the same time have offered several bankrupt stocks for sale within a short time, while claiming also to sell nothing in Furs but of their own manufacture. We certainly must stand away ahead of our competitors as we do not require the aid of such stocks but stand on the merits of our own manufactured goods, which we can always guarantee as such. Our reputation of 36 years standing without a failure is the best proof that customers believe in us and support us so well. We do not require to make any bombastic statements regarding the size or quality of our stock; both are only too well known in the town as well as in many other places at great distances. We wish to thank our customers for their patronage through the late season.

"Two years ago, I had the grippe, and it left me with a cough which gave me no rest night or day. My family physician prescribed for me, changing the medicine as often as he found the things I had taken were not helping me, but, in spite of his attendance, I got no better. Finally, my husband,—reading one day of a gentleman who had had the grippe and was cured by taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,—procured. for me, a bottle of this medicine, and before I had taken half of it, I was cured. I have used the Pectoral for my children and in my family, whenever we have needed it, and have found it a specific for colds, coughs, and lung troubles."—EMILY WOOD, North St., Elkton, Md.

HOUSE INDUSTRIES.

BY H.R.H. THE PRINCESS LOUISE AND MARQUIS OF LORNE.

Things Thrifty People in City, Town and Country May Do in Their Least Employed Hours—Beauty in Construction Necessary.

Well-to-do people are so fully occupied when they live in cities that they find little time for encouraging the poorer among their neighbors to put their hands to pleasant and profitable things. But in the country there are more leisure hours. Whether we live in town or country it is our duty to do what we can to make brighter the lives of those near us, who may be the better for our help. So we will look to see what can be done even in a town, and then afterward what may be accomplished when we go for a holiday among the green fields.

We have seen bees quite successfully kept in the midst of a great city. To be sure it was in a house near a park, and in the park were flowers. The bees never came into the parlor except in one place where there was an internal glass box. They were allowed to enter through a hole prepared for them from the outside in the wall.

When first brought to the glass case they seemed much puzzled what to do, and only climbed all over the glass and sought the warmth of the house, but they soon discovered the little passage to the outer air, and thereafter went in and out, and built themselves combs which they filled with honey, never caring that people in the inside of the house watched them. Many a good plate of honey have we had from our parlor beehive.

There is always a good market for honey, and if we can "turn an honest penny," or even a dollar, there is no harm done in showing others how to do it.

Though there is nothing more useful than the making of good skirts, socks, hose and waistcoats—which men and women like especially to receive as presents from their acquaintances—these old-fashioned labors or amusements can be varied in a way little known in our land. In Turkey, for instance, the women make the most lovely carpets from dyed wool. Although the manufacture of a big carpet is a difficult undertaking, the weaving of a chair-cover or fire screen can be soon done with the simplest parlor loom. The web is set perpendicularly and is clamped with a forked wooden clamp as the thread is woven around the standing thread. It is a very pretty and useful work.

Nothing is more to the purpose of neat household furnishing than pretty carved panels in cupboards and chests of drawers, and for village carpentry carving of this character is much encouraged in England. Boys, especially, are taught it in the country, and although the occupation results in some fingers being cut, this bloodshed is harmless, and the results often attractive and salable.

In England a society called the Home Industries Association has done much to encourage such pursuits in country cottages and in the little towns and villages. Spinning, leather, iron and wood work have all been found useful in giving amusement, and in helping people to add to small incomes. The binding of books has been made of the linen spun at home, designs being sometimes worked in for the covers.

The Recreative Evening Schools were founded for similar encouragement of home work, and in these meetings, which have been entirely supported and successfully conducted with no assistance from any government, the young people are taught to help themselves, and find the means that suits them best to obtain their livelihood.

WOOD CARVING.

Folks in landward parts can do much during long winter evenings. Look at the clocks made in the Black Forest! Look at the glass industries of Bohemia! Almost every glass prism and brilliant used in illuminations of cities comes from a peasant's house in Bohemia. These men and women sow and reap, and do all agricultural labors in the summer, and if you want them to make glass then you must pay dearly for it; but in the winter they are all making glass indoors while the frost is glazing over the rivers outside, and you can buy big brilliants quite cheaply.

In starting or encouraging such home industries we must look at the market where the things made by our friends are sold. There is no use in making articles which will not sell. In the case of the Bohemian peasants' industries, accident or the forethought of some among them has found a rich vein. The glass has a market, and can be easily sold. There is a pretty constant demand for it. Every town wants to decorate itself as brilliantly as possible when a president is elected, or when a national celebration of any kind takes place.

But a market for home products is not always easy to find, though evening work can often be made to produce articles cheaper than they can be supplied, even from large factories. Still, with things which are not what people call "specialties," there is no end to the competition they have to encounter. All the more necessary does it become to bring art or the quality of beauty to help out the making of such objects.

People say that taste is all a matter of association—that is to say, that if persons have been living among certain objects, and told that they are the prettiest, the taste or the liking for such things comes from having been long surrounded by them.

There is a great deal of truth in this. For instance, in India, where people make such beautiful carvings in wood and ivory, you generally see that the imitations of flowers and what is called floral ornament are very good, But the East Indian cannot carve good figures of men and women.

We go a little westward from India and find that in the great sculptures of Assyria, in the carvings that have been dug out of the mounds of rubbish which are now all that show the sites of old cities, the art has advanced. Many of the representations of ceremonies, of wars and of the life of the Assyrians and Babylonians are well drawn.

They also had a very good eye for color. They covered the interior walls of their palaces with beautifully harmonious coloring in glazed brick or tile work. Still farther west further progress was blown by the Egyptians, for many of their decorations are very beautiful, and great dignity is given to the portraits of the kings and priests and soldiers. The style, however, is still stiff.

But in communication with these artists, another people just across the narrow sea of the Mediterranean to the north, were gradually forming schools of art of the most wonderful kind. The Greeks took all that was good from the Egyptian style, and made a much better one of their own. It was in Greece that the most perfect forms of art arose, and our taste is doubtless derived from the knowledge of those marvellous Greeks.

And the beauty they gave to all they produced caused their work to be so admired that all which their artists made was sought after and bought at higher prices than the work of others.

So it is to this day. If you mingle beauty and excellence of design with your business productions, you will always find a market more easily than if you only go on copying old models of ordinary character. Make each thing, therefore, as pretty as you can consistently with its use. They buyers will say, "Oh, no one can make any table, or chair, or dress, or candlestick, or lampstand so well," and they will buy of you.

There is another matter to be thought about besides the question of beauty—there is the question how best to make your productions known to those who are buyers. If a man wishes to purchase anything, he will go to those who tell him it is to be got at a certain place at a certain price. So it is necessary to find the best means of making known what is to be had, and where it can be bought.

To make this thoroughly well known brings us to the question of advertising, or publishing where the work done can be bought. This is a very big question. You know many business people spend hundreds of thousands of dollars in advertising alone. They put paragraphs in the newspapers, they get men to paint horrid, big red or white letters on rocks and in every place which is much visited by people. All this advertising is to direct buyers to those who are called "dry goods storemen," or distributors, or "universal providers."

Now these distributors do not make the articles as a rule. They only sell them. The difficulty with village or home industries is to know how to distribute as well as make the objects.

Some very ambitious village and home societies say, "Oh, we will do without the distributor, or middleman, altogether. He takes so much commission, or payment, that it will be cheaper for us to sell direct to the purchaser, who will get more value for his money if the article does not pass through the hands of the middleman." Alas! the middleman is probably a necessity.

Very few manufacturers can afford to do all the advertising that the middleman does. If he advertises he attracts people, and his profit or commission is well earned. Still, it is possible for home industries to select reasonable middlemen who will take some interest in the local work, and will not charge so heavy a commission. There are such men.

Wherever an industry can be fixed in a village, there a happy home life is fostered. The women of England and of America have done a great deal to establish such happiness among the people, and we hope that every boy and girl who reads of these things will make up his or her mind, not only to occupy time well in person, but to assist others to pursue those domestic industries which are in the first rank of good causes.—H. R. Highness the Princess Louise and the Marquis of Lorne, in Youth's Companion.

ASPHODEL COUNCIL.

From Our Own Correspondent.

The council elect for Asphodel met at town hall, Westwood, on Jan. 11th, and after taking necessary declarations of office, took their seats as follows: Reeve, Jos. Andrews; deputy reeve, Wm. Oakman; councillors, R. A. Scott, P. McNulty and John Harrison. Minutes of last meeting read and approved. A communication was received from J. B. Pearce, member of the county council, stating that he would be pleased to receive any recommendations concerning matters to be dealt with by the county council, and asking the council to make some recommendations in the matter of the steel bridge which was not disposed of by the road and bridge committee, which was referred to last year's council. A communication was received from Henry Humphries, asking to be appointed treasurer at a salary of $40.00 per annum. Communication was also received from Robt. Tudhope, asking for the position of clerk, at a salary of $50 per annum. Tenders were received for the township's printing as follows: J. G. Keefer, Norwood Register; P. Lancaster, Hastings; L. H. Striver, Hastings Star; Peterborough Times Printing Co. Moved by Mr. Scott, seconded by Mr. McNulty, that the tender of Norwood Register be accepted, he to do all necessary printing, advertising and furnish blanks for election purposes, and that the Hastings Star receive $5 for printing the minutes of council.—Carried.

Rev. Father Conway was present and addressed the council, asking to be appointed trustee of the Norwood High School, giving as his reasons for such request that a large number of his congregation attended the High School as pupils; that there was no trustee of the Roman Catholic persuasion on the board and that it was only fair for them to be represented. Thos. Bark, High School Trustee, being present, addressed the council in Rev. Father Conway's behalf. A petition signed by David Sloan, Robt. Wilson, W. F. Elliott, Wm. Bicket, W. H. McMillan and forty-six others was presented to the council asking for the appointment of John W. McNaughton as High School Trustee. Moved by Messrs. Wm. Oakman and John Harrison that the appointment of High School Trustee for Norwood High School be laid over until next meeting of council.

Moved by Wm. Oakman and R. A. Scott that orders be drawn on the treasurer for the following:—Patrick Doherty, for use of for election purposes, $5; John Breckenridge, D. R. O. fees and lock for box, $8.25; Wm. Knox, D. R. O. fees, $4; W. A. Harrison, D. R. O. and constable fees, $5; Treasurer of Norwood, use of town hall for election purposes, $4; John Drummond, constable fee at election, $1; John Breckenridge, registering 69 births, marr ages and deaths at 20c, $13 80; half arbitration expenses S. S. No. 1 and No. 2, Asphodel, and No. 6, Otonabee, $18 88; W. Baskin, injury to horse on boundary, $20; J. Clysdale, rebate on taxes, $2. P. English asked that his road division be divided between lots 17 and 18. The matter was left over till next council meeting. The collector was instructed to return his roll not latter than next meeting of council. John Doherty asked for a reduction on charges for town hall for reception purposes and balls. Moved by Mr. Harrison, seconded by Mr. Oakman, that the fee for such purposes be placed at $4.00 instead of $6.00.—Carried. Mr. Oakman introduced a bylaw fixing salaries of council officers for 1897, and on motion the following was settled on:—Clerk, $70; treasurer, $50; assessor, $40; collector, $45; auditor, each, $4; members of board of health, $2 per day; councillors, $1.50 per day and milage; commissioners, $3 per day. On motions, which were carried, the following were declared in office:—Wm. Sharp, treasurer; R. Elmhirst, assessor; John McCarty and Robt. Tudhope, auditors; board of health, Jas. Andrews (reeve), John Breckenridge (clerk), Walter Scott, Matthew Knox and Israel Humphries; medical health officer, Dr. McNaughton.

Mr. D. Hunter asked for use of town hall for holding night school.—Granted at a fee of 25 cents per night.

Mr. Scott was appointed commissioner for southeast division, Mr. McNulty for northeast division, Mr. Harrison for northwest division, Mr. Oakman for southwest division and reeve for boundary line, each to have $100 to expend on roads and bridges of his division. Moved by Messrs. McNulty and Harrison, that the reeve, deputy-reeve and Mr. Tudhope be a committee to wait on county county council at next session re bridge to be built at river Ouse, near Steele's bridge. Council agreed to go in a body on Wednesday, 13th inst, and examine river at Steele's Bridge. The clerk stated he had received award of the arbitrators, John Moloney, reeve of Douro, on behalf of Asphodel; Robt. Harrison, on behalf of Otonabee, and J. C. Brown, P.C.I., which showed that they had removed the east half of lots 9, 10 and 11 in the 1st concession of Asphodel, from S.S. No. 2, Asphodel and 6, Otonabee, and annexed the same to S.S. No. 1, Asphodel, and that the costs of the arbitration, $36 65, be paid equally by Asphodel and Otonabee.

Council adjourned to meet first Monday in February for appointment of pathmasters, poundkeepers, school trustees and other business.

TWO GOOD BOOKS.

"In the Early Days of the Canada Company"—And "Snap Shots for Boys."

Mr. Wm. Briggs, publisher, is doing a good work in promoting the interests of Canadian literature by the timely and frequent issue of works by Canadian writers A notable contribution at the present time when interest in the history of the country is very encouragingly excited, is "In the Days of the Canada Company," by Misses Robina and Kathleen Lizars. It is a handsome volume of about 500 octavo pages, very finely printed and bound and excellently illustrated. It is a history in a certain sense of the presence and operations of the Canada Company in the country for a quarter of a century—from 1825 to 1850, and a great deal of personal narration is associated with it that makes very interesting reading. Necessarily the style and scheme of the work are somewhat sketchy, but the national flavour of the contents and the warm personal influence that pervades its pages make the volume one that should not be wanting on Canadian book shelves. As Rev. Principal Grant says of it in the preface written by him, "it throws light on the making of Canada," and, therefore, is a contribution of historical material for which there is an urgent demand. Toronto, Wm. Briggs, $2.00; to be had at the Peterborough Bookstore.

"Snap Shots for Boys," by Mr. F. C. T. O'Hara, published by Wm. Briggs, is nevertheless a very neat hit in the bull's eye. It is a modest little work, consisting of several spirited chapters of excellent advice to toys. But it is by no means dry; for it is written in such a capitally racy and taking style that a healthy boy will rise to the bait at once, and read the little volume with interest and with, what is far better, decided profit. It is most healthy in spirit, and while its teaching is high in tone, there is no trace of a suggestiveness of cant. The writer, Mr. O'Hara, is the private secretary of Sir Richard Cartwright, Minister of Trade and Commerce, and is recognized as a graceful and wholesome writer. A parent who buys "Snap Shots for Boys" for his boy, will make a small but excellent investment.

LINDSAY WINS THE DOUBLES.

Peterboro Curlers Beaten in the Finals by Nineteen Shots.

Lindsay, Jan. 21.—Public interest in the bonspiel continues unabated, and, indeed, appears to have increased owing to the continuous successes of the Lindsay rinks in the double and single rink competitions. Parkdale, Orillia, Hamilton and other defeated rinks have departed, but not without expressing their satisfaction at the treatment accorded them. The announcement this morning that the Winnipegers and the veteran team of Lindsay, skipped by Mr. J. D. Flavelle, would meet, created great enthusiasm, and every available inch of the rink was occupied by spectators. The result, after a hard pull, was Lindsay 17, Winnipeg 10. The following games were played off this morning:

Oshawa.	Lindsay.
Sykes, sk.....22	Ferguson, sk.....16
Peterboro.	Hamilton.
Rutherford, sk.....28	Russell, sk.....14
Winnipeg.	Lindsay.
Jamieson, sk.....10	Flavelle, sk.....17
Oshawa.	Lindsay.
Dingle, sk.....17	Storer, sk.....11
Peterboro.	Bobcaygeon.
Ray, sk.....18	Bottum, sk.....11
Lindsay.	Lindsay.
Foster, sk.....13	Keith, sk.....13
Lindsay.	Lindsay.
McSweyn, jr., sk.....5	Knowles, sk.....16

The results in the single competition on the third draw, consolation, this afternoon, are as follows:

Oshawa.	Lindsay.
Dingle, sk.....14	Needler, sk.....8
Lindsay.	Bobcaygeon.
Edwards, sk.....17	Gidley, sk.....14
Lindsay.	Lindsay.
McLennan, sk.....13	Ferguson, sk.....8
Lindsay.	Lindsay.
Millar, sk.....17	Keith, sk.....14
—Fourth Draw—
Bobcaygeon.	Lakefield.
Read, sk.....16	R C Strickland, sk.1
Oshawa.	Lindsay.
Dingle, sk.....20	Millar, sk.....10
Oshawa.	Peterboro.
Skyes, sk.....16	Rutherford, sk...12

The great game this evening was the finals in the double rink competition, between the Peterboro Granites and Lindsay. Both Lindsay rinks commenced scoring at the start, and by the fifth end had a lead of 15. The Peterboro men tried hard to reduce this lead, but the Lindsays played carefully and prevented their opponents from scoring large ends, and won by 12 points.

WHITE GOODS SENSATION!

The men are puzzled to know how it is that so many ladies are flocking to the Golden Lion buying Whitewear in January! The remark has been heard that the very thought of it sends a cold chill down his back, but there's a-something about it lady shoppers understand. We have made it worth their while to buy Whitewear here just now—even if it is midwinter! Big stores like ours have to be on the lert to make business interesting. nd these special buying chances in anuary stimulate trade when it is cline3 to be dull.

There is a great change in the ne w styles and qualities this year; and, b esides, the prices are lower. Having n o old stock to work off, ladies need have no hesitation. Such values as are represented in this store have never been equalled, in a regular way, much less discounted. Prices are decidedly below anything ever before attempted. We mean that exactly as its written

As there is a good deal of winter yet before us, it is unnecessary to point out the wisdom of buying now.

This is the month of lucky chances and snaps in mid-winter goods An aftermath of Bargains for shrewd buyers—lines which we have laid out during stock-taking such as Serges, Cheviots, Heavy Tweeds and other Remnants, as well as Millinery, to be sold even at HALF REGULAR PRICES.

We don't want to carry winter lines past their regular selling season. No relics here. This store is not a museum. We have neither old goods nor old ideas.

You need the goods—we need the room they occupy—so there is mutual benefit all round in the selling of them.

We don't "rest-up" during the winter months and take things easy until spring. While others are resting we're simply HUSTLING.

FOR—

FASTIDIOUS FELLOWS,

Who want to dress in style, and yet keep within their means, have a great chance, which is legally theirs, for the next few weeks. With three months of good stiff winter weather before us, we make a great offer to men:—

Select any piece of Suitings in our store—imported or domestic — Worsteds, Tweeds, Cheviots or Cassimeres—we will make it up for you in the highest style of the tailors' art, and guarantee finish fabric and fit, from..... .... $12 up

Select any piece of Overcoating in our store—and we will make you up an Overcoat or Ulster, any style you like, beautifully finished, from..... $12 up

We are determined to get the shears into every piece of winter goods in the store, by putting the knife into the prices.

THE BUBONIC PLAGUE

French Doctor Said to Have Found an Antidote.

REPORTS GREATLY EXAGGERATED

Death of Sir Isaac Pitman, the Father of Shorthand—The British Expedition Scattered the Forces of the Emir of Nupe—General News From the Old Country.

London, Jan. 22.—In the House of Commons to-day Lord George Hamilton, Secretary of State for India, stated that Lord Sandhurst, Lieut.-Governor of Bombay, had informed the India Office by telegraph that alarmist telegrams, greatly exaggerating the plague situation, as regards the spread of the contagion to Europeans, were being sent from Bombay to Europe by press representatives and others. Thus far, Lord Sandhurst wired, only four Europeans had died from the plague, including a physician and a nurse.

Dr. Yersin, a French physician, claims also to have discovered an antidote for the bubonic plague. In the course of an interview with a writer of Le Monde Illustre, Dr. Yersin said: "This plague is really the cleanest of all diseases. The patient has a little fever, feels a slight fatigue, a boil makes its appearance, and, after a few hours of suffering, he dies without any of those repugnant complications peculiar to other epidemic diseases." The doctor has also studied the bacilli of the plague. "The pulp of the bubos," he said, "is in every case filled with a veritable mass of short and stout bacilli, with rounded heads. Sometimes the bacilli appear as if surrounded by a capsule. They are found in large quantities in the bubos and ganglions of the patients." Dr. Yersin concluded that inoculation of a more virulent variety of the specific bacillus would give immunity against the plague and after first experimenting on animals he was equally successful later with human beings. These experiments, as stated in our despatch from Bombay, are in the same direction as those made by Prof. Kaffkine.

Pilgrims to be Stopped.

Calcutta, Jan. 22.—The Governor has ordered the stoppage, on Feb. 2, of all pilgrim traffic from Bombay and Kurrachee, on account of the plague. There are now over 1,750,000 persons employed on the relief works and about 170,000 are receiving gratuitous relief. The principal increase in the number of persons relieved is in Bengal and the northwest. The cost of the relief works is nearing two lakhs of rupees (between $50,000 and $60,000) daily. The exodus from Kurrachee continues. There have been 543 cases of the plague there and 468 deaths. At Bombay the plague mortality is estimated at 248 daily.

DEATH OF SIR ISAAC PITMAN.

The Father of Shorthand Passes Over to the Great Majority.

London, Jan. 22.—Sir Isaac Pitman, the inventor of the system of stenography which bears his name, is dead.

Sir Isaac Pitman was born at Trowbridge, Wilts, Jan. 4, 1813. After six years' service as a clothier's clerk he was sent to the Normal College of the British and Foreign School Society, London, and after five months' training, at the close of 1831 was appointed master of the British School, Barton-on-Humber. He established the British School at Wotton-Under-Edge in 1836, and returned to Bath in 1839.

His first treatise on shorthand, entitled "Stenographic Sound," appeared in 1837, and he thus became the originator of the spelling reform, to which and the propagation of his system of phonetic shorthand he devoted his entire attention after 1843, when the Phonetic Society was established. His system of shorthand was renamed in 1840 and entitled "Phonography, or Writing by Sound," and his "Phonographic Reporter's Companion"- appeared in 1844. Mr. Pitman edited and printed The Phonetic Journal. Besides printing his own instruction books on teaching phonetic shorthand, Mr. Pitman issued a little library of about eighty volumes, printed entirely in shorthand, from the Bible to "Rasselas."

In the autumn of 1887 an international shorthand congress and jubilee of phonography was held in London, and Mr. Pitman's family were presented with his bust. A gold medal from the phonographers of the United States and one from those of Great Britain and the colonies were presented to Mr. Pitman in recognition of the invention of his system of shorthand, and of his labors for the reformation of English orthography. Mr. Pitman received the honor of knighthood in 1894.

The Royal Niger Company's Expedition Found No One to Fight.

Brass, Guiana Coast, Jan. 22.—News has just been received that the expedition sent by the Royal Niger Company against the Emir of Nupe from Lokoja, found the Foulah army dispersed, and in flight when it arrived at Kabba. The expedition consisted of 500 Houssa troops, six Maxim rapid-firing guns, 26 mounted European officers and 900 carriers. It was headed by the Governor, Sir George Goldie, and was accompanied by the Royal Niger Company's flotilla of armed stern-wheel steamers.

The quarrel between the powerful Emir of Nupe and the Niger Company is an old one, and rose from the Emir raiding the company's territory for slaves. The Foulah force at Kabba was estimated to number 20,000 foot and 2000 cavalry.

BRITISH HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Dillon's Amendment for Irish Husbandry Relief Voted Down.

London, Jan. 22.—The House of Commons last night discussed Mr. Dillon's amendment calling upon the Government to introduce comprehensive measures for the relief of Irish husbandry. The amendment was finally rejected by a vota of 189 to 125.

An amendment to the address in reply to the Queen's Speech, offered by Charles J. Engledow, anti-Parnellite member for North Kildare, was withdrawn by advice of Timothy Healey. Mr. Engledow's amendment was a request that the Government establish a catholic University in Ireland. Mr. Healey advised its withdrawal in view of the fact that Arthur Balfour, the Government leader in the House, had declared that the Government would establish such a university when a sufficient number of Catholics who did not use the present university would desire it.

Cambridge University Prize for the Best English Essay.

London, Jan. 22.—The Cambridge University prize for the best English essay has been awarded to a student named Reddaway. The subject of the essay is "The Monroe Doctrine," and the Cambridge examiners have declared that Mr. Reddaway's production is worthy of being published.

Russia Holds the Road

New York, Jan. 22.—A special to The Herald from St. Petersburg says: The following have been appointed directors of the Chinese railroad: Privy Councillor Romanof, of the Ministry of Finance; Director Rochstein of the Banque Internationale; Prince Ukhtomsky, Director of the Russian-Chinese Bank, and M.M. Tsigler and Poktiloff, Directors of Constructions at the Nijni-Novgorod exhibition, with an unnamed Chinese mandarin as chairman.

Orders have been given for the construction of the line, to be begun at once.

Floods in Spain.

Madrid, Jan. 22.—The floods which have prevailed for several days in the districts through which the Guadalquivir and Manzanares Rivers flow are on the increase. Both rivers, as well as a number of smaller streams, have overflown their banks, and immense tracts of country are submerged. Railway travel is entirely suspended, and the port of Seville is closed to vessels, owing to high waters. The damage to property is enormous.

Lost Her Deck Load.

Gibraltar, Jan. 22.—The British steamer Garland, Capt. Hodgson, from Savannah, Jan. 1, for Barcelona and Genoa, has arrived here. On Jan. 8 she experienced heavy weather and lost her deck load of staves.

The Holbein's Bill.

London Jan. 22.—A verdict was rendered in the Admiralty Court, awarding the sum of £2900 to the owners of the British steamer Holbein for towing the British steamer Cotehele into Halifax in November last. The Cotehele, while on a voyage from New York for Hull, with a general cargo, broke her tail shaft and lost her propeller and drifted for five days before being picked up by the Holbein.

POOR OLD SLAVES.

One Born in 1782 is Dead—His Wife Still Lives at the Great Age of 105 Years.

Ridgeway, Ont., Jan. 22.—Joseph Jones, who claimed to have waited on George Washington while he was a guest at the home of his former owner, died here yesterday at the reputed age of 115 years. Jones was a colored man, and up to about 40 years ago was a slave. A few years previous to the outbreak of the war Jones and his wife fled from Virginia, and, after many hardships and narrow escapes, reached this section, where he has resided ever since. When Jones arrived in Ridgeway he was then what would be called an old man. He was a man of considerable intelligence and some education, and always maintained that he was born in 1782. His statement came to be generally accepted. His wife, who survives, is 105 years old. She is blind and for the past few years has been in the almshouse at Welland.

A BIG INSTITUTION

In Which Prominent Canadians are Interested

BEING ESTABLISHED IN ENGLAND

Trade and Navigation Returns Show Toronto Coming Up—Report of the Intercolonial Railway for the Year—The Alleged Smuggling of Coal Oil—Ottawa News.

Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 22.—(Special.)—Advices have just been received here of the formation in England of a great financial institution, the ramifications of which are to extend throughout Great Britain and the colonies. It is to be known as the British Empire Finance Corporation. There are to be six directors in England and advisory boards of four directors each in Australia and Canada. The following gentlemen have been appointed as the advisory board in Canada: Sir Charles Tupper, Hon. J. W. Longley, Sir James Grant, ex-M. P., and Rufus Pope, M. P.

The Department of Railways and Canals has made up the figures of the receipts and working expenses of the Intercolonial Railway last year for publication in the annual report. The total receipts of the Intercolonial amounted to $2,9?,640, and the working expenses to $3,012,827, showing a deficit for the year of $55,187. There was an increase in the revenue of nearly $17,600 and in the expenditure of $62,526. This increase was largely due to the cost of improving the permanent way and works, $105,087 being the increased amount spent for these purposes. The net deficit on the Prince Edward Island Railway was $78,662, or a total of $134,449 on account of the different Government roads.

Trade and navigation returns, which will be out shortly, will demonstrate that Toronto is fast overtaking Montreal in the matter of annual receipts on account of customs duties. Formerly there used to be a great disparity between the two cities, Montreal more than doubling Toronto as regards collections. During the past year the total amount of customs duties collected at Montreal was $6,784,572 and at Toronto $1,189,194. It is a fair presumption, however, that the greater portion of goods entered at customs in Montreal were destined for Ontario points, so that if the real figures could be got at it would probably be found that Toronto was ahead of Montreal in this respect. Halifax is the third port in the Dominion, with collections amounting to $1,093,152. Then come St. John, $791,317; Quebec, $686,157; Victoria, $655,770; Hamilton, $514,805; London, $508,886; Ottawa, $295,906; Windsor, $225,749; Port Erie, $22,469, and Kingston, $109,674.

At the Customs Department the report from Niagara Falls, N. Y., of extensive smuggling of coal oil into Canada is discredited. However, an official report on the subject has been called for. The statement that free admission is permitted into the Dominion of coal oil in quantities of one gallon or less is wholly incorrect. On any dutiable article free admission is not permitted under the law, no matter how small the quantity or value may be. However, it has been represented to the department that the duty of a few cents on articles of small value causes more work and cost than the actual amount of duty derived, and the department has now under consideration the adoption of a rule whereby duty will not be collected on any article of less value than 50 cents.

The total amount received by the Government last year for the Chinese immigration poll tax was $38,800. Of this amount $47,400 was secured at Vancouver and $39,347 at Victoria. Under the statute British Columbia is entitled to one-fourth of the amount collected on Chinese arrivals in that province, the total amount therefore payable to the Provincial Government being $21,812.

Mr. G. B. Burland of the British American Bank Note Company, has been in the capital since the beginning of the week in connection with the Government contract for notes, stamps, postal cards, etc., although it was said last week the contract had been awarded to the American Bank Note Company. The papers have not been signed binding that bargain, and Mr. Burland has yet hopes that it may never be signed. The Free Press says he has amended his tender and submitted an offer to do the work at the same figure as the American firm, and expects yet to get the preference. The matter will stand till Mr. Fielding returns to Ottawa.

A special general meeting of the Tobique Valley Gypsum Company was held here to-day. Mr. Costigan, Hon. Peter White and Senator Temple were among those present. A number of shareholders were represented by proxy.

It is reported that there are good prospects of an arrangement with the C.P.R. to operate the Tobique Valley Railway next spring, in which event the company will commence active operations.

The analytical experts of the Inland Revenue Department will shortly enter upon an examination of samples of manufactured fertilizers sent in from all parts of the country.

The Mayor's Indian Famine Relief Fund is making good progress.

City tradesmen were interviewed today regarding the proposed weekly half-holiday. Great differences of opinion were manifested.

Hon F. Peters, Canadian counsel of the Behring Sea arbitration, has telegraphed the Minister of Marine and Fisheries, stating that there is no truth in the report from Victoria last week that Capt. Hansen, a Canadian witness before the arbitrators, had been drugged by an American named McLean.

A meeting of the Cabinet was held this morning, at which Mr. Laurier, Sir Oliver Mowat, Messrs. Scott, Davies, Blair, Tarte and Sifton were present.

AN EXPLANATION.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—Will you kindly allow me space to correct a statement which appeared in your paper of the 9th inst. under the heading of Henderson vs. Henderson. The statement I particularly refer to is the 2nd clause of the 5th paragraph which reads: "Several offers of settlement were made by the plaintiffs both before and during the litigation, and none were accepted." The only offer made by the plaintiffs was one made in Dec. 1893, which was before any litigation commenced by which the late David Henderson agreed to pay the defendant widow, Mrs. Robert Henderson, $100 (one hundred dollars) per year until the land she resided upon (and was willed to her by her late husband, R. Henderson) was sold, so long as she remained a widow, and also upon the sale of the land to pay her $500 (five hundred dollars), if she is still a widow, and also upon the sale of the farm to set aside $1,000 (one thousand dollars), to be held by trustees for the benefit of her daughter, to be paid to her when she attained the age of 21 years, and if she should die under that age this $1,000 to fall back into Mr. D. Henderson's estate, the interest of the $1,000 to be paid to Mr. D. Henderson, during his life, and to his wife if she should survive him during her life, and after her death to be used by the trustees for the benefit of the child, the trustees to be appointed by D. Henderson, sr., which does not provide anything for the child from the date of the offer until the death of Mr. and Mrs. Henderson. Also in June, '95, a meeting was called by Mrs. Robt. Henderson in view of settlement, where D. Henderson, jr., executor of the late D. Henderson's will, claiming $600 rent from Robt. Henderson's estate, offered to cancel $300 of that rent account if she would pay $300 rent for the use of the farm the balance of that year and go out of possession when the term ceased, and would give the child her share, viz., $500, in the late D. Henderson's will, if such share was in their hands to dispose of when she came to 21 years of age. These two offers of settlement were all that were ever made by the plaintiffs, and I challenge a production of proof to the contrary. In order to avoid litigation Mrs. R. Henderson and I went to see the late D. Henderson at his residence on Jan. 3rd, '96, and there offered to settle with him in accordance with the agreement made by him with his son, Robert, at the time of his entering upon this land in the year 1881, which agreement he had stated to us; also stated in court by plaintiff was: "That Robert was to own this land by paying for it, with their assistance, and when paid for, was to pay to his father and mother during their lives an annuity of $100, (one hundred dollars per year,) and at the death of his father he was to pay $700, (seven hundred dollars) but our offer was refused. Then she asked D. Henderson, sr., what value they put on their lives, and he said three years would likely see them in their graves. She then offered to pay down five annuities of one hundred dollars each, and the two annuities in arrears, together with the $700. This they also refused to accept, and in the following March we went to see Mr. Henderson again to make another offer of settlement, this time to accept $2500 (twenty-five hundred dollars) divided equally between Mrs. Robt. Henderson and her daughter. This they refused. Before leaving she agreed to accept the same amount, taking one-third herself and giving two-thirds to her daughter, this they refused. In June, 1895, she requested a meeting of the plaintiffs in view of settlement, which was held in Messrs. Hall & Hayes' office, she proposing to have the land sold or valued and she would accept or give one-half of such valuation or sale, this also was refused, and finally at the recommendation of the Court of Appeal, to settle out of court previous to their giving judgment, she offered to give or take one-half of their valuation, viz: $4,500.00 (forty-five hundred dollars) and pay one-half of the expenses of the litigation. This, as before, was refused, notwithstanding the strong recommendation of the Court of Appeal to do so. These statements I also challenge contradiction of, as I am prepared to prove them. Each of the above offers of settlement was made by the defendants without prejudice, and are still open to be accepted by the plaintiffs.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your valuable space, I remain,

Yours respectfully,
GEO. A. HELSON.

THE COUNTY COUNCILS ACT.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—I am in receipt of a number of letters from municipal officers and others asking whether the new County Councils Act contemplated that the warden be elected at the first meeting of the council to be so elected for a period of two years, or, as under the old act, for one year only. The County Councils Act is to be read with and as part of the Municipal Act, and under the Municipal Act the warden's term is expressly fixed at one year. Nothing in the new Act repeals this section. It therefore stands and governs the election under the new Act. The latter makes no specific provision as to the warden's term of office, for the very good reason that the Municipal Act, of which the new County Councils Act is made a part, contains a specific provision limiting it to one year. An election of a warden for two years, I have no doubt, would be null and void as to the second year. The warden is therefore now to be elected for the municipal year 1897 only.

The Presbyterian church was formally opened on Sunday and Monday. Rev. Mr. Patterson, of Toronto, occupied the pulpit in the morning and Rev. Mr. Mr. Phelps, of the local Methodist church, in the afternoon. On each occasion the building was crowded, and the collections were exceptionally large.

Mr. Lye of Lye & Son, organ manufacturers, Toronto, presided last Sunday at the new organ, which they have placed in the Presbyterian church.

The dyspeptic carries a dreadful load on his back. It seems as if he were really made up of two men. One of them ambitions, brainy and energetic; the other sick, listless, peevish and without force. The weak man weighs the other one down. The dyspeptic may be able to do pretty good work one day, and the next day because of some little indiscretion in eating, he may be able to do nothing at all. Most cases of dyspepsia start with constipation. Constipation is the cause of nine-tenths of all human sickness. Some of its symptoms are sick and bilious headache, dizziness, sour stomach, loss of appetite, foul breath, windy belchings, heartburn, pain and distress after eating. All these are indicative of derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels, and all are caused by constipation. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the quickest, easiest and most certain cure for this condition. They are not violent in action.

CHANDOS.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The members elect of the Chandos township council met at Caldwell's school house on Monday, Jan. 11th, as follows:—John Monogue, reeve; John Bullied, Moses Couche, D. A. Campbell and W. J. Rosebush, Councillors. After each had taken the necessary declaration of office the meeting was called to order, J. Monogue, as reeve, presiding.

The minutes of the meetings of Dec. 15th and 17th were then read and confirmed, after which the appointment of municipal officers was proceeded with as follows:—J. W. Ratcliff, clerk; Alex. Trotter, treasurer; Hugh Caldwell, assessor; C. S. Prouty, reeve's auditor; Simon Mahoney, auditor for council.

Accounts received and ordered to be paid as follows:—William O'Brien, for repairs on road, $3.00; Henry Hubbel, sr., for repairs on road, $1.50; P. Mahoney, for salary as treasurer, $30.00, also sundry expenses in connection with treasurership, $3.00; printing, $40.09; Isaac Lean, for opening road between concessions 2 and 3 to lots A and B, $6.00.

The clerk was authorized to communicate with reeve of Faraday township re opening of boundary line between lots 25, con. 13, Chandos, and lot 13, concession 1, Faraday.

Moved by Mr. Bullied, seconded by Mr. Couche, that bylaw No. 19, be rescinded, and that bylaw No. 27, a bylaw for the appointment of the several officers of the municipality, be introduced and read.—Carried. After the passing of the above bylaw the meeting, on motion of the council, adjourned to meet on Jan. 16th, for the receiving of the auditor's report.

Jan. 16th—Meeting opened with reeve and councillors all present. Mr. C. S. Prouty presented auditor's report, which, upon motion of council, was accepted.

Moved by D. S. Campbell, seconded by W. J. Rosebush, that Dr. Caldwell be appointed medical health officer for the township for 1897—Carried.

On motion of Messrs. Bullied and Campbell, the sureties offered by Mr. Alex. Trotter, were accepted by council.

On motion of Messrs. Couche and Rosebush, orders for payment of auditor's salaries were drawn, after which meeting adjourned to meet next time, at Caldwell's school house at call of Reeve.

A THOUGHT THAT KILLED A MAN!

He thought that he could trifle with disease. He was run down in health, felt tired and worn out, complained of dizziness, biliousness, backaches and headaches. His liver and kidneys were out of order. He thought to get well by dosing himself with cheap remedies. And then came the ending. He fell a victim to Bright's disease! The money he ought to have invested in a safe, reliable remedy went for a tombstone.

Warner's Safe Cure

is the only standard remedy in the world for kidney and liver complaints. It is the only remedy which physicians universally prescribe. It is the only remedy that is backed by the testimony of thousands whom it has relieved and cured.

A Tidal Wave

Sweeping Over This Canada of Ours.

Paine's Celery Compound Banishing Sickness and Disease.

Bestowing Health, Vigor and New Life.

The Young and the Old Feel Its Wonderful Power.

The Cured Never Cease to Sing Its Praises.

Like a mighty tidal wave, Paine's Celery Compound, with its marvellous healing and curing virtues, is sweeping over Canada on its mission of health restoring. To-day it is the only medicine that is banishing sickness and disease; the only one that is bestowing health, vigor and new life. Amongst all classes its wonderful power is felt directly the first bottle is commenced.

Paine's Celery Compound, owing to its honesty and never-disappointing virtues, has become the "people's" chosen medicine, and its worthy praises are sung everywhere by thousands of cured people. Nothing else in the world is so well adapted for the needs of the sick and suffering. After one trial it becomes a friend.

A cured lady, Mrs. Geo. Durant, of Elma, Ont., writes as follows:

"For many years I have been a sufferer from liver troubles, and have doctored with several physicians, but only found relief for a very short time. My husband advised me to try your Paine's Celery Compound. I did so, and found so much relief from the first bottle that I continued and am now using the third bottle. Your Compound has done more for me than any physician. For months before using the Compound I never had one night of sound sleep, but now I can go to bed and sleep soundly and naturally, and feel like a new creature in the morning."

Well Answered.

A young Irish lad on a market day in an Irish town was minding an ass attached to a cart, awaiting the exit of his parent from a business establishment.

His arm was thrown around the neck of the animal, when two recruiting sergeants passed by.

One of them, seeking to take a rise out of the youth, said:

"What are you hugging your brother so tightly for?"

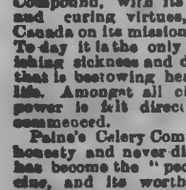
Chase's Ointment Cures All Skin Irritations.



GRACIE AITON.

Of the many skin diseases, eczema is one of the worst and most common. The one effective remedy so far discovered for it is Dr. Chase's Ointment. It has never been known to fail. Mr. Andrew Aiton, of Hartland, N.B., says: "My little daughter, Grace Ella, aged three and a half, was a dreadful sufferer from eczema for three years. We tried a number of alleged cures and several doctors, but all without effect. Her's was indeed a bad case. Her little body was entirely covered with rash. One day our local druggist, Mr. Wm. H. Thistle, recommended me to try Dr. Chase's Ointment. I did so, and four boxes effected a complete cure and saved our child."

Dr Chase's Ointment is just as effective for piles, salt rheum and sores of all descriptions. For sale by all dealers and Edmanson, Bates & Co., manufacturers, Toronto; price 60 cents.

There is nothing to equal Chase's Linseed and Turpentine for severe colds and lung troubles. Large bottle 25 cents.

THE COAL INDUSTRY

Discussed Before the Tariff Commissioners.

MR. H.M. WHITNEY GIVES EVIDENCE

Under Reciprocity, He Says, the New England Markets Could be Held by Nova Scotia—With the Duty Removed the Export Trade Could be Enlarged.

Halifax, N.S., Jan. 22—At the Tariff Commission to-day H. M. Whitney of Boston, President of the Dominion Coal Company, appeared on behalf of that company: They produced one-half the output of coal in Nova Scotia. He also ventured to appear for tht workingmen and said he thought he could appear for Nova Scotia, which was the owner of the mines. The expenditures for roads, schools, etc., he said, are mainly dependent on the revenue from these mines. Therefore everything that tends to interfere with this industry is of general interest and concern to the people. Mr. Whitney went into the history of the mines before the reciprocity treaty was abrogated and showed that since then the mines had to look for new markets. The increase in sales in Montreal has been attended with lower prices. If the reciprocity treaty could have been continued, the markets of New England could be held by Nova Scotians. Mr. Whitney spoke of the increase of trade between the provinces and Upper Canada during the past few years, and asked that the tariff remain as it is.

Asked by Sir R. Cartwright as to the endeavors of the company to build up an export trade, Mr. Whitney said they had contracted with the Boston and Maine for 100,000 tons and also with the Maine Central and Grand Trunk, in all about 170,000 tons, and this, in spite of the 40 per cent. duty. If the American duty were removed the export trade would be capable of greater development. The competitors are the Pennsylvania mines, which have to haul 400 miles to a shipping port.

Arthur Drysdale spoke for the Springhill and Joggins Coal Company and said that any change in the duty would be disastrous.

E. M. McDonald appeared on behalf of the people of Westville. The sole support of the town is the coal mines. He supported the present duty.

Other representatives of the coal mining industry presented similar arguments.

H. A. Budden of Montreal said the imposition of the duty had a marked effect in increasing the imports of coal into Quebec ports. The effect of the duty as regards prices was to lower them. The steadiness of the market enables merchants to purchase largely in advance and arrange for freight. Any change would have a disastrous effect; Pennsylvania and Ohio will in time be a great competitor and the enormous quantities guaranteed that low prices will prevail. Pennsylvania coal mine-owners are looking forward to capturing the Quebec market.

Representatives of agricultural interests made rather conflicting arguments. Some asked for free flour and cornmeal and others complained of the markets being flooded with American products.

The Kentville Board of Trade believed that some measure of reciprocity would be beneficial.

Owners of marble quarries complained of want of protection, and representatives of the fishing industry said that the French bounty worked injuriously to the Canadian fishermen.

The commission adjourned to meet at St. John.

The employes of the Londonderry Iron Company, through their representative, Daniel C. Sheehan, petitioned the commission not to reduce duties or do anything else that would detrimentally affect the miners and other people depending on the prosperous condition of the iron industry.

From New Glasgow came representatives of the Steel Works. They stated that any decrease of duty would injuriously affect the employment of labor there.

The Londonderry Iron Company wanted the protective duties retained, and advocated certain specific duties.

Harvey Graham read a statement on behalf of the company operating the Ferron iron works and New Glasgow Steel Works, urging the maintenance of the present duty and bounty.

Mr. Forbes of the Forbes Manufacturing Company declared his preference for absolute free trade, if revenue could be raised in any other way than by customs duties.

ALIEN CONTRACT LABOR.

McGlogan of Detroit Sees DeBarry of Buffalo in Regard to the Corliss Amendment.

Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 22.—Immigration Inspector McGlogan of Detroit was in conference with Inspector De Barry regarding alien contract labor and the new immigration law. While talking on the subject of immigration, De Barry said that he was in receipt of a communication this morning from Congressman John B. Corliss of Michigan, regarding this immigration bill. Mr. Corliss said that he feared it would be impossible to secure action upon the proposed new law forbidding the employment of alien labor upon Government work during the balance of the present short session, but that it would be pressed immediately upon the convening of the Fifty-fifth Congress. Mr. De Barry has been assured that it would likely pass. The bill in question is similar to one that was to be introduced by Congressman R. B. Mahany, at the request of the laboring men of Buffalo.

The Cinematographe.

There was another big house at the opera house last night, to witness the beautiful wonders of the Cinematographe exhibited. Every view was a reproduction of a scene to the life, and was liberally applauded. The father feeding his child at the breakfast table and the babies in the nursery were like all the others, exactly life like. It is no mere magic lantern exhibition, but perfect photographs endowed with life. No one can afford to miss this marvellous exhibition.

In connection with the store will be conducted a fashionable bicycle livery, conducted in the most approved manner possible. At the rear of the store Mr. Mulligan will have his vocal studio, and all pupils will be given good discount on new music. Mr. Thomas Dunn will be in charge of the piano department store in the Cooper's Fair building, just opposite the EXAMINER Office.

A New Addition to the Police Force.

The latest advertising novelty which has appeared on the streets during the week is the amusing minature representation of a police patrol wagon drawn by a black goat. Over the goat's back is a placard containing the words:—"Go to Grafton & Co.'s for your clothing." The outfit was brought from New York, where the goat had been trained at one of the police stations to start off on the "double quick" when the alarm was sounded. The goat is three years old, is very docile and obedient, and, because of its good discipline, has been christened "McGinty." It sports a fine set of harness, and is attached to the waggon in regulation style. A juvenile driver handles the reins and keeps up a racket with the alarm gong at his feet. It is quite a unique advertising scheme of Grafton & Co.'s, and will be used as well for the delivery of parcels. 1d1w

PUT IT ON YOUR LIST.

ST. PAUL'S SUNDAY SCHOOL.

The Children Enjoyed Their Annual Treat Last Night.

Last night there was a concert held in St. Paul's church. Mr. J. Gilchrist made an excellent chairman. Seated in the front row of seats in the church were the little ones of the primary department and further back were the more advanced scholars of the school. The concert was opened with prayer by Mr. Gilchrist. The following scholars who recited all the Catechism received prizes:—Effie Denoon, Lizzie Borland, Annie McCannan, Archie J. Gilchrist, George M. C. Gilchrist, Agnes Little and Annie Little.

Names of those who recited the Golden Texts:—Archie Laing, Archie J. Gilchrist, Alex. McGregor, Geo. M. C. Gilchrist, Stanley Fife, Maggie McDonald, Ettie Smith, Edith Smith, Ethel Davidson, Graham Ferguson, Lexa Howson, Marion Howson, Grace Johnston, Florence Scott, Bertie Laing, Stanley Madill, Maxwell Fife, Rufus MacKnight.

Names of those who recited John 14th, James 1st and Psalm 119th:—Miss Bella Davidson, Maud McIlmoyle, Maud Lush, Mabel Lush, Lexa Howson, Jennie Simpson, Kenneth Simpson, Robbie Hall, Archie MacDonald, Edith Smith, Beatrice Logan.

Names of those who recited Psalm 103: Stanley Fife, Herman Davideon, Roy Turner, Harold Hall, Irene Parks, Lizzie Irwin, Lena Denne, Alex. McGregor, Maurice Martin, Grace Johnston, Jessie Waddell, Jennie Gillespie, Marion Denne, Maggie McGregor, Sadie Melrose, Annie Pollock, Mary Menzies, Jessie Mein, Vera White, Marlie Hall, Bessie Logan, Mary Clark, Fred Turner, Bertie Lang, Herbert Johnston, Maxwell Fife, Garnet Green, John Logan, Stanley Madill, Rufus McKnight, Willie Macdonald, Arthur Perks, Willie Denoon, Harry Hall, Arthur McKnight.

Names of those who attended fifty Sundays: Mabel Lush, Cassia Matthieson, Lizzie Wallace, Lily Wallace, Mary Maxwell, Grace Brown, Mary Denoon, Elsie Cameron, May Mouldy, Annie Little, Aggie Little, Lexa Howson, Maud Lush, Jennie Simpson, Ross Craig, Roland Clinkscale, Archie J. Gilchrist, Aggie Thompson, George M. C. Gilchrist, Bruce Gillespie, David Hooey, Alex. Gillespie, Archie Laing, Roy Turner, Gladstone Melrose, George W. Perks, Maggie Mein.

Names of those who attended forty-seven Sundays—Jennie Gillespie, Grace Johnston, Maggie McGregor, Minnie McIntosh, Max. Cameron, Willie Denoon, Bert Gillespie, George Hooey, Bert Laing, Savigny Laing, Arthur MacKnight, Rufus MacKnight, Ford Turner, James Wallace.

Essay Prizes—Cassie Matthieson, Archie Gilchrist, Herby Laing, George Gilchrist, Ross Cameron, Graham Ferguson, Kathleen Martin, Maud McIlmoyle, Annie Erskine, Carl Russel.

After all the prizes had been distributed Mr. Roy, the popular local entertainer, gave his "Rambling Trip Around the World," illustrated by magic lantern. As usual, his views were excellent. He received some new views from London, England, including a Rotengen ray photograph of a man's hand with a needle embedded in the tissue. It is a very clear view and one can see the end of the needle protruding through the bone. The children were rewarded for their good attention by some comical views and consequently Mr. Roy became a great favourite with the little ones.

Rev. Dr. E. F. Torrance gave a five minute address which was very much appreciated by all. There was an orchestra in attendance which supplied excellent music. Tea was served to the scholars at 6 o'clock.

A Sale of Local Importance.

When the clear-the-table time comes around at the Peterborough Bookstore, business takes on a fresh start and fresh interest of local importance springs up. The business that is too regular gets into ruts. The announcement of stock-taking at Stratton's Bookstore does not mean that any waste time is going on. On the contrary, inventory time is the time when the nimble sixpence doctrine is pushed to its utmost extremity, and quick sales are the symbols of this business. Goods are now being snapped up at the reduced prices that hung fire before January, and genuine bargains lighten the labours of stock-taking. See advertisement. A. H. STRATTON & Co.

An Exciting Runaway.

Mr. Geo. Gobell, of the Grand Central, had quite an experience with Mr. Phillips' trotting mare yesterday. Mr. Phillips stables the mare in the hotel barns, and as Mr. Gobell is a horseman of more than Canadian repute, he is welcome to exercise the animal whenever he wishes to do so. The mare is spirited and as springy as a cat. During the last few days she has made several efforts to run away, and did run away for half a mile or so with Mr. Phillips last week, but yesterday she made a grand effort for liberty, and ran towards town on the Chemong road for over a mile and a half before Mr. Gobell could pull her up, just at the top of Bradburn's hill. Nothing was damaged, as the mare never left the road, but the rate at which she travelled was something terrific. Mr. Gobell was thrown out, but clung to the reins until the last.

A BOOK CHAT WITH THE LADIES.

Prof. Clark Talks of Novel Reading and the New Women.

Prof. Clark, of Trinity University, yesterday afternoon addressed the combined women's reading circles of the town in the S. O. E. Hall. He spoke very interestingly upon the modern novel and animadverted upon its tendency to vice. He also entertained his listeners with sarcastic references to the new women, who, he said, was fast losing the respect which mankind pays to womanhood. Prof. Clark was not interrupted—there were no new women present—the new woman "talks back."

SUNLIGHT SOAP'S LATEST SCHEME.

Messrs. Lever Bros., Ltd., proprietors of Sunlight Soap, do nothing by halves. They have built up the largest soap business in the world, first by turning out a very superior article, and second by plucky and attractive advertising. Their latest stroke in Canada is a bold one. It is a Monthly Wrapper Competition, the tempting features of which are the presentation of $1,635.00 worth of bicycles and gold watches every month of the year 1897, to those who collect and send in to Lever Bros., Toronto office, the largest number of Sunlight "coupons." The total value of the prizes to be awarded during the year 1897 is $19,600.

This competition will commence in January, when ten Stearns' Bicycles and twenty-five Gold Watches will be awarded to the successful competitors of that month residing in the districts of East and West Ontario, the Province of Quebec, N. B., N. S., and P. E. I.

A great advantage in this Competition is that it is held monthly, and, therefore, those who do not succeed for one month have many more opportunities during the year. Rules and full particulars are given in our advertising columns.

RELIGION IN THE SCHOOLS.

To the Editor of the Daily Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—Having so kindly given me space previously, will you kindly oblige me further. I acknowledge with many thanks the replies advanced to me through your colums, yet justice to myself urges me to answer that of "For History, etc." I beg leave to state that the resolution under discussion was NOT "Can history be taught properly without all reference to Religion" but "Shall Christian religion be made a compulsory subject of education in our schools," these questions, side by side, are vastly different, and the impression "For History," gives me, by his continued remarks, is that either he was not present at the debate, or that he is truly "begging the question." In my previous letter I intended to make it plain that I did not speak from my own standpoint but tried to reflect the arguments as I heard them—the points made were by the debaters, not myself. I did, indeed, suggest, one point, and made suggestions as they arose in my mind in the progress of the debate, but I did not hardly wish to range myself uninvited with them. With reference to the point suggested, I think "For History" does not seem to comprehend what I should have liked to make plain. The fault undoubtedly lies with me, yet I spoke from actual experience of the difficulty. The day school is the debateable ground which children contest inch by inch with the teacher. It is to them a legitimate field for incipient flippant rebellion against leading reins intended to fit them for their wrestle with the future, and their ingenuity is marvellous for the sustaining of their side. The daily teacher is one to every 35 or more. I hold that the Sabbath school is not on the same plane—it is a special period—for special study, in special buildings on special days—with a teacher to every half dozen or less. The power of a special season in the attainment of one thing in knowledge is far greater than when that one thing is mingled with subjects so various on days promiscuous.

Nor was the resolution only upon teaching, but it was compulsory teaching.

But I do not wish to continue the controversy. My chief object to-day is to remove doubts, if there be any, arising in the minds of the readers of my former letter, as "For History's" reply leads me to think there may be. I wish to clearly show my own standing ground—which has nothing whatever to do with the debate. Therefore, "I believe" in the divine God. I hold that all things of or pertaining to Him should be treated with the most intense reverence and tender respect I hold that the Christian religion should be to every atom of humanity like the most priceless gem ever mined, with its facets cut to the most perfect angles and polished to its most brilliant surface. That I, in common with all, may own it, and handle it in a setting of refined gold of cunning workmanship, receiving its beauty into my nature and passing it on that others may do so also. That I may live by its marvellous wealth, yet preserve its intrinsic worth. The "alas" is that from our nervous hands it so often drops downward to the mire.

PROF. CLARK AND THE POET BURNS.

An Admirable Lecture in the Y. M. C. A. Hall Last Night.

The annual lecture given to the citizens of Peterborough under the auspices of the Fortnightly Club last night proved a most successful and enjoyable event. The Rev. Prof. Clark's reputation as a lecturer is too well known to need any comment from us, and he certainly more than sustained it last night in the brilliant lecture, full of wit and pathos, in which he traced the career and described the works of Robert Burns. The Y. M. C. A. hall was completely filled with an audience fully representative of the town, although naturally the Scotch element was out in conspicuous force. The Vice-President of the Fortnightly Club, Sheriff Hall, presided with his usual tact and taste.

The evening's entertainment was opened with an admirably executed pianoforte duet by Mrs. G. A. Smith and Mrs. Max. Dennistoun.

Prof. Clark, who was received with hearty applause, said there was no difference of opinion as to the main points of the career and character of Burns. The poet was not a venerable but loveable character. There are vices which are respectable and there are vices which are not respectable and Burns' were of the latter order. Burns was not a drunkard, although he often drank too much, but his drinking did not interfere with the performance of his duties, and it would be far from the truth to represent him as deliberately defiant of sin. He had a high ideal and was profoundly conscious of his failings. In the "Bard's" epitaph he refers to himself:

"Is there a man whose judgment clear
Can others teach the course to steer,
Yet run himself, life's mad career
Wild as the wave,
Here pause—and thro' the starting tear
Survey a grave.'

And again he pleads:

"Who e human weakness has come short
Or frankly stept aside,
Do thou, all good! for such thou art,
In shades of darkness hide."

Where with intention I have erred
No other plea I have,
But thou art good, and goodness still Delighteth to forgive."

A remarkable feature in the career of Burns was that he obtained an instantaneous recognition from the literary public and never lost it, nor has his poetry ever fallen in the estimation of readers of poetry. Byron's first work was savagely cut up by the Edinburgh Review, Coleridge was laughed at, and many similar instances could be given. Burns was possessed of directness of vision and language, patriotism and generosity of sentiment. His glory consists in his songs.

In order to understand and appreciate a poet he must be studied in connection with his times and his contemporaries. The great English contemporary of Burns was Cowper, and to Burns and Cowper belong the glory of having inaugurated the return to nature. Pope and his contemporaries were stilted and artificial, and the reaction against this artificiality was hailed with delight. Following these came Coleridge, Wordsworth, Southey, Tennyson and many others.

Burns' parents were always poor and of a humble station in life, but none the less were they persons of distinction. From his mother Burns inherited his magnificent eyes. His father set a good example to his children and his farm labourers, but seldom found fault with them. In our day many parents find much fault, amidst a poor example. The poet was educated partly by his father and partly at school, and when he grew up became a farmer. The books which he read and admired in his youth were the lives of Hamilton and Wallace, Addison, Smollett, &c., and he thoroughly knew his Bible. At fifteen he wrote a poem called "Handsome Nell." It is a puerile work but contains two good lines—

"She dresses aye sae clean and neat,
Both decent and genteel,
And then there's something in her gait
Gars ony dress look weel."

When eighteen years of age his parents moved to Lochlea, and here his poetic faculty blossomed. Patriotism and love are his two incentives—patriotism supplied him with the desire, and love with the power of writing. As an example of his patriotism—

"I mind it weel," he says, referring to the time when he was "beardless, young and blate."

"E'en then a wish (I mind its power)
A wish that to my latest hour
Shall strongly heave my breast,
That I, for poor auld Scotland's sake,
Some useful plan or book could make,
Or sing a song at least.

No nation, no station,
My envy e'er could raise;
A Scot still, but without blot still
I knew nae higher power.

And then the influence of love—

But still the elements o' sang
In formless jumble, right or wrang,
Wild floated in my brain;
Till on that har'st I said before,
My partner in the merry core,
She roused the forming strain:

I see her yet the sonsie queen,
That lighted up my jingle
Her witching smile, her hawky 'een
That gart my heart strings tingle;

I fired, inspired
At every kindling keek,
But bashing and dashing
I feared aye to speak."

In his common-place book he says: "For my own part I never had the least thought or inclination of turning poet till I got once heartily in love; and then Rhyme and Song were, in a measure, the spontaneous language of my heart."

Among the poems of this period are "John Barleycorn," "Lament for Mallie," "Rigs o' Barley," "My Nannie O," "Green Grow the Rushes."

From 1784—1788 (aged 25-29) Burns resided at Mossfield, and this is the best period of his life. He and his brother Gilbert were partners in a farm upon which he lived in temperance and frugality. It was here that he met Jean Armour, whom he married in an irregular way, from whom he was seperated by his father, but afterwards they met again and were regularly married. Between these two periods occurred his five or six months' passion for Mary Campbell ("Highland Mary") terminated by her death, when he was preparing to emigrate with her to the West Indies.

While Burns was not a revolutionary, he was deeply scornful of the pride and arrogance sometimes manifested by the nobility.

"I tent less and want less
Their roomy fireside;
But hanker and canker
To see their cure'd pride."

He had profound respect for the innate nobility of man, as shown in the famous,

"A man's a man for a' that."

On the other hand

"It's no in titles nor in rank;
It's no in wealth like London Bank,
To purchase peace and rest;
It's no in makin' muckle mair;
It's no in books, it's no in lear
To make us truly blest."

To this period belong some of his most perfect compositions: Holy Willie's Prayer, Hallowe'en, To a Mouse, The Jolly Beggars, The Cotter's Saturday Night, Address to the Deil, To a Mountain Daisy.

"Holy Willie's Prayer" was a terrible satire on hypocrisy, and in the opinion of the lecturer, scarcely an exaggeration. It should, however, be remembered that hypocrisy is not properly a disgrace to religion.

Carlyle esteemed "The Jolly Beggars" the best of his works, but the lecturer awarded the palm to "Tam o'Shanter." To the same period belongs the unnamed poem which has the following famous stanza:—

"O wad some power the giftie gie us
To see ourselves as ithers see us."
It wad frae many a blunder free us
An' foolish notion;
What airs in dress and gait wad lea'e us
An' e'en devotion."

After the publication of the 1st edition of his poems, which took Scotland by storm, Cowper wrote: "Tho' they be written in a language that is new to me . . I think them, on the whole, a very extraordinary production."

Burns about this time moved to Edinburgh, where he was well received. Sir W. Scott, who saw him, says: "His person was strong and robust, his manner rustic, not clownish; a sort of dignified plainness and simplicity. His countenance was more massive than it looks in any of the portraits. There was a strong expression of sense and shrewdness in all his lineaments; the eye alone, I think, indicated the poetical character and temperament . . . I never saw such another eye in a human head, though I have seen most of the distinguished men of my time." By universal consent Burn's conversation was splendid and copious, yet never obtrusive, never more than was expected of him."

To the next period of Burns' life belong "Auld Lang Syne," "John Anderson my Jo," "Tam o'Shanter." Of Jean Armour he wrote the following lines:

"Of a' airts the wind can blow
I dearly like the west,
For there the bonnie lassie lives,
The lassie I lo'e best.
There wild woods grow, and rivers row,
And many a hill between;
But day and night my fancy's flight
Is ever wi' my Jean.

Tam O'Shanter is distinguished for direct power of narration, pictorial representation, frequent flashes of humour and insight into character.

It has been impossible in this report to give an adequate idea of the charm of the lecturer's style, or the many touches of humour and genial satire with which it was relieved. Prof. Clark ended as he began, with Burns' character, and quoted the strong incisive words of Carlyle in his essay:—"The world is habitually unjust in its judgments of such men. Not the few inches of deflection from the mathematical orbit, which are so easily measured, but the ratio of these to the whole diameter, constitutes the real aberration. This orbit may be a planet, its diameter the breadth of the solar system, or it may be a city hippodrome. But the inches of deflection only are measured, and it is assumed that the diameter of the hippodrome and that of the planet will yield the same ratio when compared with them! Here lies the root of many a blind, cruel condemnation of such men, which one never listens to without approval. Granted the ship comes into harbor with shrouds and tackle damaged. The pilot is blameworthy; he has not been all wise and all powerful, but to know how blameworthy, tell us first whether his voyage has been round the globe, or only to Ramsgate and the Isle of Dogs."

At the close of the lecture a very hearty vote of thanks was tendered the lecturer on motion of Dr. Fife, seconded by Mr. J. A. Fife.

"Very, Very Good."

A prominent lady visiting Peterborough from New York City was so highly pleased with the photographic work she saw in Mr. Whiten's art studio that she made an appointment and had a dozen sent to her address, 170 Lexington Avenue, New York City. She writes Mr. Whiten: "Photos arrived all right; they are very, very good; I am much pleased with them." Three different persons recently on a visit here from Montreal also had a dozen each taken by Mr. Whiten and forwarded to their address in Montreal. PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH AUGMENTATION FUND.

Interesting and Instructive Lecture by Rev. Wm. Bennett, of Peterborough.

(Lindsay Warder)

On Wednesday evening, 6th inst., Rev. W. Bennett, clerk of the Presbytery of Peterborough, spoke on the subject of "Augmentation Schemes" at the regular weekly prayer meeting in St. Andrew's schoolroom.

The lecturer began with what he called "Root Principles." 1st—That all Christians are equal. 2nd—That Christians should sympathise with and help each other. 3rd—That Christian congregations should help each other inasmuch as weak congregations are not to blame for their weakness, nor large congregations to take credit to themselves for their strength.

The lecturer then showed that the help most needed is help to sustain life by means of religious ordinances through which, as Christians, men live and move and have their being. Ministers of small congregations, he said, are not to be depreciated, many of them are superior to some of the large wealthy congregations. He then gave a brief narrative of the institution of an augmentation fund in 1883 with the object of raising salaries in settled charges to $750 and manse. For a time the plan promised well. Seventeen thousand dollars to accomplish the design was raised the first year. By and by the enthusiasm began to flag. But for the $17,000 of the reserve fund, for $8,000 from the bequest of Mrs. Nicholls and but for the fruit of special efforts on its behalf the scheme would have been a thing of the past. "Why has the life of the fund been endangered?" the lecturer asked, and proceeded to assign reasons.

1st—Want of sympathy on the part of self-sustaining congregations, the want arising from the lack of sufficient teaching on the subject of the obligation of the strong to help the weak; on the subject of the effort which weak congregations have to make for self-existence, and of the greater liberality of these congregations than that of the self-sustaining ones—augmented congregations contributing between one and two dollars per member more on behalf of stipend and general schemes than the independent congregations do, thus showing that the small rural charges are the best givers in the church, and that the large self-sustaining charges are mainly responsible for the crippled state of the mission schemes.

The lecturer made the astounding statement that if the self-sustaining congregations would give equally with the augmented ones, and if what is lacking were devoted to the support of missions, there would be the amount of $72,000 more on behalf of these schemes than there now is within the bounds of the Synod of Toronto and Kingston alone. The lecturer here answered objections that might possibly be made against the fairness of this comparison, and gave still other reasons for the want of sympathy on the part of self-sustaining congregations, some saying that they will not contribute to a fund that helps to keep a minister in a congregation after he has worn out his welcome. The lecturer clearly showed that the tendency of the administration of the scheme is altogether in the opposite direction—that no congregation can more easily get rid of its pastor than an augmented one.

The lecturer facetiously dealt with those who made the objection that the salaries need not be so large as $750 or $800 when the monies have to be contributed by others. He then showed the wonderful advantages accruing from this scheme, enumerating the which had been nutured, and the mission fields which had become settled charges through its instrumentality, these again soon to become self-sustaining congregations. It was clearly shown that augmentation is the hand-maid of home missions—that though there were the two schemes and the two committees to administer them, augmentation and home missions were part and parcel of each other, and contributions to the former were virtually contributions to the latter also.

Other benefits arising from the scheme were referred to, such as the education of congregations on the subject of the adequate support of the ministry. Reference was made to the fact that some congregations at the time of the inception of the scheme giving only $600, and all the time deeming this amount quite sufficient for the wants of a minister's family, all at once raised the stipend to $750 and manse or $800. Weak congregations were constrained to do more for themselves, so as to remain or become settled charges, while many large self-sustaining congregations were constrained to accept of the teaching that they owed a debt of love to their weaker brethren.

How many persons are ashamed to go into company on account of their foul-smelling breath, caused by catarrh or cold in the head? If they would study their own interests they would soon have sweet breath like their neighbors. There is one sure cure for Catarrh and that is Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure. Give one blow through the blower and you get relief immediately. Price, including blower, 25 cents.

HOW TO OBTAIN THEM. Competitors to save as many "Sunlight" Soap Wrappers as they can collect. Cut off the top portion of each wrapper—that portion containing the heading "SUNLIGHT SOAP." These (called "Coupons") are to be sent enclosed with a sheet of paper on which the competitor has written his or her full name and address, and the number of coupons sent in, postage paid, to Messrs. Lever Bros. Ltd., 23 Scott St., Toronto, marked on the postal wrapper (top left hand corner) with the number of the District competitor lives in. The districts are as follows:

	NAME OF DISTRICT.
1	Western Ontario, consisting of Counties York, Simcoe and all Counties W. and S. of these.
2	Eastern Ontario, consisting of Counties Ontario, Muskoka and all Counties E. and N. of these.
3	Province of Quebec.
4	Province of New Brunswick.
5	Province of Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island.

$1,625 Given Away EACH MONTH IN BICYCLES AND WATCHES FOR SUNLIGHT SOAP WRAPPERS.

The bicycles are the celebrated Stearns, manufactured by E. C. Stearns & Co., Syracuse, N. Y., and Toronto, Ont. Each wheel is guaranteed by the makers, and has complete attachments.

LEVER BROS., LTD., 23 SCOTT STREET, TORONTO.

RULES. 1. Every month during 1897, in each of the five districts, prizes will be awarded as follows:

The two competitors who send in the largest numbers of coupons from the district in which they reside, will each receive, at winner's option, a lady's or gent's Stearns' Bicycle, value $100.

The five competitors who send in the next largest numbers of coupons from the district in which they reside, will each receive, at winner's option, a lady's or gent's Gold Watch, value $25.

2. The competition will close the last day of each month during 1897. Coupons received too late for one month's competition will be put into the next.

3. Competitors who obtain wrappers from unsold soap in dealer's stock will be disqualified. Employees of Messrs. Lever Bros., Ltd., and their families are debarred from competing.

4. A printed list of winners in competitor's district will be forwarded to competitors 21 days after each competition closes.

5. Messrs. Lever Bros. Ltd., will endeavor to award the prizes fairly to the best of their ability and judgment, but it is understood that all who compete agree to accept the award of Messrs. Lever Bros., Ltd., as final.

The Acme Heating Drum

Is the best appliance to economize fuel. We are selling them rapidly. They pay for themselves in a short time. Read what our Citizens say:

Messrs. Micks and Cox:—

GENTLEMEN,—After giving your Acme Heating Drum a fair trial in China Hall, we have no hesitation in pronouncing it a perfect success. Our store is 30x100 feet with glass front and all of one side of glass facing the north; and the Drum with a small wood stove heats the store more perfectly than it has ever been heated before, even when we had two coal stoves which we formerly used.

Yours truly,
Peterborough, Jan. 15th, '97. McFARLANE WILSON.

Messrs. Micks & Cox:—

GENTLEMEN,—After giving the Acme Heating Drum purchased from you a full trial in severe weather we have no hesitation in pronouncing it a complete success.

Your Drum is an application of the correct principle in proper heating devices. In drawing the cold air from the floor, heating it and circulating it through the building. We heat three rooms by means of a moderate sized wood stove with your Drum attached, and find our offices very much more comfortable than formerly, at the same time using a third less fuel than without the Drum.

Yours very truly,
Peterborough, Jan. 14, '97. HATTON & WOOD.

The measurements of death are a few inches of trivial disorders, multiplied by many feet of neglect. If a man or woman will take care of the little trivial disorders, there is no need to fear the big maladies, and long-life and happiness will be the reward. The little disorders that cause the majority of big sicknesses, are the trivial derangements of the digestion that most people pay no heed to. Good digestion feeds and builds up a man; bad digestion starves him in every tissue, muscle, nerve-fiber, and brain-cell.

Bad digestion leads to consumption, blood and skin diseases, and nervous exhaustion and prostration. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery corrects all disorders of the digestion, invigorates the liver and prevents and cures consumption, blood and skin diseases, and nervous troubles. It is the great blood-maker, flesh-builder, and nerve tonic. Druggists sell it and have nothing else "just as good."

"I have lately given Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery a trial," writes Miss C. M. Malette of Houston, Harris Co., Texas, "and it has completely cured me of very serious and obstinate disorders in which the heart's action was impaired. I took it for two weeks. I began to experience less discomfort from my illness, after about the fourth dose, and in four or five days still less, and several days after I was surprised to find that I was actually better. Two weeks having passed every symptom had disappeared."

The man or woman who neglects constipation is storing up in the system a store of disorders that will culminate in some serious and possibly fatal malady. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are a safe cure, speedy and permanent cure for constipation. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. They never gripe. Druggists sell them.

REUNION OF SCOTTISH RITERS.

From the Fourth to the Fourteenth Degree Worked—Fruit Growers Present Their Requests—Hamilton News.

Hamilton, Jan. 20.—(Special.)—In connection with the annual reunion of the Scottish Rite, Murton Lodge of Perfection has been engaged at Masonic Hall to-day in working the degrees from the fourth to the fourteenth. Among the out-of-town brethren who registered to-day were: Alex Findlay, London, 31; R Dowling Harriston, 32; Gavin Stewart, Woodstoc, 32; R Bruce Burt, 14; N T Lyon, Toronto, 32; G K C McGregor, Toronto 32; William Roaf, Toronto, 33; Ben Allen, Toronto, 33; Allan M. McLean, Kingston, 32; J T Pepper, Woodstock, 14; C A Palmer, Pontiac, Mich., 32; A B Munson, London, 18; Oliver C Duper, St. John, N. B., 32; John F. Schwalz, Chicago, 32; Fred C Piper, Jarvis, 14; R Browlby, Waterford, 18; Hugh M Wright, Allliston, 32; James Duncan, Jarvis, 32; John Parry, Dunnville, 18; F A Latshaw, Dundas, 18; William Harbottle, Lowville, 14.

The degrees were all worked up to-night. The reunion will continue to-morrow and Friday and will close with a banquet on Friday evening.

A delegation of prominent fruit growers from the Niagara Peninsula conferred at the Royal Hotel to-day with Hon. Sydney Fisher, Minister of Agriculture, and Prof. Robertson, dairy commissioner from the Experimental Farm, Ottawa. Among the agriculturists present, were noticed: A. H. Pettit and L. Woolverton, Grimsby; Murray Pettit, T. D. Smith and Thomas Carpenter, Winona; J. Fisher, Burlington; R. S. Wilson, Dundas, and George Lewis, Saltfleet.

It was urged upon the Minister that a scheme should be devised for the exportation of tender Canadian fruit in refrigerator cars and boats to European ports, and that an emporium should be established in London for the purpose of advertising Canadian fruits.

The growers were also of the opinion that cold storage warehouses should be established in the various fruit centres, and they were requested to formulate a scheme for such warehouses and other suggested improvements and submit it to the Minister.

CURED OF SCIATICA.

Toronto Junction, Jan. 18 (Special)—Mr. H. Playter, is not a difficult man to find as everybody here knows that he is foreman at No. 1 Fire Hall. He was the picture of health when called upon by your correspondent and told his story thus:

"In April 1896 I suffered from a severe attack of Sciatica, affecting my left hip and the leg to the tip of my toes. I suspected it came from some form of kidney trouble and as they had been recommended I procured a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills."

At the end of the fourth day I was entirely relieved, but desiring a permanent cure I continued to use that and another box and am now cured cured and as well as ever in my life. A brother of mine living at Pine Orchard has been cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

A Traveler's Forethought.

Little things illustrate certain Englishmen's knowledge of American geography very picturesquely. An Englishman who had taken the Pacific express at Philadelphia called out on going to bed before the train started:

"Portah, portah!"

The porter came. "What is it, sir?" he said.

"Please wake me up when we get to San Francisco, you know," said the Englishman.—Youth's Companion.

Catarrh in the Head

Is a dangerous disease. It may lead directly to consumption. Catarrh is caused by impure blood, and the true way to cure it is by purifying the blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures catarrh because it removes the cause of it by purifying the blood. Thousands testify that they have been cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

HOod's Pills are purely vegetable and do not purge, pain or gripe. All druggists. 25c.

GUILDHALL BANQUET

Gets an Imitation by the Mayor of Montreal —Some Important Speeches Made.

Montreal, Jan. 21.—(Special.)— It remained for Mayor R. Wilson-Smith to give a banquet something similar in its object and importance to the annual Lord Mayor's function in the metropolis of the Mother Land. Among those present were Lord Aberdeen, Premier Laurier, Lieutenant-Governor Chapleau, Premier Flynn and his Cabinet, Hon. Mr. Tarte and the cream of Montreal's professional and business men, and the dinner was the finest ever given in the aristocratic Club of St. James.

There were three splendid speeches, those of the two Premiers and His Honor of Spencerwood. The point made by Sir Adolphe Chapleau was that a mistake was made at Confederation as to titles, for His Honor opined that the nobleman who rules over so vast a country as Canada should have been designated as the Viceroy, and that the head of the executive of each province should be called governors.

The Premier of Quebec said that in the presence of the rulers from Ottawa he must declare that the Legislatures were more important than the Parliament at Ottawa.

Hon. Wilfrid Laurier also made some important points, especially as regards the commercial relations between Canada and the States. He said it had long been his opinion that the relations should be more friendly than they were at present. Whilst he was emphatic in asserting that the efforts of Parliament should be directed towards getting for Montreal and Canada at large the trade of the Western States, let it be well understood that he was against the idea that friendliness with the United States meant hostility to England. The Government intended to have, so far as they could, better trade relations with our neighbors to the south, yet if that meant hostility to England, they would have none of it. [Applause.] It was the boast of Canadians, and he was proud to say it in the presence of Her Majesty's representatives, colonials though they were, they did not believe that the sun shone on a freer country than this, and they felt gratitude for the great country which had protected their liberty. It was with these sentiments that he wished to approach the Government of the United States. If it were his duty and privilege to go to the States and speak of better trade relations between Canada and that country, he would say: "We come here, not as suppliants, but as free men, to talk business with free men, and, if you will accept a basis of free relations on this ground, let us at once negotiate; but if you expect that we come here simply to starve the country to which we belong, we shall do nothing of the kind." [Hear, hear, and applause.] They would ever be true to their allegiance. He believed that if they approached the United States in that spirit, and did not go in any cringing spirit, or any other spirit than that of freedom, self respect and dignity, they would have a hearing; and if they failed in their endeavors, we should still do by ourselves; and if we had to do by ourselves, there was a great deal for us to do. We should have the trade on both sides of the lakes and the river. At the present time we did not have it; we did not have the trade on our own side. Of the thirty million bushels of wheat grown in Manitoba and the Northwest Territories, not more than one-tenth came here; it went to the seaboard by way of the American railways. Was it not time, he asked, that we should determine that every grain of that wheat should go to Europe by way of the St. Lawrence? [Applause.]

RHEUMATISM CURED.

Eighteen Months Trying to get Cured —Had the Best Doctors—He Found What he Wanted in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Goderich, Jan. 11—(Special)—A case of great interest here just now is that of Mr. Alexander J. Sharkey, who for some time has been an extreme sufferer from Rheumatism. His statement to the correspondent is as follows:—

"For eighteen months I was a victim of Rheumatism and during the whole of that time was trying every means to cure it. I had the best doctors in Canada and took their prescriptions with faith and patience.

"I got tired at last, for I found the disappointment nearly as killing as the disease.

"But one friend wiser than others convinced me that my disease must be cured by way of the kidneys and recommended Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I have used two boxes of these pills to effect a perfect cure, and I don't care who knows it."

Ben Wade's Hair.

Senator Ben Wade of Ohio, one of the intellectual giants developed by the civil war, carried his brains in a head as bald as an elliptical billiard ball. But he always wore a beautiful glossy wig of jet black hair. One day, just after he had concluded a very strong speech in congress, he was waited upon in the lobby of the capitol by a young woman.

"Senator," began the young woman, "I have listened to every word you have uttered today with the greatest of interest, and, oh, what a gallant man you are! Would you object to give me a curl of your hair to carry home to Ohio with me?"

"Why, certainly, madam. You can have it all," answered the senator; removing the wig and handing it to the astonished woman.—Washington Cor. Philadelphia Times.

TWEED TOPICS.

Mrs. James Davenport Makes a Statement for the Benefit of Others.

Mrs. Davenport is well-known in Tweed, and this is how she spoke to our representative concerning Doan's Kidney Pills. Said Mrs. Davenport:—

"I have suffered for some years from dizziness puffing under the eyes, pains in the side and back, sleeplessness, poor appetite, and in fact, was in a bad state generally.

"I took two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills which I got at P. K. Newton's drugstore, and experienced immediate relief from their use.

"I am now very much better indeed; appetite improved, pain almost disappeared and I feel stronger and healthier in every particular.

"I heartily recommend them to all sufferers from kidney trouble."

SAW A BIG WATERSPOUT.

Sailors Were Close to a Monstrous Column of Liquid 1,000 Feet in Height.

Port Townsend, Wash., Jan. 21.—The brig Courtenay Ford, from Tahiti, brings an account of a remarkable waterspout witnessed in the tropics on the voyage to this port. In long. 142 west, lat. 15.14 north, on Nov. 18, at 4 p.m., a tremendous waterspout was observed scarcely a mile from the vessel. During the first five minutes it remained stationary and reached an altitude of over 1000 feet, ending in a curious cumulous cloud. Its base was several hundred feet in diameter, and around it the sea was lashed into a cauldron of whit foam for a space of several hundred yards in circumference.

Slowly the spout moved away, though it remained in plain view for over an hour.

me, but, in spite of his attendance, I got no better. Finally, my husband,—reading one day of a gentleman who had had the grippe and was cured by taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,—procured, for me, a bottle of this medicine, and before I had taken half of it, I was cured. I have used the Pectoral for my children and in my family, whenever we have needed it, and have found it a specific for colds, coughs, and lung troubles."—EMILY WOOD, North St., Elkton, Md.

NEW CYCLE SKATING.

AN APPROVED ICE SKATE WITH THREE RUNNERS.

A Convenient Bicycle Attachment For Skimming Comfortably Over Ice or Snow—The New Machine Faster Than the Ordinary Safety on the Road.

It seems that some clever person has invented runners which, attached to a bicycle, allow the rider to skim along over an ice pond or travel about through snow, unless it is very, very deep, with the greatest ease and fun imaginable.

Indeed, skating on a bicycle is nearly as easy as ordinary skating and much more entertaining and exciting sport.

As a matter of fact, there are a variety of these ice attachments, each possessing merits of its own.

One style has three runners, one for the front wheel and two for the rear. The rear portion of the bicycle is supported by the runners in such a manner that the tire presses upon the ice hard enough to give the friction necessary for propulsion. A lever in the hands of the rider regulates the pressure of the tire upon the ice. The front wheel does not revolve at all; the runner is fastened firmly to it, not permitting it to touch the ice. The brake consists of a number of sharp teeth or claws which are forced into the ice, just in front of the rear wheel, between the runners, which, by the way, resemble very long skates. They are easily attached to any bicycle and as easily taken off.

Another bicycle attachment, as it is called, consists of a spiked band placed about the tire of the rear wheel, and a runner in place of the front wheel. The whole apparatus is easily adjusted in five minutes. The spiked tire, which is made to fit tightly around the pneumatic tire, is of steel, which makes it a guard against punctures, which would be liable to occur if the rubber tire were not protected from the jagged edges of the ice or frozen snow. The spikes which propel the machine have flanged heads on the inner side of the tire and are sharply pointed, thus securing sufficient purchase on the ice to propel the machine with the greatest ease.

Before adjusting the steel-spiked tire the rubber tire must be deflated, then, after adjustment, it is inflated and the band is thus held securely. A strip of canvas is placed between the rubber and the steel tire, which prevents the steel from injuring the rubber. A brake is unnecessary, as by simply bearing down on the pedals the machine stops. The spikes catching in the ice assist in stopping the machine.

The runner, which replaces the front wheel, is light, very sharp and hollow-ground, making it impossible for any accidents to occur from slipping or turning when riding at full speed.

A runner for exclusive use on the snow is secured to the ice runner by a key on the front upper portion of the latter, a strap being attached from the front of the runner to the fork of the frame so as to hold the runner securely should it strike a stone by accident or anything likely to cause the bicycle to jar.

One great beauty of this ice attachments is that it can be fitted to any style of wheel, and the construction is so simple and light that faster time can be made with the ice bicycle than with the ordinary safety on the road.

Another ingenious device which enables the cyclist to use his wheel in winter is the "ice creeper." They are made of the best frictioned duck and Bessemer steel, and are secured to the tire by means of metal spurs. Twenty of these creepers make a set, and are sufficient for ordinary bicycling. For fancy cycling or record-breaking on the ice additional creepers can be used, but the regular set of twenty is all that is needed ordinarily. One of the distinctive advantages of the ice creepers is that it can be run on any kind of roads, over crossings, on slippery asphalt, to and from the pond or lake, and even on pavements.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE

One of the Most Remarkable Cures of IT Which the History of Medicine Records.

Mrs Frood, of Renfrew, After Ailing for Thirteen Years, the Last Two Years Seriously Sick, is Restored to Maiden Strength.

RENFREW, Ont., Jan. 20.—Now, take the case of Mrs. Samuel Frood, of this town. She was ailing for thirteen years without knowing just where the difficulty was. During the last two years of her sickness, however, she was told by her physicians that she had Bright's disease.

A few years ago to tell a patient that she had incurred Bright's Disease would be equivalent to offering prayers over the dying. This terrible scourge of mankind was long supposed to be incurable. No doctor thought he could restore the kidneys when they had gone that far to decay.

But that was before Dodd's Kidney Pills were invented. Fortunately Mrs. Frood tried the Pills, and this is what she says: Dodd's Medicine Co.,

Gentlemen—About two years ago I was taken sick. I consulted doctors, and they told me I had a bad case of Bright's Disease, and he could not help me. I had tried every kind of medicine, but of no avail. My urine was like brick-dust, and it hurt me to pass it. I heard of DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS, and concluded to try them. I had been sick off and on for twelve or thirteen years, but about two years ago I got worse, and I feel stronger to-day than ever,

OPTIONS.—The management has secured the following interests in both British Columbia and Ontario:—Options on three promising locations near the famous "JUMBO" mine, Rossland, B.C., two properties in the Slocan District, B.C., one in the Whitewater Basin, being under option held by us, the other in which an interest is being negotiated for at present.

A location in Boundary Creek District, B.C., which is well mineralized, and will be carefully examined in the spring by our experts in connection with contemplated purchase.

Two locations in Rainy River District, one of which will be examined minutely as soon as transportation admits it in the spring, whilst the other is under negotiation.

Locations in Jackfish Bay, having an area of about 500 acres, as well as several other partially developed properties in the Lake of the Woods, Trail Creek, Slocan, and Boundary districts, which are receiving the attention of the management.

OBJECTS.—(1). The Company will secure by exploration, through its Mining Agents and employees, gold, silver and other mineral claims, and will sell the same, or partially develop and sell, to other persons or companies as will secure the best and quickest returns to its shareholders. There are scores of mining claims which show surface indications of gold or silver, or both, but unless and until they have been thoroughly tested by some expenditure in opening them up, they cannot be submitted to the examination of skilled Mining Engineers. This Company will start operations with options and contracts extending over the best mining fields in Canada, and will continue to secure more while developing those in hand. The extent to which expenditure will be made will depend on the advice of experts. Before offering any property for sale the Company will be ready to lay before intending purchasers the carefully-prepared reports of the best Mining Experts. The prices will vary with the stage of development and the nature of the reports. In this way no investor need be misled. They will know what they are getting so far as the best advice can guide them, and they will have the chances always before them of great gains, and a minimum chance of loss. The services of a practical and thoroughly reliable man, who has explored the Kootenay, have already been secured for the Company in British Columbia.

(2) The Company will also promote and form other Companies, both on this Continent and in Europe, for the purpose of acquiring and operating mines now secured, or to be secured, by this Company.

(3) Will deal in mining shares, and act as Mining Brokers generally, and appoint Agents throughout Canada and elsewhere to represent the Company, and especially the Brokerage Department of the Company.

(4) Will be a medium of information to its shareholders on all matters pertaining to mining and mining stocks in Ontario, British Columbia, and elsewhere, enabling each shareholder to receive the very latest news from the Company's confidential Agents at the mining centres.

(5) Having its private prospectors, good claims can be secured at first cost, of which every shareholder gets the profit and all the profit. Ordinary Mining Companies are often capitalized at tens of thousands of dollars beyond the first cost, thereby depriving the shareholder of the first, and frequently the largest, profit. Every prospector of this Company will be in the position of a private prospector and locator for each shareholder. There will be no middle owners and no middle profits.

Write or call for prospectus, or any other information desired will be given upon demand.

A limited number of shares, first issue, are now offered to the public at 10 CENTS per share, in blocks of not less than 100 shares. Those desiring to become subscribers to the first issue can do so by communicating with

No. LXXXVI.

The Ethics of Citizenship No. 1.

INTRODUCTORY REMARKS.

A recent writer has these remarks on "the Civic Community:" "This, like the church, is a form of unity which has played an important part in the past, and in the near future seems likely to become more prominent than it has hitherto been." "Local assemblies of citizens," as De Tocqueville has said, "constitute the strength of free nations. Town meetings are to liberty what primary schools are to science; they bring it within the people's reach, they teach them how to use and how to enjoy it. A nation may establish a system of free government, but without the spirit of municipal institutions it cannot have the spirit of liberty." (Mackenzie's introduction to Social Philosophy.) Since these things are so, it certainly behooves all who are interested in the municipality to foster the education of good citizens. In a bye gone day when the franchise was limited to the few, it was thought that a universal franchise would set everything right. But logic might have shown what experience has proved, that if the majority of the voters are corrupt, or indifferent, the government cannot be good. Even in towns and cities, where the intention of the majority is good circumstances frequently frustrate their ends. There are as yet many unsolved questions regarding the municipality, which require wide and liberal thinking, on the basis of accurate knowledge. What are the limits of the powers of the town? What are to be the highest objects of a town council? What are the ideal relations of the town to the churches, to education, to public amusements? How can the municipality best encourage the growth of good citizenship? For the promotion of the general welfare the town has some great advantages over all other societies. For whilst religion is divided, and the churches are compelled to exhaust much energy in holding their own, energy which might under other circumstance be used to better effect, and whilst the many excellent benefit societies have but a limited field of influence the town is a unit. We do not have a separate town hall, and mayor and council for every ward. Profoundly as citizens may differ on many subjects of civic interest, they do not split up into civic sects. Despite some corruption and some self-seeking, we believe that on the whole all desire the best welfare of the city. The city is a society of which all its inhabitants are members, and wherein all have rights.

From all this it follows, naturally, that there is something to be learnt about citizenship. A man is no more born a good citizen than he is born a good Latin scholar. He may have faculties that will, when trained, make him a good citizen, just as he may have faculties which, when trained, will make him a good Latin scholar. But whereas a man receives a strict and methodical training in the art of reading, writing and arithmetic (to say nothing of the 'ologies), he has to pick up his citizenship in the best way he can, and it is certainly a question, worthy of consideration, whether, either the state or the municipality, might not, with much advantage to its citizens and profit to itself, devote some time and money to the education or instruction of the community in the principles of good citizenship. The city is like a mighty, but a blind Sampson. It has hardly yet become aware of its own vast powers for either good or evil. In some of the great cities of the Old and New World there are men who may be described as civic geniuses. It is much to be desired that such men could be persuaded to give courses of public lectures on the powers, rights, possibilities, principles and duties of good citizenship, and the best way in which to realise them.

These desultory remarks are intended by way of introduction to a series of Fortnightly Club columns, which will set forth in brief the contents of a little book entitled "The Ethics of Citizenship" by John Macoun, M. A., Professor of Philosophy in University College, Liverpool. The book treats of the following nine subjects in the space of 145 pages:—(1) The Equality of Man, (2) Fraternity, (3) The Rights of Man, (4) Citizenship, (5) The Rule of the Majority in Politics, (6) Party and Political Consistency, (7) Elements of Political Consistency, (8) Democracy and Character, (9) Some Economic and Moral Aspects of Luxury.

It will be observed that the citizenship here treated of is not limited to that of the city, but of the state, but most of the principles laid down are applicable to the circumstances of the city. Mr. Macoun shall himself tell us the purpose of his book. "The object of the following pages," says he, "is to connect some leading aspects of democratic citizenship with ethical facts and beliefs. In the equality of men justification is sought for the bestowal upon the citizen of civil and political rights, as well as for the increased attention given of recent years to questions relating to the distribution of wealth; and this justification is found, not in the untenable doctrine that men are equal, but in the fact, recognized alike in moral and religious experience, that the humblest member of the community possesses a spiritual worth, which effectually parts the man from the chattel and the animal.

HEART FAILURE.

GREAT DANGER INVOLVED IN WEAK HEART ACTION.

The Trouble Can be Cured and Mr. D. A. Bullock, of Georgeville, Points Out the Road to Renewed Health.

From the Magog, Que., News.

Mr. D. A. Bullock, boatbuilder, of Georgeville, is well and favourably known to all the residents of that village. He has passed through a very trying illness from which his friends feared he could not recover, but he is once more happily enjoying good health. To a correspondent of the Magog News Mr. Bullock recently gave the particulars of his illness and cure, saying that he would be very glad if his experience would prove helpful in enabling someone else to regain health. He says: "There is no doubt in my mind that Dr. William's Pink Pills brought me from the horrors of death to the glad cheerful world. Some years ago, owing to overwork and trouble, I was reduced to a weak state of health, wherein the heart failed to do its work properly, and not unnaturally the stomach became inactive. I had visits from three doctors, but without beneficial results. The medicine given by one of them caused a nervous shock that prostrated me for several weeks. The last one who treated me gave me a preparation of strychnine which upset my kidneys to such an extent that I was confined to the house and daily growing weaker. I had to keep stimulants constantly at my side to keep the heart at work. Even with this artificial aid its action was very faint. Then I began to try advertised medicines, but still without any good results. I lost strength, flesh and hope. I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and that reminded me that I had a box of them at my place of business, which had been lying there for more than a year. Without very much confidence in them I decided to give the pills a trial. The result I must confess seemed to be almost magical. I had not taken the Pink Pills long when I was able to rest in my chair and take good refreshing sleep, something that had not taken place for months before. From that day with the use of the Pink Pills I continued to gain in strength, and am to-day a strong and healthy man. I believe that even Pink Pills should be assisted in their good work on the system, and that assistance is exercise, and this exercise I took from the time I began to regain my strength. I have now every faith in this medicine and believe that if those who are sick will use it, health will be the reward."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills strike at the root of the disease, driving it from the system and restoring the patient to health and strength. In cases of paralysis, spinal troubles, locomotor ataxia, sciatica, rheumatism, erysipelas, scrofulous troubles, etc., these pills are superior to all other treatment. They are also a specific for the troubles which make the lives of so many women a burden, and speedily restore the rich glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. Men broken down by overwork, worry or excesses, will find in Pink Pills a certain cure. Sold by all dealers, or sent by mail postpaid, at 50c a box, or six boxes for $2.50 by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N. Y. Beware of imitations and substitutes alleged to be "just as good."

SPORTING PASTIMES.

Rink Talk and Items of Local and General Interest to Sportsmen.

UNSPORTSMANLIKE CONDUCT.

Belleville horseman should know how to run horse races, but if they do they don't put the knowledge into practice. The manner in which they failed to carry out their announcements reflects no credit—to put it mildly—on their spirit of sporting fairplay. A "named race" was advertised and the name of William Henry, owned by Mr. Wm. Rudkins, town, was announced on the bills. Mr. Rudkins had entered his horse and had him on the spot ready to "go" at the word. But it appears that there was a "kick" over the nomination of William Henry, on the score of his having won a half mile at Trenton last summer in 1.08. The race did not fill and, therefore, it is claimed that the Peterborough colt should have been allowed to go on the course and take first money. Another named race was substituted, but Wm. Henry's name was scratched. Speed on the part of a horse for a named race, as a bar to his being allowed to go in, is something unique. The object of the race is to furnish sport to the patrons of a meet, and to give the best horse a chance to win. If the object is to give the purse to a few slow horses, regardless of the interests of sport or the entertainment of the spectators, the Belleville committee is justified in its unsportmanlike conduct. If the ice had been as "thin" as the excuse offered for barring the Peterborough flier, the whole crowd would have been at the bottom of the bay.

Mr. Rudkins was done out of his money, but he has the satisfaction of knowing that his colt's speed is so great as to make him an object of dread at a rural ice-meet—that is at a meet conducted on side line principles. "Let the best horse win" is a true sporting motto, and a race that is not squarely conducted on this principle becomes very like a faker's scheme.

Canada's Favorite Musical Instrument
THE TISDALL
GRAND ... AUTOHARP

for elegance of finish and sweetness of tone it is unsurpassed. You can play popular music, operas, waltzes, marches, or College Songs almost at sight. Easy to Play for beginners, young or old, it is the fascinating medium for developing slove of Music. You require no teacher, no knowledge of music, the instruction book, so simple and comprehensive that anyone can play the music, sacred or secular almost at sight. You do not need to know a single note of the old style of notation. The Autoharp actually encourages the musical effort of the person who is least musical and will respond with harmonious accord to the touch of anyone, never ill-tempered, it knows no discord at any time, and is always ready to discourse sweet music. Its capabilities are unlimited, and it is the most delightful companion for the home circle, or for the lonely hours of the invalid. Its sweet tones are a constant source of pleasure and delight to all who hear it.

PRICE $2.95

People of more or less musical skill find it charming in its simplicity, easy to become acquainted with, companionable at all times. A child can evoke harmony by the simple pressure of a cord bar on a sweep of the strings. In order to introduce and create a demand for our superior Autoharp we are, for a short time, going to sell them at manufacturers' wholesale prices. we do this to get the confidence and good will of the public and expect those who receive our Autoharps to say a kind word when the opportunity affords itself. We manufacture two styles, No. 1 has 5 bars, 23 strings, measuring 18½ inches long by 10 inches wide, beautifully finished, and packed in nice box including instruction book containing 42 pieces of music, a tortoiseshell pick, brass spiral pick and a tuning key, wholesale price $2.95 each. Style No. 2. has 28 strings six bars producing the following six chords, C, F, D, and Bb Major C and G seventh, has three keyes F, C and G., allowing many most beautiful modulations and musical effects. In appearance same as No. 1 the size, however, is much larger, measuring 20 inches long, by 12 inches wide, this gives more volume and as it has more strings and chord bars should be very seriously considered. Packed in nice box including instruction book containing 42 pieces of music, tortise shell, pick, brass spiral pick and tuning key, wholesale price $4.50. We do not ask you to send us the price of the Autoharp before you see it, we know what our goods are and having confidence in them are not afraid to show them, we are dealing with a critical, educated and intelligent public, who will use sound judgment and common sense before making a purchase and for that very reason we are willing to take a chance on you, send us your name and address of your express office on a postal card and state which Autoharp you prefer, No. 1 at $2.95 or No. 2 at $4.50, and we will ship it to you by express C. O. D. with instructions to the Express Co. to allow you to open the box, take out the Autoharp and thoroughly examine and test it before paying for it. If you find everything as represented and perfectly satisfactory you pay the amount and express charges and receive your Autoharp if not as represented the instrument will be returned to us at our expense. Now would we take the risk of paying the Express charges on these Autoharps both ways did we not know they were superior to any on the market, and that we were giving such wonderful value that they would never come back. No, we want the people to see them as we sell them on their merit.

Address all communications to H. W. TISDALL, 9½ Adelaide Street East, TORONTO. MENTION THIS PAPER.

P.S.—If you have seen our Autoharps or are satisfied that they are all we claim for them send us the money with your order and we will deliver to you Express charges paid.

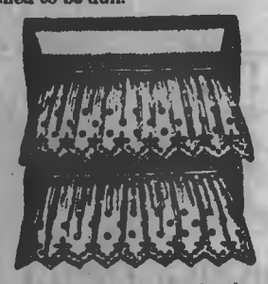
WHITE GOODS SENSATION!

The men are puzzled to know how it is that so many ladies are flocking to the Golden Lion buying Whitewear in January! The remark has been heard that the very thought of it sends a cold chill down his back, but there's a-something about it lady shoppers understand. We have made it worth their while to buy Whitewear here just now—even if it is midwinter! Big stores like ours have to be on the alert to make business interesting, and these special buying chances in January stimulate trade when it is inclined to be dull.



There is a great change in the new styles and qualities this year; and, besides, the prices are lower. Having no old stock to work off, ladies need have no hesitation. Such values as are represented in this store have never been equalled, in a regular way, much less discounted. Prices are decidedly below anything ever before attempted. We mean that exactly as its written:

LADIES' CORSET COVERS 10c, 20c, 30c, 35c, 50c, and 65c.
LADIES' NIGHT DRESSES 50c, 75c, $1, $1.25, $1.50, $1.65, $2 up to $3 the garment.
LADIES' DRAWERS 25c, 35c, 45c, 50c, 55c, 85c, and $1
LADIES' WHITE SKIRTS 75c, $1, $1.25, $1 50 and $1.75.

FREE—With every 50c purchase of Whitewear we give a Sheet of Popular Music Free.

SECOND CROP OF BARGAINS

As there is a good deal of winter yet before us, it is unnecessary to point out the wisdom of buying now.

This is the month of lucky chances and snaps in mid-winter goods. An aftermath of Bargains for shrewd buyers—lines which we have laid out during stock-taking such as Serges, Cheviots, Heavy Tweeds and other Remnants, as well as Millinery, to be sold even at HALF REGULAR PRICES.

We don't want to carry winter lines past their regular selling season. No relics here. This store is not a museum. We have neither old goods nor old ideas.

You need the goods—we need the room they occupy—so there is mutual benefit all round in the selling of them.

We don't "rest-up" during the winter months and take things easy until spring. While others are resting we're simply HUSTLING.

MISS RUDKINS

FOR—

FASTIDIOUS FELLOWS,

Who want to dress in style, and yet keep within their means, have a great chance, which is legally theirs, for the next few weeks. With three months of good stiff winter weather before us, we make a great offer to men:—

Select any piece of Suitings in our store—imported or domestic — Worsteds, Tweeds, Cheviots or Cassimeres—we will make it up for you in the highest style of the tailors' art, and guarantee finish fabric and fit, from..... .... $12 up

Select any piece of Overcoating in our store—and we will make you up an Overcoat or Ulster, any style you like, beautifully finished, from..... $12 up

We are determined to get the shears into every piece of winter goods in the store, by putting the knife into the prices.

RELIEF FOR INDIA.

Lord Aberdeen Calls on Canadians to Help

FELLOW-SUBJECTS IN THE EAST.

The Deputy Minister of Finance Will Look After the Funds—Banks Asked to Receive Subscriptions — Costa Rica Cuts Loose From Britain —Other Ottawa News.

Ottawa, Jan. 24.—(Special.)—His Excellency the Governor-General, feeling deep sympathy with the sufferers in Britain's great eastern possession, and after consultation with his Ministers, has undertaken to receive and to transmit Indian relief contributions from all parts of the Dominion. Yesterday his Excellency telegraphed to the Lieut.-Governors of the various provinces to the foregoing effect, expressing, at the same time, his trust that he might have Their Honors' support and co-operation in this national expression of sympathy. The idea is that the fund shall be as comprehensively Canadian in its character as possible, and it is hoped that local or special efforts already made will be sent in to the main fund. Mr. Hugh Graham of The Montreal Star yesterday telegraphed the Governor-General that it was proposed to send the proceeds of The Star collections to His Excellency's care in any case. As an earnest of his sympathy Lord Aberdeen has intimated that he himself will give $1000.

Mr. J. M. Courtney, Deputy Minister of Finance, has consented to act as treasurer of the fund, which will be known as the Canadian Indian Famine Fund. All the leading banks will be asked to receive subscriptions at their head offices and branches throughout the country. It is not anticipated that there will be a Dominion Government contribution. The Ministers had the question under consideration in council yesterday, and it was decided to be guided altogether by Imperial precedent. In the past the Home Government has never made a direct contribution to an Indian relief fund, relying solely on local works and voluntary contributions.

The Department of Trade and Commerce has been advised by the Colonial Office that the Republic of Costa Rica has given notice of the denunciation of sections 5, 6 and 7 of the treaty of commerce and friendship which has been in existence since 1849 between Great Britain and the republic, and which applies to all the British colonies. Section 5 is the most favored nation clause, and its abrogation will mean that Costa Rica is depriving herself of the advantages of our tariff applicable to articles mentioned in the French treaty.

For three or four years the fishing schooner Sir Knight of Rockland, Me., has been upon the Canadian black list for violation of the fishery laws. She has kept out of Canadian waters since, fearing seizure, but evidently the owners are tired of this and have succeeded in inducing the Minister of Marine and Fisheries to restore the vessel to good standing by the payment of a nominal fine of $100.

The Premier and Madame Laurier intend leaving very shortly for California, where one of Mr. Laurier's brothers is in a very bad state of health. They hope, if possible, to bring the invalid back with them.

Captain Spain of the fisheries protection fleet left to-day for the Maritime Provinces, where he will superintend certain repairs to the vessels, which are required before the boats go into commission again in the spring.

During the month of December the Postoffice Savings Bank account showed a decided boom. The deposits were $772,606, against $645,016 withdrawals.

Parliament has been further prorogued until March 2 next. It is probable that the House will be called for the despatch of business on March 11.

A change has been made in the seating on the Ministerial side in the House. Mr. James Sutherland, Government whip, goes from the front row to the seat immediately in the rear, which had been allotted to Hon. Mr. Sifton, next to Hon. Mr. Fisher. The Minister of the Interior takes the seat which was occupied by the chief Government whip last session, in the front row next Hon. Mr. Mulock.

It is said the Minister of Marine and Fisheries contemplates a considerable saving in the fisheries protection service by reducing the fleet, which at present costs the country a large sum annually. After giving the matter careful study he has about made up his mind that the number of cruisers can safely be reduced without any injury to the public interests.

Local Council of Women met yesterday, and passed several important resolutions. Lady Ritchie, Mrs. McLeod Stewart and Mrs. Asa Gordon were appointed a deputation to wait on the authorities and ask for a patrol wagon. The ladies will also assist the famine fund and propose a free library in honor of the Queen's sixtieth anniversary on the throne.

The James Bay Railway Company will seek power next session to build a road from Parry Sound to Toronto.

A charter is sought for a railway line from Kaslo, in West Kootenay, to Lardo, thence to Upper Kootenay Lake, to the Duncan River and the head waters of that stream.

The British Columbian Southern Railway will at the next session seek power to issue $30,000 bonds per mile, including an extension to McLeod and Lethbridge.

The Rocky Mountain Railway and Coal Company ask power for an extension of their line from Calgary to Lethbridge and the international boundary, and a line from Lethbridge to McLeod.

The consent of Parliament is sought for two agreements for running powers over the London and Port Stanley Railway.

The following appointments were gazetted yesterday:

Thomas Anderson of Napanee, Collector of Customs.

Francis Forbes, ex-M.P. of Halifax, Judge of the County Courts in district No. 2 of Nova Scotia.

James McAllister Farrell of Kingston, to be a Deputy Registrar in Admiralty of the Exchequer Court for the district of Toronto in respect of actions in said court which may arise in the Counties of Hastings, Prince Edward, Lennox, Addington, Frontenac, Leeds, Grenville, Dundas, Stormont and Glengarry.

The imports into Canada for the month of December reached a total of $7,433,626, a decrease of three-quarters of a million, and the duty collected to $1,473,630. The total value of free goods was $2,790,346. The exports for December were valued at $11,156,145, as against $9,035,543, a very substantial increase.

OUTRAGEOUS CONDUCT.

A Young Woman of Montreal Alleged to Have Been Victimized by a Mock Marriage.

Montreal, Jan. 24.—(Special.)—Two men named Michael McKinnon and Peter Timmons, both of this city, were arrested this morning, and if the charge against them is proven, both are in a very tight place. A woman named Marian Develin, employed at the Exchange Hotel, Point St. Charles, declares that she was unwittingly a party to a mock marriage with McKinnon, to whom she had been engaged for some time. She alleges that Timmons personated the clergyman, whom she believed at the time to be Rev. Dr. Kerr, but later on she discovered that Dr. Kerr was in England. The alleged mock marriage took place according to the rites of the Church of England.

So far $7500 has been subscribed in Montreal for the relief of the Bombay sufferers. Mayor R. Wilson-Smith is the treasurer and sends all sums to Lord Aberdeen, who will forward them to the proper authorities in London.

The demand of assignment made some time ago by Forget & Co. upon Mr. James Baxter has been withdrawn.

Editor Tardivel of La Verite, Quebec, was yesterday committed to stand his trial for the alleged libelling of Dr. Frechette, the Canadian poet.

Judge Archibald has thrown out Mr. Quinn's preliminary objections in the St. Ann's contested election case, but, it is said, the respondent will go to the Supreme Court.

BARRISTER INCE DEAD.

A Well-Known Torontonian Succumbs From the Effects of a Fall on Yonge-Street on Saturday Morning.

Toronto, Jan. 25.

At 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon Mr. Thomas Henry Ince, barrister, 194 Bloor-street west, died from the result of a fall received Saturday morning.

Shortly after 11 o'clock Mr. Ince was walking in Yonge-street to his office, at 33 Richmond-street west. In turning the corner he slipped on the icy pavement, striking heavily on his back and head. He was assisted to his feet and did not appear to be much the worse for the accident. He walked towards the office, and when he reached the door he complained of pains in his head and dropped unconscious. He was taken into the Methodist book room, when Drs. Barrick and Cuthbertson were summoned. He was removed to the residence of his brother, Mr. William Ince, 94 Prince Arthur-avenue, where he remained unconscious until his death.

The deceased was 70 years of age, and had lived in Toronto most of his life. He was prominent in legal circles, and took a great interest in the distribution of charity. He was a member of the House of Industry Board. He leaves five daughters, Mrs. Captain Jack Anderson, Niagara-on-the-Lake; Mrs. Dr. George Warren, Toronto; Mrs. Whittier, residing in the States, and two living at home.

Conservative Defeated.

St. John, N. B., Jan. 24.—An election for the Provincial Assembly took place in Albert County yesterday. C. J. Osman, the Government candidate, defeated J. L. Peck, Conservative, by 344 majority.

Sandusky, O., Jan. 23.—The Sandusky Electric Railway Company has gone into the hands of a receiver. The indebtedness of the company is $120,000.

A VERY COLD WAVE

Prevails All Over the Continent Just Now.

WINTRY WEATHER IN ENGLAND, TOO

Mercury Has Dropped Lower in the Western States Than at Any Time for Two Years—Fifty Degrees Below Zero at Medicine Hat—Frost Everywhere.

At 10 o'clock last night the Observatory reported that Toronto would experience much colder weather in the course of a day or two, and that the sharp weather would continue for some days. At Medicine Hat, N. W. T., last night the mercury dropped to 50 below and it was getting colder.

The weather report shows that the cold wave is general from the Rocky Mountains to the Maritime Provinces in Canada, while the Western and Northwestern States are having very severe cold. Great Britain and France are also having a taste of old winter and railway traffic is blocked in some parts of the United Kingdom.

IN THE OLD LAND.

Interruption to Travel in England and Many Other Inconveniences.

London, Jan. 24.—The snowstorm which began on Friday continues and is causing many interruptions to travel and other inconveniences. Many sheep and other animals have perished, and the losses sustained by farmers and others will be quite heavy. The snow is so deep between Hastings and Brighton that a number of trains have been blocked, an occurrence which is seldom heard of in that part of the country.

The heavy wind which accompanied the snowstorm has done considerable damage along the coast. Some of the fishing boats which have arrived at Lowestoft report the loss by drowning of several members of their crews. A number of boats were quite badly damaged. Quantities of wreckage is being washed ashore on the Norfolk coast, indicating the loss of some vessel or vessels at sea.

Paris is Having a Taste.

New York, Jan. 24.—A special cable from Paris to The Herald says: Most unusual weather prevails in Paris. Snow falls in thick showers, then comes bright sunshine like May or June, only, however, to last for a tantalizing five minutes. Great black clouds loom up again and down comes the snow again, and the thermometer remains about 48 degrees fahrenheit. The streets are full of chocolate cream-colored slush, and toward evening, when it begins to freeze, the cab horses slip about and tumble, breaking the shafts as they fall. This panache of snow and sunshine and drizzle has lasted 48 hours, and there is no sign yet of its letting up.

IN THE WESTERN STATES.

From 25 to 40 Degrees Below Zero in Sections of Minnesota.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 24.—Reports from every part of the northwest indicate that last night was the coldest night in two winters. St. Paul, about the warmest point in this whole section, registered 25 below. The range was from that figure to 30 below at St. Cloud, 36 below at Aitkin and 40 below at St. Hilaire. There are no reports in yet of people freezing to death, though suffering in the country must have been very great. The St. Paul Relief Society has been busy all day furnishing coal and other supplies to the needy. The thermometer in this city to-night is 26 below zero, and indications point to a further drop of at least 10 degrees before morning. Railway traffic is everywhere greatly retarded because of drifts or inability to keep up steam. Around Aberdeen, Huron, Milbank and Wilmot, S. D., no effort has been made for two days past to clear the tracks owing to very high winds. A Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul passenger train is stuck in a drift near Bonila, S. D. Fuel has been carried to the train to keep the passengers comfortable.

Reports from points along the Missouri River indicate that there will be heavy mortality among the cattle and sheep in that section.

Denver Hit.

Denver, Jan. 24.—The cold wave struck this section at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and in less than an hour the thermometer fell 30 degrees, from 50 to 20 above zero. Ten above is the mark registered at 8 o'clock, with the prospects of zero weather before morning.

In Iowa.

Des Moines, Jan. 24.—The cold wave which reached here last night continues, the thermometer to-night registering 1 below zero.

The Adirondacks.

Utica, N.Y., Jan. 24.—At midnight the temperature in the Adirondacks was: Malone, 18 degrees below zero; at Tupper Lake, 15 below; at Fulton, 10 below, and at Remsen 5 below.

Suffering Among the Poor.

Cleveland, Jan. 24.—The coldest weather of the winter prevails. At 8 o'clock the thermometer in the United States weather office registered four degrees above zero, and before midnight the mercury had dropped to as many degrees below. The suffering among the poor is appalling.

Coldest Day of the Winter.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Jan. 24.—This has been the coldest day of the winter. At 7 o'clock to-night the thermometer was 7 degrees below zero, and indications are that it will go lower before morning.

A HEADLESS PARTY.

Ever since the death of Sir John Macdonald, whose personal influence was the cohesive force, the Conservative party in Canada has been undergoing a gradual course of disintegration. Had Sir John Thompson lived longer the party might have been better held together. There is now, however, no doubt that the party, as a party, is in a very bad way. Not, perhaps, in its individual composition. One would be sorry to know that the half of our population was as much demoralised individually, as is the party, as a party. The rank and file of the Conservative party is at sixes and sevens in sympathy with the recognised leader—if there can now be said to be such a thing as recognised leaders. The leaders for years were fighting for supremacy; jealousies and distrusts were rampant, culminating in the little game of "cut-throat" and bolt last January. That was the signal for the falling to pieces of the party, and since that time its fortunes have been going from bad to worse. In June the country drove the leaders from office, and since that time like sheep without a shepherd, the party is wandering practically leaderless, on the bleak and barren hillsides of Opposition, nibbling the scanty after-math of past triumphs. The lack of leaders, apart from its past record, is no doubt the weak spot of the Conservative party. No one will deny that bad leaders and unwise counsels are the cause of the low ebb at which the party now finds itself. The leadership for the Dominion is held by courtesy by Sir Charles Tupper, and his lieutenants have lost their grip. In Ontario, especially, things are at a bad pass. The Opposition is weak in the Provincial Legislature, and is without a leader in the Commons from the first province of the Confederation. Hon. Mr. Haggart is doomed. Even a staunch Conservative organ the Belleville Intelligencer, shows how much confidence it has in him when it says:

> "Rumour has it that Hon. John Haggart has resigned the leadership of the Conservative party for Eastern Ontario and that he has been succeeded by the Hon. Peter White. It is to be hoped that Dame Rumour speaks truly in this instance, as the change would be highly beneficial to the party."

There is one for a prominent member of the "nest of traitors" and from a source which may safely be assumed would not speak so unless there were the strongest provocation. Additional evidance is afforded by the following paragraph that appeared in a recent issue of the London News, an independent journal, of the disintegrated condition of the party:

> "The idea that the present Provincial Administration is shivering in its shoes because the Conservatives have "reorganised" is highly interesting. No one yet has discovered what the reorganization consists of or what the policy is to be. Are we to have another P. P. A. campaign, with the Hamilton Spectator bestraddling the Protestant Horse like a garrulous old witch on a broomstick? Or is it simply to be a case of promiscuous fault finding by the mass of incompetents who at present constitute the Provincial Opposition? How the Conservatives can ever hope to win with the scrubby crowd they have in the dirt of mystery that passeth understanding.

This is rather strong language, coming from an independent source, but it seems that the situation strikes disinterested observers strongly. We hope that the party will discover a competent leader and pull itself together. The Liberals have had a long experience in fighting, and would like to have foemen worthy of their steel. They have long been defending themselves from blows delivered below the belt, and they would not be glad of a little honourable warfare under competent leaders.

The Brantford Expositor draws attention to the fact that Mr. Currie, a well-known member of the Patron order, has been speaking in North Ontario for Mr. Graham, the farmer candidate. Mr. Currie cannot be accused of Liberal sympathies in political matters, but he has given to the Laurier administration a splendid certificate of character. He thinks it has done admirably so far, and that it should be allowed to show what more it can do. He likes its policy and its personnel and he did not like either the policy or the personnel of the the ministry which preceded it. Mr. Currie's attitude is a reasonable one, and his advice is just as sound for the farmers of South Brant as it is for the farmers of North Ontario. As a class they have had too little influence in the control of public affairs; if they want to secure more the most effective way to do so is to support the present government.

THE PLAGUE IN INDIA.

The bubonic plague which is now sweeping over Indida, and to escape which at least nine hundred thousand persons have fled from Bombay, where more than two thousand deaths have occurred, is the same terrible malady which has at various times wrought awful havoc in Asia and Europe.

The plague has been known as "the black death," "the pest," and "the great mortality." Its first appearance in Europe was at Constantinople in 544. Since then its visitations have been at intervals. It was last seen in Egypt in 1314, and its last appearance in Europe was in the provinces along the Volga in 1878. It appeared in China a year or two ago, and is apparently moving westward. The morality is very high, and it is estimated that at least twenty-five millions of people in Europe have died from that cause at various periods of the world's history.

The plague is a zymotic disease, closely resembling typhus fever, due to insalubrious and poisonous atmospheric conditions mainly, and it is propogated by direct contagion. The progress of the disease either to death or convalescence is very rapid, death occuring, if at all, within from two to ten days. The spread of the plague may be prevented by quarantine and by proper hygenic regulations, and for that reason it would probably not make much headway in America.

In India, however, where the natives are ignorant and superstitious, and next to no precautionary regulations can be enforced, and where dead bodies are exposed to the open air to be torn to pieces by buzzards, it is not remarkable that the disease should claim victims by the thousands among the half-starved and panic-stricken people.

The dyspeptic carries a dreadful load on his back. It seems as if he were really made up of two men. One of them ambitious, brainy and energetic; the other sick, listless, peevish and without force. The weak man weighs the other one down. The dyspeptic may be able to do pretty good work one day, and the next day because of some little indiscretion in eating, he may be able to do nothing at all. Most cases of dyspepsia start with constipation. Constipation is the cause of nine-tenths of all human sickness. Some of its symptoms are sick and bilious headache, dizziness, sour stomach, loss of appetite, foul breath, windy belchings, heartburn, pain and distress after eating. All these are indicative of derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels, and all are caused by constipation. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the quickest, easiest and most certain cure for this condition. They are not violent in action.

SMITH.

Council Meeting.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The newly elected council of the township of Smith met at the town hall, Bridgenorth, on Monday, the 11th January, as provided by statute. After making the necessary declarations of office and qualification the council took their seats as follows:—Jas. G. Armstrong, reeve, Wm. McIlmoyle, deputy reeve, and G. E. Elliott, H. C. Garbutt and S. Stinson, councillors. The minutes of last meeting of former council were read and confirmed. A bylaw passed the several readings appointing the local board of health. The following officers were appointed:—John Black and Andrew Young, auditors, and R. Waram, assessor. The reeve and Councillors Garbutt and Stinson were appointed a deputation to wait upon the county council to discuss the advisability of purchasing a stone crusher for each County Council division. The clerk was instructed to notify J. R. Dorgan and A.C. L. Kidd, to remove their fence off the road allowance on the 11 con. line, from river road to river, and also to notify R. White and W. J. Young to remove their fences off the road allowance on the 12th con. line. A communication was received from A. Fairbairn, claiming payment for shovelling snow and opening road, on which the council decided to take no action. On considering the salary paid to clerks and treasurers of other municipalities, the council decided to raise the salary of the clerk and treasurer of Smith to $250. The following claims were ordered to be paid:—W. J. Young, work on road, $1.25; A. Allison, goods to Shippo; charity, $6; Geo. Westlake, for plank and repairing sidewalk, $5. The time for the collector to return his roll was extended to the first day of February. Council adjourned to meet Feb. 1st.

The Life of Dr. Chase.

As a compiler of Dr. Chase's Recipe Book, his name is familiar to every household in the land, while as a physician his works on simple formulas left an imprint of his name that will be handed down from generation to generation. A DESPERATE WEAVER.

Because of a Family Quarrel He Tried to Kill His Wife and Himself, But Failed.

Lawrence, Mass., Jan. 23.—There was a desperate attempt at murder and suicide this afternoon. The principals were William Bleicher and his wife Francesca. Bleicher is a German, employed as a weaver in Washington Mills. This afternoon Bleicher quarreled with his wife at their home. His wife finally announced her intention of going out. Bleicher seized a revolver and, standing within two feet of his wife, fired. The bullet struck the woman on the top of the head. His daughter, who witnessed the deed, ran out, and his wife ran to the door. Bleicher fired again and the bullet entered the woman's right arm at the elbow. She ran upstairs and disappeared before her husband could fire again. The crazed man walked back to the bed room and fired the four remaining bullets, one into his right hand and three into his breast. He reloaded the weapon and fired one shot into his forehead over the left eye. He then lay down on the lounge in the kitchen.

William Bleicher, his son, notified the police, and husband and wife were removed to the hospital. Three of the bullets the man fired into his chest glanced over, but one struck his hand and went through it. The bullet in the forehead is considered the most dangerous. Both will probably recover. Domestic trouble was the cause of the shooting.

GRAVEL IN THE BLADDER.

Used Eighteen Boxes of Dood's Kidney Pills—The Stone Dissolved and Removed—Knew of Others Cured.

Shelburne, Jan. 23 (Special).—Mr. John Medill, known locally as well as far and near as a physical giant, and glorying in his strength, came to be a great sufferer and tells of his cure as follows:—

"I do not hesitate to speak of Dodd's Kidney Pills or anything else exactly as I find them. If a medicine cures me and I think it will cure others why not say so?

"It is true I had been suffering for some time with Bladder trouble, and, learning of a cure made in a similar case by Dodd's Kidney Pills, I commenced using them.

"In all I have used eighteen boxes and they have dissolved the stone and have entirely cured me of any sign of such difficulty. I do not hesitate to speak of Dodd's Kidney Pills in the highest terms of praise, for I know of many persons who have been cured by them."

Mr. Legate, traveller for NoCormack & Co., London, says: "Miller's Compound Iron Pills restored me to health after a month of prostration from nervous shock and loss of blood." He says, "Their effect on me was simply marvellous; people say they never saw me looking so well." Sold in Peterborough by Wm. Madill, druggist.

Captain Sweeney, U. S. A., San Diego Cal. says: "Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy is the first medicine I have ever found that would do me any good." Price 50c. Sold by John Nugent, 349 George Street.

CANADIANS RETURNING

Some of the Unfortunates Who Went to Brazil Have Got as Far as New York on the Way Home.

New York, Jan. 22.—Forty-six Canadians, who left Montreal, on Sept. 5 last, for the purpose of securing profitable employment on Brazilian plantations, arrived in Brooklyn on the steamer Munroe at 4 o'clock this afternoon. They sailed from Santos on Dec. 29, their passage having been provided by the Brazilian consul at San Paulo. Nearly half of the number are women and children. They tell a story of suffering and distress, which they say were entirely due to misrepresentations on the part of the agents of the Brazilian League, under whose auspices the party was organized. Among the number was James Mackay, who was formerly an express employe at Montreal. He acted as spokesman for the little group as they gathered on the deck of the vessel this afternoon to describe their sufferings. His story, corroborated by others, is as follows:

"Our party was organized in Montreal, where agents of the Brazilian League, at No. 213 Commissioner-street, told us that we could earn good wages, with free houses and food for one year, on coffee plantations in Brazil.

"We accordingly formed our party, arriving at Santos, Brazil, Oct. 7. When we got there we were sent to San Paulo, where we were given accommodations at the Provincial House until the planters asked us to go to work. We soon found out that we had been fooled, that the climate was unbearable for people raised as we had been, and that, instead of earning good wages, we could only make at the most 70 cents a day. Some of the party went on the plantations, others remained at San Paulo and sought employment there. Those who went on the plantations remained but a week or so, the enervating heat and annoying insects making life unbearable. Some tried to stick it out long enough to earn money to get home, and several of our countrymen who reached Santos before we got there died from fevers incident to the climate, contracted while on the plantations. My wife was sick constantly, my children could not get proper food, and, after staying in the wretched place several weeks, we determined to apply for help to get home, our money having been used for providing the necessaries of life, which the agents at Montreal said should be given us free.

"I have the circular containing the League's statement. It reads as follows:

"The Government of Brazil will pay the passage of farmers and their families to the Province of San Paulo, which province has special laws in force for the help and protection of the farmers. The passage is paid for Canadians of the Province of Quebec from Montreal in summer and Halifax in winter. When the families arrive in the city of San Paulo, the capital of the province, they are taken to the Provincial House, where they will find bed, food, doctor and everything that is required for their accommodation during eight days. The families, on their arrival at the coffee plantation, will be furnished with house and all implements, as well as food and seeds to commence work, without any expense or charge. A family, husband and wife, can easily take care of four thousand coffee trees, and they will be paid for their work about $200 a year, and, at the same time, they can cultivate the ground and grow whatever they think fit for the local markets for their own benefit. The families do not run any expense whatever. Their passage is paid, house, implements and seed are furnished free, and food is provided for a year."

Others in the party said that more than 400 Canadians had been attracted to Brazil by the glowing description of easy life at excellent pay. Some of these, it is said, have gone to England and others to the Argentine Republic. Twenty or more have died in the region of Santos within the last few weeks and others are sick with fever and bowel complaint.

RHODES IS MUM NOW

The South African Dictator Has Nothing to Say

SINCE HIS ARRIVAL IN LONDON

Lord Salisbury's Action in Regard to the Turkish Reforms Meets With General Approval—Ivory's Trial Costs the Government a Large Sum—Other Gossip by Cable.

London, Jan. 23.—The arrival of Cecil Rhodes in London will rivet attention on South African affairs during the coming week. What the dictator of Rhodesia will say or what he will do are now the questions on everyone's lips. Will he go straight to the great British public with the attractive shibboleth of two hundred thousand square miles added to the British Empire as against a new species of orchid? Or will Mr. Chamberlain's diplomacy and suavity keep the founder of Rhodesia from running amuck? The outcome is looked for with interest. At Plymouth a host of reporters on specially chartered launches tried to see him, but failed. Mr. Rhodes would not open his lips, and his silence is in contrast with his Cape Town talkativeness. Some comment is expressed over the fact that now that Mr. Rhodes is here, no committee is ready.

The developments of the debate on the address in reply to the Queen's speech have so far been adverse to the hopes of the Liberals, and especially of the Home Rulers, who expected the Government to be greatly weakened over the Irish finance agitation. The much-talked-of coalition between Irish Unionists and Nationalists is not the practical sort of common action which the Nationalist leaders desired and were led to believe would be effected. Since Parliament met views have been exchanged between Col. Saunderson, Horace Plunket, Mr. Dillon, Mr. Healy and other Irish members as to how far their agreement of opinion on Irish finances meant active co-operation towards a common end. The Nationalist leaders have found that the recent warmth of feeling upon the question among the Irish Unionists has chilled. The persuasive voice of the Government whip has convinced the Saunderson faction that working relations with the Home Rulers on any question would entrap them, and it is known also that the Government has empowered the whips to promise a full reconsideration of the matter. The Irish Unionists, therefore, while continuing to support in abstract and sentimental fashion the Irish demands, will not vote against the Government, whose majority against the Dillon, Redmond and other amendments, remains intact. The three great Irish questions which have been forced upon the consideration of the Government and the country, namely, financial reform, Board of Agriculture and a Catholic University for Ireland, compete with if they do not overtop in public interest the purely English measures before the House. The lukewarm policy of the Irish Unionists in Parliament may be only tentative. They await what the Government may do. There is meanwhile substantial encouragement for the Nationalists in the further adhesion of many influential landlords to the financial agitation. Lord Ross, the owner of the famous Ross telescope, Lord Dufferin, the Duke of Abercorn, the Marquis of Londonderry, Lord Mayo and others have given in some instances an absolute and in others qualified approval of the movement.

The Catholic Bishops of Ireland are taking no prominent part in the finance discussion.

The consideration with which Lady Scott, who was recently sentenced to eight months' imprisonment for libeling her son-in-law, Earl Russell, is treated in Holloway Prison, finds adverse criticism even in fashionable circles. The last titled lady sent to Holloway was the Duchess of Sutherland, now Lady Rollitt. But hers was not a criminal case, the offence being contempt of court. A strong opinion now prevails in society that Lady Scott has been too leniently dealt with. The tide has turned toward Earl Russell. Lady Scott's imprisonment is attended with amenities just as were accorded to the Duchess of Sutherland. Two rooms have been specially furnished for her by her son-in-law, Dick Russell, who paid the costs of the trial. Her wine and food, papers and books are supplied from outside. A specially-paid matron waits upon her. Lady Scott will shortly plead that her health is breaking down from the confinement, but if public opinion be regarded, the Home Office will require the full term shall be served.

INDIAN RELIEF FUND.

The Mansion House Collection is Not Growing as Expected.

London, Jan. 23.—Contributions to the Indian famine relief fund at the Mansion House are being steadily received by Lord Mayor Faudel-Phillips, but thus far they have not come up to popular expectations. The subscriptions of the Queen, who sent £500, and the Prince and Princess of Wales, who, together, contributed £250, have been overshadowed by the donations of Mr. William Waldorf Astor and J. S. Morgan & Co., the former subscribing £2000 and the latter £1000. The fund is now getting on to the £100,000 mark, but compared with the last fund for a similar purpose, which amounted to about £500,000, it is as yet comparatively insignificant. This is no doubt due to the action of the Government, which, when the fund was first proposed, threw cold water upon it, only to later have to acknowledge that such a fund would be necessary to keep thousands of the poverty-stricken natives of India from starvation. The optimistic views expressed a short time ago by the Indian Government in face of the appalling condition confronting it are difficult to understand, but everybody has now awakened to the extent of the dire calamity that has befallen India, and no doubt the purses of the rich people of England will soon be opened to pour a stream of gold to succor their fellow subjects who are now in such terrible distress.

COST OF IVORY'S TRIAL.

British Treasury Said to Have Been Let in for £20,000.

London, Jan. 23.—It is announced that the attempt by the Crown authorities to convict Edward J. Ivory, alias Ed. Bell, of conspiracy to cause a dynamite explosion, which completely collapsed on Wednesday, entailed an expense upon the treasury of £20,000. Of this sum £5000 was devoted to the expenses of the Scotland Yard authorities in making researches in Holland, Belgium and France, with a view of obtaining evidence against Ivory and his alleged co-conspirators, Tynan, Haines and Kearney, and the sum of £5200 was spent in making similar investigations in the United States. The remainder was spent in the prosecution of the defendant in the Old Bailey Court and in defraying expenses incidental thereto. In the case of the defence Ivory says that it cost £3000 to carry it to the point where the Government were compelled to admit that they had no cause for action against him.

A PRETTY BAD SMASH.

Railway Catastrophe Which Shook Up a Number of Passengers.

Scranton, Pa., Jan. 23.—Shortly before noon to-day a Lackawanna Iron and Steel Company engine ran into a Cedar-avenue street car within a few yards of the Cedar-avenue bridge. The car was well filled. All the passengers were badly shaken up and three women were severely injured. The injured are: Mrs. Bridget Heap, shoulder hurt; Mrs. Mary Egan, Mrs. Sarah Hyde, unknown peddler. The car was turned half around by the engine, and it started to run down an incline and would have gone over an embaukment into the Roarin' Brook, a drop of 35 feet, if it had not struck an electric light pole.

No Passengers Hurt.

Knoxville, Tenn., Jan. 23.—The passenger train from Cincinnati, south-bound, on the Queen & Crescent road, was wrecked at the mouth of the tunnel this morning at Nemo. The engine and mail car were wrecked. Fireman Charles Clarke of Somerset was killed and Engineer John Fowler badly hurt. No passengers were injured.

No Mandements Yet.

Montreal, Jan. 24.—There were no mandements read in Roman Catholic churches in this province to-day.

State of Georgia Overdue.

London, Jan. 23.—The British steamer State of Georgia, Capt. Stewart, from Dantzic Dec. 23, for Halifax and St. John, N.B., has been reinsured, the rate paid being 54 guineas.

"Five years ago," says Angus A. Lewis, Ricard, N. Y., "I had a constant cough, night sweats, was greatly reduced in flesh, and had been given up by my physicians. I began to take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and after using two bottles was completely cured."

Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry cures Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Colic, Cramps, Cholera, Cholera Infantum, Cholera Morbus and all summer complaints and fluxes of the bowels in children or adults.

Anyway you like—the CASH system, which we are about to adopt is to be as great a boon to our patrons as to ourselves.

Business during the rest of January must be in the direction of SWEEPING REDUCTIONS IN ALL WINTER GOODS, in order to start on a new leaf on the First of February.

REMNANTS OF CLOTHS—Just the thing for making a pair of Trousers for a man or a Suit for a boy—will be among the best bargains we have to offer. While they last $3.50, will be the figure for a pair of our faultless-fitting Trousers. The excellent quality of these Remnants will influence quick selling.

BOYS' FINE CLOTHING all to be sacrificed.

Cricket Club Activity.

The cricket club is not by any means dead yet. It is proposed that they put themselves strongly in social evidence the present winter by holding a grand ball, a concert, perhaps, and one or two smoking concerts. The boys will no doubt bring on something worth patronizing in all these respects.

The "Johnny" Rogers Benefit Concert.

The date of the "Johnny" Rogers benefit concert announced for Thursday evening, Feb. 4th, has been changed to Wednesday, Feb. 3rd. Those interested should note the change. A splendid programme will be presented, and all who attend will have an opportunity for enjoyment as well as aiding in a most worthy object.

Clothing Wanted.

By to-morrow at noon, clothing for 6 girls—ranging in age from 5 months to 14 years of age. Parcels may be left at the office of the Children's Aid Society. The Cinematographe.

There were big crowds at the opera house Saturday afternoon and evening to see Lumier's marvellous invention, the Cinematographe, and everybody enjoyed the show. There are only three more evenings in which to see this wonderful exhibition, and those who have not yet seen it are missing a great treat. The doors are open each evening at 7 p.m., performance starts sharp at 7.30 p.m., and runs continually until 10.30 p.m., showing the entire programme through twice. You can come as late as 9 p.m. and see the full programme. There will be a matinee on Wednesday afternoon at 2.30 p.m. The admission to all parts of the theatre, adults 25c., children 10c. Don't miss the greatest treat of the season. Ask those who have seen it and they will tell you so.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

Rink Talk and Items of Local and General Interest to Sportsmen.

HOCKEY.

The North End hockey team would like to arrange a match with the Asburnham team.

The Juniors go down to Norwood to-night to play the return match with the second team of that town. As the Norwood men held the local team down even in the first half of the game here the other evening, there is every reason to expect a fast game in Norwood.

CURLIANA.

The drawing in group 7 has again been rearranged by Umpire D. Carlyle. Peterborough Granites play Hamilton Thistles to-day at 9.30 a.m. at Granite Rink, Toronto; winner to play Granites in the afternoon on the same ice. Toronto Caledonians play Galt on Victoria ice at 1 o'clock; winners play off the final on the morning of January 26.

The reports of the results of the Lindsay bonspiel, as appearing in the papers of town, and in the Toronto dailies, were such as to afford but meagre information to outside towns sending in rinks. If a Lindsay rink won a match everyone knew of it, and when one of their dozen or so rinks carried off the trophy in the single rink competition the comment and flattery was fulsome indeed, but when Skip Rutherford, in the consolation series, actually plays four matches in one day and won them all, thus securing the trophy, there is not a word said about it. Four hard fought matches in a day is a record breaker, and when the last end was played at two o'clock in the morning Skip Rutherford's rink must have been almost done out. Mr. C. McGill viced for him G. J. Horkins played second and Mr. J. S. Knapman led. In the playing off in the consolation series was seen the finest exhibition of curling during the entire match. The curlers seemed to settle down and each end was closely watched by scores of outside players. Naturally great interest centered around Skip Rutherford's men when rink after rink was successively vanquished by them with the result that after playing from nine o'clock in the morning until two the next morning they were awarded the trophy for the consolation competition, consisting of four pair of handsome curling stones. The Lindsay Post of Saturday says:—

At 6.30 o'clock last evening people commenced to flock to the curling rink, their object being to secure advantageous positions from which to witness the final game in the double rink competition between the Lindsay rinks, skipped by Messrs. Flavelle and McLennan, and the Peterborough rinks, skipped by Messrs. Allen and Davidson. At 7 o'clock the rink began to fill up rapidly, and at half past, when play started, every foot of space in the large building was occupied, the club rooms were packed, and several hundred people who arrived later found it impossible to get inside the doorway. It is estimated that fully 1,300 persons were present, and additional attendants had to be detailed to keep spectators off the ice.

At the very outset it was apparent to all that the Lindsay men were in fine form, and if there were any present who doubted the result, their fears speedily vanished. Skip Flavelle won every end until the seventh, when Skip Allen, his opponent, managed to score one, and chalked up his first win on the tally-board. Skip McLennan likewise shut out his opponent, Skip Davidson, until the fifth end, by which time he had a comfortable lead. At the close of the eighth ends the score was telephoned to some anxious ones at Peterborough:—Flavelle, 12; Allen, 1; McLennan, 12; Davidson, 4. The excitement was intense but suppressed, the people appearing to realize that cheering might have a tendency to "rattle" one or both rinks, but expansive smiles would ripple over the faces of the crowd when the Lindsay men scored or made a particularly difficult shot. Peterborough scored for the second time in the eleventh end, and Flavelle counted the twelfth, when the score stood:—Flavelle, 17; Allen, 3. McLennan still led his opponent handsomely, his score standing 16 to 9. The succeeding four ends were an exhibition of great skill and judgment on the part of both skips and players. The Lindsay men succeeded in holding their opponents down to small ends when they did win, and at the close of the game the score stood:

Lindsay.		Peterborough.
Flavelle, skip	17	Allen, skip	9
McLennan, skip	21	Davidson, skip	10
	38		19

Majority for Lindsay, 19 shots.

The Post further says:—"In the Consolation series exceptional interest was taken this morning in a game between rinks skipped by McLennan, Lindsay, and Ray, Peterborough. The game was remarkable for the great judgment and skill displayed by both skips and men. Lindsay played an almost faultless game, and shut Peterborough out repeatedly by playing almost impossible shots with the greatest of ease. At the close of the game, which stood 16 to 10 in Lindsay's favour, Skip Ray admitted that Lindsay had played a phenomenal game, and said he had no fault whatever to find with his men—they had done all that curlers could do against better men.

A SERIOUS CHARGE AGAINST A WOMAN.

She is Arrested on a Charge of Bigamy—Two Husband's Alive.

Mrs. George Groves, alias Margot Blanco alias Mrs. Frederick Lackey was brought before Police Magistrate Dumble at a special session of the police court, Saturday afternoon on a charge of bigamy. The case has been enlarged until Friday next, and in the meantime the prisoner will do without even one husband, being locked up in the county goal.

The complaint was laid at police headquarters on Saturday last when George Groves, of Emily, drove into town and laid an information to the effect that his wife had been married on Christmas day last, to Frederick Lackey, of town, and a glance at the EXAMINER of the day after reveals the following wedding notice which appears to apply to the case inasmuch as Margaret Blanco was Mrs. Groves' maiden name:

LACKEY—BLANCO—On Christmas day, Dec. 25th, 1896, by Rev. W. R. Young, M.A., Frederick Lackey, and Margaret Blanco, both of Peterborough.

Mr. Groves' statement to the police is that his wife left him in the spring of 1895, five children being also deserted between the ages of 13 and 2 years. He had heard of his wife at intervals, and the other day news of her second marriage reached him, and he determined to take legal steps in the matter with the above mentioned result.

The woman was placed under arrest at her home on Albert street, where she was living with Lackie, who was formerly an employee at the Huffman House, and little more than a boy, whilst the woman whom he married appears to be about twice his age.

The extreme penalty in a case of this kind is a sentence to seven years in the penitentiary.

THE C.L.I. "LIT."

A Mock Trial Was Held on Saturday Evening—Tableaux.

The regular weekly meeting of the Collegiate Institute Literary Society was pleasantly varied on Saturday evening, by the introduction of a "mock trial" in the programme, which was as follows:

Selection.....Glee Club
Tableau, "The Brigand's Camp".....
Recitation.....Miss G Brown
Selection.....Miss M English
Military Tableaux.....1st, Ready
" .....2nd, The Shining Mark
" ..3rd, Not a drum was heard
" .....4th, His Farewell Shot
Violin solo.....Miss L Sullivan
Tableaux, "The Fortune Teller," (encored).....
Piano solo.....Miss J Cameron
Mock Trial.....
Violin solo.....Miss L Sullivan
Chorus.....Glee Club
God Save the Queen.

The four military tableau were excellent—all the members showed up well in each. "The Fortune Teller" tableau was so successful that the audience demanded a repetition which was kindly given. In the "Mock Trial" Mr. Maitland Boswell was prosecutor and Mr. Denny was the prisoner's counsel. Mr. Percy Clarke was clerk, Mr. W. H. Beer was judge, Mr. Bennett was sheriff, whilst a well-known young man of the Institute was the lady bigamist, and a very handsome young lady he made. The charge against the prisoner was that she had nine husbands—all tailors. But it turned out that she was acquitted, it not being proven she was a bigamist. It was true she had married nine men—all tailors; but as it takes nine tailors to make one man, she was acquitted, as stated above.

All the solos and recitations were very creditably given, and the only fault—if any there was—was that the room was not large enough to accomodate the audience.

The singing of "God Save the Queen" brought this very successful evening to a close.

ENGINEERING DEPARTMENT.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

The following remarks with regard to the details of the re-organization which the new council propose putting into force in the Engineering Department of the town, will, I trust, prove advantageous if carried into effect.

In the first place there should be an engineering department and the officer in charge should be supplied with office accommodation, so that when it becomes desirable to make a change all the field notes, levels, plans and profiles, records, etc., will be left behind in the office for the guidance of his successor. One can easily see that when the engineer in charge is paid a percentage for managing the work that the notes and everything of that nature belong to himself. The disadvantage of this system is principally that the successor has nothing to guide him in carrying out the future work. He knows nothing about the lines and levels of the existing sewers: etc., without digging up the street to find out. This, of course, is a decided disadvantage at any time, but especially so with permanent roadways laid.

I maintain that all plans, levels, field notes and records of the town work should belong to the town and be carefully filed in the office of the Engineering Department.

The streets and bridges, as well as the sewers, should be under the direct supervision of the town engineer, especially so when it is contemplated to lay permanent pavements. The grades and lines of these should be given by the engineer and properly recorded by him for future reference.

Another important point is to have a system of "bench marks" established all over the town and the correct elevations marked on little brass plates firmly secured to permanent buildings.

This plan is adopted with success in Toronto and will tend to prevent errors in levels being made at intersection of old and new sewers, etc.

The city of Baltimore is now spending several hundred thousand dollars in obtaining just such information as I propropose the town of Peterborough should obtain by simply adopting the proper system.

Thank you, Mr. Editor, for your space.

CITIZEN.

PERSONAL.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley, of Wesley & Co., are registered at the Oriental.

His Lordship Bishop O'Connor was confined to his room with a severe cold yesterday.

Mrs. McKibbon leaves to-morrow to join her son, Fred, in Montreal, where she will remain until he passes his examinations in the spring. Both will probably spend the summer and fall abroad.

Mr. Walter Peters, the meteorological observer, has been confined to his residence for the last few days with a severe cold, probably as a result of having no despondling a thermometer on the premises.

Mrs. James Balfour, of Carbery, Man., is visiting in town, together with her daughter-in-law, Mrs. W. H. Ivory, Maxwer. They are the guests of Mrs. Ivory's mother, Mrs. Wm. Metcalfe, 251 Simcoe street.

DROWNED IN RICE LAKE.

Dr. Harrison, of Keene, Loses a Valuable Horse While Crossing Rice Lake.

Mr. Robt. Hicks, of Alnwick, who drove into town on Saturday afternoon, informs the EXAMINER that while crossing Rice Lake he came up to Dr. Harrison, of Keene, who stated that he had just broke through the ice and lost a valuable horse.

The doctor had crossed from Keene on a professional call to Mr. Dodge, who lives on the other side of the lake, a short distance below Idyl Wild, and who is seriously ill. At a point nearly opposite Idyl Wild the doctor's horse got on to a piece of bad ice and broke through. The animal struggled and plunged to get out but only broke more ice and increased the size of the hole. The doctor did all in his power to save his faithful beast, but without avail. The doctor valued his horse at $150.

THE DOURO REEVESHIP.

An Effort Being Made to Unseat Mr. James McCliggott.

Mr. McCliggott was elected as reeve for the township of Douro over Mr. John A. Walsh, but the latter complains that Mr. McCliggott had not the necessary property qualifications to entitle him to be a candidate or be elected. The matter comes up before the County Judge at eleven o'clock Wednesday morning.

THE McALL MISSION.

A Meeting in its Interests to be Held on Thursday.

A meeting in the interests of the McAll Mission, France, will be held on Thursday Jan. 28th, in the Young Men's Christian Association rooms, at 8 p.m. The president of the Canadian Association and one of the members who has visited the mission will give an account of the work. It is earnestly hoped that all those interested in missionary work will try to be present.

It was a vacation thought at first, this wonderful work for which France was waiting, and which is now the most extensive of the evangelical agencies in France. Dr. and Mrs. McAll were spending a few days in Paris in the summer of 1871, and on the last day of their stay decided to distribute a few tracts. Dr. McAll's own account will never be other than fresh and beautiful.

He says:—"With what irrepressible emotion have we ever since trod the identical spot, where, under the windows of the great wine shop forming the angle of the Rue de Belleville and the Boulevard, my wife and I took our stand. My wife offered a tract to the waiter; he begged her to enter, "for," said he, "each customer wishes to possess one." Just as she emerged from the door a workingman, French, but speaking excellent English, stepped forward and, in the name of the bystanders, addressed to me the words:—"Sir, are you not a Christian minister? If so, I have something of importance to say you. You are, at this moment, in the midst of a district inhabited by thousands and tens of thousands of us workingmen. To a man we have done with an imposed religion, a religion of superstition and oppression. But if anyone would come to teach us a religion of another kind—a religion of freedom and earnestness, many of us are ready to listen."

They returned next day to their pleasant English home at Hadley in Yorkshire, but the "Macedonian cry" was still heard and after three months largely filled with prayerful consideration, and the best and fullest advice, they took the final step and the English pastor became the French evangelist.

It was a labour of love. Dr. McAll thought that by devoting their little patrimony they could begin without pecuniary assistance from anyone. They decided to settle in the suburb of Belleville, largely inhabited by working people and here they opened their first mission hall, the commissary of police authorising them, but expressing that among the mocking Parisians they would fail. But year after year new halls have been opened and fresh sympathies awakened. Now there are one hundred and twenty halls in Paris and throughout France:

Besides the regular services which are held in these halls there are Sunday schools, adult Bible classes, mother's meetings, sewing classes, reading rooms for soldiers, Y.M.C.A.'s, and free dispensaries as well as a mission boat. The story of its work on the rivers and canals every summer would furnish sufficient material for a new and fascinating volume of the "Cruise of the Mystery."

Dr. McAll had friends in Canada who knew of his work, and who from time to time assisted him. About ten years ago this interest became more permanent by the formation of the Canadian McAll Association. This association has several auxiliaries in Ontario, and supports two mission stations in Rochefort and La Rochelle.

MISSIONARY SUNDAY IN METHODIST CHURCHES.

REV. DR. SUTHERLAND SPEAKS ON THE WORK.

He Occupied the Pulpit of the Charlotte Street Church in the Morning and in the George Street Edifice in the Evening.

Rev. Dr. Sutherland, of Toronto, General Secretary of the Methodist church Mission, delivered two powerful sermons in town yesterday. In the morning he occupied the pulpit of the Charlotte street church, and in the evening that of the George street church, it being Missionary Sunday in both places.

In the evening he took as his text Numbers 14th chap., 17th ver:

"And when the cloud was taken up from the tabernacle, then after that the children of Israel journeyed, and in the place where the cloud abode, there the children of Israel pitched their tents."

and stated that his theme would be "God's providential guidance of his church in the spiritual conquest of the world."

After describing the wanderings of the Israelites through the deserts in their search for the promised land, the speaker stated that the question had often arisen as to how their wants would be supplied, and their fears silenced, but comfort had been derived from the words of Jehovah, inasmuch as he had said "My presence shall go with thee; I shall give you rest."

Events of the present time were then compared with those of the days when the Israelites travelled and a simile drawn therefrom. The world was with the church passing through and the cloud of Divine Providence hanging over it. There are no supplies but those sent from heaven and the perils are many. Yet a voice comes ringing down the centuries "go forth and preach the gospel to all people. But how shall these people and the sometimes discouraged church accomplish this end?

Is not the question answered in the words, "Lo, I am with ye always even unto the end of the world."

God's dealing with his people are but a series of object lessons written for our admonition.

The instance of the cloud and the pillar of fire is a standing admonition of the result of obedience. Those who obey these divine admonitions are safe, but those who disregard these signals are sure to meet with disaster. There is great need that these arguments for and from Providence be enforced, as through their non-observance the world is becoming orphaned of God, hope and heaven. There is at the present time too much calculating as to material advantages to be derived from action instead of account being taken of the moral result.

A flippant scepticism, stated Dr. Sutherland, has sprung into existence claiming that the Bible has had its day and Christianity is

AN EFFETE SUPERSTITION.

In answer to this the doctor drew the attention of the congregation to the fact that in all the past there was no figure so colossal as that of Jesus Christ, and in all history no fact so colossal as Christianity.

To-day, he claimed, that God guided His people by providences, just as real as striking and as manifest as those of the pillar of flame by night and the cloud, but people are so engrossed with their everyday pursuits that they do not notice them and fail to reap the consequent benefit.

Turning to the subject of missions, the speaker stated that though the Apostles were instructed to spread the Gospel throughout the world, they did not attempt to scatter and leave their work amongst the Jews, until Barnabas and Paul went out from the church at Antioch to carry out the Divine intention that the Gospel was intended to evangelize the world.

What, asked the venerable doctor, were the significant providence by which God prepared for the great reformation of the 16th century? First there was the invention of the mariner's compass opening up new possibilities. This was followed by the invention of printing and the

TAKING OF CONSTANTINOPLE.

Through the fall of Constantinople the west was opened up to the Greeks and Europe, which was becoming stagnant in literature, underwent a marvellous revival of learning, thus paving the way for the education of the masses and their consequent understanding of the Scriptures when, through the invention of printing, cheap copies were easily obtained. Then there was the discovery of America by Columbus, when the Divine providence was wrought out on virgin soil. Martin Luther was raised up to give the truth in the vernacular of the people, and so you can see how God's providences link into one another and how every link in the chain is welded.

Are not these providences as manifest as any pillar of fire?

Dr. Sutherland, in again referring to missions, stated that the modern missionary movement was not more than a century old when William Carey went out to India. Whether Carey ever knew Wesley or not, the speaker did not know, but it was in the true Wesleyan spirit that he went out. The revival of the 18th century was a purely spiritual one. It was the legitimate and natural impulse that was given the people. To-day missions stand foremost in the schemes of Christianity and challenge the respect of the world.

REV. J. C. SPEER

delivered the morning sermon in the George street church and in the evening was at Charlotte street. In the morning he took as his text Luke 1st ch., 32nd and 33rd verses:

"He shall be great and shall be called the Son of the Highest, and the Lord God shall give unto Him the throne of His father David; and He shall reign over the house of Jacob forever; and of His kingdom there shall be no end.

As Mr. Spears is an able and eloquent speaker he greatly interested his hearers by his forceful remarks.

"Praise the Lord" was the anthem sung by the choir in George street church in the morning, while "Guide me, oh, Thou Great Jehovah was the anthem sung in the evening.

During the offertory Mrs. Seward and Mr. James Browne sang a duett, "Tarry with me," with fine effect.

"Very, Very Good."

A prominent lady visiting Peterborough from New York City was so highly pleased with the photographic work she saw in Mr. Whiten's art studio that she made an appointment and had a dozen sent to her address, 170 Lexington Avenue, New York City. She writes Mr. Whiten: "Photos arrived all right; they are very, very good; I am much pleased with them." Three different persons recently on a visit here from Montreal also had a dozen each taken by Mr. Whiten and forwarded to their address in Montreal. The above speaks well for Peterborough and the high-class work turned out by Mr. Whiten. Entrance to studio, 158 Hunter street, opposite Oak Hall. d15tf

"O woman! lovely woman! nature made thee to temper man; we had been brutes without you." Woman more than merits all the good things that have been said of her by the wits and poets of all times. When man lauds woman and her charms and virtues, he has in his mind's eye an ideal. That ideal is always a healthy woman. No man makes pretty speeches and witty toasts about woman, with the picture in his mind of a weak, sickly, nervous woman, tortured by pain, and suffering from depression and despondency. It is in the power of every woman to be some man's ideal if she will but build up and guard her womanly health.

The best of known remedies for all forms of disease peculiar to women is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It works directly on but one set of organs in a woman's body. It allays and eradicates pain. It soothes inflammation. It invigorates and purifies. It restores complete health to the organs distinctly feminine and banishes weakness, depression and despondency. It is the discovery of Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalid's Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y. If you wish to know more about it write to him.

"This is to tell you," writes Sister Elisa L. de Falcon, of Corpus Christi, Nueces Co., Texas, "that I had been ill for twenty-one years and was finally cured by your medicines, the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Favorite Prescription.'"

It is as easy to be well as ill—and much more comfortable. Constipation is the cause of many forms of illness. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. They are tiny, sugar-coated granules. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, two a mild cathartic. All dealers in medicines.

DAIRYMEN FEASTED.

Brantford Board of Trade Entertained Them at Dinner—Premier Hardy, Mr. Fisher and Others Spoke.

Brantford, Ont., Jan. 21.—A magnificent banquet in connection with the Brantford Board of Trade and the Western Dairymen's convention was held in the Kerby House to-night. President Frank Cockshutt presided.

Hon. A. S. Hardy, Premier of Ontario, responded to the toast of the Ontario Legislature, and in his speech spoke of his desire to do everything he possibly could to further the interests of the farmers of Ontario.

Hon. Sydney Fisher, Minister of Agriculture for the Dominion, replying to the toast of "Agriculture," said that the Government had now completed a system of cold storage, which, as soon as navigation opened up, would transport the product of the farm to the English market in the same condition as when it left the Canadian farm.

Hon. John Dryden, Minister of Agriculture for Ontario, expressed the determination of the Ontario Government to assist the farmers of the country as much as possible. He was of the opinion that the Dairymen's Association had done splendid service to the farmer and the Hardy Government has prepared to expend a still further sum towards more fully equipping the association and developing the dairying interests of the province until they become so prosperous as to be a source of great profit to the entire farming community.

Ex-Governor Heard of Wisconsin, Messrs. McLaren and Casey, M. P.'s, and a number of local gentlemen took up the other toasts of the evening.

CURED OF SCIATICA.

Left Hip Affected—Suspected Kidney Kidney Trouble—Relieved and Perfectly Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Toronto Junction, Jan. 18 (Special)—Mr. H. Playter, is not a difficult man to find as everybody here knows that he is foreman at No. 1 Fire Hall. He was the picture of health when called upon by your correspondent and told his story thus:

"In April 1896 I suffered from a severe attack of Sciatica, affecting my left hip and the leg to the tip of my toes. I suspected it came from some form of kidney trouble and as they had been recommended I procured a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills."

At the end of the fourth day I was entirely relieved, but desiring a permanent cure I continued to use that and another box and am now cured cured and as well as ever in my life. A brother of mine living at Pine Orchard has been cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Britishers in Boston.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 22.—About 40 representatives of the various British societies of Boston held a preliminary meeting last night to prepare plans for the celebration of the 60th anniversary of Queen Victoria's accession to the throne. A committee was chosen to formulate a plan for enlisting the co-operation of all British societies within a radius of 50 miles of Boston, to report at a meeting on Feb. 12.

PRIVATE BANK IN TROUBLE.

The Carrick Financial Company at Mildmay Suffer From the Messner Failure—There Was a Run on the Bank.

Walkerton, Ont., Jan. 22.—(Special.)—As a sequel to the failure of Mr. F. X. Messner at Formosa, a month ago, a run was made on the Carrick Financial Company, carrying on business as a private bank at the neighboring village of Mildmay. The institution was unable to stand the pace, and had to ask its creditors for time to realize on outstanding paper. It has since been paying off its indebtedness as funds came in, and giving security to others who threatened legal proceedings.

One of these threats came to a head to-day in the issue of a writ by Mr. O. E. Klein, solicitor, acting on behalf of Rev. S. E. Wadel of Chepstow, for $1827.07, being a fund that the rev. gentleman has been accumulating to build a new church, and which he had deposited at interest with the Carrick Financial Company. This company is composed of Messrs. Charles Schurter, Andrew Geissler, George Libsinger, J. Hergott and F. Zettel. Mr. Schurter is Clerk of the Township of Carrick and all the others are retired farmers. It is not an incorporated company or even a registered partnership, so that the personal property of all the partners is liable for its debts.

When starting this business, 14 years ago, they estimated their private possessions at $46,526, and on the strength of this statement obtained a good line of credit at the Bank of Commerce. Their business has been prosperous in the interval and they have always, hitherto, met their obligations promptly; and but for the alarm created by the failure of Mr. Messner there can be no reason to doubt that they would have weathered the present storm.

At the beginning of the New Year they estimated their liabilities as follows:

Due depositors	$38,821 15
Due Bank of Commerce	25,000 00
Overdrafts	565 00
Total	$64,386 15
Assets—
Bills discounted	$57,429 07
Mortgages	3,359 90
Overdrafts of customers	3,472 04
Cash on hand	1,159 29
Discounted and remitted	69 90
Due by Bank of Buffalo	77 01
Total	$65,559 61

Thirty-two thousand dollars of their paper is held by the Bank of Commerce as security for the loan of $25,000, and a considerable portion of the remainder of their assets is long-date paper, so that at present they are unable to meet their obligations as they fall due, but claim their ability to do so if given time.

There are several other private banks in this county, all of which are meeting their paper promptly, and otherwise conducting their business with decision and regularity. But, notwithstanding their soundness, a certain degree of uneasiness exists in the public mind in regard to the private bank system of doing business. It is felt that all such institutions should be regularly inspected under Government supervision and their statements published the same as the chartered banks. As things stand now, the public have no security beyond the honesty and business capacity of the gentlemen managing these institutions. If they should die suddenly, or meet with a heavy reverse those who deposit money with them may lose it altogether. The name "bank" used by these parties excites a fictitious security and causes those who do not know the difference to think that they are dealing with the genuine article. New legislation on the subject is evidently needed.

CRUEL BUTCHERY.

Spaniards Attack a Cuban Hospital and Mercilessly Slaughtered—Flag of Truce Met by Bullets.

New York, Jan. 23.—A special to The Journal from Havana says: One of the principal hospitals of the Cubans, located in the Siguanea Mountains, near Cienfuegos, was captured last week by Spanish troops. The Cuban soldiers defending the sick and wounded inmates of the hospital made a most heroic fight, holding the passes successfully for hours, as long, in fact, as their scant supply of ammunition lasted. They were finally compelled to give way and the majority of them were mercilessly cut down by the Spanish. Only a few escaped. The hospital, once reached, was attacked on all sides.

Dr. Soler, the patriot surgeon, came out, waving a white flag, bearing the insignia of the Red Cross, to ask for mercy. He was met by a volley of Spanish bullets and fell wounded. He was despatched a few minutes later by the machete.

A sick American in one of the buildings, assisted by two wounded Cubans, raised the Stars and Stripes. This act infuriated the Spanish commander and was made the signal for a general charge. The work of Spanish bayonets and machetes was short and bloody. Not a prisoner was taken; not even women nurses were spared. When the dreadful work of cold-blooded assassination was over and the piteous but vain appeals of the sick for mercy and the moans of the wounded and dying were hushed, the Spanish commander, before retreating from the scene of his "victory," set fire to the hospital and surrounding buildings, burning them down over the bodies of his victims.

SUCCESSOR TO LEO XIII.

Cardinal Svampa, Archbishop of Bologna, May be the Next Occupant of the Vatican.

Rome, Jan. 22.—The indifferent health of the Pope has caused a considerable stir in the Sacred College with respect to the choice of his successor. The situation may be summed up as follows, on the authority of a prelate of the highest rank:

If a vacancy should now arise in the Papacy there would be a great confusion of names. There are no strong parties in the Sacred College, but there are, on the contrary, many personal ambitions. Probably at the last hour the cardinals would divide themselves into three groups—the diplomatic cardinals, the bishop cardinals and the foreign cardinals. The second group would be the strongest, and if it should succeed in carrying out its wishes, the new Pope would either be Cardinal Ferrari, Archbishop of Milan, or Cardinal Svampa, Archbishop of Bologna.

This will probably be what will happen, since the diplomatic cardinals, such as Vannutelli, Jacobini, Cretoni, Ferrata, Agliardi and others have no authority in the Sacred College. As far as indications go at present the Archbishop of Bologna has the best chance of succeeding the present Pope.

SPAIN'S POPULATION.

Nearly Half the Inhabitants Have No Use for Religion in Whatever Form—The Professions.

Washington, Jan. 22.—The Spanish Government has just published interesting statistics regarding the population of the kingdom, from which Consul Harmony, at Corunna, sends the State Department the following extracts:

"Out of 19,000,000 inhabitants, 8,727,519 persons have no profession whatever; agriculture employs 4,033,491 men and 828,331 women. There are 97,257 persons holding office and 64,000 on the retired list; 44,304 school masters or teachers (of which 19,940 are females); 30,179 medical doctors, 91,222 mendicants (of whom 51,948 are females), 45,328 members of the clergy and 28,519 nuns. The number of absolutely non-believing persons is 6,104,470, including 2,686,615 females."

IT IS ALL TALK.

Yes, but it is Norwood Talk—The Kind That Tells in Norwood.

Talk that tells.
Talk that is endorsed.
Every day talk by people that know.
City talk.
Kidney talk.
Do the kidneys talk?
Well, yes, both loud and long.
You are learning the kidney language.
Backache in kidney language means kidney ache.
Lame back means weak kidneys.
Weak back means weak kidneys.
The kidneys are talking trouble.
Here is some Norwood talk:

Mr. George Taylor, well known in Norwood, has this to say about Doan's Kidney Pills:—

"For a great many years I have been a sufferer from kidney disease. Terrible pain in my side and back made my life a burden. The urine was a dark wine colour, and I was greatly troubled with frequent urination. My sleep was destroyed because of this annoying trouble.

"I have taken scores of medicines, but could get no relief, and thought that I would never be cured. Happily I heard about Doan's Kidney Pills, and got a box at J. C. Moffatt's drug store, and have continued their use for one month.

"I am thankful to say as a result that they have fixed me up. I feel like another person. I do not now have to get up at night, and in fact am entirely cured.

"I think they are the grandest medicine ever placed before the public, and I heartily recommend them to all sufferers from kidney disorder of any kind."

La Grippe, for Colds, Coughs,
AND LUNG TROUBLES,
AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL

"Two years ago, I had the grippe, and it left me with a cough which gave me no rest night or day. My family physician prescribed for me, changing the medicine as often as he found the things I had taken were not helping me, but, in spite of his attendance, I got no better. Finally, my husband,—reading one day of a gentleman who had had the grippe and was cured by taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,—procured, for me, a bottle of this medicine, and before I had taken half of it, I was cured. I have used the Pectoral for my children and in my family, whenever we have needed it, and have found it a specific for colds, coughs, and lung troubles."—EMILY WOOD, North St., Elkton, Md.

FASHIONS IN SPAIN.

NEWS OF THE WINTER DISPLAY IN THE LAND OF THE SUN.

Northern Tourists in the Alhambra—Creations of Paris and Vienna Worn Among the Hills of Granada by the Fair Ones of All Countries.

(Special Correspondence.)

Granada, Spain.—She was a young English girl, and she was studying the facade of the great unfinished palace to make room for which Charles V. pulled down the winter palace of the Alhambra.

The senorita was beautiful. She had the fresh pink and white complexion that comes of the moist air of Britain. She was slender and tall, with the very erect carriage in exchange for which many an American girl would barter all the prettiest gowns. She had coiled her hair high in the English knot that tips the hat down over the eyes, and her front hair was curled in that abundant and carefully arranged fuzz which distinguishes all the pictures of the Princess of Wales and her sisters and daughters.

The English senorita carried a handful of dull red chrysanthemums, and as she turned to look after the boy, one could see that she wore—if it be not sacrilege to talk of fashions among the glories of the Alhambra—a simple traveling dress of a very fine blue cloth, a powder blue with a dull soft finish that made one believe that it would not wrinkle. It made no pretensions to any estate beyond that of traveling gown, but in its own class it was perfection.

The dress had a skirt less full than New York is wearing. It seemed to be something under four yards round. It was cut smooth, and almost glove-fitting about the hips, but curved gently outward to the hem. A band of sable fur finished the bottom, and cleared the ground in cleanly fashion. English girls walk so much that their skirts average shorter than the conventional length in America, though the difference is not marked enough to be noticeable. A very trim bodice set off the pretty figure. It was cut as a glove-fitting basque under a tiny bolero edged with dainty embroidery in black silk, and finished about with the merest thread of sable fur. A lining of yellow silk gleamed now and again, but was not allowed to make itself more than occasionally visible. The bolero opened upon a blouse front of dull red silk, whose soft shades harmonised wonderfully with the blue, and which seemed to hide in its folds suggestions of green, of blue and even of yellow, hinted at constantly, but never quite caught by the eye. Velvet that one would have said had been woven out of the threads that were left when the silk was finished, made the pointed belt and the stock collar, over which an edge of lace turned. The sleeves were of the powder blue of the skirt with small drooping puffs at the shoulders, smaller puffs than New York would employ. Thence to the wrists they were almost glove-fitting; at the wrists they flared like bells to let in ruffles of lace, but scant rather than flamboyant ruffles, for this was a traveling gown.

The girl wore smart, round-toed boots, and a low-crowned sailor hat of white straw. The heavy dress is an acknowledgment of the reality of winter, the straw is a protest that southern Spain ought to be warm, at all seasons, whether or not it is so.

The straw hat was interesting, also, as a prophecy of next summer. It was of the shape that Americans will buy at Easter. Last summer's sailors were round and high-crowned. The new ones are oval and quite low. Very fanciful straw paterns are used in the weaving, but the trimming is, as always, a narrow ribbon band with a flat bow.

In its flight southward to the winter world of the Riviera some considerable part of the flock of migratory birds of pleasure pauses at Granada. In the hotels on the Alhambra hill German Grafs, French counts, Belgian barons and their women folk mix with dark-eyed ladies from Madrid, "honorable misses" from every county in England and vivacious girls from America over the sea. The toilets that one sees are Paris and Vienna creations, especially prepared for the south of Europe campaign.

One morning there was gathered a most wonderful collection of furs in the old "repose-room" of the baths of the sultans. Granada is not cold in December, but it is damp and chill in the halls of the Alhambra. Against the rich-lined stucco and tiling stood out in strong contrast the heavy sables of a little lady from Brussels, whose title is longer than she is. The cloak she wore was of finer fur than it often falls to one's lot to see. It had not the look of being bulky or voluminous perhaps because its owner was so slender, but it enveloped her from head to feet. The sleeves were full enough to go comfortably over a dress. In its rich simplicity the garment was the ideal robe for a climate not so cold but that fur can be adapted to the uses of beauty as well as to those of comfort.

A dark French girl of clear pale complexion wore a little cape of gray mouffion that was very pretty. The long silky fur would have been too full for her skin, but for the sable collar which came up to her ears and had again the gray mouffion inside.

A cape of marten fur and lace was more dressy than either of these. It was really a fur cape with a white lace scarf draped about the shoulders and wide black lace draped about the edges. I say "draped" advisedly. The border lace was too wide for flouncing; it was caught up with furry heads and tails in bewildering complexity.

An English matron wore a long, black velvet cape, rich with fur and embroidery. The group you may believe was a strange one for its setting, the modish winter bonnets and hats, and the very correct clothes of the men of the party contrasting with the graceful Spanish cloaks of the guides and interpreters, and these again with the relics of the Moorish civilization, which made their background.

In the evening the gypsies who live in the caves of the Granada hills, gave a concert at the hotel, at which there was some very good guitar music. The ladies at the hotels went deep into their trunks and the English girl, whose traveling dress I have already described, came out for the benefit of her masculine admirers in a delicate silver-gray silk, striped with lines of pink and barred across with darker gray. The skirt was altogether simple. The bodice had a guimpe of pale-blue chiffon with ruches of lace at the throat. A lace fichu was drawn about the shoulders below the guimpe and knotted upon the bosom. A gray velvet pointed belt confined the blouse front. The sleeves came just to the elbows.

A very dark, handsome girl from Vienna wore a most striking costume. Its skirt was a rich black brocade figured in arabesque and just suggesting how it would be impossible to say, something deep and warm in crimson. With it she wore a Russian blouse of black silk, showing openly and even flauntingly arabesques of the skirt done in blood colors, where the skirt had the ghosts of the stain. Black velvet belted the blouse and black lace made its elbow sleeves. Deep lace ruffles fell from its collar.

A lady, whose nationality no person could guess wore a waist of sea-green chiffon all a foam of lace. With it she displayed necklace and bracelets of turquoise as big as beans, strung with pearls. There is more to tell, but it must wait, and then I write from the Riviera.

ELLEN OSBORN.

SILKS OF THE SEASON.

They Are Fine at Cobwebs and Lovely as the Rainbow.

VERY mother's daughter of us is interested in silks just now. Lovely changeable taffetas may be had for even seventy-five cents a yard, though in many cases it's wise to pay a bit more. One fetching way is to have the chic little tailor coat and skirt lined with some modish combination brocaded changeable if you've the right sort of a pure, little black spots connected with sort of spider web arrangements on green and violet, changeable. And this isn't all; the dainty blouse and the ruffly umbrella-shaped petticoat should be of this same changeable. Not so bad, eh?

And for more intimate wear, silk is no end of desirable. The yard-wide pure China in white may be had for fifty cents a yard, and makes up to splendid advantages, though some do prefer the pongee, which comes in the sweetest turquoise blue and the shimmeriest shrimp pink; it is about thirty inches wide. And there's the whole range of daintily striped wash silks, combinations to suit every taste and complexion, and, at bargain time, most every purse as well. And such luxurious comfort they represent!—beauty, too, when beautifully made and trimmed with an abundance of lace fluffiness. The chemise is the chemise of our grandmothers—great-great-grandmammas for all I know, in fact—while in drawers faddish femininity leans to the Loie Fuller design; most modish in corset covers is the bolero.

And the dainty wear in chemisettes, vests and the like! One full cream chiffon vest is dressed at intervals of an inch with tiniest pink velvet ribbon, the part which surrounds the neck being a mass of looped ribbon, and at the back and sides frills of the chiffon. And those of black silk muslin, with cream applique in a scattered design, they are delights! Then there are the heavy insertion affairs, arranged in yoke effect with wide chiffon ruffles of cloud-like daintiness over the sleeves, and no end of pretty.

And those forty-cent tinseled gauzes! Over the bodice of some shelved evening frock, they make the giddiest of evening waists. Indeed, on the slimmest bank account Madame may grace her (no, their is the word) mahogany—unless, mayhap, it's antique oak—in a way to arouse envy in even the lilies of the field. For I've no doubt if we understood those very pure posies better we'd find they have plenty of vices, just like the little feathered monsters who are ready to tear each other in half for a crumb or a bit of down, but who, for some reason or other, or perhaps none at all, are commonly supposed to pass their time billing and cooing.

And isn't bridal silk selling though?—not to mention satin. And it's time, too, if the fair one intends to begin to "obey" at Eastertide; it's only fair to suppose she's loving and honoring even now.

EAST PETERBOROUGH AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

The Affairs of the Society in a Healthy Condition.

The annual meeting of the East Peterborough Agricultural Society was held at the town hall, Norwood, on Wednesday afternoon. There was a good attendance and the report of the secretary-treasurer showed that the affairs of the society were in a satisfactory state. After meeting all claims there was a balance on hand of $147.00. The officers for 1897 are as follows :—

President—Mr. F. Birdsall.
1st Vice-Pres.—Mr. T. Blezard, M.P.P.
2nd Vice-Pres.—Mr. W. G. Patterson.
Directors—Messrs. J. Brackenridge, Geo. Elliot, Hugh Nelson, Wm. Burgess, Jas. Johnston, John Knox, J. B. Pearce, Andrew Cameron and Chas. Nicholl.
Hon. Director—Mr. Chas. O'Reilly.
Sec.-Treas.—Mr. W. E. Roxburgh.
Auditors—Messrs. W. H. Stephenson and James Calder.

Mr. Birdsall was appointed delegate to the Association of Fairs and Exhibitions.

The directors decided to purchase from Mr. Waters, of Hamilton, the four acres of land adjoining the present grounds for the sum of $600.

A further gratuity of $10 was granted Mr. Convey, whose son was injured in the accident on the speeding ring last fall.

STOCK NOTES.

Important Purchases by Otonabee Stockmen.

Messrs. W. W. Shearer and Jas. Elmhirst of Keene have recently purchased from F. W. Evans, Esq., of Yelverton, the imported Clydesdale stallion, "Craikmore Darnley." This is one of the greatest Clydesdales in Canada, not only in rare individual merit, but also in point of breeding. He is sired by that old King of Clydes, Darnley, whose progeny to-day stand without rival. His dam was by that almost equally great horse, the Druid, Grand Dam by Rob Roy and next dam by Lookfergus Champion, whose blood runs in the veins of all the best horses in Scotland to-day.

Craikmore Darnley's roll of honour exceeds that of any other stallion in Canada at the present time and he was perhaps bought at the greatest price in Scotland. He not only won a long list of prizes at all the biggest shows in Scotland, but had for three years one of the best districts in Wigtonshire, where he received £100 premium and £3 service fee, which shows the great value that was placed on him as a breeder in that country. Since coming to Canada he has also won his full share of honours. Competing in Toronto against all the crack horses of Canada he was well to the front, defeating such horses as "Lofty," "Lewis Gordon" and other equally as great stallions. At the local shows he had virtually a walk-over.

Craikmore Darnley has proved himself one of the best producers in the country, his colts winning first prize wherever shown. He is a beautiful dark brown in colour, grand feet and legs, carries no superfluous flesh and weighs 1100 lbs.

Farmers and breeders of this district should feel well pleased to have the services of such a horse within their reach.

Messrs. Shearer and Elmhirst deserve great credit for their nerve in purchasing such a horse, as it was only done by paying a big price. We wish them every success in their venture.

HOME.

Home, the abode of God,
Becomes our heaven too—
Earth, which Jesus trod,
Becomes our Eden tree.

Man had lost the charm
That made his life the best,
Till the Master's arm
Found home and heaven were rest.

He, without a place,
To lay His weary head,
Carried in His face
The heaven for which He bled.

What we wish to say
In this our first "Home" poem,
Is, that we to-day,
For heaven do not roam.

In a palace grand,
A cottage, or in none,
Home is in our hand,
And heaven too is won.

Poverty is worn
As crown of jewels rare—
Burdens too are borne
Without a thought of care.

Emerson foresaw
True liberty for all;
While Carlyle found law
In duty's every call.

Law and liberty
Are blended now in one,
Since, we clearly see
That heaven at home is won.

Tempted sore to-day
To worship creature-good,
We have learned the way
By which it is withstood.

Nothing causes care :
Our needs are all supplied ;
Taught to do and dare
Like Jesus, though denied.

We have found wherein
His power really lay,
Which is still within
The soul of man to-day.

We have taken the cross,
Like Jesus, head no frown :
The world to us is loss,
Because we wear the crown.

So, we now proclaim
To all in search of rest :
Christ-life is the same
As is your constant quest.

For the loss of all
Which now to you is dear,
At the Masters' call
Come riches now and here.

Heaven and home unite,
Thus life henceforth is right ;
Christ-life is the light
That renders earth life bright !

RHEUMATISM CURED.

Eighteen Months Trying to get Cured —Had the Best Doctors—He Found What he Wanted in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Goderich, Jan. 11—(Special)—A case of great interest here just now is that of Mr. Alexander J. Sharkey, who for some time has been an extreme sufferer from Rheumatism. His statement to the correspondent is as follows:—

"For eighteen months I was a victim of Rheumatism and during the whole of that time was trying every means to cure it. I had the best doctors in Canada and took their prescriptions with faith and patience.

"I got tired at last, for I found the disappointment nearly as killing as the disease.

"But one friend wiser than others convinced me that my disease must be cured by way of the kidneys and recommended Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I have used two boxes of these pills to effect a perfect cure, and I don't care who knows it."

IS MINING RISKY?

The Industry Compared With Other Business Enterprises.

In The Canadian Miner, published for the first time in Toronto on Saturday last, appeared the following :

"Some people think that an investment in gold mines is of the nature of gambling. The opinion is a mistaken one. If an investor takes care to see that the mine he invests in is properly equipped in capital, is managed by practical men, directed by really trustworthy people and shows sufficient development to ascertain that it will probably prove a real mine, he takes no more of a risk than in engaging in a dry goods, grocery or hardware business. The late Hon. John Macdonald, one of Toronto's most successful wholesale merchants, some years ago stated that, after 20 years' acquaintance with the careers of men engaging in commercial life, he had found that 60 per cent. lost all or almost all of the money they put into business : that thirty-five per cent. got out barely holding their own, or making but little, and that only five per cent. actually made money. Talk about risks! Gold mining, especially when undertaken with moderate care, does not present the risks of ordinary business enterprises."

BUSINESS EVOLUTION.

Advertising is merely a salesman, and a man who will advertise regularly and with the right kind of announcements will find his advertising to be the best salesman in his employ. The successful men of former generations would not succeed to-day with the same means they long ago employed ; neither should the business man of to-day expect the largest success without intelligent and persevering use of modern methods. Among modern ways of obtaining and maintaining business, nothing is more reasonable or adaptable than newspaper advertising.

Fine Furniture at Low Prices.

It is seldom that this chance comes to pick up such really fine things in handsome chairs, centre tables, screens, etc., are now being shown in Clegg's furniture store window. The tickets placed on the goods tell the tale of a substantial reduction. No better goods can be had in the cities. Every article guaranteed as superior in design in material and in finish.

The Acme Heating Drum

Is the best appliance to economize fuel. We are selling them rapidly. They pay for themselves in a short time. Read what our Citizens say :

Messrs. Micks and Cox :—

GENTLEMEN,—After giving your Acme Heating Drum a fair trial in China Hall, we have no hesitation in pronouncing it a perfect success. Our store is 70x100 feet with glass front and all of one side of glass facing the north ; and the Drum with a small wood stove heats the store more perfectly than it has ever been heated before, even when we had two coal stoves which we formerly used.

Yours truly,
Peterborough, Jan. 15th, '97. McFARLANE WILSON.

Messrs. Micks & Cox :—

GENTLEMEN,—After giving the Acme Heating Drum purchased from you a fair trial in severe weather we have no hesitation in pronouncing it a complete success.

Your Drum is an application of the correct principle in proper heating devices in drawing the cold air from the floor, heating it and circulating it through the building. We heat three rooms by means of a moderate sized wood stove with your Drum attached, and find our offices very much more comfortable than formerly, at the same time using a third less fuel than without the Drum.

Yours very truly,

Facts About Furs and Bankrupt Stocks.

Some dealers in Furs believe in selling Bankrupt Stocks but others there are who do not ; yet, at the same time have offered several bankrupt stocks for sale within a short time, while claiming also to sell nothing in Furs but of their own manufacture. We certainly must stand away ahead of our competitors as we do not require the aid of such stocks but stand on the merits of our own manufactured goods, which we can always guarantee as such. Our reputation of 36 years standing without a failure is the best proof that customers believe in us and support us so well. We do not require to make any bombastic statements regarding the size or quality of our stock ; both are only too well known in the town as well as in many other places at great distances. We wish to thank our customers for their patronage through the late season.

Five Prisoners on Trial at Shelburne, Ont.

EVIDENCE AS TO JAMES BALLARD

Objection Taken to Magistrate Hamilton Sitting as a Member of the Court, But No Support Was Given—To Get Insurance the Alleged Motive of the Burning.

Shelburne, Ont., Jan. 26.—In marked contrast with the experience of the inhabitants of Sodom and Gomorrah was that of the prisoners, David Ballard, James Ballard, Alonzo Smith, James Corbett, jr., and William Reid, who were brought from Orangeville this morning by Constables Skelding and Brundage. The 16-mile drive was made with the thermometer several degrees below zero. The train from Toronto and Orangeville was about one hour late. This train brought Government Detective Greer, Mr. Forsyth and a number of other insurance men, County Crown Attorney McKay, a court stenographer and newspaper reporters from Toronto and Orangeville, Mr. O'Leary of Lindsay is assisting County Crown Attorney McKay in the prosecution. Messrs. Lucas and Wright of Markdale are looking after the interests of the two Ballards. Mr. G. M. Vance is counsel for Alonzo Smith, James Corbett, jr., and William Reid. The bench was composed of local J.P.'s John Hamilton, John Blair and Joseph Allen. Every seat in the Town Hall was filled, even standing room in the aisles being taken up by the large crowd that came to hear this cause celebre in the criminal annals of Dufferin.

Mr. Lucas, on behalf of the prisoners, asked that one of the Magistrates withdraw from the case on account of his having a strong bias against the prisoners, and also on account of the fact that he was expected to be defendant in a charge quite as serious as those laid against the prisoners, in which some of the prisoners were expected to be the prosecutors. This, he believed, was within the knowledge of the Crown Attorney. Mr. Lucas also charged that this Magistrate had actively engaged with the officers of the Crown in securing evidence against the prisoners; that he had privately taken individuals to his office and endeavored to extort confessions from them. He asked that other justices be called in to try the case.

County Crown Attorney McKay denied that any such charge had been laid with him against a Magistrate.

Mr. O'Leary, for the Crown, concluded from Mr. Lucas' remarks that reference was made to Magistrate Hamilton, before whom the informations had been laid. He thought from what he had seen that Mr. Hamilton's conduct had been most judicious. To his (Mr. O'Leary's) own knowledge Mr. Hamilton had refused to accept information that had been tendered him. As to the statement that there was a criminal charge against Mr. Hamilton, if it was simply a charge in prospect, and not in fact, it could not be considered a good reason for Mr. Hamilton's removal.

The charge against James Ballard was first taken up. The prisoner was brought in and the information read, charging him with having attempted to incite Hamilton, Tisdale and John Charles or some one of them to set fire to the dwelling house, barn and other buildings then being on lot No. 252, con. 4, Melauchton, and thereby to commit the crime of arson.

To this the prisoner pleaded not guilty.

The first witness called was Thomas Campbell, who stated that he had an interest in the above lot in the form of a mortgage given by a Mr. and Mrs. Walker. A sale of the property to Ballard had been talked of, but never completed. So far as he (Campbell) was concerned Ballard had tried to get him to take a chattel mortgage as security for a payment of $800 and to insure buildings and chattels for $1200. The property had been up for sale under the Walker mortgage when Ballard ordered the sale to be stopped and claimed to be in possession of the property.

John Charters, sworn, stated that he lived on lot 251, con. 4, Melauchton; had known the prisoner Ballard for about 25 years, and for seven or eight years had been his neighbor, with only the line fence between them; he had some conversation with Jas. Ballard when he first came to lot 252. Hamilton Tisdale was with him. Ballard wanted him (Charters) to burn the buildings on the Campbell place, and he would give him $100; he refused the offer. He understood Campbell was bound in some way to have it insured. That was the only conversation in regard to the matter. James Ballard was putting a trunk in the house, and that was all the property he could see. He built some sticks of firewood up in the corner of the building. There was no stove. The building was a scantling frame, and was not lathed or plastered. He said he had wanted Hamilton Tisdale to "burn it, but Tisdale would not do it, as he was a coward.

Cross-examined by Mr. Wright: It was since the arrests had been made that he told Hamilton Tisdale of the offer Ballard had made him to burn the buildings on the Campbell property. He had not mentioned the matter to anyone up to that time.

To Mr. O'Leary: The reason he had kept this matter to himself so long was that he did not consider it safe to tell it.

Hamilton Tisdale, who has the reputation of being the chief informer in these cases, was the next witness. He stated that he resided at Corbetton at present, and gave the numbers of the lots he had formerly lived on. He assisted James Ballard when the latter was moving to the Campbell property. When putting the trunk in the house, Ballard had stated that his reason for doing so was that he wanted to take possession, and told him (Tisdale) that if the buildings were burned that night he could stick Campbell for insurance. He offered him (Tisdale) money to set fire to the premises. Ballard said that if the house was not his own he would burn it. That night Ballard had stated that he offered money to Frank Mulligan and Sam Seymour to get them to burn the buildings. He (Tisdale) had not said anything much regarding these cases prior to this; had told Hamilton months ago that he would divulge all the facts if he knew where to go to do so; would have gone to Crown Attorney had he known that the arrests would be made before he got back home; had no reason to believe that he would not be prosecuted, the same as others. Detective Greer had told him that no person could prosecute him, except the Crown. He had received no hint or assurance from any source that he would not be prosecuted.

To Mr. O'Leary: It was at the Campbell property that night that Charters told him Ballard had offered him $100 to burn the building. He was afraid to say anything before for fear of the Ballards.

Tisdale also gave evidence regarding a certain mortgage for several hundred dollars, given him by James Ballard, as security for a debt of $30, and which he (Tisdale) had assigned to Mr. Beattie for a debt of $150, and of the efforts made to obtain insurance again.

Counsel for the prisoner objected to this evidence being put in, so the objection was noted.

Cross-examined by Mr. Lucas: First told this to Detective Greer, in Mr. John Hamilton's office; had been wired to come down; been selling implements for Hamilton; was also an important witness for Hamilton in a lawsuit now pending.

John Seymour, sworn, said that he lived on lot 20, con. 5, Northeast Melanchton; knew the Campbell property; had purchased under an agreement from James Ballard, who wanted insurance on buildings; understood from Ballard that if he (Seymour) got it insured it would be burned. Having failed to get it insured, he returned to Ballard, who was not at all pleased; tried to get insurance from Mr. McKim. Mr. McKim's son gave him a paper, but afterwards asked it back and got it; tried elsewhere to get insurance, but failed. After a threshing for James H. Corbett at David Ballard's place, James Ballard asked him to go and fire the place, that everything was ready. Ballard did not offer him anything; said there was nothing in it. Witness said he had first told this story to Mr. Greer.

To Mr. Lucas: Could not see what Ballard's object was in having the buildings burned. Ballard told him he could take one of David's horses and go and do it.

Samuel Seymour, sworn, told of a conversation he had with James Ballard in David Ballard's yard on the day of the Dundalk show in 1893. Saw no one but James Ballard and Frank Mulligan. Ballard said he had a job for us to do that night; that he had a building he wanted us to "put up," and there was $10 in it for us.

Frank Mulligan, sworn, said that he had known James Ballard as long as he could remember; had a conversation with James Ballard regarding Campbell's property at David Ballard's place on the day of the Dundalk show in 1893. James Ballard asked us if we would do a little job for him that night—to burn a house on the back line. Refused, and went back to Dundalk. Ballard said that Seymour knew where he was.

The case for the Crown, so far as Ballard is concerned, he concluded, and counsel for the defence will offer no evidence now.

At the present rate of progress, the preliminary investigation will last a week.

Court adjourned till 10 o'clock Tuesday morning.

A LITTLE MIXED.

The Governor-General and the Mayor of Ottawa Each Has an Indian Famine Fund.

Ottawa, Jan. 25.—(Special.)—Mayor Bingham was summoned to Rideau Hall yesterday and, it is understood, invited by Their Excellencies to cooperate in the movement to make all Canadian subscriptions for the sufferers of India part of a national famine relief fund, which Earl Aberdeen has inaugurated. His Worship, however, failed to see how this could be done, in view of the fact that he had already transmitted to England $1000 as treasurer of the fund started by the Bank of Ottawa, as the contribution of the capital of the Dominion. Mayor Bingham will, accordingly, continue to receive and forward subscriptions independently of the national fund. Among those who contributed through His Worship yesterday was Sir Henri Joly de Lotbiniere.

THE TREE KILLED TWO.

Michigan Lumbermen Cut Off While Walking Through the Woods.

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 25.—Two men have been instantly killed and a third fatally wounded in an accident in the woods near Huron Bay. The killed are Joe Martin and a man named Ford. Pat Donahue was wounded. The men were returning to their lumber camp in a blinding snowstorm. A tree fell on the party, killed the first two outright and horribly mangled Donahue. Their bodies were not found until some hours afterwards, and Donahue was nearly dead. The place was remote from a settlement where surgical aid could be received. Donahue's home is here, but the homes of the other two are unknown.

MR. ROWAND IS DEAD.

The Ex-Member for West Bruce Succumbs After Long Illness.

Port Elgin, Jan. 25.—Last evening Mr. James Rowand, ex-M. P., for West Bruce, died at his residence in Saugeen Township, at the age of 67 years. He had been ailing for more than a year. Mr. Rowand had lived in Bruce County for nearly 50 years, and was in many respects one of its most respected citizens. The funeral will take place to Port Elgin Cemetery on Wednesday, Jan. 27, at 1 o'clock p.m.

Serious Loss in Chicago.

Chicago, Jan. 25.—The residence of Chas. J. Barnes, 2236 Calumet-avenue, was burned at 2 o'clock this morning. His private library, one of the finest in the United States, and collection of bric-a-brac, on which a high value was set, were destroyed, and, with the damage to the building and furnishings, will make the loss fully $5,000,000.

AS TO RECIPROCITY.

Mr. John Charlton Addresses a Meeting in Toronto.

HIS LATE VISIT TO WASHINGTON.

Visited the British Ambassador and Consulted Him as to What Was Correct—How Business Could be Increased by a Fair and Honorable Trade Arrangement.

Toronto, Jan. 25.—Last evening in St. George's Hall Mr. John Charlton, M. P., gave an address on Reciprocity. Mr. William Louat, Q. C., M. P., was in the chair, with Hon. G. W. Ross and other prominent Liberals on the platform.

Introduced by one of the chairman's happy little speeches, Mr. Charlton, still quite lame from the result of his recent accident, opened up with a brief review of Canadian history up to 1867. From that date, he thought, Canadian progress, though not what it should have been, was quite substantial. Turning to the subject of the area of arable land and resources of our country, he calculated that they were capable of sustaining 75,000,000 souls. He advocated reciprocity because it would not only give us enlarged trade, better markets and employment to our men, but it would also have the effect of bringing together two people with the same religion and of the same race into more friendly social and commercial intercourse. Besides the material benefit and good relationship that would accre, the friendly relations between Great Britain and the United States would also be helped on.

After speaking of the mutually profitable nature which any treaty should take on, the speaker alluded to his recent visit to Washington. He had been charged, he said, with visiting the American capital. There was no particular difference in a visit to Washington and one to Vienna, Berlin, or any European capital. It had been told abroad that he was there with Mr. Ed. Farrer. It might so happen that he and Mr. Farrer should be there at the same time, but it had not happened this time. Mr. Farrer had been there before him and had left before he had arrived.

The speaker then read an extract from The Montreal Gazette, which credited him with having said at Washington that Canada was now at the parting of the ways and that one way she might choose was reciprocity, with the possible ultimate absorption into the American Union.

He quoted the report of the United Associated Presses, which had appeared in The New York Tribune and some 400 other American papers, and which made him say: "Canada is now at the parting of the ways. On the one hand friendly relations, commercial and social, may be established between Canada and the United States and the gradual closing of the gap of unfriendliness which has existed since 1866 be effected" by the introduction of reciprocity in trade between the two countries.

"The editor who put that in," he said, referring to the article in The Gazette, "though he might not be capable of stealing hens, out of a hen roost, has no compunction about stealing away character."

The editor of The Mail had asked Mr. Charlton resumed, if he had called upon Sir Julian when at Washington. He wished to say that he arrived in the city at 10.15 a.m. and immediately after partaking of a lunch, had called upon the British Ambassador. The speaker had asked Sir Julian if it would be a proper thing for him to do to accept an invitation to speak before the Ways and Means Committee, and also if he should allow himself to be interviewed by newspaper men. Sir Julian had replied, "Do all you can to disabuse the minds of the Americans of their false ideas against Canada." When the interview with him had been published in The New York Tribune, he had been congratulated by the British representative. "Bet that over," said the speaker, "against the extracts presented to the eyes of the gullible Canadian public who read The Montreal Gazette."

Resuming, he claimed that under a reciprocal tariff Canada's trade with the United States last year, instead of amounting to $95,000,000, should have been $250,000,000. If under the present restrictions we still sold twice as much to our neighbors as to all the rest of the world, in certain lines, what would it be without restriction? In making a treaty we should make no sacrifices. We should offer justice and ask for it in return. We should avoid injury to the manufacturer, but should remember that the interests of the farmer were of prime importance in this country. The cause of hard times was the oppression of the farmer.

He referred to the arguments used against reciprocity. It was claimed that it would injure the Canadian farmer by letting in American beef and corn. The same injury was promised the American farmer. Mr. Charlton believed it would at least make higher profits for agriculturists. It was also said that we would be flooded with Yankee goods which would sell at slaughter prices. "If the Americans want to send in cheap goods, let them do it, we can stand cheap prices; they will do us no harm," was the Liberal champion's reply to that argument.

As far as its discrimination against England was concerned, the speaker maintained that such was impossible, for the imports from the two countries were of an entirely different class of goods. He had made a list of the goods imported alike from Great Britain and the United States, and he found that in his list there was $6,000,000 worth from the United States to $100,000 worth from Great Britain.

"Put that $6,000,000 worth on the free list," he suggested. The cry of discrimination against England is a pure myth.

As regards its leading to annexation, he said it was claimed by some in Canada that such would be the case, while in the States it was predicted that the opposite would happen. The question of political union was not thought of here. We did not know the States, with its socialisms and other "isms." All we wanted was to make money out of them and let them make it out of us.

Regarding the possibility of effecting a treaty, the speaker did not know whether we could or not. The golden opportunity had probably slipped past. In 1892 we could have done so without a doubt, but, under the new administration in the States, it was possible we could not. "We can exhaust every legitimate effort, however," concluded the speaker, "and, if we fail, we cannot do more, and the blame rests on the United States. Unlike Paul, we can turn from the Gentiles and depend upon our own people. If we fail in that, we can do what is the next best thing, turn to the Mother Country." His aim was to make Canada a model Christian nation.

The speakes sat down, amid applause, which was enhanced when Hon. G. W. Ross arose and moved, in a neat speech, a vote of thanks to the speaker of the evening. The motion was seconded by Mr. S. H. Janes, and was of course adopted, as was also one to the chairman.

The Carnival on Friday evening promises to be the event of the season.

Boils

It is often difficult to convince people their blood is impure, until dreadful carbuncles, abscesses, boils, scrofula or salt rheum, are painful proof of the fact. It is wisdom now, or whenever there is any indication of blood, to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, and prevent such eruptions and suffering.

Impure

"I had a dreadful carbuncle abscess, red, fiery, fierce and sore. The doctor attended me over seven weeks. When the abscess broke, the pains were terrible, and I thought I should not live through it. I heard and read so much about Hood's Sarsaparilla, that I decided to take it, and my husband, who was suffering with boils, took it also. It soon purified our built me up and restored my health so that, although the doctor said I would not be able to work hard, I have since done the work for 20 people. Hood's Sarsaparilla cured my husband of the boils, and we regard it a wonderful medicine." MRS. ANNA PETERSON, Latimer, Kansas.

After the concert refreshments were served under the management of our hostess, Mrs. A. Allen. And everything went "as merry as a marriage bell." It is understood the same talent will give an entertainment at the town hall, Lakefield, on Tuesday, 26th inst., and "Ici on Parle Francais" will be produced there.

The Young's Point Dramatic Club will give a public entertainment at Heard's Hall, on Thursday night, 28th inst, Songs, recitations, charades, dramatic selections, farces, etc., will be produced. Doors open at 7.30, admission 10c. This club will give a good entertainment, as the members have been rehearsing and taking an interest in it.

On Tuesday evening last the Young's Point Athletic and Literary Association held their first entertainment, which was a decided success. The hall was filled to overflowing and everyone who attended seemed delighted with the evening's programme :

EX-QUEEN AND PRESIDENT.

The Dethroned Monarch of the Hawaiian Islands Has a Chat With Mr. Cleveland.

Washington, Jan. 25.—Ex-Queen Liliuokalani paid a visit to President Cleveland to-day. It was entirely informal and was so designated in the note sent by the deposed monarch to the President, requesting the privilege of calling, and the answer of the letter granting it. Joseph Heleiule, the agent and secretary of Liliuokalani, and Julius N. Palmer of Boston, the American friend who accompanied her to Washington, went to the White House this morning with an autograph note from the ex-Queen addressed to the President. She asked merely that he receive her informally in a personal capacity, basing the request on the ground that it was a custom in her country for the head of the government to receive foreign visitors of distinction. Shortly after noon the President sent a note to Mr. Heleiule, appointing 3 o'clock as the hour at which he would be pleased to have her call. At the appointed time Liliuokalani, Miss Kia Nahaoleiena, her companion-in-waiting, Mr. Heleiule and Mr. Palmer drove up to the White House in a carriage and were immediately shown to the blue room. The ex-Queen was tastefully dressed. The greeting between the President and the former Queen was extremely cordial. Mr. Cleveland, entering the room, advanced with outstretched hand and, as he grasped that of Liliuokalani, he exclaimed heartily: "Am very glad you thought of calling on me." The President invited the ex-Queen and her companions to be seated and then entered into a pleasant conversation with the former. They talked about the death of Minister Willis and the ex-Queen spoke of him in words of praise.

"Yes," answered Mr. Cleveland, "he always filled whatever official position he occupied with credit to himself and his country."

There was nothing said about restoration, but Liliuokalani took occasion to thank the President for his withdrawal of the treaty of annexation sent to the Senate by President Harrison four years ago.

When Liliuokalani enquired about Mrs. Cleveland's health, the President remarked that she had been preparing to go out as he came downstairs, but he would ascertain whether she was in or not. He called a messenger, who informed him that Mrs. Cleveland had gone out walking a few minutes before.

These things formed the bulk of the conversation, which was informal and personal from beginning to end.

The call lasted about 15 minutes and, after making their adieus to the President, Liliuokalani and her attendants went out and entered their carriage. They were driven immediately to the Shoreham, where the party is stopping.

NOTHING IN THE CHARGES.

Who Laid the Informations Against Hotel-keeper Coulter of Tweed ?

Tweed, Ont., Jan. 25.—(Special.)—Richard Coulter of this village this forenoon appeared before Justice Newton to answer a charge of having unlawfully sold intoxicating liquor on election day. Many witnesses were examined, but one and all declared that no liquor had been sold by Coulter or anyone on his behalf. The charge seemed without the slightest foundation in fact and there was nothing to show by whom the complaint was made nor was the information forthcoming, so that it could be learned by whom it had been laid. In the afternoon Coulter was again before the same Magistrate, charged with having sold liquor on Sunday last. In this case no information was on hand nor could it be learned by whom the charge was made. The witnesses called re this charge were Coulter, his wife and two sisters-in-law. This charge also appeared foundationless and was promptly dismissed. Mr. Haverson, solicitor for the Ontario License Holders' Association, appeared for the defence.

THEY SAVED THE BABY.

Aged Grandparents Had a Hard Time While Their Home Was Burning.

Tilsonburg, Ont., Jan. 25.—The house and contents of S. Sherwood, seventh concession of Dereham, was burned down last evening. The family were all at church excepting Mr. Sherwood's father and mother, an old couple, both over 80 years, and a grandchild 3 months old. The fire had gained such headway before it was discovered that nothing could be done. The old couple took the baby and escaped from the house without any wraps. Mrs. Sherwood's hands were badly frozen before help came, and they were taken into a neighbor's. Loss about $2000, insured for $1100.

Girl Struck by a Train.

London, Ont., Jan. 25.—The 11-year old daughter of Mr. Thomas Robinson, 566 Grey-street, was proceeding along Burwell-street about 2.30 o'clock, and on reaching the railway crossing just 100 feet south of the Grand Trunk, she attempted to pass in front of an outgoing passenger train. In her hurry the girl slipped and fell, but, luckily, not inside of the rails. Her head was struck by the pilot, which inflicted an ugly gash in the back about an inch long.

A GROSS FRAUD.

How to Avoid Deception and Loss.

Some dealers in Canada buy package dyes that are so poor and weak that it requires fully three packages to give the depth of colour that is obtained from one single package of the Diamond Dyes. These weak dyes, worth from four to five cents, are sold to consumers at ten cents a package, same price as the full-strength Diamond Dyes.

Any woman who is urged by a dealer to buy these adulterated and weak dyes should refuse at once to be swindled. Such dyes are only a source of profit to the merchant who happens to sell them ; they are certainly snares and deceptions to the woman who buys them. Loss, trouble and fraud can be avoided by asking for the Diamond Dyes. Examine each package and be sure that you see the name "Diamond." Working with the "Diamond" you are sure of fast, brilliant and lasting colours.

MISS GOTHIE WAS KILLED.

A Prospective Bride Lost Her Life While Driving With Her Affianced.

Shamokin, Pa., Jan. 25.—Frederick Graeber, a clerk in the First National Bank of this city, started out for a drive Sunday afternoon with his affianced bride, Miss Maud Gothie, an estimable young lady. When returning via the mountain road, within one mile and a half of home, their carriage, with two horses and the occupants, was precipitated into a mile breach. Mr. Graeber sustained fearful injuries. Miss Gothie was dead when her body was reached. Mr. Graeber is still living, and there is a chance of his recovery. Mr. Graeber and Miss Gothie were to have been married after Lent. Mr. Graeber is a young man of considerable wealth.

Miners Want to Work.

Leadville, Col., Jan. 25.—It is probable that the great strike has been settled. At a conference of the miners late last night there was a bolt of a part of the union members, and they resolved to cut loose from the dictation of the leaders and seek work in the mines. While this does not definitely settle the strike, it is hoped that it may soon reach that end.

INDIAN RELIEF FUND

A General Response to Lord Aberdeen's Appeal

FROM ALL PARTS OF THE COUNTRY

A Gratifying Increase in Both Exports and Imports Shown by the Trade Returns—Decisions Rendered by the Supreme Court—General News From the Capital.

Ottawa, Jan. 25.—(Special.)—The suggestion of His Excellency the Governor-General for the formation of a Canadian Indian famine relief fund has met with responsive sympathy in all parts of the country. To-day Lord Aberdeen received many replies and telegrams from all parts of Canada with reference to the fund. The different Lieut.-Governors have cordially responded to His Excellency's invitation for their co-operation and support; similarly bank managers from Halifax to British Columbia have promptly and heartily replied to the Governor-General's request that they receive and transmit to him contributions to the general fund. A substantial contribution from Canada may, therefore, be fairly expected.

A comparison of the trade returns for the half year shows very gratifying results. For the six months ending Dec. 31 exports were valued at $80,908,504, or an increase of $7,681,360. The imports for the six months show an increase of $1,004,381, but there is a falling off in the duty collected on account of customs of $313,136. Of the increases in exports, mines show an increase of $1,400,000, fisheries $162,000, forest $1,607,000 and agricultural products $2,850,000. Under the heading "Animals and Their Produce," there was a falling off in exports of nearly $1,000,000.

Notification has been received that an exhibition of industrial navigation is to be held in St. Petersburg, Russia, next month, when prizes and diplomas will be awarded for models, drawings, photographs, etc., of ships, yachts, launches, boats (both fishing and pleasure), all classes of fishing gear, etc. Although the time is short for Canadians to take part, yet there may be time to send models of fishing vessels. The chairman of the exhibition is Mr. N. De Sytenke.

Dr. J. G. Duncan, Superintendent of Quarantine for British Columbia, has been at last deposed, and Dr. A. T. Watt is appointed to succeed him. The ground alleged for Dr. Duncan's dismissal is that on June 23 last, polling day, when he was in charge of the Isolation Hospital in Victoria, he allowed a suspect liberty before the expiration of the period of quarantine detention, namely, 14 days.

Wm. Russell, who was killed in the railway accident on the O. A. and P. S. Railway, near Barry's Bay, on Thursday last, has left a widow without means of support. Until a few months ago Russell held insurance on his life amounting to $2100. Of this sum $2000 was with the A.O.U.W. and $100 with the Sons of England. Some time ago Russell joined the Holiness movement, better known as the Hornerite Church. One of the rules of the church is that the members must give up any insurance they hold, and when Russell became connected with it he decided to conform to the rules. Mrs. Russell, his widow, states he had paid about $40 in assessments, all of which are forfeited. Rev. R. C. Horner was seen by a reporter this morning. Asked why the members of the Holiness movement were not allowed to carry insurance, he said there were many reasons, but he had not time to tell them, as he was teaching a class. He finally said the principal reason was because they did not consider members of the movement could pay their tenth to the Lord and put money in such a sinking fund as insurance.

In the Supreme Court this morning the following judgments were rendered, the judges present being the Right Hon. Sir Henry Strong, C.J., and Judges Gwynne, Sedgwick and Girouard; the decisions of Mr. Justice King having been transmitted in writing and announced by the Chief Justice, as provided by statute.

City of Quebec v. North Shore Railway Co., appeal allowed with costs, the Chief Justice and King dissenting.

Murphy v. Labbe, appeal dismissed with costs, the Chief Justice dissenting.

Kearney v. Letellier, appeal allowed with costs, Gwynne dissenting.

Trustees of Berthier Common v. Denis, appeal allowed and new title granted to the trustees, subject to conditions specified, the Chief Justice dissenting.

Salvas v. Vassal, appeal allowed unanimously.

Macdonald v. Whitfield, appeal dismissed unanimously.

Whitfield v. Merchants' Bank, dismissed unanimously.

Adams v. McBeath, a British Columbia will case, appeal dismissed, Gwynne dissenting.

City of Kingston v. Denman, appeal dismissed, Gwynne dissenting.

The following cases stand for judgment at a later date:

The Ship Frederick Goerling v. the Queen, Jones v. McKean.

The court then adjourned sine die.

A writ was issued in the High Court of Justice on Saturday at the instance of many ratepayers of Hintonburg against Molsons Bank, asking that a judgment obtained by the bank against the corporation of Hintonburg for $6211 be reduced to $1200, on the grounds that the village had no authority to borrow any such amount as represented in the judgment held by the bank.

A notification went the rounds of departments to-day, that in future civil service employes who are confined at home for a few days will have that period deducted from their annual vacation. It appears that of late many employes have been absent from one to three days. Their excuses were "Suffering from such a dreadful cold" and "Quite unable to go to work." A doctor's certificate must be produced hereafter as a justification for absence.

Although both the evening papers announced on Saturday that Premier and Madame Laurier would be leaving Ottawa shortly for California, such is not the case as regards the First Minister. Madame Laurier, however, leaves for San Francisco in a few days. Dr. Ubalde Laurier, the Premier's half-brother, is lying ill there, and Madame Laurier will have him brought back to Canada.

Owing to the extortionate demands of the Indians of British Columbia on the sealing captains, amounting in some cases to $4 for every skin taken, it has been decided by some of the sealers to endeavor to secure competent hunters from Indian tribes in the Maritime Provinces.

An order-in-council has been passed authorizing the taking of a Dominion plebiscite on the liquor traffic in the County of Portneuf, which is represented in the Commons by Sir Henri Joly. If the feeling of the county is in favor of prohibition the Scott Act will be revived there.

The Government has been advised by the British consul at San Paulo, Brazil, that he has forwarded more Canadians to Liverpool en route to the Dominion, this being a cheaper way than sending them via New York.

The cold snap is being very severely felt in Ottawa. Early this morning the thermometer dropped to 29 below. A high wind prevailed most of the day, which made outdoor work almost unbearable.

Hon. Sydney Fisher left this evening for Montreal, accompanied by Prof. Robertson, to meet representatives of the Canada Central Farmers' Association and discuss cold storage matters. The Minister and the commissioner will also hold a meeting in Montreal to-morrow with representatives of several steamship lines, with which arrangements have not yet been made for the transportation of agricultural and dairy products in cold storage during the coming summer.

Prof. Robertson will go west next Thursday to meet farmers and business men of Manitoba and the Territories, and confer with them on the establishment of creameries to be managed for a term of years by the Government. It is proposed to hold about thirty of such meetings. At several points where creameries cannot be started this year, preparations may be made for establishing them for the season of 1898.

A Canadian national tribute and address to Queen Victoria in commemoration of her long and benificent reign, is talked of. The plan is to have the Mayors of all the cities in the Dominion constitute an Executive Committee, with Lord Aberdeen as chairman, to arrange for the collection of any necessary funds and their disposal, the Mayor of each city to be chairman of a local committee composed of the wardens and reeves in his district.

THE LUMBER TARIFF.

Canadians Have Cut the Trade So That There is No Profit for American Dealers, So They Affirm.

Buffalo, N.Y., Jan. 25.—A correspondent at North Tonawanda, N.Y., says the controversy which is at present being carried on relative to the effects of a tariff on imported lumber is creating deep interest here. The lumbermen are a unit in demanding a protective tariff on Canadian lumber entering this country. At a meeting of the Tonawanda Lumbermen's Association a petition was drafted and sent to the Committee on Ways and Means asking for a duty of $1 per thousand feet on rough imported lumber. The experience of the past four years has led the local dealers to take this step. During that time lumber was imported from Canada with disastrous effects to the trade here. The chief markets of Buffalo and Tonawanda are in New York State and eastern cities. For Oswego, Syracuse, Utica, Albany and Rochester, Buffalo and Tonawanda were distributing centres previous to the removal of the tariff on Canadian lumber. Now it is different. The local dealers have found that the Canadian dealers have supplanted them by placing on the market lumber at a price for which the American producer could not afford to sell in the saw mills of Michigan and Wisconsin. In order to compete with the Canadian dealer, however, the local wholesale men have lowered the prices the past two or three years, and there has been literally no profit whatever in the lumber business.

CURED OF SCIATICA.

Toronto Junction, Jan. 18 (Special)—Mr. H. Playter, is not a difficult man to find as everybody here knows that he is foreman at No. 1 Fire Hall. He was the picture of health when called upon by your correspondent and told his story thus:

"In April 1896 I suffered from a severe attack of Sciatica, affecting my left hip and the leg to the tip of my toes. I suspected it came from some form of kidney trouble and as they had been recommended I procured a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills."

At the end of the fourth day I was entirely relieved, but desiring a permanent cure I continued to use that and another box and am now cured cured and as well as ever in my life. A brother of mine living at Pine Orchard has been cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Burdock Pills, small, safe, and sure, regulate the liver and cure constipation.

ANOTHER BANK GONE.

National Bank at Potsdam, New York State, Closes Its Doors.

Gouverneur, N.Y., Jan. 25.—The National Bank at Potsdam closed its doors this afternoon. There was no run, but one would have been probable had not this action been taken. The officials of the bank will issue no statement other than that the depositors will be paid in full. The bank examiner has been sent for, and is expected to-morrow. The true condition of the bank cannot be learned until he has made an examination, but it is believed that the statement of the bank officials will be borne out. Among the deposits is one of $1000 of the county money, but the County Treasury is amply protected by the bondsmen of the bank.

The bank was organized in 1851 as the Frontier Bank, changing later to the national system. Luke Usher is its president. According to its last report its capital stock is $200,000; surplus, $40,000; undivided profits, $8000; deposits, $350,000, and loans and discounts, $500,000. The failure, it is said, is due to unfortunate investments made of late.

LINSEED AND TURPENTINE

Linseed and Turpentine is not only a popular remedy, but the best known to medical science for the treatment of nervous membranes of respiratory organs.

DR. CHASE compounded this valuable syrup so as to take away the unpleasant taste of the turpentine and linseed. It was the Doctor's last and greatest remedy, and more of it is sold in Canada than all other cough medicines combined.

A Banker's Experience

HEREAFTER HE INTENDS TO .... BE HIS OWN FAMILY DOCTOR

"I tried a bottle of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine for a troublesome affection of the throat," writes Manager Thomas Dewson, of the Standard Bank, now of 14 Melbourne avenue, Toronto. "It proved effective. I regard the remedy as simple, cheap and exceedingly good. It has hitherto been my habit to consult a physician in troubles of this nature. Hereafter, however, I intend to be my own family doctor."

Facts About Furs and Bankrupt Stocks.

Some dealers in Furs believe in selling Bankrupt Stocks but others there are who do not; yet, at the same time have offered several bankrupt stocks for sale within a short time, while claiming also to sell nothing in Furs but of their own manufacture. We certainly must stand away ahead of our competitors as we do not require the aid of such stocks but stand on the merits of our own manufactured goods, which we can always guarantee as such. Our reputation of 36 years standing without a failure is the best proof that customers believe in us and support us so well. We do not require to make any bombastic statements regarding the size or quality of our stock; both are only too well known in the town as well as in many other places at great distances. We wish to thank our customers for their patronage through the late season.

Liberal With His Figures.

Apropos of the present cold snap, a farmer who is very illiterate, and doesn't seem to think it much disadvantage, had been to town, and on his return called on a village doctor. When the usual topic of the weather came up, the man who had been to town remarked that it was "awful cold—they told him up in the town that the 'momotor, or somethin', said it was 160 degrees above or below zero—he jest disremembered which." With such a wide margin to cover possible mistakes, this cautious statement is an example to those who make rash statements about the degrading conduct of the thermometer.

The Cinematographe.

There was a very large and enthusiastic audience at the opera house last night and as usual everybody expressed delight with the wonderful views shown. Doors open in evening at 7.30 p. m., running continuously until 10.30 p. m., showing the entire set of thirty views twice.

BOARD OF HEALTH.

Discussion on the Infectiousness of Consumption.

The organization meeting of the new local Board of Health was held yesterday afternoon at four o'clock, in the clerk's office, with Messrs. B. Shortly, H. Danne, Dr. Burnham and the mayor in attendance, as well as Dr. Clarke, medical health officer.

The town clerk took the chair and announced that the first order of business was the election of a chairman for the year.

Mr. Benj. Shortly was unanimously re-elected to the post, Dr. Burnham remarking that he was fast being broken into harness by serving the previous year in that capacity.

On taking the chair Mr. Shortly thanked the members for the honour conferred on him, promising to discharge the duties of chairman to the best of his ability.

Dr. Burnham inquired of the medical health officer his opinion regarding the theory of consumption being an infectious disease.

Dr. Clarke, in answering, strongly upheld this view of consumption, instancing a number of local cases in which the disease had appeared where it was not hereditary and mentioning the fact that in Los Angeles, California, expectorating on the streets, was strictly prohibited, as the microbes which emanated from the flem of consumption was considered most dangerous.

The discussion became general on the subject, and Dr. Burnham and Mr. Shortly enlarged on the objectionable practice indulged in by young men in hanging around street corners and spitting on the sidewalk in such a manner that ladies dresses became contaminated by the filth.

Mr. Danne thought there was about as much contamination and filth in the remarks which were passed, and urged the Board to call the attention of the council to the matter in order that the attention of the public might be called to the nuisance. The corner opposite the George street Methodist church was particularly mentioned in the discussion.

The Board adjourned to meet at the call of the chair.

Rev. Father Phelan is attending the funeral of the late Rev. Father Small, of St. Michael's College, Toronto.

The Misses Brownscombe of Port Hope, are on a visit to Peterborough, the guests of Mr. Robert McWhinnie, 190 London street.

Mr. B. T. Smith, formerly manager of the Bell Telephone Company in Peterborough, but who is now the Kingston manager of that company, was in town to-day looking up old friends.

Mrs. Frank Clancy, Mrs. F. Irwin, Mrs. Hiland and Mrs. Gibson, of Toronto, left for home yesterday, after being here for the purpose of attending the funeral of their mother, the late Mrs. Tangney.

Mr. Robert Fair is receiving congratulations to-day on attaining his majority—in business, it being just twenty-one years since he embarked on the commercial seas for himself. In 1876 he succeeded to the old, honourable and successful business of Mr. Hugh Waddell in South Monaghan and in 1883 moved into Peterborough and purchased the well established and reliable business conducted by Mr. Thos. Bradburn, known as the Golden Lion. The best wish that can be extended Mr. Fair is that he may be as successful in his future business operations as in the past.

A DEADLOCK.

In The Selection of a Warden.

AT THE FIRST SESSION UNDER THE NEW REGIME.

The Personnel of the New Council—No Election of Warden—Mr. Casement Ties Mr. Moloney.

The County Council chamber presented a changed appearance this afternoon, when the members-elect meet in inaugural session—the first under the County Councils Act of 1896.

The chamber had been cleared of the superfluous seats required to seat the difference between twenty-three and ten members that composed respectively the old and new councils.

There were present the following members representing the respective divisions for the two years, 1897 and 1898:—Messrs. John Burnham and Wm. Anderson, No. 1, or Otonabee Division, the village of Ashburnham and the township of Otonabee.

Messrs. Jas. Middleton and Geo. Fitzgerald represents No. 2, or Bridgenorth Division—the townships of North Monaghan; Smith and Ennismore.

Messrs. R. Shaw and T. G. Eastland, No. 3, or Lakehurst division—the townships of Harvey, Galway and Cavendish, Burleigh, Anstruther and Chandos.

Messrs. Wm. Casement and John Moloney, No. 4, or Lakefield division—the village of Lakefield and townships of Dummer and Douro.

Messrs. John Brown and J. B. Pearce, No. 5, or Norwood division—the village of Norwood, and townships of Asphodel, Belmont and Methuen, and village of Havelock.

THE ELECTION OF WARDEN.

The clerk in the chair, the council proceeded to the election of a Warden by ballot.

THE FIRST BALLOT

resulted as follows:

Moloney	3
Burnham	2
Casement	5

SECOND BALLOT.

This necessitated a second ballot with the following result:

Moloney	3
Burnham	2
Casement	5

THIRD BALLOT.

No candidate having a majority, a third ballot had the following result:

Moloney	2
Burnham	2
Casement	5
Middleton	1

FOURTH BALLOT.

No election having been made another ballot was taken and resulted as follows:

Moloney	3
Burnham	2
Casement	5

FIFTH BALLOT.

According to the bylaw for the election of Warden, the lowest candidate, Mr. Burnham, dropped out and the fifth ballot was taken with the appended result:

Casement	5
Moloney	5

The vote being a tie, another ballot, the sixth, was taken as below:

Casement	5
Moloney	5

There being no prospect of breaking the deadlock at this sitting the council adjourned till to-morrow morning to elect a warden.

THE GRANITES DEFEATED.

Toronto Granites won by 7 Shots.

The Peterborough Granites were downed this morning by the Toronto Granites and are consequently out of the race for the Tankard. The results were as follows:

Toronto Granites.		Peterborough Granites.
Hargraft, sk	25	T P Attrill, sk	21
Littlejohn, sk	13	Judge Weller, sk	15
	43		36

Majority for Toronto Granites, 7 shots.

NORWOOD VICTORIOUS.

Their Hockey Team Downs the Peterborough Juniors.

Last night in a very closely contested game in Norwood the second hockey team of that town downed the Peterborough III seven by the score of four goals to three.

Norwood played four of its senior team and the Peterborough boys bolstered up their Juniors by putting on Wasson of the seniors and Crossley of the intermediates. The game was the most keenly contested ever played on the Norwood ice, the score being 1—0 in favour of the Peterboroughs at the end of the first half. At this juncture Barry King took ill, and though he did not leave the ice, his usefulness was over for the evening, and at the conclusion of the game he fainted away.

The teams lined up as follows:

Peterborough.		Norwood.
E Wasson	goal	Beckett
W Borland	point	Code
R Thorne	cover point	McGregor
H King	forwards	Pettitrew
W Crossley	forwards	Cameron
E Grubbe	forwards	Pengelly
J Watt	forwards	Stewart

Referee, Ashe.

The game all through was in Peterborough's favour and the boys claim that two of Norwood's goals were scored on offsides, so apparent as to lead them to believe that the referee's whistle would recall the players.

Each of the Norwood forwards scored a goal and for the Peterboroughs Thorne and Crossley did the tallying. Off-side plays were very numerous all through the game.

At the conclusion the Peterboroughs were given a good time and banquetted by the Norwood club. The result of the two matches leaves a credit of four goals to the Peterboroughs, consequently they are winners of the series in this district and will play off with the second Frontenacs.

BONIFACES DINE.

Mr. Geo. Graham Represented Peterborough at a Hotelkeepers' Dinner.

At the first annual dinner of the hotel men of the Midland district, which was held Friday night at Hotel Quinte, Belleville, there was not the attendance that was at first expected, but it was in every way a success. Mr. J. F. Baird, the manager of Hotel Quinte, had done all in his power to make the affair a success, and to him is due the greatest share of praise for the excellent manner in which all the arrangements were carried out.

Among those present were: Sir Mackenzie Bowell, K.C.M.G.; Mr. H. Corby, M. P., Mr. W. H. Biggar, M.P.P.; Mr. W. B. Northrop, ex-M.P., and a number of other well known Bellevillians; James Haverson, Ed. Dickie, John Stormont, L. Reinhart, E. B. Clancy, C. D. Eck, Toronto; A. M. Chisholm, New York; H.G. Milling, E. Francisco, Napanee; Fred D. Miller, Bath; George Graham, Peterborough; T. H. Bleecker, E. J. Sweet, Trenton; James Sweetman, Frankford; S. Tufft, Madoc Junction; Fred Peake, Campbellford; G. F. Hepburn, Picton; E. J. Baird, Port Hope; Jas. Haslett, Stirling; R. J. Munro, Lakefield.

The chair was occupied by Mr. H. Corby, M.P., and the vice-chair by Mr. W. H. Biggar, M.P.P., and after the assemblage had done due justice to the many good things presented to them on the bill of fare, the toast list was taken up, and in a brief speech Mr. Corby introduced the first toast of the evening, that of "The Queen." The response was in the usual loyal manner. A lengthy toast list followed and the supper passed off most successfully.

The competition for prizes at the Carnival, on Friday evening will be very keen, as a very large number are determined to secure some of the valuable prizes offered.

2. That W. Aldridge be paid $95 in full for examining surveys of taxes and locating different properties in Ward.

3. That the Board of Education be paid the amount of their demand for 1897 for Collegiate Institute and Public Schools in monthly instalments, as applied for by the Board.

4. That a cheque for $5,000 be issued to the Town Trust Commissioners on account of the moneys payable to them.

On motion of Messrs. Best and Meldrum, Clause 3 was referred back for further consideration. The balance of report adopted.

THE COMMITTEE ON APPOINTMENTS

through Chairman Dawson, recommended That John J. Hartley and Thos. B. McGrath, be appointed assessors for Wards Nos. 3 and 4, and Thos. McKee and John Kincaid, assessors for Wards Nos. 1 and 2, at a salary of $125 each.—Adopted.

THE PRINTING COMMITTEE,

through Chairman Councillor Cobb, recommended

That the town printing be let at the same rates as last year, and that it be divided among the offices of the EXAMINER, Review, Times and Harper Printing Company, on the same basis as last year, except that the printing of the auditors' report be given to the Review office.—Adopted.

Before submitting the report of the Charity Committee, Councillor Davis explained that he was about to introduce a change in the administration of the charity funds, as he had come to the conclusion that by the present method the council was working very much in the dark. His new proposition was to form a central committee composed of representatives from the various churches, etc., in order that no family could obtain help from more than one source.

THE CHARITY COMMITTEE,

through its chairman, Councillor Davis, recommended as follows:

1. That a committee be appointed to be known as the Central Charity Board, for the purpose of distributing the charity appropriations made by the town council.

2. That this Central Board consist of one representative from each church congregation of the town, including the Salvation Army, one representative from the Hall Trust Board, one representative from the Children's Aid, to be appointed by the Charity Committee after consultation with the clergymen and the bodies mentioned, also of the chairman of the Charity Committee and the Town Relief Officer.

3. That so soon as the Central Board is properly organized it be requested to submit a detailed statement of its plan of organization and distribution of charity to the Charity Committee and upon the chairman of the Charity Committee certifying that the plan has been approved of by the committee that a cheque for $200.00 be issued to the treasurer of the board.

4. That after the Central Board is organized and undertakes the duties for which it is established, no charity be given by this council, other than through the said board, except for the maintenance of the person in the Protestant Home for whom the council is now making payments to the Home.

5. That the street inspector be instructed to make use of the town team, so far as it can be done, to deliver wood given by the Central Board.

6. That the Central Board be required to make a monthly statement to the council of the distribution of the amounts placed in its hands by the council.

7. That the town treasurer be authorized to issue cheques the treasurer of the Central Charity Board as follows:—A cheque for $175 on the first day of each of the following months, namely, January, February, March, April, November and December, and a cheque for $75 on the first day of the following months, namely, May, June, July, August, September and October, making a total grant for each twelve months of $1,500, and that the first cheque under this clause be issued on the first day of March next.

8. That a Charity Relief Officer be appointed by the town to assist in the distribution of charity.

9. That Kenward Mark be appointed Charity Relief Officer at a salary of $100 per year, payable in equal proportions monthly on the last day of each month.

Councillor Davis moved the adoption of the report, with the exception of the last clause, which he desired should be discussed by the whole council, as he understood there existed a difference of opinion as to the proper man for the position. It had been suggested to him that Mr. Miller, the agent of the Children's Aid Society, had two years' experience in such work as would give him the necessary experience to deal with the different classes of poor, with which a relief officer would come in contact.

Councillor Best cordially agreed with the report, remarking that it would place a check on the loose manner in which wood had been distributed from the yard, as had been the case during the past year.

Councillors Denne and Best moved that Mr. F. W. Miller's name be inserted in place of that of Mr. Mark in the last clause.

Councillor Dawson stated Mr. Mark was fully acquainted with every needy person in town, his business bringing him in touch with all classes. Seconded by Councillor Cobb he moved that the report be adopted as presented without any change in the names.

Councillor Leplante pointed out that Mr. Miller had power, as agent of the Children's Aid Society, to enter any house in town, thereby enabling him to give better service.

Councillor Meldrum took the same ground as the previous speaker. Mr. Miller, he stated, could have a man arrested who refused to support his family, and thus would be of great assistance to the committee.

Councillor McWilliams thought the ground taken in support of Mr. Miller was the correct manner of dealing with the case. There should be a rigid investigation into every application for relief, as there had been a very strange administration of the funds during the last two weeks in December, when 186 orders had been issued by the recent chairman of the Charity Committee. He thought this was something that the County Crown Attorney should look into.

The report was adopted with the exception of the last clause, which was amended by the insertion of Mr. Finch W. Miller's name as Relief Officer.

THE STREET AND BRIDGE COMMITTEE,

through its chairman, Councillor McWilliams, reported as follows:

1. Your committee, as instructed, advertised for tenders for stone, and received a number of tenders. We recommend that the Street Inspector be instructed to purchase 30 cords of stone from any taxpayer who is a ratepayer and who will deliver stone suitable for street purposes, where required and subject to inspection, at $1.75 per cord, and that the stone be paid for on the certificate of the Street Inspector.

2. We also recommend that for this season $2.50 a cord be paid for breaking the stone, the men employed to keep their hammers in repair and to be paid on the certificate of the Inspector.

Adopted.

On motion of Councillors McWilliams and White, 25 cords will be taken from Mr. Spencely, who lives just outside the town limits.

FIRE, WATER AND LIGHT COMMITTEE

recommended and reported through its chairman Councillor White, as follows:—

1. The fire engine having been found to need some repairs your committee gave instructions to have the repairs made.

2. Your committee recommend that the police be instructed to ring the general fire alarm bell for five minutes when sounding the fire alarm.

3. When the fire alarm was sounded on Tuesday night Driver Lawrence, who was to drive the second team, was absent from the fire hall. The next morning the chairman of the committee and the mayor suspended him. Your committee approve of the action taken, but as Lawrence had arranged for a substitute to drive the team, and we believe the action taken by the mayor and chairman will be sufficient to enforce proper discipline, we recommend that he be reinstated on the expiration of the term of suspension.

Adopted.

Councillor Davis urged upon the council the necessity of watching most carefully everything which pertained to the fire protection of the town, as thirty or forty towns had recently had their ratings lowered through carelessness in the administration in this department. He congratulated Councillor White in taking the action of suspending Driver Lawrence for being absent from his post of duty. It was significant that the Peterborough council was always on its guard in respect to such matters.

THE SEWERAGE COMMITTEE,

through its Chairman, Councillor Best, reported and recommended:

That notice be given that the council intends to undertake the construction of sewers on the following streets:

Water street, from McDonel street to Argyle street.

George street, from McDonel street to Argyle street.

Perry street, from George street to Aylmer street.

Aylmer street, from Perry street to Smith street.

Stewart street, from Rink street to Brock street.

Rubidge street, from Rink street to Brock street.

McDonel street, from Water street to Dickson street.

McDonel street, from George street to Aylmer street.

Murray street, from Water street to Dickson street.

Harvey street, from McDonel street to Dublin street.

Dublin street, from Water street to Harvey street.

Simcoe street, from the creek west to Aylmer street.

Hunter street, from the creek west to Aylmer street.

Brock street, 440 feet west of George street to Aylmer street.

Murray street, from George street to Aylmer street.

London street, from George street to Aylmer street.

Charlotte street from Lewis street to Aylmer street.

And to assess upon the real property to be benefitted thereby such proportion of the cost thereof as may be just, in accordance with the provisions of sections 613 to 628 inclusive of the Consolidated Municipal Act of 1892, or so much thereof as may be applicable thereto, and subject to the provisions of such bylaw or bylaws of the said corporation, now or hereafter to be passed as shall be applicable to the same.

Adopted.

SOME BYLAWS.

Councillor Dawson introduced the bylaw for the appointment of assessors for 1897. The names were inserted, as recommended in the report of the Committee on Appointments.

Councillor Davis introduced the bylaw for the appointment of a Charity Relief Officer. On motion of Councillor Denne the name of Finch W. Miller was inserted in the bylaw as the officer.

Councillors Meldrum and Best moved that a notice be put in the papers that all last year's accounts must be sent in at once, and that hereafter accounts be required to be sent in monthly—Carried.

Councillor Dawson brought up the matter of an old promise which has been made to Mr. James Stevenson to pay half the cost of the asphalt sidewalk, which was laid at the Bank of Toronto corner. Councillor Dawson stated he was at the meeting of the council when the verbal promise was made to Mr. Stevenson in the matter.

Councillor Meldrum thought that if the council had agreed to do this the account would have been paid long ago. He thought it was rather late in the day to bring the matter up.

Councillor Best pointed out that the reason payment had been refused was on account of the upper surface scaling off.

In order that the entire question might be threshed out it was referred to the Street and Bridge Committee on motion of Councillors Dawson and Meldrum.

Councillor Davis spoke of the fact that when at the recent Dickson Company's fire he noticed that the firemen worked all night and did not receive any refreshments. He thought this was something which should be looked after more closely in the future.

Councillor White stated that probably Mr. Davis had gone home a trifle early, as refreshments were handed round before the men left the fire. It was well, however, to make provision for this, as they might not at another time receive them.

A general discussion followed regarding the application for special legislation empowering the town to collect the taxes in two instalments each year, and Mr. J. R. Stratton, M. P. P., who was present, promised to telephone from Toronto during the week, informing the council regarding the steps to be taken in this connection.

THE CENTRAL PARK.

The opinion of the council was taken on the subject of cutting down the pine trees on the Central Park. It was represented that these huge trees were slowly dying out and that if they were removed at once, in a few years the young trees would grow up, but as it was no other tree could grow and flourish in the park, as the pines drew all the life out of them. Councillor Dawson was anxious to have Mark Spencely instructed to remove them at once.

Councillor Denne did not like to see the old landmarks go. He thought, however, that the park would be greatly improved, if the Government could be induced to erect a new drill shed on the site of the old one.

Councillor Cobb stated that the Horticultural Society was sending a deputation to the town and county councils asking for a grant and the right to improve Central Park in the same manner as Court House Park.

Councillor Meldrum was opposed to having Central Park beautified to the same extent as the one at the Court House, pointing out that the former was now a great playground for children, whereas at the Court House the little ones were not allowed off the paths. He objected strongly to Central Park being taken from the children, as it was now such a splendid breathing place for them.

The question then came up as to whether the council had the right to cut down the old trees—whether the town owned the park or not.

Mr. J. R. Stratton, M. P. P., explained that the title was held jointly by the town and county and the matter was referred to the Joint Committee for adjustment.

ANNEXATION OF ASHBURNHAM.

The Mayor asked if the council wished to express an opinion regarding the annexation of Ashburnham to the town during the coming year. He understood that the new village council favoured the idea and as the ratepayers of both municipalities has signified in favour of the project, he thought something ought to be done in regard to the matter. Reeve Adams, of Ashburnham, had been speaking to him on the subject on Saturday and he thought the details could be easily settled.

Councillor Best did not see what the council had before it to work upon. He would like to have a proposition from the village.

Councillor Davis did not see any reason for annexing the village. It was not as though the town was growing so rapidly that it needed room on the other side of the river.

Councillor Leplante did not favour the annexing of the village, as he thought there would have to be a large sum laid out immediately on the streets.

Councillor Meldrum thought the Ashburnham streets were as good, if not better, than those in Peterborough.

Councillor McWilliams would favour the proposition if that portion of the village east of Concession street was given back to the township of Otonabee. The other portion was almost as thickly populated as any portion of Peterborough.

The matter was dropped on the understanding that a committee from each council would meet at a future date to discuss the question in all its details.

Dr. Chase Cures Backache.

Kidney trouble generally begins with a single pain in the back, and in time developes into Bright's Disease. People troubled with stricture, impediments, stoppage of water, or a frequent desire to urinate at night, will find Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills a blessing. Read the wonderful cures in another column. One Pill is a dose, and if taken every other night will positively cure kidney troubles.

"Very, Very Good."

A prominent lady visiting Peterborough from New York City was so highly pleased with the photographic work she saw in

Mr. Whiten's art studio that she made an appointment and had a dozen sent to her address, 170 Lexington Avenue, New York City. She writes Mr. Whiten: "Photos arrived all right; they are very, very good; I am much pleased with them." Three different persons recently on a visit here from Montreal also had a dozen each taken by Mr. Whiten and forwarded to their address in Montreal. The above speaks well for Peterborough and the high-class work turned out by Mr. Whiten. Entrance to studio, 158 Hunter street, opposite Oak Hall. d15tf

The Acme Heating Drum

Is the best appliance to economize fuel. We are selling them rapidly. They pay for themselves in a short time. Read what our Citizens say:

Messrs. Micks and Cox:—

GENTLEMEN,—After giving your Acme Heating Drum a fair trial in China Hall, we have no hesitation in pronouncing it a perfect success. Our store is 20x100 feet with glass front and all of one side of glass facing the north; and the Drum with a small wood stove heats the store more perfectly than it has ever been heated before, even when we had two coal stoves which we formerly used. Yours truly,
Peterborough, Jan. 15th, '97. McFARLANE WILSON.

Messrs. Micks & Cox:—

GENTLEMEN,—After giving the Acme Heating Drum purchased from you a full trial in severe weather we have no hesitation in pronouncing it a complete success.

Your Drum is an application of the correct principle in proper heating devices, in drawing the cold air from the floor, heating it and circulating it through the building. We heat three rooms by means of a moderate sized wood stove with your Drum attached, and find our offices very much more comfortable than formerly, at the same time using a third less fuel than without the Drum. Yours very truly,
Peterborough, Jan. 14, '97. HATTON & WOOD.

The men who say that they are made of tough stuff and can stand anything, generally find that death is made of tougher stuff and are found in a coffin at an age when they should be doing their best and most useful work. It is time enough for a man to brag about his toughness when he has reached a ripe old age. The men who live long lives are the ones who take care of their health in youth and maturity. They realize the truth of the old saying that "a stitch in time saves nine." The ones who don't do this die off of nervous prostration, heart failure, and consumption.

The best of all health-restorers and health preservers is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption. It wards off nervous troubles and wasting diseases. It corrects all disorders of the digestion, invigorates the liver and restores the appetite. It fills the arteries with the pure, rich, red blood of health. It tears down, and carries off old, inert and half-dead tissues and replaces them by new. It builds firm, healthy flesh. It makes the muscles strong and elastic and steadies and tones the nerves. It cures debility and weakness of every description. It is the product of the life-time experience and study of an eminent and skillful specialist, Dr. R. V. Pierce, for thirty years chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. Thousands of men and women have testified to its virtues Druggists sell it.

There is nothing in the world "just as good," although avaricious druggists will sometimes say so for the sake of the greater profit to be made upon the inferior article.

THREE KILLED INSTANTLY.

Train on the Pittsburg and Western Railway Goes Through a Trestle and Causes Havoc.

Butler, Pa., Jan. 24.—About 2.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon one of the most serious accidents in the history of the Pittsburg and Western Railroad occurred at Plum Creek bridge, one mile from Shippenville station. At this point there is a big bend over the turbulent little stream, which is spanned by an S-shaped bridge about 50 feet high, and over this bridge passenger train No. 7, southbound from Kane, was dashed into the stream below, the train, with all on board, going over the trestle. Three were killed instantly and only one person on the train, it is said, escaped injury. The train consisted of engine, baggage car and two passenger coaches. About 30 passengers were on board when the frightful plunge was made, and that a soul escaped is indeed miraculous. Just as the train left the rails Baggagemaster Thomas Raney of Foxburg jumped, saving his life, but suffering very serious injury. Conductor Thomas Tanks of Foxburg went down with the train, but escaped with numerous bad bruises. He managed, although suffering greatly, to walk to Shippenville station and report the accident. The engineer, fireman and mail agent were killed outright. Relief trains were hurried from St. Petersburg and Foxburg with corps of physicians. Brakeman Wise was badly cut and bruised and received serious internal injuries that may cause his death. A passenger, whose name could not be learned, is among the seriously injured. J. T. Kelley of Cleveland was cut about the head and badly bruised. William Carothers, newsboy, was cut about the head and body. Several bad accidents have occurred at this point, ten people having met death at this same place. Mr. Kelley says there were three coaches on the train, including a standard gauge baggage car, while the track is a narrow gauge. The train, he says, was running 25 miles an hour and seemed to be gaining speed. As it approached the curved bridge, Brakeman Wise and a newsboy set the brakes. The train had gone but a little distance, however, when Wise cried: "It's no use, it's all up now." The brakes refused to hold the runaway train and the train made the awful plunge, the engine and the cars being demolished on the rocks below.

Coldest Day in Two Years.

Omaha, Jan. 24.—This has been the coldest day Nebraska has experienced in two years. At many points the mercury registered 12 degrees below zero and the warmest reported was 4 below. Very Easy for Him

Malone, N.Y., Jan. 23.—Dr. Osbaldeston, who, with Mrs. Metzgar, was extradited recently from Canada on the charge of being implicated in the taking of the goods from a store in this village, failed to appear yesterday when his case was called for preliminary examination before Justice Earl, and his whereabouts are unknown. He was under $700 bail, which was declared estreated. Mrs. Metzgar was held for the grand jury.

HON. A. G. JONES

Tells a Little About the Cable Conference, But the Commissioners' Report Must Be Awaited for Details.

Halifax, Jan. 23.—Hon. A. G. Jones and Sandford Fleming, who attended the Pacific cable conference as the representatives of Canada, arrived here from England this evening on the steamer Vancouver, after a rough passage. Mr. Jones was interviewed on his arrival on the matter of the Pacific cable. He said the commission had arrived at an understanding to make nothing public until the report was submitted to the British and Colonial Governments by the chairman of the commission. Mr. Jones said he felt at liberty to state that the Pacific cable was practicable, which fact was doubted previous to the meetings of the commission. The commission unanimously agreed on a report, which cannot be made public. In his opinion, the report was satisfactory to the various governments. Mr. Jones said the reports published in the English papers and cabled to this side of the water were mainly of a speculative character. The whole evidence was highly satisfactory to the representatives of the various colonial governments, and the Imperial Government as well. No difference of opinion as to the route existed. The cable will be an all-British one. That is the desire of the Canadian Government and the point insisted upon. The cost would not exceed that which was originally stated. The question now to be taken up is as to the division of the responsibility. This feature was not dealt with by the commission. When the matter of responsibility came up it would be found that Canada's share would be very light. Mr. Jones said that Sandford Fleming rendered the commission very valuable service in giving evidence as to his knowledge of the subject.

Asked how the English people viewed Mr. Laurier's elevation to the Premiership, Mr. Jones said the English people were greatly disappointed to learn that Mr. Laurier was not able to go over. There is a great desire to see and hear him. This is particularly so from the fact that he is a French-Canadian. He was able to say on behalf of Canada that when they saw him and learned his views they would be well satisfied with him, and that he enjoyed confidence with Liberals and Conservatives in Canada. The hope is general that at no distant day he will be able to visit the Mother Country. "I found," said Mr. Jones, "a great deal of interest on the other side in every thing relating to Canada, and endeavored to give all the information possible regarding our country, its resources, capabilities and possibilities.

Sandford Fleming, from the fact of his not being a commissioner, and, therefore, not bound to secrecy, was more communicative. He said: The whole matter of a Pacific cable was entered upon in a most thorough and deliberate manner. There was no hurry or any desire to rush things to a conclusion. The mode of procedure laid down by Mr. Chamberlain was not departed from in the least. Some four months ago the British Government determined that the whole facts relating to the establishment of a cable between Great Britain and Australia, by the way of Canada, should be looked into. The Secretary of State considered the question should be carefully examined by an Imperial commission, consisting of six members. During the sittings of the committee an exhaustive enquiry was made, when the best authorities in the world were consulted on the subject—marine telegraphy—and the commission agreed on and signed a report embodying their united views. It will be first laid before the Imperial, Dominion and Colonial Governments. From the character and weight of the evidence I am convinced that the report cannot fail to sustain and confirm all that was advanced at the colonial conferences of 1887 and 1894. I believe all the essential points will be fully met and the Pacific cable beyond all dispute shown to be entirely practicable; that the cost will be moderate and, when established, it will be of immense value to the commerce of Canada and the rest of the empire. The liability to be borne by the Dominion will be very light. Another step gained is that many obstacles in the way have about disappeared, or have been rendered harmless. The hostility which existed some time back has been withdrawn or overcome in certain quarters, and it is in a fair way of breaking down or being rendered entirely harmless. The prospects for the early establishment of this important national work could not be better.

"Five years ago," says Anga A. Lewis, Ricard, N. Y., "I had a constant cough, night sweats, was greatly reduced in flesh, and had been given up by my physicians. I began to take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and after using two bottles was completly cured."

LEND YOUR EARS

To Your Back and Listen to its Talk—A Peterborough Man Tries It.

Did you know the back could talk;
Tell you why it aches and pains;
Tell you why it's lame and weak;
Warn you of the kidney's ills;
Tell you of Doan's Kidney Pills?
Listen to them when they speak.
Relieve the kidneys, cure the ache.
Bad back, acute pains and kidney ills,
Are quickly cured by Doan's Kidney Pills.

Here is proof of it at home. The testimony of Mr. George N. Graham, the genial host of the Oriental Hotel, Peterborough, is as follows:—

He says:—"I have been a great sufferer for some time with pain across the back, extending up between the shoulders, swelling of the limbs, dizziness, loss of appetite, and in fact felt completely broken up.

"I had lost 17 pounds in three months, and thought that I would never get better. I have taken many kinds of patent medicines, and have also been treated by medical men, but did not seem to get any better at all, in fact was constantly growing worse.

"I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertisement and got a box of them at Lynch's drugstore, and by the time I had taken one box noticed a marked change for the better.

"I have taken seven boxes altogether, and am now free from pain; the swelling in the limbs has disappeared, and my appetite is good. In fact, I feel that I am completely cured.

"I can heartily recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to those suffering from any form of kidney trouble. They are the best kidney medicine I have ever used.

Signed, GEO. N. GRAHAM.

TEN YEARS TROUBLED

With Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia—Suffered Greatly and Found No Relief in the Scores of Medicines Prescribed.

South American Nervine Was Recommended, and Before Half a Bottle Was Taken Relief Came.

Have Since Improved Rapidly, and Am Now Completely Cured—So Says Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont.

What ills come to humanity from a disordered liver! Henry Ward Beecher has said that it was impossible for a man to hold correct spiritual views if his liver was out of order. The liver is so important a part of the mechanism of man that when it ceases to work with ease the whole man is unable to do his work aright. Can we not appeal to thousands, nay, tens of thousands, for a verification of this fact? Certainly it is, that Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont., felt that the enjoyment of life had been taken from him, through the unhealthy condition of his liver. For ten years he says he was troubled with liver complaint and dyspepsia. Employing his own language: "At times my liver was so tender I could not bear it pressed or touched from the outside. Had tried a great many remedies without any benefit. Was compelled to drop my work, and being worse than usual, I decided as a final resort to try South American Nervine, which had been recommended to me by friends who had been cured by it. I got a bottle from A. S. Goodeve, local druggist, and commenced taking according to directions. Before I had taken half a bottle I was able to go to work again, and I have improved steadily since. I can conscientiously recommend South American Nervine to any suffering from dyspepsia or liver complaint." This is Mr. Reid's story as he tells it in his own words. Were it thought necessary it could be corroborated by a host of witnesses. Mr. Reid has lived a long time in Chesley, and his case was known to be a very bad one. But that makes no difference to Nervine. This great discovery rises equal to the most trying occasions. Let it be indigestion, the most chronic liver trouble, as with Mr. Reid, nervous prostration, that makes life miserable with so many, sick headaches, that sap all the effort out of man or woman, Nervine measures to the necessities of the case. It is a great medicine and thousands to-day in Canada are happier and healthier men and women, because of its discovery. There is no great secret about it, and yet there is an important secret. It operates on the nerve centers of the system from which emanate all life and healthfulness, or if disordered, sickness, even death. Nervine strikes promptly at the nerve centers, hence, as with Mr. Reid, where ten years' use of other medicines had done no good, less than a bottle of Nervine brought about encouraging results, and a few bottles cured.

La Grippe, for Colds, Coughs,

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL

"Two years ago, I had the grippe, and it left me with a cough which gave me no rest night or day. My family physician prescribed for me, changing the medicine as often as he found the things I had taken were not helping me, but, in spite of his attendance, I got no better. Finally, my husband,—reading one day of a gentleman who had had the grippe and was cured by taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,—procured, for me, a bottle of this medicine, and before I had taken half of it, I was cured. I have used the Pectoral for my children and in my family, whenever we have needed it, and have found it a specific for colds, coughs, and lung troubles."—EMILY WOOD, North St., Elkton, Md.

DIXON BEAT MURPHY.

The Colored Lightweight Showed Up in His Old Form Last Night.

New York, Jan. 23.—George Dixon knocked out Australian Billy Murphy to-night in the sixth round of their 20-round battle at the Broadway A.C. The deciding blow was a left hook, which landed full on the pit of the stomach with terrific force.

Dixon showed an immense improvement over his recent form, as shown against White. His attack was strong, and he rushed like the Dixon of old. He had all the best of the bout up to the knock-out, and did nearly all the fighting. Murphy countered well with his right hand, but was very often wild, and his blows lacked steam. The time of the decisive round was 3 min. 43 sec.

The opening bout was a 10-round affair between Frank O'Neil, the colored boxer, and Paddy Fenton of Boston. They weighed in at 128 pounds. Fenton knocked his man out with a left-hand uppercut on the jaw in the seventh round.

There was very little delay in starting the star bout. Dixon, as usual, was the first to appear. The dusky champion looked to be in splendid condition. He was seconded by Tom O'Rourke, Joe Ellis, Jimmy Barry and Jimmy Defforest. Murphy was looked after by Dan Creedon, Mike Conley and Benny Murphy. The betting was $100 to $80 on Dixon. Murphy had three inches advantage in height and a slightly longer reach than Dixon, and appeared to be well trained. They both weighed in at 120 pounds at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The kids shook hands at 9.30.

After a little sparring, Dixon opened with a right on the body. They exchanged lefts, and George put a good right on the body. As George rushed, Murphy put a hard left on the wind.

Dixon opened the second with two lefts on the body and neck, but Murphy retaliated with a hard left on the neck. Dixon tried a rush, but was stopped with left on the body and right on the neck. Just as the bell rang Dixon landed a hard left on the jaw.

In the third round, after an exchange of swings, Dixon rushed in with a right on the jaw. Murphy came in with both hands on the body. A hot rally followed, both being in turn forced to the ropes. Murphy swung right and left in succession hard on the jaw, but Dixon only smiled.

Dixon showed some of his old-time attack in the fourth, and with a couple of left uppercuts forced the Australian to the ropes.

George started a series of hurricane rushes in the fifth, and Murphy was in difficulty for the greater part of the round, but just before the bell rang Billy landed a couple of scorching rights on the wind.

Dixon kept up the rushing in the sixth, and landed both hands on the neck and body. Billy countering with the right on the body. Then George came in with a fearful left hook, that landed on the pit of Murphy's stomach. The Australian dropped on his hands and knees and writhed with pain. The referee counted the seconds, but Murphy was unable to rise, and was counted out. Murphy had to be helped to his feet, but revived quickly.

The dyspeptic carries a dreadful load on his back. It seems as if he were really made up of two men. One of them ambitious, brainy and energetic; the other sick, listless, peevish and without force. The weak man weighs the other one down. The dyspeptic may be able to do pretty good work one day, and the next day because of some little indiscretion in eating, he may be able to do nothing at all. Most cases of dyspepsia start with constipation. Constipation is the cause of nine-tenths of all human sickness. Some of its symptoms are sick and bilious headache, dizziness, sour stomach, loss of appetite, foul breath, windy belchings, heartburn, pain and distress after eating. All these are indicative of derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels, and all are caused by constipation. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the quickest, surest and most certain cure for this condition. They are not violent in action.

CUBANS MAKE A DASH.

General Weyler Had a Narrow Escape From Being Captured—Spanish Gunboat Burned.

New York, Jan. 23.—A despatch to The Herald from Havana, via Key West, says: General Weyler has received his baptism of fire in the field. He may even have been astounded by the brilliancy of the flash of the insurgent steel before his very eyes. At all events, 10 of his special escort of guides, a corps of Cuban negroes, who enjoy the distinction of guarding the person of the Captain-General when he takes the field, arrived here Tuesday night seriously wounded with machete thrusts. Several have since died.

Eight members of the same corps, all wounded, reached Havana Wednesday morning. From their accounts, it is clear that early on Tuesday morning the rebels under Aranguren and Arango made a startlingly bold and dashing attempt to capture the Captain-General, which was nearly crowned with success.

General Weyler entered the village of Qurato Camiros Monday afternoon. Orders were at once given that all the inhabitants should leave their homes within two hours. The village being deserted, the torch was applied, and all the houses, about 300 in number, were destroyed.

The Captain-General then proceeded toward Gopaste, 16 kilometres further on the road to Guines. Gopaste was reached after nightfall, and a corps of guides was sent forward to reconnoitre. Gen. Weyler, with the main Spanish column, under Col. Segura, halted some distance outside the village. The insurgents, at the orders of their leaders, Aranguren and Arango, had concealed themselves in the houses of the town. Their plans were evidently well laid, and it is probable that they might have succeeded in capturing the desired prize, the Spanish commander himself.

Unfortunately for the fulfilment of the design of the insurgent leaders, while the Spanish scouts were engaged in the reconnaissance, the guns of some of the concealed rebels were accidentaly discharged, giving the alarm to the royal troops. Before the Spanish advance guard recovered from its surprise, the rebels, seeing that their plans had partially failed, rushed from their places of concealment and attacked the enemy with great fury, inflicting severe loss in their resistless onslaught. So bold, in fact, was the insurgent column, that it pursued the rapidly retreating Spaniards to a point almost within range of the troops in General Weyler's main body, and easily within the compass of a field glass, if the Captain-General had cared to inspect the dispersal of his own soldiers.

Captain-General Weyler spent Wednesday night in Guines, and, according to official reports received here, expected to enter Matanzas on Friday.

SPANISH GUNBOAT BURNED.

Desperate Hand to Hand Conflict on Board the Vessel.

Key West, Fla., Jan. 23.—Havana advices received in Key West are to the effect that the Spanish gunboat Cometa has been captured and burned by the insurgents. The Cometa was one of the most powerful of the smaller Spanish vessels in Cuban waters, and has been cruising near Cardenas to prevent the landing of filibustering expeditionsn. For some time she has been accustomed to anchor at night off Sierra Morra. The place where the gunboat anchored was favorable for an attack from the shore and the insurgents determined to capture her. Last Tuesday night they opened fire upon the vessel with a 12-pound Hotchkiss gun. The vessel was struck several times and badly damaged. While the crew were in confusion, boats loaded with insurgents left the short and the Cometa was boarded. A desperate hand-to-hand fight took place on the decks of the gunboat, the Cubans using the machete with deadly effect. Finally, after the Spanish commander and half his men had been killed, the survivors surrendered. The vessel was then burned.

The King's Birthday.

Havana, Jan. 23.—This being the name day of King Alfonso, it was celebrated today by services in the Cathedral in honor of the King's patron saint and by social functions. In accordance with the custom, a umber of prisoners were given their liberty. It was thought that a number of Americans now confined in Cuban prisons would be released in honor of the day, but this expectation nwas disappointed. There were only 18 men set free in this city, and they were only given their liberty provisionally. Three of them had been confined in state prison eight months in Morocco Castle. They were charged with various offences and all of them are comparatively unknown.

Several wounded rebels belonging to the rebel band led by Urras, who were hidden in a house in the outskirts of Havana, were arrested last night. All of them were brought here and placed in a military hospital.

Capt.-Gen. Weyler is now at Union de Ryes, Province of Matanzas. The Marquis de Auhamada, Marquis de Palerta, and the Civil Governor left for the Placon on an express train to-night. They will meet and hold a conference with the Captain-General.

Poisoned the Wells.

New York, Jan. 23.—A despatch to The Journal from Havana, via Key West, says: "The surface wells and smaller streams throughout Pinar del Rio and Havana Provinces have either been intentionally poisoned for some ulterior purpose, or are so thoroughly polluted with the bodies of men and horses killed in the war that the waters are more or less deadly. A fever resembling typhus has broken out among the resident pacificos at various points. A small insurgent foraging party, drinking water from the well upon an estate where a Spanish column had encamped the previous night, were all simultaneously attacked a few hours later with excruciating pains, followed by vomiting. Seven out of thirteen died in fearful agony.

Prevent sickness and save doctors' bills at this season by keeping your blood pure with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

The Clay Eaters.

In several localities in the south, in the mountainous regions of Georgia, South Carolina and North Carolina in particular, there are families, or even whole communities, that use clay as a part of their regular diet. In northern Alabama (in Winston county) there is a bed of this peculiar edible clay, and, of course, a community of clay eaters. This queer clay is of a ghastly white color, of an oily nature, and, according to chemical analysis, it has extraordinary nutritive property, if considered only as a variety of earth.

Persons who have visited the clay eating communities say that a steady diet of this white, oily earth has a tendency to turn the skin a pale olive green. Some medical writers claim that this deathly pallor is caused by the presence of a large per cent of arsenic in the clay's composition, but this can hardly be when the statistics prove that the clay eaters live as long as or longer than their meat, grain and vegetable eating neighbors. The teeth of the clay eaters often remain sound and white beyond the seventieth year.—St. Louis Republic.

Used Eighteen Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills—The Stone Dissolved and Removed—Knew of Others Cured.

Shelburne, Jan. 25 (Special).—Mr. John Medill, known locally as well as far and near as a physical giant, and glorying in his strength, came to be a great sufferer and tells of his cure as follows:—

"I do not hesitate to speak of Dodd's Kidney Pills or anything else exactly as I find them. If a medicine cures me and I think it will cure others why not say so?

"It is true I had been suffering for some time with Bladder trouble, and, learning of a cure made in a similar case by Dodd's Kidney Pills, I commenced using them.

"In all I have used eighteen boxes and they have dissolved the stone and have entirely cured me of any sign of such difficulty. I do not hesitate to speak of Dodd's Kidney Pills in the highest terms of praise, for I know of many persons who have been cured by them."

CURLIANA.

Two games in the preliminary round of the Ontario Tankard were curled yesterday afternoon in group 7. At the Granite Rink the Toronto Caledonians wrested a victory from Galt by 5 shots, and on Victoria ice the Peterborough Granites demolished the tankard aspirations of the Hamilton Thistles through the excellent play of Judge Weller, who gave a magnificent exhibition of the game. On the 20th end in the Hamilton-Peterborough contest the score was a tie all round, but both the eastern rinks scored on the remaining end and won by 6 shots. The score :

This morning the Toronto Granites met the Peterborough Granites at 9.30, on Victoria ice, and in the afternoon the winners played the Caledonians at 2 o'clock.

The Campbellford Colts come up to-night to play off in the draw against the Peterborough Colts. The winners will play the winners of the Norwood-Lindsay game to-morrow.

The Toronto Mail in its notes of the bonspiel says:—McLennan, of Lindsay, defeated Ray, of Peterborough, in the Consolation. The game was played on almost perfect ice, and was one of the very best played during the spiel. Ray, of Peterborough, is known from one end of the province to the other as one of the best curlers of the province. He put up a great specimen of curling, and he was well backed up by his men, but though they played magnificently, McLennan's men outplayed him. Ray at the close freely expressed himself that he had never seen finer curling than the Lindsay rink put up, and that their victory was well deserved. McLellan has been playing in great form throughout the spiel.

HOCKEY.

The Kingston Whig says: "With steady practice and well directed coaching Frontenac II team ought to occupy a good forward position in the junior series of the Ontario hockey league. The members play the game fairly well, but do not meet together as a team often enough to perfect themselves in all the points. Three or four hard grinds with the senior team for the purpose of strengthening the combination work of the forward line, would make a vast difference in the team work of the juniors. As the team will have to go to Peterborough next week the executive committee should insist on these suggestions being carried out."

In order that the Junior Peterboroughs may know what kind of an aggregation they have to run up against in the Frontenac II team, the following extracts are taken from a Kingston account of their last match:

When the players faced each other there was a look of grim determination on their faces. Spectators saw at once it was to be a sharp battle, and this expectation was fully realized. From the moment the referee's whistle sounded until the timekeeper's bell announced "time," there was no cessation of hostilities. Zip, biff, bang; everything went, and it is safe to say not a single player left the ice without at least a score of bruises on his body. Stiff body-checking was freely indulged in and at times different players were sent spinning along the ice like so many "nine pins." There was no "kicking," however, each player being content to take all given him, but determined to return with a lavish hand. . . . Up to this time about half a dozen sticks had been broken but the referee found it necessary to warn the players against rough play. Irwin was sent to the fence for five minutes, but he should not have gone alone. Before the second half started referee Coxworthy gathered the players in a circle on the ice and warned them that each and everyone indulging in rough play, slugging, etc., would be ruled off from five to fifteen minutes. This had the effect of making the play run smoother and better hockey was produced. Rose was struck in the mouth with a stick and had his lips cut open, delaying the match for some minutes. As soon as the flow of blood was staunched he pluckily continued the game."

It would be as well to steer the lacrosse hockey men up against so rough a team. The former could handle them all right.

In the Ontario senior hockey series Peterborough and Queen's teams play home and home matches, the first to be played at Peterborough on or before Feb. 8th, and the second in Kingston on or before Feb. 15th.

W. F. Nickle, manager of Queen's team, sent the following telegram from New York: "Queen's, 3; Yale, 0; 'cinch.'" "These few words," says the Whig, "told a volume. They told that at their own game Canadians are world beaters. They told of a short, sharp struggle for the honour of a college and the glory of a country. With the instinct that dominated the Roman gladiators of old the handful of Kingstonians went down to the great metropolis of the North American continent and there met an aggregation representative of the whole union, the pride of seventy millions of people. The eagle plumed itself for battle, but at a single stroke the mild-mannered, industrious beaver robbed it of its glory and tail feathers. 'Rah for Queen's! 'Rah for Kingston! 'Rah for Canada!"

The Riverside hockey club held their inaugural meeting in their club rooms at the rink Saturday evening last, when the officers for this season were elected as follows:

Hon. President—Commodore H. Calcutt.
President—H. Neil.
Vice-Pres—W. J. Scott.
Secretary—R. T. Hartley.
Treasurer—W. J. McGowan.
Captain—J. McCabe.
Committee—C. W. Calcutt, J. McCabe and L. McWilliams.

The park seven, as puck chasers, are full of vim, and are prepared to meet with a good licking or make things most lively for all comers. Though the club is young, yet the players are composed of "such material that they won't take "back water" from the best of teams, and are open for engagements at any time with any club, from a "grease spot" to a "banker." Those desirous of having a game will communicate with R. T. Hartley, the secretary of the club, Box 55.

FAMINE IN INDIA.

Canadian and Russian Help.

Well authenticated reports from India show out the condition of the famine stricken districts to be simply appalling. It is estimated that six millions of British subjects are on the verge of starvation. Already the famine has claimed thousands of victims. The case of India's famishing millions appeals to the sympathies of the whole world. The appeal is being heeded. The people of England are eagerly engaged in the work of relief, and British people in all quarters of the world are sending succor to their fellow subjects in the Indian Empire. Even the people of Russia have joined in the relief movement, and are giving money and food. Canada surely will not neglect to perform her part in this great humane work. The Montreal Star newspaper has inaugurated a Canadian fund—the first to be started in the Dominion—and its publisher has headed the list with a subscription of five hundred dollars. The Hon. Wilfrid Laurier, Premier of Canada, has written to the Star, expressing his hearty approval of the relief movement and contributing to the fund a handsome cheque. The appeal for assistance is meeting with a hearty response in all parts of the country and among all classes.

All the Protestant clergymen of Montreal have written a joint memorial to the Star supporting the movement.

Every subscription to the Famine Fund sent to the Montreal Star, no matter how small it may be, will be publicly acknowledged.

The secretary of the Carnival Committee has had a number of enquiries relative to the competition for the medal for fancy figure skating.

TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—I see in last week's EXAMINER that a deputation from the united counties of Northumberland and Durham waited upon Hon. Mr. Blair to ask him to tear out a dam at Chisholm's Rapids on the River Trent. I beg to disagree with the deputation. To tear out the dam would destroy one of the best water powers in the county of Hastings. The grist mill and saw mill that are here are a great accommodation to the settlers in this vicinity; and as to the dam drowning 30,000 acres of land, it does not drown 10,000 acres. I have lived here before the dam was built and have been over the ground. If the dam was out, with high water in the spring the most of the land they want to reclaim is under water. The low lands below the dam in the spring freshet are all overflown and under water. It would be the same above the dam if the dam was out.

I have lived here 58 years. I was here when the dam and locks were built. I was told by a prominent engineer that England paid £60,000 for the work they had done. After the works had stopped, a Mr. Boyd, from Peterborough, went to England to see if the government intended to go on with the works. The British Government told him that they had done enough for the canal. If the colonists wanted the canal built they must build it themselves, but they would given them a charter. Mr. Boyd came home and went to Chicago to raise a company to build the canal. They offered to build the canal for the use of it for twenty years, or give £10,000 for the charter. Mr. Boyd came back to Canada and told what he had been offered. The late Sir John A. Macdonald told Mr. Boyd it would not do to have a canal through our country owned by a foreign power; that our Government would build it when the country got older and the finances of the country would permit. If my informant's statement is correct Canada was made a present of £60,000 that the British paid for the work done in building dam and locks, and paying for the land they drowned by building the dam. The late government was pledged to go on with the work and complete the Trent Valley Canal. If the Hon. Mr. Blair saw the works here he would not be in favour of that petition to abolish the work. Trenton, Frankford and Peterborough, wake up and fight for our rights.

REPATRIATION OF THE 100TH.

THE EXAMINER has to thank the committee which is engaged in urging the repatriation of the 100th "Royal Canadians," the Leinster Regiment, as they are now termed, for a summary, in exceedingly neat form of the petitions upon the subject which have been sent from Canadians of all parts of the Dominion. The return, which is certified to by Major Edward Harrison, 49th Hastings Rifles, shows that in all 319 petitions have been sent in.

In addition the signatures of the commanding officers and officers of nearly all the regiments of the Canadian militia also appear. Attached to the circular is a reprint of descriptions of the presentation of the colours of 100th Regiment by the Prince of Wales in 1859, and of the disposition of the old colours in the Parliamentary Library in Ottawa.

WE ARE GLAD

To be able to announce that we have finished Stock-taking, and have something left after a satisfactory year's business. To be sure Profits have been small during the year just closed, but we have kept the expense account small likewise.

Ladies who shop here have shown their appreciation of our goods and our plain way of doing business. We have reason to be thankful for their confidence and patronage, and solicit a continuance of their favours for another year.

An Aftermath Of Bargains.

We have laid out for bargain overs special lots of DRESS GOODS, APRON MUSLINS, FLANNELETTE, FLANNEL, and the rest of our WINTER MILLINERY, which we can afford to sell at a loss at the end of the season, so as to make room for new goods. As a matter of fact you run no risk in buying here, because our goods have no chance to grow old. The store the ladies like must have a large daily outflow of goods to keep the stock new and fresh. You catch the idea.

Costly CLOTHES

Is not the greatest pleasure. Rather pay a reasonable price for something you know to be good, than pay a high price for something you think—but don't know—may possibly be better.

It does not necessarily follow when our customary January Reduction Sale takes place, that good dressers want the commonest grade of Clothes that lack fit, finish and style. What we think is wanted to induce buyers in dull months is THE BEST we can make for THE LEAST MONEY—in fact CHEAPER THAN AT ANY OTHER TIME. Therefore, that's why we are now charging only—

EXPLOSION AND FIRE

The Gas Works of Berlin Blown Up.

SHELBURNE SUFFERS GREAT LOSS

Manager Breithaupt of Berlin Gas Works Very Badly Hurt and Foreman Aldridge Killed—Cause of Explosion a Mystery—Losses and Insurance at Shelburne.

Berlin, Ont., Jan. 26.—About 7.40 this evening the residents of the town were startled by two loud explosions, followed by the fire alarm, and very rapidly the news spread that the gas works were on fire. On arrival there a horrible sight was witnessed. Outside in the snow lay the almost lifeless body of E. Carl Breithaupt, manager of the gas works, whither he had been blown, in a bruised and burnt condition. He was speedily removed to the residence of Dr. Bowlby, where it is learned he is seriously, if not fatally, injured. While this was going on, rescuers made their way into the factory, knowing assuredly that others in the building must be in distress or even worse. And their fears were well founded, for, lying beside one of the tanks, where the explosion occurred, lay the lifeless body of William Aldridge, foreman, with his hands, feet and clothing burnt from off him. Another man by the name of Weller, also an employe at the works, was pulled out of the building badly burnt, but it is thought not fatally.

The injured were later removed to the hospital.

It is impossible to say how the explosion occurred. A report is going the rounds that Aldridge looked into one of the tanks with the aid of his lantern, and in some way caused the explosion. Another theory, and one which is believed to be the correct one, is that one of the men had a lighted cigar, which dropped into one of the tanks.

Mr. Aldridge had been in the employ of the gas and electric works here for ten years, and was looked upon as thoroughly acquainted with his work. Much sympathy is felt for his widow and family, who are so suddenly deprived of father and husband.

SHELBURNE BADLY SCORCHED.

The Imperial and Berwick Blocks With Contents a Mass of Ruins.

Shelburne, Ont., Jan. 26.—The most disastrous fire that this town has ever had occurred early this morning. The three-storey Imperial Block, owned and partly occupied by G. R. Hannah, hardware merchant, and the Berwick Block, also three storeys high, occupied and owned by E. Berwick & Co., general merchants and grain dealers, are, with their entire contents, a smouldering mass of ruins to-night. About 3.15 this morning Mr. Shan, who occupies part of the first flat of the Imperial Block, as a dwelling house, was aroused by the smell of smoke and hastily arousing his family, and putting them in a safe place, he sounded the alarm of fire. In a few moments the fire brigade appeared, but not much more than smoke could be found. Fire soon appeared, fanned into an awful flame by the fierce gale that was at the time raging, and in a few minutes the Imperial Block was a mass of flame, aided by a large stock of oils and turpentines in the cellar. In the same block was a boot and shoe store occupied by W. J. Sawyer and two jewelery shops, occupied by A. V. Galbraith and W. A. Fenwick respectively. From these there was hardly any thing saved. Mr. Jarvis, manager of the Union Bank, had a room on the first floor, from which nothing was saved. The Berwick block immediately adjoins the Imperial, and the firm is the oldest in business in the town. The fierce wind blew the flames through into them, and before much could be taken out the fire was master there too. After raging within these bounds and being kept from going further east by the strong fireproof wall of the Berwick block, the fire was gradually mastered and got under control. The Carson block, a frame building next the Berwick block, was wrecked, and left a gap which also helped to keep the fire in bounds. If it had not been for this the whole eastern portion of the town would have been in ruins.

A Telegram special says: At 4 o'clock the whole population were aroused by an alarm of fire that brought every able-bodied citizen in the place into the street in double-quick time.

Across from the court house flames were issuing from Hannah's hardware store in the business block on that side of the street. The whole lower part of the premises were blazing, and although the volunteer fire brigade were forthwith on the spot, their efforts were greatly hampered by the knowledge that in the hardware establishment were many pounds of gunpowder and a large amount of ammunition, which they were afraid the fire might reach at any moment, and cause a loss of life, as well as spread the fire disastrously. Their expectations were realized when the fire finally did reach the explosives, and an eruption occurred that scattered cinders and ashes far and wide, and sent up a great column of dust and ashes that has blackened the snow far and near. The violence of the explosion shattered half of the glass in the place, and the windows across the street were blown to atoms. The flames swept the block as far east as the premises occupied by Bennett & Co., destroying a boot and shoe store, a hardware store and two jewelry stores. The office of The Free Press was also destroyed, and many persons who occupied residences situated above the stores barely escaped with their lives.

The fire is said by some to have started from an over-heated furnace, but there are many who take no stock in this story and ascribe the blaze to other causes. They point out that on the day the Ballard crowd were first brought up for trial at the preliminary some one set a fire in the Mansion House. On that occasion the miscreant climbed up to the second storey window of the hotel, raised the window, leaned in and set fire to the curtains. That occurred a week ago yesterday, and it is thought the fire was set with the hope of attracting attention so that an attempt could be made to release the prisoners. If such was the case the scheme failed, and if the blaze that devastated the little town this morning was started with the same intention it utterly failed to realize the expectations of its originators, as the five prisoners are still in confinement, and so far as known no attempt whatever was made to release them.

The buildings were worth about $5000 each. G. R. Hannah conducted a hardware business and had the following insurance: On the building, $3000; in Lancashire, $2000; in the British America, on stock he had $300 in North British and Mercantile, $1000 in Western, $2000 in London, Liverpool and Globe, $1000 in Queen's and $1000 in the Royal. His total loss on stock would be about $10,000. E. Berwick & Co., were insured as follows: On building $2500 in Western, $2500 in the Waterloo; on stock they were insured for $4000 in the Gore Mutual, $3500 in the Perth Mutual, $1000 in the Wellington Mutual, and $2000 in the Royal. Their total loss on stock would be about $20,000.

W. J. Sawyers, boot and shoe dealer, lost his entire stock of about $3500. He was insured for $1000 in the Gore Mutual and $1000 in the Economical.

W. A. Fenwick, jeweler, was insured for $800 in the Wellington Mutual. Stock a total loss. A. V. Galbraith, jeweler, was insured for $350 in the Queen's. His stock was also lost. The Free Press office occupied the second flat over the easterly store in the Berwick block. The plant was insured for $900 in the Waterloo Mutual, $1000 in the Royal, and $350 in the North British and Mercantile. The entire office is a total loss, nothing being saved.

H. M. Carson, harness maker, who occupied a frame building east of the Berwick Block, was insured for $1200 on the building and contents. The building is a total wreck, but some of the contents were saved.

The Masonic Lodge room was in the third storey of the Hannah Block. The village treasurer's office was in the same block, second storey. A. L. Jarvis, manager of the Union Bank, had rooms in the same block. He lost all his furniture and clothing. Mr. Shand of the firm of Quirt & Shand, had rooms there also and lost everything.

The United Workman's Hall was in the Berwick Block. The same lodge room was used by the I.O.F. and C.O.F., Chosen Friends and Home Circle. They all lost their effects.

Thomas McKim, insurance agent, Berwick Block, lost everything in his office; no insurance.

Miss Hogg, dressmaker, lost a lot of goods in the fire belonging to customers.

Messrs. C. Mason & Co., Hillhouse & Jelly, and T. F. Brown, druggists, will have claims for damages.

A PRETTY WEDDING.

One of the Fairest Maidens of Niagara Falls Carried Off by a New Brunswicker.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Jan. 26.—(Special.)—Charles S. Hickman of Dorchester, N.B., was married this afternoon in All Saints' Church, Drummondville, to Miss Mary Frances Symmes, daughter of H. C. Symmes. This young lady is one of the most popular in the Niagara district, and she will be greatly missed in society circles. The church wherein the ceremony was conducted by Rev. Canon Bull was most beautifully decorated with evergreens and flowers. The groomsman was W. R. Ferguson, son of the late Senator Ferguson, and the bridesmaids were Miss Amy Symmes and Miss Morse. The wedding breakfast, prepared by Harry Webb, was served at the residence of the bride's father. The bride and groom left for New York at 4.45. They will reside in New Brunswick.

Robbers Killed Man and Wife.

Bloomington, Ind., Jan. 23.—Meagre details were received here to-day of the murder of Samuel Kirby and wife at French Lick, Ind. Both were found dead in the house and evidences of robbery and struggle were apparent. It is supposed robbers entered the house and, being discovered, killed both man and wife to avoid detection.

Sandusky Almost Burned Out.

Sandusky, O., Jan. 23.—Almost an entire block of business houses on Water-street, the principal thoroughfare of the city, was destroyed by fire this morning. The following stores were gutted: George W. Rinkiet, hardware; George Stahl, wholesale wines and liquors; M. Lee, saloon, and Taubert's grocery. Loss $250,000; partly insured.

A VERY BAD WRECK

On the Intercolonial Railway in New Brunswick,

THE LOCOMOTIVE BROKE A RAIL

And the Cars Were Thrown Down an Embankment—One Man and One Woman Killed—Hon. Dr. Borden Was Among the Injured—Nearly All the Passengers Suffered.

Moncton, N.B., Jan. 26.—The Intercolonial Railway met to-day its most serious disaster since the disaster at St. Charles, near Levis, a few years ago. About a mile from Dorchester, travelers will recall that the Intercolonial takes a sharp curve and runs along the edge of Palmer Pond, the enbankment at this point being 75 feet deep. The Canadian Pacific express, west bound, due to arrive at Dorchester at 12.03, was ten minutes late. Driver Samuel Trider was in charge of the locomotive, Edwin Milligan was conductor. James Linkletter and Charles Thompson were the brakemen. The train was traveling at its normal speed, and, as it rounded the curve, the engine safely passed over a rail, which it broke in passing. Immediately there was a crack, and the coupling broke from the postal car, which was following the tender. Instantly the train of seven cars was seen to swerve, and then they toppled down the embankment. They pitched on their ends ten feet from the bottom. Several passengers, who had risen to put on their overcoats, intending to alight at Dorchester, were pitched headlong. All the occupants of the second-class car found themselves dumped in a heap at one end of the car.

The detached locomotive went to Dorchester for help. In the wreck were seven tons of new 1896 cents for use of the Federal Government, and these were scattered promiscuously around.

The scene of wreckage was almost indescribable, and the first sight that met the eyes of early arrivals was the body of a lady lying on a stretcher, who at the time could not be recognized. Subsequently it was learned that she was a Miss Patriquin of Bloomfield, Kings County, daughter of an I.C.R. section foreman, who died only three weeks ago. When she was taken from the first-class car, in which she was traveling, her face was so covered with blood as to be unrecognizable. Deputy Sheriff R. Keith, who was sitting in the seat immediately behind the young lady, and talking to Dr. Calkin of Sackville, says that when the cars fell over the embankment he and Dr. Calkin were thrown violently to the floor, and that on rising they found that Miss Patriquin was cribbed between two seats. They broke the seats and removed her. At first they thought she was alive, but before they placed her on a stretcher At this instant a cry was heard, "There is a man dead in the postal car," and there was a general rush in that direction. Messrs. Andrew McKim and Fairweather of Dorchester broke in a window and found Postal Mail Clerk Arthur C. Edgecombe crushed between two portions of the car. An ax was obtained and his body was taken out, when it was found that he was dead, his back evidently having been broken.

There were about 50 passengers. Some had their hands smashed, others had gashes on the head and others were almost covered with blood.

Arthur T. Edgecombe, who met his death, has been in the postal mail service eight or nine years. His assistant in the postal car, who was injured, was H. B. Peck of Albert County.

Miss Patriquin was 23 years old.

The injured are as follows:

Hon. Dr. Borden, Minister of Militia, who had a narrow escape, and was badly cut about the head. When he was rescued he was rapidly driven to the Windsor Hotel, where his wounds were dressed by Dr. Gaudet of Memramcook, who happened to be present.

Henry McLeod of Pictou, badly cut about the head.

Mr. Barnes of Amherst, severely cut about head, case serious, especially as he is aged.

Rupert McNeil of Westville, N.S., face cut.

Edward Blanche of Amherst, quite seriously hurt about body.

W. J. E. Wallace of Picton, Ont., hurt about face.

R. R. Wallace, his brother, of the Bank of Montreal, cut about head.

James Linkletter, I.C.R. brakesman, badly cut about body, arms and head.

G. P. Berner of Halifax, finger badly smashed.

Charles Thompson, I.C.R. brakesman, left arm cut to the bone.

J. W. Fenton, commercial traveler, Montreal, slight wound.

Basil White of Sackville, body cut and limbs injured.

C. C. Thompson and H. H. Colpitts, commercial men of Halifax, both received severe cuts.

George Cole, representing Jardine & Co., St. John, had his head badly injured, left ear bruised and right arm rendered almost useless.

R. H. Webb of the dining car "Cumberland," badly cut about the face and head.

Mr. Barret, sleeping car conductor, injured about the head.

Mr. Wiltshire, badly cut about the body.

Senator Wood was on the train. He said he had a narrow escape. He was seated in the first-class car, and when he felt the cars going down he took firm hold of the seat and, except for a shaking up, he escaped injury.

Charles Fawcett of Sackville, had his head badly cut and body injured.

THE WABIGOON COUNTRY.

Early in the year the Ontario Department of Agriculture issued an illustrated pamphlet on "The Pioneer Farm and the Wabigoon District." Since then considerable work has been done in improving and developing the Government farm and in improving the country adjacent. The two townships surveyed last year were Van Horne and Wainwright; this year two townships adjoining on the west have been surveyed, called Eton and Rugby. The C.P.R. have put in a siding and erected a station called Dryden. There is now a post office of that name, and the Superintendent of the farm, Mr. A. E. Annis, who is also Crown Lands Agent, may be addressed at Dryden P.O. for any information desired. The townships are situated on the line of the C.P.R. north and west of Wabigoon Lake, Dryden station is 217 miles west of Port Arthur, 90 miles east of Rat Portage, and 215 east of Winnipeg.

Mr. Annis reports the crops on the pioneer farm in 1896 as follows:—Fall wheat, Dawson's Golden Chaff, 20 to 25 bushels per acre; Colorado spring wheat about 30, Herrison's bearded about 12; barley, a fair crop; oats, poor. The clover in fall wheat, sown 8th May, at time of cutting wheat was in full bloom, a lot of it two to two and one-half feet high. The timothy in wheat was also headed out. The clover was cut twice this season, the first crop about two tons and the second one ton per acre. Potatoes yielded 213 bushels per acre. Turnips and carrots will do well but cannot say as much for mangels. The first frost that injured tomatoes and other tender vegetables occurred on the 14th of September.

Sheep will do well owing to the rolling character of the land and rich natural pasture. One man had six lambs from very common ewes, two of which on October 1st weighed 131 lbs. each. They were weaned April 15th.

The town plot of Dryden was surveyed this year, and about 20 town lots have been sold. About 18,000 acres have been purchased since April 22nd. Farm lands are sold only to bona fide settlers. About 24 buildings have been put up so far in 1896. Eight and one half miles of colonization road have been built, and twelve and one half miles of road by settlers. A bridge over the Wabigoon River is now being constructed. There is a saw and shingle mill in operation at the falls, within the limits of the town site.

Over 30 gold claims have been taken up within five miles of Dryden, and two shafts are being sunk to them this winter. About 200,000 ties will be taken out along the line, and there will be a camp about 20 miles away. There is a lumber camp at Manitou Lake, about 40 miles. The miners and the C. P. R. men form a good market for dairy produce, fresh meat and vegetables. There is a general store at Dryden and boarding accommodation can be obtained.

Dr. Chase Cures Backache.

Kidney trouble generally begins with a single pain in the back, and in time developes into Bright's Disease. People troubled with stricture, impediments, stoppage of water, or a frequent desire to urinate at night, will find Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills a blessing. Read the wonderful cures in another column. One Pill is a dose, and if taken every other night will positively cure kidney troubles.

PRACTICAL CHEESE-MAKING.

Some Hints by Mr. Barr, of the Black Creek Factory.

At Wednesday's session of the Western Dairymen's Association at Brantford, Mr. Geo. H. Barr, Manager of the Ballantyne factory at Black Creek, gave a description of that factory which he considered to be the best in Canada. It is built and equipped for both butter and cheese-making. The creamery is a room 35x40, at the south end of the building, and immediately adjoining the creamery on the north comes the vat room, which is 35x58; then comes the press room to the north of the vat room, this being 35x30. The milk is taken in at the two windows on the west side of the building, and opposite the vat room. The boiler room is on the east side of the building, and so situated that one door opens out of the vat room and another out of the creamery into it. The ceilings are twelve feet high, the walls are of hollow brick and finished outside with red mortar. There is a wainscotting of cement four feet high, and above the cement white plaster. High ceilings, large windows and white walls make an airy and well-lighted building. Both the cold and hot water tanks are elevated above the ceiling of the boiler room, the cold water tank being high enough to empty into the other, and pipes connect with both of them from all parts of the building. The whey runs from the vats to a large tank in the ground from which it is forced 100 yards through pump logs to the hog pens by an ejector. The washings and waste water go to a small tank and are forced by the same ejector past the hog pens to a large open trench with gravel bottom, through which it filters to a neighbouring stream. The factory is thus rendered free from offensive smells. The curing room contains ice racks suspended four feet from the ceiling for use in hot weather. The heating arrangement was described yesterday. A pipe runs from the cold water tank to the receiving station, and water is returned into every can after it has been emptied. This is greatly appreciated by the patrons.

The first and most important matter in connection with the making of cheese is the securing of nice, sweet, clean, flavored milk, Mr. Barr continued. This depends upon the care of patrons as to the food and water their cows receive, cleanliness of handling and aerating. Have the milk in the vat heating slowly as it is being weighed in, stirring gently meanwhile. Setting the milk is the most critical point in the making of cheese. If this is done right the curd will come right. After giving some practical information as to the processes of making cheese, Mr. Barr mentioned some results of his past year's work. These were: 1 That curds which were three to three and three quarters hours from setting to dipping made better cheese than those that occupied a shorter space; 2 That curds dipped with less than one quarter inch of acid made nicer, more silky cheese than those dipped with more than one-quarter inch. Mr. Barr mentioned a few "Don't" which were received with applause and merriment in every case.

To factorymen:

Don't cut your cheesemaker's wages any lower.

Don't buy a gang press with a tin trough under the hoops. Have it wooden.

Don't buy a cheese truck with four wheels; get one with three, invented by R. M. Ballantyne, and not patented.

Don't expect a man to make good fall cheese in a skating rink without a stove.

To cheese-makers:

Don't tender for a factory so low that you cannot live, just for the fun of making cheese.

Don't take in bad milk.

Don't over-ripen your milk to hasten the work; you will retard it and make poor cheese.

Don't give your curd more than one-quarter inch acid.

Don't wash your curd sinks once a week; wash them every day.

Don't wear the same pair of pants from April to November without washing them; keep yourself and factory neat and clean.

The discussion of the paper was very general and was led by Mr. A. T. Bell, J.A. Gray and Wm. Bothwell.

CURED OF SCIATICA.

Left Hip Affected—Suspected Kidney Kidney Trouble—Relieved and Perfectly Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Toronto Junction, Jan. 18 (Special)—Mr. H. Playter, is not a difficult man to find as everybody here knows that he is foreman at No. 1 Fire Hall. He was the picture of health when called upon by your correspondent and told his story thus:

"In April 1896 I suffered from a severe attack of Sciatica, affecting my left hip and the leg to the tip of my toes. I suspected it came from some form of kidney trouble and as they had been recommended I procured a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills."

At the end of the fourth day I was entirely relieved, but desiring a permanent cure I continued to use that and another box and am now cured cured and as well as ever in my life. A brother of mine living at Pine Orchard has been cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

MR. FOSTER AT MIDLAND.

The Ex-Minister of Finance Addresses the East Simcoe Electors for Mr. Bennett

Midland, Ont., Jan. 26.—The Hon. G. E. Foster addressed the electors of East Simcoe in this town to-night in favor of Mr. W. H. Bennett, the Liberal-Conservative candidate. Quite a number of other speakers, including Mr. Hoyle of Cannington, and the candidate, Mr. Bennett, were present, and also delivered addresses.

Mr. Foster dealt with the Government's promises and their failure to carry them out. He spoke also of their slowness in bringing about a revision of the tariff. He dwelt lightly on the school settlement, and spoke sarcastically of the private car squabble among the Ministers. He closed by assuring his audience that Mr. Bennett would be returned to Parliament and that he would not be long in the shades of Opposition. The meeting closed with cheers for Mr. Foster and the Queen.

Don't worry. Don't run into debt. Don't trifle with your health. Don't try experiments with medicines. Don't waste time and money on worthless compounds. Don't be persuaded to take a substitute for Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It is the best of blood-purifiers.

BOTH INSTANTLY KILLED.

Joshua Bowman and Wife Struck by a Michigan Central Express and Hurled into Eternity.

Attercliffe, Ont., Jan. 24.—A sad accident occurred about one mile east of Attercliffe at 3.30 p.m. to-day, by which Joshua Bowman, a farmer about 60 years of age, and his wife were instantly killed. They were on their way home from Dunnville, and when on the railway crossing at Dill's-road did not observe No. 21 Michigan Central express approaching from the west. A west-bound freight train was coming from the other direction and they were watching the freight train and were struck by the express. Both horses were killed and the sleigh entirely demolished. Mr. Bowman and wife resided at Elcho and were well known and highly respected.

Delay Means Death.

One Dose Relieves—A Few Bottles Always Cure.

"For ten years I have suffered greatly from heart disease. Fluttering of the heart, palpitations and smothering spells have made my life miserable. When dropsy set in my physician said I must prepare my family for the worst. All this time I had seen Dr. Agnew's Heart Cure advertised. As a last resort I tried it and think of my joy when I received great relief from one dose. One bottle cured my dropsy, and brought me out of bed, and five bottles have completely cured my heart. If you are troubled with any heart affection, and are in despair, as I was, use this remedy, for I know it will cure you."—Mrs. JAMES ADAMS, Syracuse, N. Y. Sold by H. S. McDonald.

HELP NEEDED FOR THE SUFFERERS

The Case of Noble Bros. of Collingwood Dies a Natural Death - Bank Note Printers Wait on the Premier Seeking Protection From Alien Labor--Notes From Ottawa.

Ottawa, Jan. 26.—(Special.)—His Excellency received the following message to-night:

New York, Jan. 26.

Following message for Your Excellency has just been received. I shall be glad to forward free any reply which you may wish to send.

(Signed) Thomas F. Clark.
Assistant to President G.N.W. Tel. Co.

Central Committee, Indian Famine Fund, Calcutta, earnestly solicit your cordial co-operation. Highest possible scope for private benevolence; outside State relief system. Area and numbers affected enormous, and distress rapidly increasing. Feel sure the unavoidable privations of millions of industrious poor will arouse the profound sympathy of all classes. All Nations Committee make urgent appeal to you to organize relief fund, and will be deeply grateful for contributions, which will be publicly acknowledged.

(Signed) Sir Francis MacLean.
Chief Justice of Bengal and Chairman Committee, Calcutta.

For many months an investigation has been under way at the instance of Noble Bros. of Collingwood, whose tugs and nets were seized some years ago at Killarney for violation of the fishery laws. The enquiry made very slow progress, and now that the commission of Judge Johnstone, who was authorized to report on the affair, has expired and will not be renewed, the investigation will die a natural death.

The Brant Rod and Game Club is urging the Government to place a new fishway in the Dunnville dam on Grand River, as the inefficiency of the old fishery has prevented the ascent of fish up the river. The department has now two or three different kinds of fishways before it for approval.

The report of the directors of the Ottawa Electric Company for 1896 is a most encouraging one. The amount of business done is steadily growing, the number of passengers carried last year having been 4,583,235. The gross receipts were $212,105 and the net profits $67,745. The sum of $60,369 is now standing to the rest account of the company. At the meeting yesterday attention was drawn to the fact that the mileage of the company is greater than that of any other city in Canada, according to population, and twice that called for by the agreement with the corporation. Four quarterly dividends of two per cent have been declared.

Some time ago strong representations were received from anglers living in the Counties of Northumberland and Hastings that bass in the Trent River were being seriously injured by netting. Accordingly an Order-in-Council was passed prohibiting the use of nets. A petition has now been received at the Fisheries Department through Mr. W. R. Mather of Campbellford, asking for the restoration of netting privileges. Hundreds of names are attached to the petition. The ground upon which netting is requested is that inferior kinds of fish are increasing very rapidly.

On enquiry at the Department of Railways and Canals it was ascertained that the deficit on the Intercolonial during the past year was caused by the extraordinary expenditure of $65,- 000 on the wharves at Halifax, to replace those burnt down some time ago. There was also a large expenditure for new ties.

Eight employes of the British American Bank Note Co. waited upon the Premier to-day in reference to the granting of the contract for engraving to the American Bank Note Co. of New York. The employes referred to desire to have their interests protected in the event of the contract for the engraving and printing of the Dominion notes going to the New York firm. In other words, they want to be employed by the new firm, rather than that Americans should be imported to do the work which they are now engaged on. Mr. Laurier received them very kindly and promised to take their representations into consideration. Mr. Belcourt, M.P., introduced the deputation.

Major Gemell, President of the Veterans of 1866 Association of Ottawa and vicinity, intends calling a meeting for next Saturday. A constitution will be adopted and arrangements made for a deputation to wait on the Minister of Militia respecting recognition of their services in '66-7.

Madame Laurier, acompanied by her brother, Henri, leaves to-morrow for California to visit the brother of the Premier. It is expected that Madame Laurier will be absent for a month or six weeks.

The weather became decidedly warmer last night. The mercury stood 6 above zero at midnight and 18 above at noon to-day.

Lieut.-Governor Mackintosh of the Northwest Territories has got three months' leave of absence. He is going to Rossland to look into some mining speculations there.

The suit of Coroner Freeland against the Citizen Publishing Co. for libel was concluded this afternoon, when the jury brought in a verdict for the defendant company. The judge assessed full costs against the plaintiff, Dr. Freeland. The action arose over the heading of an article in The Citizen some time ago. Drs. Mark and Freeland, city coroners, quarrelled over a case, and The Citizen, heading the paragraph, "A Ghoulish Dispute," Dr. Freeland took offence, and has now to pay the piper into the bargain.

TO SAVE BRAM'S NECK.

Boston Lawyers are Making a Great Effort to Get a New Trial for the Murderer?

Boston, Jan. 26.—The hearing for a new trial in the case of Thomas Bram was continued to-day. District Attorney Hoar addressed the court and asked that they return a decision in the case as expeditiously as matters would allow. Judge Colt answered that they would do so. The question then came on exceptions taken by Bram's counsel during the hearing, and after consultation the court gave counsel for defence until Thursday morning next to prepare their bill of exceptions. It was also decided that Mr. Hear should have one week in which to prepare his reply to exceptions. Mr. Cotter then began the closing argument for defendant. He dwelt strongly upon the claim that jurors had been communicated with by outsiders. Mr. Cotter read from the decisions, "Private communication between the jury and a third party, a witness or an officer, is absolutely forbidden and invalidates a verdict.55 This is our case," concluded Mr. Cotter. Mr. Cotter finished at 12.30 o'clock, having spoken two hours and 40 minutes. At the request of counsel for defence, the court extended the time in which to prepare exceptions to Saturday noon and the Government will have a week from that day to reply. The court informed the lawyers that the decision would be given on the present motion as soon as circumstances would allow.

Superstitions of Sailors.

Vineyard Haven, Mass., Jan. 26.—British schooner Moama of St. John, N.B., Captain Cox, from Buenos Ayres, for Boston, arrived last evening. Captain Cox states that the barquentine Herbert Fuller at Buenos Ayres would be ready to sail for New York in about two days after the Moama left. In speaking of the seaman's testimony on the Fuller murder case, that he looked through the cabin window with both hands on the wheel and saw Mate Bram kill Captain Nash, Captain Cox said it would have been impossible for Brown to have looked through the cabin window with both hands on the wheel, as testified. Although he would have seen through the window by letting go the wheel altogether, Captain Cox says that several captains at Buenos Ayres had tried it, but it could be readily seen from the position of the wheel from the window that it would have been impossible. Captain Cox says that every day on board the Fuller at Buenos Ayres was quiet as Sunday. The crew were superstitious and rarely spoke and it seemed as if a spell were over the vessel.

"Five years ago," says Anga A. Lewis, Ricard, N. Y., "I had a constant cough, night sweats, was greatly reduced in flesh, and had been given up by my physicians. I began to take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and after using two bottles was completly cured."

Republicans Will Be Outvoted.

New York, Jan. 25.—A special to The Herald from Washington says: "Although the election of Senator Pritchard practically assures the Republicans in the Senate a clear majority when that body comes to a vote on the tariff question, it seems equally certain that the Democrats, Populists and bolting Republicans will have a majority of at least three over the straight-out or sound money Republicans. As now figured out, the Senate when it convenes in special session will stand: Democrats, Populists and bolting Republicans, 46; Republicans, 43; vacancy from Kentucky, 1.

A Rap at Cable Companies.

Washington, Jan. 25.—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee to-day reported a bill providing that the shore end of any new submarine telegraphic cable, which shall be protected in any foreign country by exclusive landing rights or other special privileges, shall not be permitted to land in this country without the consent of Congress.

AT STITTSVILLE!

The Town's Leading Merchant Laid Up

Rheumatism in various forms is one of the most common diseases there is. It arises generally from impure blood and a broken down system. In the limbs it is painful; in most of the internal organs dangerous, and in the heart usually fatal.

The experience of Mr. S. Mann, the well known general merchant of Stittsville, is interesting:

"Last winter I was badly afflicted with rheumatism. I decided to try Dr. Chase's Pills. To my surprise, I got immediate relief, and before I had used one box my affliction was gone.

"I was also troubled with biliousness for years, and at intervals of three or four weeks would be laid up with a severe headache and sick stomach. Since using Chase's Pills I have not had an attack of either.

"I may add that Dr. Chase's Ointment for piles and skin diseases is just as effective as Dr. Chase's Pills for blood troubles. I have a clerk who suffered terribly from bleeding piles. He tried Chase's Ointment and in a few days was completely cured."

Any way you like—the CASH system, which we are about to adopt is to be as great a boon to our patrons as to ourselves.

Business during the rest of January must be in the direction of SWEEPING REDUCTIONS IN ALL WINTER GOODS, in order to start on a new leaf on the First of February.

REMNANTS OF CLOTHS—Just the thing for making a pair of Trousers for a man or a Suit for a boy—will be among the best bargains we have to offer. While they last $3.50 will be the figure for a pair of our faultless-fitting Trousers. The excellent quality of these Remnants will influence quick selling.

BOYS' FINE CLOTHING all to be sacrificed.

RED HOCKEY SWEATERS and STOCKINGS, (the club colours), just received.

Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Cases.

Dr. Ryerson begs to inform the public that he will be at the Oriental Hotel, Peterborough, on Saturday, Jan. 30th, for consultation in eye, ear, nose and throat cases. Hours: 12 to 4. dw

Is Your Piano in Tune?

The change of season affects pianos as well as anything else. Mr. Geo. Gampright, practical piano maker and tuner, with 28 years experience, attends to all orders left at Mr. H. S. Macdonald's drug store.

Private Party.

A social hop was given Tuesday evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Deremo, No. 88 Wescott street, which passed off very pleasantly. Twenty-three couple partook of the hospitality of their host. All enjoyed themselves until an early hour in the morning.

Bargains in Dry Goods and Furs.

W. W. Johnston has removed balance of the D. O. LeGendre stock to his own stand, 410 George street and as the stock must be cleared out in a short time, bargains in all lines will be given. Call and see for yourselves. 4d20

Death of Mrs. Sweeney.

Mrs. Sweeney, of the Victoria Road, mother of Rev. Father Sweeney, died yesterday. The funeral will arrive at the Grand Trunk station to-morrow, at noon, and proceed from there to St. Peter's Cathedral, thence to the Roman Catholic Cemetery.

Ceylon and Indian Teas.

These fragrant and refreshing teas are the most economical, because one spoonful goes as far as two of China or Japan tea, and are cleaner, because they are prepared by machinery. Try our blends at 40c and 50c. They are giving the best satisfaction. MASON & Co., 429 to 431 George street. 2d

Yesterday's Storm.

The passenger and freight trains on both railroads were running on time to-day but the country roads leading into town were almost blockaded. A farmer drove in from near Norwood and his horses were snow up to the ears by reason of the drifts they had plunged through. The Lakefield road is in a bad state, particularly between Auburn and Nassau.

To the North Pole.

Lieut. Perry, the explorer, wants some one with about $150,000 to help him find the missing north pole. Now, if any one has an interest to that extent in this discovery now is the chance. But when the expedition is being fitted out we cannot suppose that any person would venture so far without a supply of nice fresh groceries from E. BROWN & Co's., 294 George street. P. S.—Best Snow, Greening and Northern Spy Apples on hand.

Cutting a Quarter Off Fans.

While stock-taking is going on at the Peterborough Bookstore, bargains turn up that are worth watching and looking after sharp. A quarter has been struck off our fashionable stock of feather, silk, gauze, party and opera fans, making the prices read thus:—75c. fans now 50c., $1.00 fans now 75c., $1.25 fans now 94c., $1.50 fans now $1.12; $2.00 fans now $1.49.—A. H. STRATTON & Co.

Good Roads.

An individual has been discovered whose views anent road-making are identical with those held and demonstrated by a former chairman of the Street and Bridges Committee. The new apostle writes to the Oshawa Vindicator in defence of dirty streets, and argues as follows:—"There are some people who never get tired kicking about the mud on the streets. They want things clean and nice. Their aversion for mud makes one apprehensive that they are getting ripe for the city whose streets are paved with gold and where there is no dust or fly specks. To have things just as the kickers want them would mean asphalt pavement. . . Let us have a little mud. It is the stuff we are all made of, and we should not get too much above our origin."

For Sweet Charity's Sake.

On Thursday evening in St. John's School House an At Home will be given under the auspices of the local Circle of the King's Daughters Society. The efforts of this Society are entirely devoted to the relief of the poor and suffering in our midst, and in consideration of the widespread distress in our town, the good ladies of the association should receive the generous support, not only of the members of St. John's church, but of all who are so disposed to assist the less fortunate in our midst. An inviting programme of music has been prepared, and refreshments will be served towards the conclusion of the evening. A subscription of 10c will be collected at the door, though there is nothing to prevent this subscription being doubled if desirable.

INTO RICE LAKE.

Two Accidents Occur but With no Fatal Results.

On Thursday two accidents happened at Rice Lake, near Harwood. One was at the place known as the "Opening" where a man, whose name we did not learn, drove off the ice into the water.

He immediately called for help, and a number of villagers went to his assistance, but before they reached the place the horse was drowned. The man escaped with a cold bath.

The other accident occurred at the boat houses, when George Hogg, teamster for Mr. Frank Burns, at Edetall, was driving towards Harwood, his horses broke through the ice, but being an experienced man in such accidents, he soon had his horses safe on shore. Fortunately no lives were lost, but the man who lost the horse almost yelled himself to death before he was rescued from his perilous position.

DOURO'S CONTESTED WARD ELECTION.

Mr. James McCliggot, Reeve-elect Unseated on a Technicality.

This morning quo warranto proceedings were taken by Mr. W. H. Moore, on behalf of James Walsh, before Judge Weller to remove Mr. James McCliggott, Reeve-elect of Douro, from the office of Reeve of that municipality, on the ground that at the time of nomination he had not a proper qualification sufficient under the act.

Mr. W. A. Stratton, on behalf of the respondent, Mr. McCliggott, consented to the order unseating Mr. McCliggott, and the judge ordered a new election.

Although Mr. McCliggott, at the date of nomination, was technically disqualified, on the day of election he had become qualified, and intends to contest the seat again.

CAVANVILLE CHEESE FACTORY.

Report of Business Done During Last Season Most Satisfactory.

We have received from Mr. Jas. Brock, one of the auditors of the books of the Cavanville cheese factory for the season of 1896, a statement which we present to our readers, showing the success of the factory. We trust it may be more largely patronized by the farmers in the future, as there is no way of taking so much money out of a cow with as little labour as through the cheese factory. The total number of lbs of cheese made was 196,126. Total lbs of milk received 1,936,614. Expenses of making $2,272.85. Number of lbs of milk to lb of cheese 11.03. Number of cheese made, 1,719. Value to patrons, $7,320.44. Total value, $10,168.29. Average price per lb of cheese for the whole season, between eight and eight and one-quarter cents.

The Life of Dr. Chase.

As a compiler of Dr. Chase's Recipe Book, his name is familiar to every household in the land, while as a physician his works on simple formulas left an imprint of his name that will be handed down from generation to generation. His last great medicine, in the form of his Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, is having the large public patronage that his Ointment, Pills and Catarrh Cure are having. Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is especially adapted for all Bronchial and Asthmatic troubles.

PETERBOROUGH MADE MINING MACHINERY.

Manufactured and Shipped by the William Hamilton Manufacturing Company—The First Output of a a new Branch of Local Industry.

The William Hamilton Manufactoring Company has just completed the shipment of a ten-stamp mill for gold mining purposes to the Golden Cache Mines Company (Ltd.), Lillooet, British Columbia. The mill is complete in every particular and consists of a Blake ore crusher, challenge automatic ore feeders with ten-stamp battery and all the necessary electroplated copper plates for concentrating and collecting the gold. In a word it is a complete and perfect mill in every respect, and along with it was shipped the necessary steam plant to drive it and also a complete portable saw mill to cut the lumber for the erection of a building to contain the stamp mill.

This machinery goes as far as Ashcroft, British Columbia, by the C. P. R. From this point it will be conveyed by waggons to its destination, a distance of 76 miles. Some idea may be formed of the difficulty of transportation over the primitive and rocky roads of the region, when it is stated that the stamp mill alone weighs 35 tons.

The building and shipment of this mill are the outcome of negotiations with the E. P. Allis Company, of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, which are reputed to be the most extensive manufacturers of mining and other machinery on this continent and which are represented in Canada by the William Hamilton Manufacturing Company.

That

Extreme tired feeling afflicts nearly everybody at this season. The hustlers cease to push, the tireless grow weary, the energetic become enervated. You know just what we mean. Some men and women endeavor temporarily to overcome that

Tired

Feeling by great force of will. But this is unsafe, as it pulls powerfully upon the nervous system, which will not long stand such strain. Too many people "work on their nerves," and the result is seen in unfortunate wrecks marked "nervous prostration," in every direction. That tired

Feel-

ing is a positive proof of thin, weak, impure blood; for, if the blood is rich, red, vitalized and vigorous, it imparts life and energy to every nerve, organ and tissue of the body. The necessity of taking Hood's Sarsaparilla for that tired feeling is, therefore, apparent to every one, and the good it will do you is equally beyond question. Remember that

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Daily Examiner.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 27, 1897.

A VERY YOUNG AUTHORESS.

A Daughter of Mr. R. S. Davidson Contributes to the Globe.

On the Children's Page of Saturday's Globe, the appended pretty little story appears from the pen of Miss Helen Stewart Davidson, the nine-year-old daughter of Mr. R. S. Davidson:

A SQUIRREL'S LIFE.

We squirrels live in the woods, we eat nuts climb trees, and fences all day long. One day as we were running around through the woods I thought I would take a short cut through a hollow log, just then some boys came along and poked me with sticks until I ran into a bag at the other end. Then I was taken to a house where I was put into a box and then into a cage with a wheel, and I thought I was running away in the wheel. The boy that caught me laughed at me till I would not go into the wheel again. They gave me nuts and water but still I did not like it as well as my old home in the woods where I used to play and run races with my friends. The people taught me to perform many tricks till I grew old and could not perform any longer. Then they let me go, but I felt sad because I could not find any of my old friends.

HELEN STEWART DAVIDSON,
Peterborough, Ont.

Age 9.

The obvious merit in the cutely-related little narrative apparently struck an older writer with such force as to produce the appended poem, which Miss Helen received the other day as the first tribute to her literary genius:

A poor little squirrel took a "short cut" one day,
Alas! alas! and alack!
If he only had taken the long way,
He wouldn't have been so long getting back.

For a little boy caught him and caged him;
Alas! alas! and alack!
He fed him, and petted and coaxed him,
But he insisted that he should act.

Now the poor little fellow was lonely,
And missed his companions; alack!
He sighed for his home in the woods,
And wished and wished he were back.

At last he got old and grouty,
And no longer could run with ease,
So the little boy opened the cage door
And said "Get out, if you please."

Now, this was the freedom he'd longed for,
But alas! it had come too late.
The friends he had loved had all vanished,
And he fain would have died in the cage.

Here must we leave him alone, Helen,
With none him to comfort and cheer,
All on account of the "short cut"
He took that day without fear.

Alas! Alas! and alack! SIP.

A MUSICAL FESTIVAL.

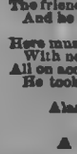
Peterborough Will Observe the Victorian Jubilee of 1897.

The various cities and towns of the British Empire are at present discussing the manner in which the Victorian Jubilee of 1897 should be observed. Canada would be lacking in imagination, in historical instinct, in the higher attributes which distinguish a people of ideas from a nation of dullards, if an event so unique as the diamond jubilee of the Queen were allowed to slip away with only the waving of flags and the booming of cannon to mark the occurrance. Public demonstrations will rightly have a place in the commemoration. But a lasting, tangible tribute should not be withheld. The Queen's hold upon the affections of her Canadian subjects is doubly strong; those who believe in constitutional monarchy are fervently grateful for the sagacity and sense of this most illustrious Sovereign; men with other ideas respect her for the purity of domestic life, and the example she has set to every grade of society in an age of luxurious living. In one or the other of these classes you will find the whole Canadian people.

But while the State as a whole should consider the proposal to erect a national memorial of the occasion, to the towns and cities will fall the duty of fittingly marking the anniversary by some purely local celebration.

Mr. G. W. Mulligan's proposal is that Peterborough hold a musical festival, and so sure is he of support in his scheme that he has already made arrangements to secure the opera house for the occasion. Any suggestions as to the form which this feast of music should take will be gratefully received by Mr. Mulligan. His large class of pupils have taken up the idea enthusiastically.

Fine Furniture at Low Prices.



It is seldom that this chance comes to pick up such really fine things in handsome chairs, centre tables, settees, etc., as are now being shown in Cheape's furniture store window. The tickets placed on the goods tell the tale of a substantial reduction. No better goods can be had in the city. Every article guaranteed as superior in design in material and in finish.

MR. WM. ANDERSON ELECTED WARDEN.

HE IS CHOSEN ON THE TWELFTH BALLOT.

He Takes the Declaration of Office and the Warden's Chair—He Thanks the Council—Auditors Appointed and a Sessional Clerk—Adjournment.

SECOND DAY—WEDNESDAY.

The council resumed session this morning with all the members present, the clerk still in the chair. Balloting for the election of a warden was resumed. There was an undercurrent of subdued excitement in view of yesterday's dead-lock, though most of the members cast their ballots with a solemnity that would befit the decision of some man's life.

The first ballot (the seventh of the series) resulted as follows:

Casement	5
Moloney	3
Burnham	2

The second ballot had the following result:

Burnham	4
Moloney	3
Casement	2
Pearce	1

The result of the third ballot was as follows:

Moloney	4
Burnham	2
Brown	2
Casement	1
Pearce	1

The fourth ballot resulted as follows:

Moloney	3
Pearce	3
Casement	2
Burnham	2

The failure to elect a Warden by the ordinary way consulting the clause of the County Council's Act was resorted to, which permits after the second ballot on the second day without election, two votes to the senior member representing the municipality having the highest assessment. In this case the two votes were cast by Mr. Middleton, of Smith. The following was the result of the fifth ballot as follows:

Moloney	4
Anderson	2
Burnham	2
Pearce	2
Casement	1

No election resulting, and the supply of ballot papers being exhausted, adjournment was made to permit of additional ballots being printed. In the meantime the members held an informal consultation on the proceedure. The council went into session and the first ballot after the adjournment resulted as follows:

Mr Anderson	6
Mr Moloney	5

Mr. Anderson subscribed to the declaration of office, and Mr. J. B. Pearce conducted the newly-elected Warden to the chair, amidst applause.

Mr. Anderson said he could hardly express his thanks for electing him as Warden of the County Council under the new system. When he was elected Warden in 1893, his election came as a surprise; but he confessed that he was much more surprised on the present occasion.

AUDITORS.

The following nominations were made for the Council's auditors:

G. J. Galvin, moved by Mr. Moloney, seconded by Mr. Casement.

George Stewart, moved by Mr. Middleton, seconded by Mr. Brown.

Geo. W. Bennett, moved by Mr. Burnham, seconded by Mr. Fitzgerald.

Mr. F. J. Bell, moved by Mr. Pearce, seconded by Mr. Shaw.

The names of Messrs. G. J. Galvin and Geo. Stewart were withdrawn, and the Warden declared Mr. F. J. Bell appointed auditor on the vote which followed.

On motion of Mr. Pearce, seconded by Mr. Moloney, Mr. W. A. Stratton was appointed sessional clerk.

COMMUNICATIONS

were received

From Wm. Collins, asking the use of the council chamber for a meeting of the Midland Poultry Association.

From J. E. Belcher, asking re-appointment as County Engineer.—Referred to the Committee on Appointments.

Council adjourned till 2 o'clock.

Afternoon Session.

The council went into committee of the whole to strike the standing committees, Mr. Pearce in the chair.

The committee rose and, the Warden in the chair, the committee reported the following as members of the

STANDING COMMITTEES

of the Council for the year 1897-98:

COUNTY PROPERTY AND APPOINTMENTS TO OFFICE—Messrs. Brown, Casement, Fitzgerald, Middleton and Shaw.

ROADS AND BRIDGES—The whole council.

SCHOOLS—Messrs. Moloney, Middleton, Shaw, Eastland and Burnham.

PRINTING AND PETITIONS—Messrs. Pearce, Moloney, Shaw, Middleton and Burnham.

FINANCE AND ASSESSMENT—The whole council.

EQUALIZATION AND ASSESSMENT—The whole council.

The report was adopted.

Hints to Advertisers.

The true secret of success in advertisements is the same as that which distinguishes the editorial columns—sense and pith. The style should be bold, easy and correct, with a vein of lightness and elasticity to make it agreeable. The more replete the advertisement can be made with useful information, the more eagerly will every line be read and the more anxiously will the next announcement be looked for. It is needless to say that the advertisement should be changed regularly and kept fresh and bright with new ideas and additional attractions. The fact should always be kept in view that AN ADVERTISEMENT INTENDED FOR THE EYE OF GENTLEMEN SHOULD BE BOLD, POINTED AND AS BRIEF AS POSSIBLE; FOR LADIES THE STYLE SHOULD BE THE VERY OPPOSITE—SMOOTH, BRIGHT AND FANCIFUL.

CURLIANA.

By the skin of their teeth the Peterborough Colts won their draw with the Campbellford Colts last night and pulled the match out of the fire by just one shot.

The rinks were composed as follows:—

Majority for Peterborough, 1 shot.

This afternoon Lindsay and Norwood play off and Peterborough plays the winner in the evening. As Norwood is very young in the curling arena, the last draw in the Northern Group will probably be played off between Peterborough and Lindsay.

The visiting curlers from Campbellford were entertained by the Peterborough Colts last night.

Very few of our citizens witnessed the close of the great bonspiel, says the Lindsay Post, the last game being scored at 2 o'clock Saturday morning.

At 7.30 last evening the rink was again filled with spectators anxious to witness the closing games in the semi-finals for the Consolation series. Skip Jamieson, of Winnipeg, was pitted against Skip Rutherford, of Peterborough, and Skip McLennan, of Lindsay, against Skip Punchon, of Oshawa.

The Winnipeg curlers were placed at a great disadvantage owing to the ice being "dead" and sticky; they are accustomed to keen ice, and lost end after end in consequence of taking too narrow ice. It would have been necessary for them to have been at their best to defeat their opponents, however, who played a very strong, well-judged game, and came out the victors by the score of 27 to 9.

Skip McLennan and his men made a very hard fight in their game with Oshawa rink, but they had been playing all day and the strain soon began to tell. Slowly but surely they fell behind, while their opponents appeared to improve in form, and won by the score of 17 to 10.

Winnipeg.	Peterborough.

After the curlers had partaken of needed refreshment in the shape of coffee and sandwiches, Peterborough and Oshawa rinks sallied out about 11 o'clock to play the final game. For the first five ends Oshawa maintained the lead, then Peterborough scored a couple of ends and crept up even. Although the players were dead tired, having been on the ice since early morning, the excitement kept them up.

Probably two hundred spectators remained as late as twelve o'clock, and nerved the curlers to fresh exertions by heartily cheering every good shot made on either side. About the middle of the game Peterborough led the score and finally won about 2 a. m., by 17 shots to 13.

The prizes have gone as follows:—First prize, double rink competition, eight pairs of red hone stones, won by Lindsay, skips McLennnn and Flavelle; second prize, two pairs of red hone stones, won by Peterborough Granites, Skips Allen and Davidson; single rink competition, four pairs red hone stones, Lindsay rink, Skip Flavelle; consolation, four pairs red hone stones, Peterborough, Skip Rutherford.

HOCKEY.

The London Free Press made an innaccurate statement about the hockey team and this is the way the Beacon gets back at the Press: "Ananias must be renewing his youth and must have improved wonderfully during the past 1800 odd years. His first effort which made him famous, could not begin to compare with this. It's a gem. It's a cuckoo. It is as much superior to the attempts of the Ottawa and Montreal liars as the sun is superior to a tallow dip. The Free Press is to be congratulated on the new acquisition to its staff."

The first game of hockey on the Riverside Park open air skating rink will be played this evening between the North Stars of Auburn and the Park Rink Seven. The teams are well matched, and no doubt the game will be fast from start to finish. The ice was reflooded this morning, and will be in capital condition. Game at 8 sharp.

WILL PLAY IN KINGSTON.

Kingston, Jan. 26.—Ald. G. H. Allan received a letter yesterday from Mr. G. J. Horkins, of Peterborough, in which he states that on the occasion of the visit to Kingston of the hockey team from Peterborough that an excursion will be run from the Midland district. Six Granite rinks will come with the excursionists, and Mr. Allan was asked if Kingston club could accommodate the team. He replied that the visiting clubs would be properly taken care of. Mr. F. J. Smith, of Campbellford, president of the Colts' Curling Association, for the Midland District, telegraphed to Ald. G. H. Allan, asking him to have two Granite rinks at Cobourg at ten o'clock this morning. Mr. Allan wired that it was impossible for the Kingston Club to leave the city this season.

MR. WARDEN ANDERSON.

For the second time in the course of his twenty years in municipal life, Mr. Wm. Anderson of Otonabee, and one of the representatives in the new County Council of the Otonabee Division, has been elected Warden of the county. Mr. Anderson entered municipal life twenty years ago, ten years of which were spent in the township council and the other ten as either deputy reeve or reeve of, next to Smith, the most wealthy and important township in the county. Mr. Anderson is a man of few words but an excellent worker. Evidence of this is afforded by the fact that in all his career he has only once had to go to the poll, having been elected on the other nineteen occasions by acclamation.

While he was in the County Council, Mr. Anderson held the position of Chairman of the Committee on Petitions and Appointments. Mr. Anderson, in the matter of the Wardenship contest, deserves well the title of peacemaker. This is the second time that he has decided a contest for the Wardenship that promised to be interminable. In 1897 he was elected Warden on the twenty-sixth ballot, the first time his name appeared. The first day there were fourteen ballots taken and the second twelve. On the present occasion Mr. Anderson came in and cut the Gordon knot on the twelfth ballot. Mr. Anderson made an excellent Warden in 1893, and with the experience of the interval, there is no doubt that he will again successfully fill the office, and justify the council in doing him the honour of making him the first Warden of the county under the "County Councils Act of 1896."

FRIDAY Don't forget the Foresters Carnival on Friday evening, 29th inst. It promises to be a big success. Several entries already received for the fancy skating competition.

Messrs. Micks and Cox:—

GENTLEMEN,—After giving your Acme Heating Drum a fair trial in China Hall, we have no hesitation in pronouncing it a perfect success. Our store is 30x100 feet with glass front and all of one side of glass facing the north; and the Drum with a small wood stove heats the store more perfectly than it has ever been heated before, even when we had two coal stoves which we formerly used.

Yours truly,

Messrs. Micks & Cox:—

GENTLEMEN,—After giving the Acme Heating Drum purchased from you a full trial in severe weather we have no hesitation in pronouncing it a complete success.

Your Drum is an application of the correct principle in proper heating devices, in drawing the cold air from the floor, heating it and circulating it through the building. We heat three rooms by means of a moderate sized wood stove with your Drum attached, and find our offices very much more comfortable than formerly, at the same time using a third less fuel than without the Drum.

Yours very truly,

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL

"Two years ago, I had the grippe, and it left me with a cough which gave me no rest night or day. My family physician prescribed for me, changing the medicine as often as he found the things I had taken were not helping me, but, in spite of his attendance, I got no better. Finally, my husband,—reading one day of a gentleman who had had the grippe and was cured by taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,—procured, for me, a bottle of this medicine, and before I had taken half of it, I was cured. I have used the Pectoral for my children and in my family, whenever we have needed it, and have found it a specific for colds, coughs, and lung troubles."—EMILY WOOD, North St., Elkton, Md.

USE OF BEING A GIRL

A WHITE-HAIRED TEACHER PUTS IT IN A GOOD LIGHT.

The Lesson of Life Which They All Speculate Upon, But Which Is Only Learned by Contact and Experience—The Mission of Girls.

There were a dozen girls or more, the first persons, so far as the writer knows, to express an interest in our topic, "Being a Girl, and What Is the Use of It?"

They were the lingerers in a large college for women whose homes were too distant for the usual holiday flitting. As they gathered about the study fire on Christmas eve a white-haired teacher chanced to call attention to the question.

Some of the loungers were what would be termed very earnest girls, who had thought out some things and lived out others, but the majority were every-day, average girls, with all their emotional tragedies and most of their real experiences yet to come. They were both innocent and ignorant enough to wish that the sensational phases of life would hurry along faster, feeling, as one of them expressed it, as if she were the third part, a mere fraction, of a verb. "Its function is to do, to be or to suffer," she said, "and I am not content with one. I have enough to do; parents and teachers have taken care of that. But I think it is time I began to be and to suffer." She had never dreamed, this eager girl, that the suffering which comes last in the grammar comes before the being in actual life; but it mattered little, since she was equally strange to both.

They looked serious enough for a moment when the topic was read to them, and then, as might have been expected, pounced upon it like so many kittens playing with a ball, giving it now gentle taps, now harder hits, and again a sturdy knock that sent it for a moment out of sight.

Their speculations were as diversified as the environments of their various homes, and a lull coming in the tide of talk, the teacher said, gently:

"You are wrong, girls. The experience just given is exceptional. Time was when the good of being a girl seemed doubtful. There are pagan lands in which to-day the girl is counted no addition to the treasures of a household. To many a mother nearer home the daughter, however welcomed and loved, seems only another little soul born to woman's lot of inevitable suffering from which no mother's love can shield her. To many a father the girl-baby is another claimant upon his labor and strength and thought, but one who can never share his burdens, carry out his projects, continue his work, or perpetuate his name. Yet the above conditions, instead of being common, are so rare as hardly to enter into our question, and equally rare, it seems to me, are such experiences as two of our girls have known."

Ordinarily, the girl-baby, the tiny toddling girl once out of arms, or the little maiden growing up sweet and gay by the hearthstone, is all the more tenderly cherished because of her helplessness. Ordinarily the manly, protective instinct in the brother makes him defender of his sister even against himself. Ordinarily the young girl is the queen in the home, for whom all are glad to work, to whom all pay willing tribute and whom all delight to spoil. Ordinarily and rightly, the young girl will answer for herself the question as to what is the use of being a girl by counting the constantly multiplying ways in which she can be of use to those she loves, a charm and delight to her friends.

All life and joy and love depends upon the girl as she is and as she may become.

And, furthermore, there is no use in all our schemes and plans and hopes for the home and the world if they leave the power and the possibilities of girlhood out.

"STOWAWAY."

A Very Artistic and Convenient Arrangement For Small Rooms.

Here's a clever idea for a neat "stowaway." It is copied from a studio cupboard. It is pretty and cosy, and there's a good deal of room in it. It requires no skill but that of any ordinary carpenter and such dexterity as every woman possesses by right. The shelf is a full foot in width. The studio being small, that was all that could be allowed, but fourteen inches would be better if the space allows. It is fitted to the wall at a distance of five feet from the floor and runs from the corner, either way, for about three feet and a half or four feet. The corners are rounded, and the whole is stained to match the woodwork of the room. All along its front edge runs a brass rod, and from this rod hang curtains of soft India silk, lined with cotton flannel to give body and durability.

The space enclosed makes an ample wardrobe for its owner's gowns. Against the wall, just beneath the shelf, are hooks screwed into a board, which in turn is nailed to the wall. Midway of the width of the board are smaller hooks screwed upward into it, and on these smaller lighter objects are hung.

The shelf itself is covered with a scarf, and shows a few bits of artistic pottery, with here and there a book. Visitors to whom the secret is unknown are apt to admire the corner as a successful decorative scheme and to give no thought to the economic principle involved. But the woman who rejoices in the generous closet considers the practical triumph is far in advance of the artistic effect. Being a decorative genius, however, she has added to the latter by covering the walls above the shelf with tea chest matting, against which background every object stands forth in perfect relief. Denims, Chester cotton, India prints—any one of a dozen good cotton stuffs can be used in place of silk, but the latter has long since ceased to be costly, and is singularly good in both color and texture, while it can always be trusted to take delightful folds.

Don't dally with rheumatism. Purify your blood and cure it at once by taking a course of Hood's Sarsaparilla.

CASTORIA.

NURSERYMEN SUFFER.

The Greenhouses of Stone & Wellington at Fonthill Burned Sunday Evening.

Welland, Jan. 25.—Messrs. Stone & Wellington's greenhouses, grafting rooms and worksheds at Fonthill were destroyed by fire about 6 o'clock last evening. The cause of the fire is unknown, but probably caught from the furnace, as the caretaker had fixed the fires shortly before. It is hoped that a lot of French grafting stock that was in the cellar will be saved.

The estimate of the loss will depend upon the quantity of stock which the buildings contained. The buildings and stock are insured, but the figures are not yet obtainable.

John C. Reid, formerly managing editor of The New-York Times, died in New York yesterday.

The dyspeptic carries a dreadful load on his back. It seems as if he were really made up of two men. One of them ambitions, brainy and energetic; the other sick, listless, peevish and without force. The weak man weighs the other one down. The dyspeptic may be able to do pretty good work one day, and the next day because of some little indiscretion in eating, he may be able to do nothing at all. Most cases of dyspepsia start with constipation. Constipation is the cause of nine-tenths of all human sickness. Some of its symptoms are sick and bilious headache, dizziness, sour stomach, loss of appetite, foul breath, windy belchings, heartburn, pain and distress after eating. All these are indicative of derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels, and all are caused by constipation. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the quickest, easiest and most certain cure for this condition. They are not violent in action.

Granby Rubbers

It is no wonder that rubbers, which are not the same shape as the boot, should be uncomfortable. It costs money to employ skilled pattern makers but the result is a satisfactory fit. Each year new patterns are added, to fit all the latest shoe-shapes, and Granby Rubbers are always "up-to-date." They are honestly made of pure rubber, thin, light, elastic, durable, extra thick at ball and heel.

One Minute Headache Cure--10c.
For Sale at all Druggists and 395 Yonge Street, Toronto.

Love is the natural heritage of many an attractive young woman, now doomed to loveless spinsterhood by ill-health. No woman should enter upon the duties of wifehood who is not fitted by good health for that position and for the responsibilities of motherhood. If a woman suffers from weakness and disease of the organs that make wifehood and motherhood possible, she should remedy these conditions before assuming the responsibilities of a wife. Otherwise, she stands little chance of proving a happy and capable wife, and motherhood will always menace her with the terrors of death.

A sure and quick cure for all weakness and disease that unfits a woman for matrimony and maternity is found in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It acts directly and only on the organs involved. It makes them strong and healthy. It cures all weakness and disease. It prepares for wifehood and motherhood. Taken during the expectant period it makes baby's coming easy and comparatively painless. It insures the health of the child. Thousands of women have testified to its merits. Druggists sell it.

"I have found great relief since taking your 'Favorite Prescription.'" writes Mrs. Henry Barlow, of Lonsdale, Providence Co., R. I. "I was all broken down from nervous prostration Since taking your medicine I have had more relief than from all the doctors' medicines—which cost me more than I could afford."

It is hard work to work when poisoned from neglected constipation. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation.

HERE LOVE WAS KING

ROMANCE OF THE SCOTTISH-ENGLISH BORDER HAMLET.

Gretna Green and Its Past History—The Present Minister of the Place Has no Care for the Past—A Beautiful and Famous Place.

Last of the Gretna Priests.

GRETNA GREEN is, or ought to be, one of the most fascinating shrines in this island kingdom, says the London, Eng., Daily Mail. The century-full of romantic incidents which render it so alluring possess a double virtue; they are each and all matters of fact, and they are each and all directly connected with an institution dearer than all others to the human heart. Nevertheless, I would strongly advise all and sundry who contemplate a pilgrimage to Gretna Green to put on a pair of rose-colored spectacles and to steer clear of Mr. McTaggart.

I made my way, writes our commissioner, along the road which leads from the little station, on the Caledonian Railway, until I came to the church, a bare and gloomy structure enough, which faces Gretna Green itself. I hasten, with wholesome fear of M'Taggart in my heart, to observe that the church I have just alluded to had and has nothing to do with the renowned Gretna Green marriages. The church and the occupant of the snug parsonage adjoining held aloof from that celebrated series of ceremonies which continued down to recent times. For the reader is aware that in Scotland neither church nor parson is indispensable to matrimony, the candidates for which, having passed the necessary three weeks' residence in Scotland, have merely jointly and severally to declare before witnesses that they desire to be united in order to be legally man and wife.

Here, then, is Gretna Green—magic words to thousands of true lovers in the good old days of our grandfathers. An open, verdant space, a few one-storied ancient cottages, and through the trees, just opposite the church, the sloping roof and a window or two visible of the famous Gretna Hall. Standing in this spot, how easy it is to conjure up a scene common enough in the halcyon days of Gretna—the mud-bespattered post chaise, the sealous driver furiously lashing the horses, the sudden pulling-up and abrupt descent of the runaways, and their welcome by the landlord. Ten minutes elapse, another scund of rumbling wheels another postchaise; more galloping horses and, presto! the father of the bride appears. Too late!—he comes too late, for the couple have already been made one by the obliging innkeeper, and furious paterfamilias can only return to his southern home hoping, if he is not too great a curmudgeon at bottom, that the course of true love may run as smoothly as its coach has done. Requited love was then an affair of quick traveling. Elopements were not only honorable—they were often a necessity. Squire Westerns grew on every family tree, and damsels who were not quick-witted paid the penalty of lifelong unhappiness.

Gretna Hall was the scene of the more aristocratic marriages. To-day the road is blocked by a hedge; trees hide the mansion from the Green, and it has become a private residence, occupied by Dr. H. F. Smith.

GRETNA HALL IN ITS DAYS OF PROSPERITY.

Each chamber in this house has its story. What tales they could tell, too, could they relate but a tithe of what had happened there! Talk of your lovers' walks and lovers' retreats—sanctified by the loves of a dozen, or even a hundred—how insipid and commonplace they are beside the chambers, the very steps and passages of Gretna Hall!

It was at this juncture in my apostrophes that I encountered Mr. M'Taggart. How can I describe his disgust—none the less deep-seated because impassive—on learning that the place hud any attractions for me?

"It's a' blether," said Mr. M'Taggart. "There's nowt i' the place to fash you head ower. It's a sma' dismal hamlet, an' no worth a thought!"

"Do you mean to say that it's nothing for Gretna to have been the scene of thousands of runaway marriages?"

"Marriages? Aye, ca' 'em marriages, if ye will, but in Scotland there's nothin' wonderful in that. There's an uncou' deal o' lies told about Gretna. It's a' fiction—an' when strangers came hither an' spier me about the matter, I tell 'em they've been imposed upon—it's a' rank fiction, an' they go away."

"But surely you tell them about the forge where the blacksmith priest officiated?" I pursued.

"Blacksmith priest?" exclaimed Mr. M'Taggart, with a Caledonian smile at my credulity. "Let me tell you there never was a blacksmith married a couple at Gretna. It's a' lie."

Sorrowfully I left Mr. M'Taggart, and wended my way towards the smithy in question. I found the smith a different person from M'Taggart, and under the spell of his good humor and thorough belief in the romance of Gretna, I began to forget the queer little hamlet's evil genius.

"There's some," said he, "as try to run down Gretna, an' tak' a' the poetry out of it. This smithy's been here hundreds o' years, an' in spite of a' their railin' this is the scene o' mony a Gretna marriage. That anvil yonder is unco' auld, an' I hold it to be the original of the one in the picture at Lowther Castle."

From the forge I strode between a narrow street of one-storied cottages to the Queen's Arms, where the courteous hostes showed me the duplicate certificate of the marriage of Lord Chancellor Erskine, of which interesting document I made a faithful copy, as it hung in the little parlor of the inn. I was also shown the pane of the window where his lordship had signed his name. Many scions of noble families came thus to Gretna. Army men and their lady loves fled thither frequently enough, and in the ranks of the naval skippers there is Lord Cochrane, who, as Earl of Dundonald, eloped "ower the border an' awa'" with Miss Barnes. Nor was the church behind in sending hither its candidates for matrimony.

Next door to the Queen's Arms is the diminutive cottage where lives the last of the Langs, the unofficial secular priests, who seem to have acquired a very pretty monopoly of the Gretna marriage business. First, there was Simon, then David, and then came the present William, and their records and registers have been faithfully kept during this period of three generations. Old Willy Lang is eighty-seven years of age now, and so is his wife, and they have some difficulty, in spite of the fees of visitors, in making ends meet. I examined the registers in the Lang cottage with intense interest, and was not surprised to learn that they are considered of very great value. An offer of £200 was made for their purchase by a London agent some time ago, but for some whimsical reason was not accepted by the Langs.

Not unfrequently they were wont to receive instructions to make search for particular entries, and for this service they were well paid.

It only suffices to say that thousands of en route tourists pass this most romantic spot without ever stopping to visit it. It is inexplicable that there is no hotel in the place, no guide-book or leaflet wherein are recounted the doughty deeds, thrilling adventures, heart-stirring accidents, and marvelous escapes of 10,000 English lovers, just over the border.

On Old Ocean's Bed.

What becomes of a ship that sinks in mid-ocean? If it is of wood, it takes, in the first place, considerable time for it to reach the bottom. In one hundred or more fathoms of water a quarter of an hour will elapse before the ship reaches bottom. It sinks slowly, and when the bottom is reached it falls gently into the soft, ooxy bed, with no crash or breaking.

Of course, if it is laden with pig iron or corresponding substances, or if it is an iron ship, it sinks rapidly, and sometimes strikes the bottom with such force as to smash in pieces. Once sunken, a ship becomes the prey of the countless inhabitants of the ocean.

They swarm over and through the great boat and make it their home. Besides this, they cover every inch of the boat with a thick layer of lime. This takes time, of course; and when one generation dies another continues the work, until finally the ship is so laden with heavy incrustations, corals, sponges and barnacles, that if wood, the creaking timbers fall apart and slowly but surely are absorbed in the waste of the sea bottom.

Iron vessels are demolished more quickly than those of wood, which may last for centuries. The only metals that withstand the chemical action of the waves are gold and platinum, and glass also seems unaffected. No matter how long gold may be hidden in the ocean, it will always be gold when recovered, and this fact explains the many romantic and adventurous searches after hidden submarine treasures lost in shipwrecks.—Bangor Commercial.

When the New Year Begins.

It may be of interest to know that at 20 minutes to 7 on the morning of December 31 the year 1897 will have commenced in fact. The day begins away out in the Pacific Ocean on the 180th meridian. At the hour named above it will be exactly midnight at this spot. Of course there is not a pause. On rushes the New Year over the seas and through Asia, conquering the earth at the rate of one-twenty-fourth every hour. By the time the sun is in the zenith over Pittsburg it will be New Year's day in England. It is an interesting morsel for thought, and to the strong imagination it is not impossible to picture the new day of the new year as some living thing floating around the earth on tireless wing at the rate of a thousand miles every time the minute hand of the clock completes a revolution.

Streams Clogged With Hyacinth.

Steamboat men are still complaining of the water hyacinths in the St. John's river. They say that every stream emptying into the river is completely blocked with the plants, and it is impossible for small steamers to go up the streams after rafts of logs. In many localities logging camps have been abandoned, as the timber cannot be floated after it is cut.—Florida Times-Union.

RAILWAY NOTES.

Sparks From the Wheels—Cinders for the Eye.

Freight business on the Grand Trunk has become slack, and during the past week several hundred freight cars have been stored on the Cobourg and Harwood road. It is calculated that upwards of a thousand cars will be stored there until wanted for spring trade.

The returns of the Galt, Preston and Hespeler Electric railway for the month of December were a fitting close to a successful year. They showed that 15,000 passengers patronized the road during the past month and that the amount of freight carried by the company was 7,000 tons.

Mrs. Sarah Jane Pollock, of Cobourg, has sued the Grand Trunk for $10,000 for the killing of her husband at that town last summer.

The lumbermen of the northern district of Ontario met a few days ago at Allandale and presented Mr. Jas. Webster, for the past twelve years superintendent of the Grand Trunk Railway, with a large open cabinet and a set of silver, comprising 100 pieces, accompanied by an illuminated address.

Justice was slow but sure in the case of the four Port Hope young men, Greenis, Fox, Mercier and Harrigan, who appeared before Judge Benson on Wednesday last, charged with assaulting a G.T.R. engineer at Port Hope depot. One night last summer the boys were stealing a ride on a freight to Port Hope, and it is said the train hands threw oil or water on them while they were riding the bumpers. On arriving at Port Hope the defendants pelted the engineer with stones and injured him. A detective was sent to Port Hope and after working constantly on the case, spotted his men and had them pulled. The trio pleaded guilty, and in view of Mr. Armstrong's reputation as to previous good character, they were allowed to go on suspended sentence. All of which proves that when the G.T.R. gets after anyone they are sure to catch him.

The Globe says: The recent dismissal of men along the line of the Grand Trunk has started a good deal of gossip, and, as is usual in such cases, there is a disposition to blame the Railroad Company for letting its men go. There are some who go so far as to say that it is the intention of the company to dismiss a large number of old and tried men and put new and younger men in their places. So far as can be learned, however, there appears to be no reason for these rumours. It is true that a number of men have been laid off at different points. On Thursday, it is understood, ten firemen were laid off at Hamilton; earlier in the week there were dismissals at Niagara, and at other places the working staff has been reduced. The reason for this, as explained by the Grand Trunk officials, is that freight business at the present time is very dull, and on this account the full complement of hands is not required. The usual course under such circumstances is to lay off all the men that are not actually required, and this is what the Grand Trunk is doing at the present time. When business picks up, the officials say, these men will be restored to their old positions. In a few cases, however, the men have been discharged for cause, and they will not be taken back.

Mr. Legate, traveller for McCormack & Co., London, says: "Miller's Compound Iron Pills restored me to health after a month of prostration from nervous shock and loss of blood." Used Eighteen Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills—The Stone Dissolved and Removed—Knew of Others Cured.

Shelburne, Jan. 25 (Special).—Mr. John Medill, known locally as well as far and near as a physical giant, and glorying in his strength, came to be a great sufferer and tells of his cure as follows:—

"I do not hesitate to speak of Dodd's Kidney Pills or anything else exactly as I find them. If a medicine cures me and I think it will cure others why not say so?

"It is true I had been suffering for some time with Bladder trouble, and, learning of a case made in a similar case by Dodd's Kidney Pills, I commenced using them.

"In all I have used eighteen boxes and they have dissolved the stone and have entirely cured me of any sign of such difficulty. I do not hesitate to speak of Dodd's Kidney Pills in the highest terms of praise, for I know of many persons who have been cured by them."

PLANS AND PURPOSES.

The company proposes to engage in and carry on the business of mining for gold and silver in Ontario and in British Columbia. For that purpose it has already bought and paid for the valuable TRILBY and PRINCE OF WALES group, which is now being equipped with a machinery plant. These properties give every present indication of developing into rich producing mines at an early date; but the company will not confine its chances of ultimate success to these properties. It is PRIMARILY A DEVELOPMENT AND EXPLORATION company, and its present holdings were acquired on that basis.

Having highly promising mines with which to commence its business, the initial risk upon which, to a large amount, was carried by its organizers (and is still being so carried, as they receive stock for their interests and no cash out of the treasury), and an unusually large and safe allotment of shares having been made into the treasury, the company is confident of realizing ample capital with which to transact a large and profitable general business without exhausting its large holdings of treasury stock.

All the valuable features of the ordinary Development Company are combined with the prime advantage of low capitalization.

It is estimated that during 1897 not exceeding 200,000 shares of the treasury stock will be needed to be sold, in which event only 800,000 shares in all would remain outstanding against the company's assets and working capital.

THE SHARES AS AN INVESTMENT.

If the company should not acquire or be in a position to operate any other mining claims in addition to the Trilby and Prince of Wales, and having regard to the number of the company's shares outstanding, when the sale shall be effected of the number estimated sufficient to yield a net working capital of not less than $50,000; to the position and value of the company's holdings now being developed; to the assurance afforded the public of the prudent and economical management of the assets and working capital of the company; the shares of the company at twenty-five cents (25c) upon the dollar are relatively cheaper than those of any company operating any mine in the same stage of development as the Trilby in the Rossland district.

Shares at 25c in a company having only 800,000 shares outstanding, owning two highly promising mineral claims, with $50,000 or more in its treasury, and with 450,000 unsold treasury shares, are a better investment than shares in a company capitalized at $1,000,000 to $2,000,000, with only one-quarter of its shares in the treasury and offered at 10c per share. It is a simple arithmetical problem and capable of easy calculation.

TREASURY SHARES TO BE SOLD.

The Board of Directors has authorized the sale of Fifty Thousand (50,000) shares of the Treasury Stock at the low price of Twenty (20) cents per share, subject to withdrawal or advance without other notice.

Subscriptions will be received by the undersigned (who are exclusive Brokers for the Company) for blocks of not less than 100 shares and certificates will be issued by The Toronto General Trusts Co., Registrars, upon allotment. Upnn the face of the certificates the shares are expressed to be fully paid and non-assessable.

Allotment will be made in the order in which subscriptions are received. Cheques or drafts should accompany suuscriptions.

WE ARE GLAD

To be able to announce that we have finished Stock-taking, and have something left after a satisfactory year's business. To be sure Profits have been small during the year just closed, but we have kept the expense account small likewise.

Ladies who shop here have shown their appreciation of our goods and our plain way of doing business. We have reason to be thankful for their confidence and patronage, and solicit a continuance of their favours for another year.

An Aftermath Of Bargains.

We have laid out for bargains overs special lots of DRESS GOODS, APRON MUSLINS, FLANNELETTE, FLANNEL, and the rest of our WINTER MILLINERY, which we can afford to sell at a loss at the end of the season, so as to make room for new goods. As a matter of fact you run no risk in buying here, because our goods have no chance to grow old. The store the ladies like must have a large daily outflow of goods to keep the stock new and fresh. You catch the idea.

Costly Clothes

Is not the greatest pleasure. Rather pay a reasonable price for something you know to be good, than pay a high price for something you think—but don't know—may possibly be better.

It does not necessarily follow when our customary January Reduction Sale takes place, that good dressers want the commonest grade of Clothes that lack fit, finish and style. What we think is wanted to induce buyers in dull months is THE BEST we can make for THE LEAST MONEY—in fact CHEAPER THAN AT ANY OTHER TIME. Therefore, that's why we are now charging only—

MELANCTHON FIRES.

All the Prisoners Have Been Sent Up for Trial.

HAMILTON TISDALE'S EVIDENCE

Revealed the Details of the Burning of One of David Ballard's Barns—A Shot Fired at a Skunk Under the Barn Was to Cause the Blaze.

Shelburne, Jan. 27.—The charge taken up yesterday by the court being held for investigation of the Melancthon fires was that against David Ballard, William Reid and James Corbett, of firing David Ballard's barn on Sept. 4, 1894. Hamilton Tisdale was the first witness and deposed that he was helping to work one of Ballard's farms on shares and occupied the farm on which the fire occurred. It was agreed from the time that Ballard purchased the place that the barn should be burned, and on the night of the fire witness, his brother John and the three prisoners were present. They placed a quantity of old farming machinery in the barn. They placed the worthless machinery, which had already gone through the fire at Jackson's place, in the lean-to of the barn. They threw a lot of straw out of the barn, and spread it over the irons. The prisoners Corbett and Reid set fire to the barn inside. Ballard would not give him a lease of the premises, as it would show that he rented the place, and so Ballard would not get the insurance. Ballard was with witness in the lean-to, and fired the straw covering the old iron so quickly that witness had not a chance to apply a match. They then all went away, and Corbett said to Ballard, "Your barn is on fire, David." Ballard replied, "Well, it can't be helped now." Later on they came back to the barn, and finding that some furniture which had been stored in the barn, but had been taken out of it before the fire was too near the burning building, they moved some of it away.

They arranged a story which they should tell as to the circumstances of the fire. They were all to say that Corbett gave the alarm to the witness, who was sleeping at the place, as he was returning from Dundalk, and that he had also alarmed Reid and David Ballard. The origin of the fire was to be ascribed to a shot fired by John Tisdale under the barn to kill a skunk. On examining the ruins they found that there were not enough ashes to look as if much had been burned in the barn, so they brought a quantity of grain, spread it on the floor and scorched it over. They also arranged the irons of the implements to look as if they had fallen off the machines as they were burned. Dave Ballard also brought some straw and placed it in position. When the insurance inspector came to investigate the fire David Ballard told him that the barn contained the crop of 40 acres of land, more than he actually rented. Among the irons placed in the barn were the remains of burned harrows, plows, a fanning mill, mower and a sulky rake. None of them were of any value.

Under cross-examination Tisdale admitted that he had committed deliberate perjury in connection with the suit brought by him against the insurance companies to recover his insurance. He had first committed arson by firing his barn, and then added perjury to it. He denied positively ever being offered money if he would give such evidence as would convict these prisoners.

John J. Tisdale, a young man 19 years of age, described the trip to Jackson's burned barn after the old iron and the other events of the night of the fire down to the story of the shot fired at a skunk under the barn. He had helped David Ballard to draw the straw to the burned barn to give the appearance of straw having been burned there. He admitted that he had told some "terrible lies" in connection with his brother's fire, by which he had perjured. He had never set fire to a building himself, but with Dave Ballard had induced Peter Marshall to fire a barn.

Detective Greer and others gave important testimony, and the evidence was concluded.

The inquest into the death of Edward Fenton was resumed last evening. Evidence was given by Messrs. Robt. Henderson, Joseph Meadugh and John Wallace, but nothing bearing upon the Fenton case was elicited.

The principal witness was James Ballard. He is a mulatto, over six feet in height and broad in proportion. His face is distinctly handsome and intelligent. He said that he lived about sixty rods from the house of the deceased, whom he knew well, and with whom he was on good terms. The day before the fire he walked out to another farm of his, about 3 1-2 miles distant, receiving a ride from "Ed.," as he called the deceased. That night he did not sleep soundly, as he was not well. He went to bed between 7 and 8 o'clock. He and his wife and another couple named Cotterell and their child all slept in the same room, and as Cotterell's child was ill, Cotterell had to keep on a fire. Once Cotterell looked out of the window and saw the fire. Cotterell went over to the fire in his stocking feet, but witness stayed in bed, as he was not well. Cotterell returned in about an hour and a half, and witness asked him if any stuff got burned. Cotterell replied, "Yes, some, and Ned, too." Witness asked him if Ned was badly burned, and Cotterell replied that he was still in the fire. Witness then went over to the fire, but could do nothing to help and came away. He did not believe that Fenton had an enemy in the world.

Ballard gave his evidence in a straightforward way, and spoke in regretful terms of Fenton's death.

When the court opened this morning the Magistrate committed all the prisoners for trial on the charges already gone into, and now a number of other charges will be investigated.

A VERY SERIOUS CHARGE.

Two Young Men Arrested Charged With Causing the Smash up on the O. & P. S. Railway.

Ottawa, aJn. 27.—(Special.)—Charles Golgleen and Peter Clement have been arrested on a charge of displacing a switch, whreby the accident on the O. and P. S. Railway occurred on Thursday last, in which three men were killed. The arrests were made last night by Detective Halton, and the men were placed in Renfrew jail to-day. They will come up on Monday for their preliminary trial at Renfrew.

FLORENCE BICKFORD KILLED.

A Bright Young Woman of Dundas Missed Her Footing and Fell Between the Cars.

Dundas, Jan. 27.—(Special.)—Miss Florence Bickford, 19 years of age, and second daughter of the late Henry Bickford, a former mayor of Dundas, was run over and killed by a dummy train at that place this morning shortly after 8 o'clock.

Miss Bickford had been a student at the Collegiate Institute in this city and was on her way to school when the accident occurred. She was a trifle late in arriving at the station and attempted to board the train as it was under way. She caught the railing of the first car, but slipped and fell from the step, rolling in between the trucks of the two cars. Conductor Sweet saw the accident and quicky signalled the engineer to stop. It was too late, however, for the wheels of the rear car had passed over the unfortunate young girl's body and a quarter of an hour later life had become extinct.

The young lady was in the junior leaving class at the institute and was considered a bright girl and a good student.

PRINCESS AND RIGO QUARRELLED

A Violent Scene at Milan Followed by the Separation of the Couple.

London, Jan. 27.—A despatch to The Mail from Vienna says that a violent quarrel occurred at Milan between the Princess Chimay, formerly Miss Clara Ward, of Detroit, Mich., and Janos Rigo, the Hungarian gypsey musician, for whom the Princess recently deserted her husband. The screams of the Princess and the violent language of Rigo created great excitement and alarm among the guests of the hotel at which the couple were staying, and complaint was made to the landlord. The affair was followed by the departure of the Princess, who started unattended by the gypsey for Monte Carlo. Before leaving, the Princess paid her own share of the bill due at the hotel, but refused to pay that incurred by Rigo, who is consequently in an awkward position, being in need of money to settle his account.

STRIKE ON AGAIN.

Springhill Miners Will Not Go to Work Because a Union Overseer Has Been Discharged.

Halifax, Jan. 27.—The strike at Springhill Coal Mines has broken out again. The trouble this time is over the employment of Henry Rea, an overseer, who was dismissed, the men say, because he was a member of the P.W.A. Lodge, and they refuse to go to work unless Rea is reinstated.

JACK FROST BREAKS A RECORD.

The Mercury Kept Below Zero for Three Days in Chicago.

Chicago, Jan. 27.—The cold wave that began Saturday night has abated little in its severity. Up to 9 o'clock this morning the temperature in Chicago had remained for 30 hours below the zero mark. This breaks all previous records. The Weather Bureau announces the severe cold will continue the rest of the week.

Snowfall in St. Louis.

St. Louis, Jan. 27.—There is but slight relief to-day from the cold wave which has swept over St. Louis since last Saturday night. Last night snow fell to the depth of four inches, and continues falling, accompanied by a sharp wind. Nearly all trains arriving this morning were from one to three hours late. The snowstorm is general throughout Missouri, and in Eastern Kansas it is almost a blizzard, with zero temperature.

BRITISH DISCIPLINE

Saved Many Lives From the Wreck of the Hastings.

TARS KNEW IT WAS LIFE OR DEATH

Yet They Obeyed Orders Strictly and Had the Women and Children Taken Off First—Only Two Lives Out of Twelve Hundred Lost From the Troopship.

London, Jan. 27.—A despatch to The Daily Telegraph from Port Louis, Island of Mauritius, published to-day, furnishes particulars of the loss of the British Indian troopship Warren Hastings, which was wrecked off the Island of Reunion on Friday, Jan. 14. The troopship ran ashore at 2.20 a.m. The shock was severe. It was very dark and torrents of rain were falling. She had on board soldiers and crew to the number of 1122 men, besides a number of women and children, the families of the married men of the military force. When the ship struck the troops were ordered to retire from the upper deck, to which they had flocked on the first alarm, and to fall in below. This they did promptly with perfect discipline, although the men were fully conscious of the danger which they were in. They were quietly mustered between decks. Owing to the fact that the surf boats could not be used, in landing the troops, two officers of the Warren Hastings were lowered from the ship's bows to the rocks, and when it was found that a landing could be effected in this way the disembarkation of the men was begun at 4 o'clock a.m., Commander Holland hoping it was safe to retain the women, children and sick on board until daylight. But the steamship was soon found to be heeling over so rapidly that everyone was ordered to the upper deck, the danger of capsizing being imminent. Thereupon Commander Holland ordered the landing of the troops to be stopped, so that women, children and the sick should be landed first. This order was obeyed with admirable discipline. By 5 o'clock the decks had heeled over to an angle of 50 degrees to starboard and the boats were all swept away. The good swimmers were then permitted to swim ashore, carrying ropes. By these means many others were landed and the disembarkation of all on board was completed with the loss of only two native servants. Many acts of personal bravery are recorded. The French officials and inhabitants of the Island of Reunion gave the shipwrecked people every assistance possible.

CONSERVATIVE ELECTED.

A Contest in Salisbury, England, Due to Mr. Hulse's Resignation.

London, Jan. 27.—The election to fill the seat in the House of Commons for Salisbury, recently made vacant by the acceptance of the stewardship of the Chiltern Hundreds by Edward Henry Hulse, Conservative, was held to-day, and resulted in the return of Mr. Alhusen, the Conservative candidate, who received 1425 votes to 1275 cast for Mr. Fuller, his Liberal opponent. At the last general election Mr. Hulse was returned by a majority of 24 over Sir W. R. Brown, Home Ruler.

CHESTER SALISBURY SANDS

Is the Name Registered at the Hotel Frontenac, Quebec, by a Man Who Shot Himself.

Quebec, Jan. 27.—A guest at the Chateau Frontenac Hotel, registered there on the 20th inst. as Chester Salisbury Sands of New Orleans, was found dead in his room at 7 o'clock this evening with a bullet hole in his head. The sum of 15 cents was found in his trousers pocket. The marks on his linen had been either cut off or erased. The suicide is a short, stout man, dark complexion and about 20 years of age. He is said to have spoken bad English. The affair is wrapped in mystery.

THE DOSE WAS TOO BIG.

George Henry Curtis Bird Took Laudanum Because He Was Despondent and Then Repented Will Recover.

Toronto, Jan. 28.

George Henry Curtis Bird is a young man from Winnipeg, who registered his full name and put up at the Hotel Metropole on Saturday last. He stayed there until yesterday afternoon, when for a short time he became tired of life, and on that account, according to his own statement, he took several ounces of laudanum. The large dose caused a severe attack of vomiting, and then it occurred to the young man that he was not so tired of living as he thought he had been, and, accordingly, he called the attention of Turnbull Smith, the proprietor, to his condition, at the same time remarking to a bystander that he had taken the drug to end his life, because he was out of funds and despondent. Mr. Smith asked advice from Druggist Matheson, who advised a fresh-air trip to the General Hospital as the best thing for the would-be suicide.

Bird was by this time in a deep stupor, and it was with difficulty that he was aroused. He was told what the druggist had said, and lost no time in availing himself of the advice, for he went unaccompanied to the General Hospital, where the drug again overcame him, but he will recover.

Bird is 26 years of age. He came to Toronto in search of his brother, Dr. Bird, who has a practice at Whitewood, N.W.T., but has been East lately. He also has another brother here, but failed to locate either, although he says he advertised for them a day or so ago. He showed the hotel proprietor a one-drachm laudanum bottle, and said he had taken four of that kind. The large quantity he took acted as an emetic and saved his life.

CURED OF SCIATICA.

Left Hip Affected—Suspected Kidney Kidney Trouble—Relieved and Perfectly Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Toronto Junction, Jan. 18 (Special)—Mr. H. Playter, is not a difficult man to find as everybody here knows that he is foreman at No. 1 Fire Hall. He was the picture of health when called upon by your correspondent and told his story thus:

"In April 1896 I suffered from a severe attack of Sciatica, affecting my left hip and the leg to the tip of my toes. I suspected it came from some form of kidney trouble and as they had been recommended I procured a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills."

At the end of the fourth day I was entirely relieved, but desiring a permanent cure I continued to use that and another box and am now cured cured and as well as ever in my life. A brother of mine living at Pine Orchard has been cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

NEWS FROM OTTAWA

Lord Aberdeen Pushing the India Famine Fund.

A FALLING OFF IN IMMIGRATION

Tablet to John Cabot to be Placed in the Parliament Buildings at Halifax—Official Report of the Railway Disaster at Dorchester, N.B.—Other Newsy Notes.

Ottawa, Jan. 27.—(Special.)—In regard to the fund for the relief of India, the Governor-General is actively engaged in pushing forward arangements in connection with this matter. His Excellency has addressed a letter to all the Lieutenant-Governors with reference to any steps which it may be thought proper to take in the various provinces. This letter will doubtless be published without delay. In accordance with a suggestion made to His Excellency by Mr. Weir, President of the Banque Ville Marie, blank forms for the use of banks, drawn up in the same shape as those in use for Government business, are being prepared, and a supply will be forwarded to the various banks for their branches. These forms, it is thought, will facilitate the arrangements for collecting and acknowledging receipt of contributions. Their supply will be arranged through the office of the honorary treasurer, with the Government's sanction.

With reference to the telegram received yesterday by His Excellency from the Chief Justice of Bengal, it should be mentioned that His Excellency sent a prompt reply, stating that a general movement had already been started in Canada, and that he was hopeful of good results. His Excellency has also communicated with the Viceroy of India.

The Merchants' Bank of Halifax telegraphed a $500 subscription to-day to the Canadian National Fund. Mayor Bingham's fund now reaches $2000.

His Excellency the Governor-General has sent this despatch to the managers of banks: "Ottawa, Jan. 25. Having arranged, after consultation with Dominion Ministry, to receive and transmit contributions from all parts of the Dominion for relief of distress in India, may I ask if you will kindly consent to arrange for subscriptions to this national fund to be taken charge of at your various branches?"

The Dominion Bank, in response to this despatch, started the list with a subscription of $1000. Other donations will be announced to-day.

Dr. Bourinot, Hon. Secretary of the Royal Society, has returned from Halifax, where arrangements were made for the meeting of the society in June. It has been decided to erect a suitable tablet to John Cabot in the Provincial Building, but this will not prevent the erection of a more costly and imposing monument in Cape Breton.

In connection with the celebration of the Queen's diamond jubilee it is proposed to ask that a day be set apart for the Cabot celebration. A statement made by Mr. Sandford Fleming, who arrived from England in time to be present at the meeting, indicated that co-operation can be secured from the municipal authorities of Bristol, and from the Italian Government, Cabot having been a native of Genoa.

The report of the Department of the Interior for 1896 will show somewhat of a falling off in immigration and settlement as compared with 1895. It also shows a reduction in revenue from land sales and like sources amounting to $32,361. The net cash receipts on account of Dominion lands were $166,264, as compared with $198,617 for the previous year. In addition to the cash receipts, however, scrip to the amount of $53,185 was taken in payment for land and rents, as against $31,897 in scrip received during 1895. The timber dues received during the last fiscal year amounted to $61,923, as against $74,079 the previous year. Homestead and inspection fees yielded $30,433, compared with $29,664. There was, however, an increase of $9080 in cash sales of Government lands, the amount received being $46,373, as against $37,293 during 1895.

The expenditure last year on account of Dominion lands amounted to $119,184, chargeable to income, besides $33,184 on capital account.

The immigration returns for the Dominion for the twelve months ending December last, show the total arrivals from Europe to be 25,571, compared with 25,478 for the previous year, or a decrease of 93.

The settlers in the Dominion for the year were 16,835, as compared with 18,617 for the previous year. Of the arrivals in 1896, 3643 were passengers to the United States, as against 6854 in 1895. The arrivals at the port of Quebec in 1896 were 15,409, at Halifax 6782, Montreal 2387, and St. John, N.B., 900. The returns for Manitoba, the Northwest and British Columbia show the arrivals to be 6206 for 1896, and 5871 for 1895.

An official report of yesterday's accident on the Intercolonial Railway near Dorchester reached the Department of Railways and Canals this morning from Mr. Pottinger, who was on the scene himself. The most careful scrutiny as to the cause of the accident was made as soon as the victims were removed from the wreck. The rails were found to be perfectly intact, and there was not a broken wheel on the coaches as they lay on the pond at the foot of the embankment. It may be that the frost had heaved the rails, but whatever the cause was will be fully ascertained by the officials of the road. Mr. Pottinger says that none of those reported injured are seriously hurt. Hon. Dr. Borden was badly cut about the face and head, but he is leaving St. John, N.B., this afternoon on the American Palace Car Company's combination coach "Boston," and will be in the Capital to-morrow noon. Sir Richard Cartwright, Hon. W. S. Fielding and Hon. Wm. Paterson will also be back to-morrow on the same train. The wrecked train was made up of C.P.R. coaches, but the officials in charge were all I.C.R. men, and the train is in fact in the hands of the Intercolonial until it reaches St. John, when it continues east over the Canadian Pacific Railway short line. Telegrams of congratulations have been coming in since yesterday afternoon to the Department of Militia, addressed to Hon. Dr. Borden, and expressing pleasure at his happy escape.

The British Consul at Rio Janeiro has cabled the Government calling attention to the fact that 11 more families of Canadians, comprising 44 persons in all, who left Montreal for Brazil last summer, are now in an extremely destitute condition there. The Consul-General wished to know whether the Government would become responsible for the cost of transporting the people to their homes in Canada. The Premier has sent a reply in the affirmative.

A message came to the Minister of Marine and Fisheries this morning from Victoria, B. C., to the effect that the Sealing Commission will finish the taking of evidence by the end of this week, and the commissioners and counsel will all be coming east without delay. There will probaby be a sitting in Montreal for argument.

The Premier has declined the invitation of the Washington's Birthday Celebration Committee of Chicago to speak at the banquet to be held in that city on Feb. 22 next.

It has been found that pilotage commissioners at different ports of Canada have been voting themselves commissions out of fees, under a provision of the law which allows them the expenses and salary of a secretary. The matter was brought to the notice of the Minister of Marine, who decided to-day that the practice must cease forthwith. The appointment of commissioner is supposed to be an honorary one.

The death is announced of Rev. Father Jouvert, who was well known in Ottawa some years ago. The reverend father was the first parish priest of Buckingham, a post he held for several years. He had for his curate the present Archbishop of Ottawa. When His Grace was appointed Archbishop he had for his first Vicar-General Father Jouvert, who afterwards resigned his position and returned to France.

Hon. L. H. Davies yesterday wired acceptance of a contract with Job Bros. of St. John's, Nfld., for a sealer in every way suited for the Hudson Bay expedition. She is not the craft for which the department had been bargaining, but is considered better for the purpose, and was offered for a smaller consideration. Dr. Wakeham will be given command of the expedition.

The County of Frontenac wants the co-operation of Carleton County to petition the Tariff Commissioners to place crude oil, coal oil, wire for fencing, and all raw material not produced in Canada on the free list. The Frontenac Council has sent down a blank petition all ready for their fellow-councillors in Carleton to fill in.

The Supreme Court will open its sitting on Feb. 16. The first business will be the hearing of the election appeals in the following cases: Assiniboia, Macdonald, St. Antoine division of Montreal, Lunenburg, Beauharnois, Marquette, Winnipeg, Selkirk and West Prince.

Dr. Chamberlain of Toronto, Inspector of Public Charities, has been in the city for a couple of days, looking into the difference between the medical staff and the Carleton County General Protestant Hospital, as a result of which difference the leading doctors have applied for a charter for a new hospital. It is understood that Dr. Chamberlain had advised the directors of the hospital that unless they arrange their difference with the doctors and institute a new method of government they will forfeit the grant of $5000 which the province gives annually to the hospital.

The franchise bill which will be introduced next session has been drafted and is now being reviewed by the Premier and Sir Oliver Mowat. Its chief provision is the acceptance of the provincial lists for federal election purposes.

HAVE YOU CATARRH?

But One Sure Remedy—Obtain It for 25 Cents, Blower Included, and be Cured.

Catarrh is a disagreeable and offensive disease. It usually results from a cold and often ends in consumption and death. The one effective remedy so far discovered for it is Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure.

Physicians failed to cure Geo. Belfrey, toll-gate keeper, Holland Landing road. Chase's Catarrh Cure did it.

One box cured William Kneeshaw and two boxes James T. Stoddard, both of West Gwillimbury.

Division Court Clerk Joel Rogers, Robert J. Hoover and Geo. Taylor, all of Keston, voluntarily certify to the efficacy of Chase's Catarrh Cure.

J. W. Jamison, of Gilford, spent nearly $200 on doctors, but found no permanent relief until he tried a 25-cent box of Chase's.

Miss Dwyer, of Alliston, got rid of a cold in the head in 12 hours.

Henry R. Nicholls, 176 Rectory street, London, tried a box with excellent effect.

Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure is for sale by any dealer, or by Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Price 25 cents including blower.

Coughs, colds and bronchial troubles quickly cured by the potent discovery, Dr. Chase's Linseed and Turpentine. Pleasant and easy to take. 25 cents.

Don't worry. Don't run into debt. Don't trifle with your health. Don't try experiments with medicines. Don't waste time and money on worthless compounds. Don't be persuaded to take a substitute for Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It is the best of blood-purifiers.

Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry cures Diarrhœa, Dysentry, Cramps, Colic, Cholera-Morbus, Cholera Infantum, and all looseness of the bowels. Never travel without it. Price 35c.

SUFFERING IN CHICAGO

One Man Frozen to Death Yesterday and Others With Hands Frozen—The Relief Measures.

Chicago, Jan. 26.—Bitterly cold weather aggravated by wind continued to afflict the people of Chicago to-day. To-night the official report was that of three successive days of a temperature below zero, and in the double figures most of that time. Slightly warmer weather is predicted for to-morrow. An unknown man was found frozen to death on the outskirts of the village of Tuney Park this morning. James McCork and George Wernts, a telegraph operator, were found at an early hour near together on Wells-street with both their hands frozen. Many less severe cases of freezing were reported during the day. The Mayor's special subscription fund reached nearly $10,000 this afternoon and many thousands of dollars worth of supplies were received from citizens in lieu of cash. The whole available police force was utilised day and night to ascertain the needs of sufferers and distribute the relief in patrol wagons and ambulances. It is estimated that 15,000 persons have been given enough food, fuel and clothing to keep them from extreme suffering since the Mayor's proclamation was issued.

THE WOMEN TOO.

Back Talk Not Man's Monopoly.

Mrs. Jemima Cole, Havelock, told the following wonderful story:—"For a great many years I have suffered from disease of the kidneys. The pains in my back and side were sometimes excruciating.

"My limbs were so swollen that I could scarcely lift my feet from the floor, and I was in great agony nearly all the time. I thought that I would surely die from the pain.

"I have taken dozens of advertised remedies, aut got no better during their use. I was also treated by several doctors, but am sorry to say they did me little or no good. In fact they stated that they could do me no good, which made me despair of ever getting better.

"When I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised I sent to W. H. Jeff & Co's. drugstore and got a box thinking I would try them as a last resort.

"The change from the start was very great and now after one month I am free from all pain. The swelling has gone down and I feel quite strong and healthy.

"I was also troubled with rheumatism and neuralgia which have completely disappeared, thanks to the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. In fact I do not think there is a medicine in the world that in such a short time could have taken me from the almost dying condition in which I was to the healthy and vigorous state that I am in now.

"I recommend Doan's Kidney Pills for their wonderful virtues in curing kidney troubles."

ANNUAL MEETING OF ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH.

THE MANAGERS PRESENT A SATISFACTORY REPORT.

The Report of the Session, Including Statements from Each of the Church Societies.

The congregation of St. Andrew's Church held its annual business meeting last night, preceded by the usual congregational tea, which was served between the hours of 5.30 and 7.30 p.m.

Devotional exercises were held at a quarter to eight o'clock, after which the pastor, Rev. J. G. Potter was requested to occupy the chair.

During the evening a quartette composed of Mrs. Jones, Miss Maggie Fowler and Messrs. Mulligan and Jones gave several selections.

THE REPORT OF THE SESSION

was read by Rev. J. G. Potter as follows:

In presenting its report for 1896 the Session expresses its deep sense of gratitude to the King and head of the church for continued guidance and progress during the past year. It was with deep regret that we were called upon in April to part with our late pastor, the Rev. A. MacWilliams, B.A., yet we are glad to learn that he is doing faithful service in his present charge in Hamilton. After a vacancy of five months the pastorate was filled, and the work has gone steadily forward. While the long vacancy has thrown a shadow over the financial and numerical strength of the various organizations under our care, yet it is with the greatest degree of pleasure and satisfaction in reviewing their work to notice the renewed interests and the spirit of hopefulness that augurs well for the year upon which we have entered. Communion services, the regular Sabbath services and weekly prayer meetings have been well attended.

During the year 35 were admitted, 24 by certificate and 11 by profession of faith.

We were called upon in the providence of God to chronicle four deaths:
Miss F. Carruth re, McDonel street.
Mrs. Brownlee, Aylmer street.
Mrs. Chas. Thompson, lot 26, Otonabee.
Mr. Thos. Telford, 66 Paterson street.

The membership roll is now 341.

For Sessional fund the receipts were $23.20; for relief, etc., $20.25 was expended, leaving a balance on hand of $7.95.

Special collection for Sailors' Mission, $24.00.

THE SABBATH SCHOOL.

The Sabbath School report is exceedingly encouraging, notwithstanding the discouraging features of the year. The attendance averaged 220 per Sabbath, 174 in school and 46 in Bible class. During the summer months the attendance fell very low, but since the holiday season the average attendance has been 252. The Library contains 450 volumes which are used by the scholars and to some extent by the members of the congregation. The Sunday School Association is anxious that if the library is to be open for general use the congregation would help as much as possible in keeping it well supplied. The librarians sent 36 volumes to Mount Pleasant Sabbath school. The school and Bible class were able last year to devote $8 to missions and the Association regrets their inability to do much at this time. Many of our scholars have shown a spirit of self-denial and have set aside a definite portion each Sabbath for some special mission interest. Mrs. Waddell's class gave $50 to Pointe Aux Trembles school for the support of a pupil. Mr. Mulligan is superintendent, with a staff of very efficient officers and faithful teachers.

THE Y. P. S. C. E.

The Christian Endeavour report is very encouraging. During the five months of vacancy the Society took charge of the Weekly Prayer Meeting, and thus retained their influence and interest in the church and kept up the continuity of the weekly service. Members 44; total Receipts $76 86. The members have been active in raising money by lectures and subscriptions for piano fund, and by special collection amongst members have been able to devote $30 to the New Hebrides Mission, and $5.10 for the mission schemes of the church. The Society has adopted the plan of study suggested by the General Assembly and look forward to a very profitable year. The various committees have been faithful and that has made the society prosperous. We quote the closing sentence of the report:—"We begin the new year with hearts full of gratitude to Him who has dealt so generously with us in the past, and encouraged by our experience we trust and believe that the year upon which we have entered will be the most successful in the history of the society. Mr. F. W. Gladman is the President.

JUNIOR C. ENDEAVOUR.

One of the most promising and inspiring features of any church is to see its young people taking an interest in the study of God's Word. While this is so in the senior society it is a pleasant thing to see the earnestness with which the juniors take hold of their meetings. One is charged with the preparation of the topic and in this all are interested. Social gatherings were held twice during the year. The Flower Committee provided a number of bouquets, and attaching cards with texts of scripture distributed them among the patients in the Nicholl's Hospital.

While the home duties were not neglected help was given to various mission interests:—The Sailor's Mission received $5, in July, and $5 in December; the Harvey School $3; Student's Mission $5; the Armenians $1.75; leaving a balance of $14 which has been given to treasurer to make up mission deficit. The society is society is superintended by Miss M. Forsythe.

THE LADIES' AID SOCIETY.

As usual our women have not been idle and the report shows activity and deep interest. The report says: "Our meetings have been very helpful and of a very pleasant nature. We have tried to follow the Master's words: 'Inasmuch as ye have done it unto the least of these my brethern ye have done it unto me.'"

Regular meetings have been held. Refreshments provided at several congregational functions. Conveniences for work in the kitchen arranged for made quilts for Pointe-Aux-Trembles school and distributed donations in December. The treasurer's statement shows $89.77, of which $11.09 was expended, leaving a balance of $13.06 on hand.

Miss M. Forsythe is president, and Mrs Jones secretary. Mrs. McClelland was present when the report was arranged.

W. F. M. S.

While our women have been active in the interest of the church work here they have not forgotten the claims of Foreign Mission work. It is most gratifying to see what has been done and to find thus with the strong appeal that comes from the church on behalf of suffering and perishing womanhood there is manifested a ready and hearty response in the hearts of our women. With the two "life membership" fees of Miss Forsythe and Miss Lundy, amounting to $50, the society has raised $179.09. The Auxiliary also sent to the Northwest contributions worth $93.83.

The Session would earnestly recommend to all our women the blessedness and great helpfulness of all our woman taking an interest in both Societies, as it not only should tend to social intercourse but the influence of forces united along the lines laid down by these two Societies, yield incalculable benefits to the Church at home and abroad. Mrs. A. Stewart is President; Miss Weddell is Secretary.

THE CHOIR.

Of the choir the Session must speak in the highest praise. For regularity of attendance, efficiency of service and order and devotion in the sanctuary, they merit the greatest commendation. Throughout the whole year the interest never abated, for even during the vacation, out of a membership of 28, there was an average attendance of 19. They report having sung 154 anthems, besides special music, which represents a great deal of work. Your Session is glad to note the harmony and good will existing, and we do feel that in the service of praise these elements are of great value. The success of the choir is due to the very efficient leadership of Mr. G. W. Mulligan—to the courtesy of our organist, Miss Mary Grant, and the loyalty of the leaders in song. The choir plead for recognition, financially, so that they may be able to secure a permanent system of supply, and thus make the song service still more acceptable.

The financial statement shows $26.30, with expenditure amounting to $26.90, leaving deficit of 60 cents.

THE MANAGERS' REPORT

as submitted by Dr. Bell, showed the receipts to be as follows:

Balance on hand from 1895...		$ 22 78
Arrears, 1895.....		15 65
Subscriptions for 1896	$ 1,702 71
Collections for 1896	272 98	1,975 69
Special subscriptions towards deficit.....		44 70
Invested property account...		431 22
		$ 2,489 54

The salaries amounted to $1,633.60, and incidentals footed up to $295.54 more, leaving a balance on hand of $26.08.

Messrs. T. Fitzgerald and R. J. McWilliams were re-elected to positions on the Managing Board, which is composed as follows.—Dr. Bell, chairman, and Messrs. J. D. Tully, A. Macfarlane, John Stanger, T. Fitzgerald, R. J. McWilliams and F. W. Gladman.

Mr. John McClelland was re-elected a member of the Nicholls Hospital Trust.

Mr. Wm. Fowler was chosen to represent St. Andrew's on the Town Charity Board.

Votes of thanks were passed to the managers and choir for their services during the year.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

Rink Talk and Items of Local and General Interest to Sportsmen.

CURLIANA.

The Peterborough Colts won the draw in the northern group of the Midland Colts Association at the rink last night by defeating two Lindsay rinks of Colts by one and eight shots respectively.

As stated in yesterday's issue the local boys won from Campbellford last night. Norwood and Lindsay met yesterday afternoon and, as predicted, Lindsay was the winner, the score being as follows:

Lindsay.	Norwood.
RINK NO. 1.
W Williamson,	W Fry,
S Robinson,	T Finlay,
W Greer,	J McKelvey,
T McConnell, skip..27	J Cumming, skip....18
RINK NO. 2.
A Storer,	W R Cameron,
J Hart,	M McGregor,
F Walters,	W Clancy,
J McSweyn, skip..12	F W Ashe, skip.....12
Total.....45	Total.....36

Majority for Lindsay, 19 shots.

In the evening Lindsay and Peterborough met to play off and the Colts from Campbellford and Norwood remained to see the game, and they will never regret having done so. It was a case of "when Greek meets Greek." Flushed with the victories of their recent bonspiel, the Lindsayites were naturally confident, but deep down in the hearts of the Peterborough boys was a fixed determination to retrieve the laurels lost to Lindsay earlier in the season and prove that the rising generation of Peterborough was made of the stuff to put and keep old Peterborough at the top of the heap in the curling arena.

The game was one beautiful to look at throughout. There was no laying down of stones with the eyes shut, or anything of that kind. The Lindsay boys played well—played magnificently, and as Skip Horkins says, "they kept us guessing all the time," but the local Colts were more than a match for their guests, and the scores of veterans who came down to the rink to see the game were greatly pleased with the way the two young skips built up their ends and out-generalled the Lindsay men who, to give them their just due, fought gamely until the last stone was played.

Curlers will understand the exciting nature of a contest in which there was not a single fluke—a contest in which no end larger than a "three" was scored, and in which the average was not even two.

The rinks were composed as follows:

Lindsay.	Peterborough.
RINK NO. 1.
H Williamson,	J S Knapman,
S Robinson,	G S Matthews,
W Greer,	E Rutherford,
T McConnell, skip..10	G J Horkins, skip.....18
RINK NO. 2.
A Storer,	H R H Kenner,
J Hart,	Gus Hay,
F Walters,	C N Brown,
J McSweyn, skip...13	D Davidson, skip.....14
23	32

Majority for Peterborough, 9 shots.

Skip Horkins secured a three end right at the start. Luck seemed somewhat against Skip Dickson Davidson when building up his first end and there seemed no chance for him to score, but with his last stone he raised one in and lay shot getting a cheer from the crowd for the fine play. An idea of the closeness of the game can probably be better given than any other way by the publishing of the detailed score, which was as follows:

Horkins.	McConnal.	Davidson.	McSweyn.
1— 3	x	1	x
2— x	1	x	1
3— x	3	x	1
4— 1	x	1	x
5— 1	x	x	2
6— 1	x	1	x
7— 1	x	x	2
8— x	2	2	x
9— 2	x	x	1
10— 1	x	1	x
11— x	1	x	3
12— 1	x	2	x
13— x	1	1	x
14— 2	x	1	x
15— x	2	x	1
16— 1	x	1	x
17— 1	x	1	x
18— 2	x	x	2
13	10	14	13

If the Peterborough Colts win from the victors in the southern group and secure the trophy, the boys should certainly be banquetted upon their return to town. The final draw will probably be played off next week.

It is learned that Port Hope won in the southern group draw yesterday.

HOCKEY.

The senior team goes to Norwood for a practice game next week.

There is nothing in the rumour that the Ottawa's are coming to Peterborough for a game next week.

When such good reports are coming in of the work done by the Belleville and Port Hope teams, an effort should have been made to bring both sevens here long ago.

The Millbrook hockey team comes up for an exhibition game to-night with one of Peterborough's intermediate teams. As the Millbrook boys have been playing fast hockey this year the match should be an interesting one. The teams will line up as follows:

Millbrook		Peterborough.
Whyte	goal	F Dixon
Coombe	point	R Glover
O'Leach	cover point	R Thorne
J Nattress	forwards	W Crossley
T Nattress		H King
P Leach		C Graham
Duncan		R Davidson

An Exciting Game of Hockey Between these two Clubs.

Yesterday afternoon by the air of subdued excitement which pervaded the skating rink, it was apparent that something out of the usual run was in the wind.

At about five o'clock Mr. Angus McIntosh diligently scoured the galleries and waiting rooms and ejected the small boys, after which the young ladies took possession of the ice, and in a moment the rink was re-echoing with their laughter.

It was the occasion when the Niffs were about to endeavour to reverse the score of the last game, which resulted somewhat disastrously for them.

The two teams lined up as follows:

Niffs.		Biffs.
F Hamilton	goal	L Hamilton
Geraldine King	point	E Ackerman
Ada McBain	cover point	Madge Davidson
Linda Hall	forwards	Gertie Kendry
Pearl Hamilton		Katie Davidson
Madge McGill		M Hamilton
Mabel Bradburn		Pearl Lundy

At the close of the hour's play the score stood five goals to three in favour of the Niffs.

The scoring for the victors was done by Mabel Bradburn, Madge McGill, Pearl Hamilton and Linda Hall and for the Biffs by M. Hamilton, Pearl Lundy and Gertie Kendry.

The Lindsay young ladies are anxious to come over for a game and doubtless a match will be arranged during February.

FIRST SESSION OF THE NEW COUNTY COUNCIL

UNDER THE COUNTY COUNCILS' ACT OF 1896.

An Asphodel Deputation—The Historical Society Endorsed — Mud Lake Bridge Maintenance—The Town's Co-Operation to be Asked.

THIRD DAY—THURSDAY.

The council went into session this morning, the Warden in the chair.

After routine,

A deputation from the township of Asphodel, consisting of Mr. James Andrews, reeve, Mr. W. Oakman, deputy-reeve, and Mr. Robert Tudhope, appeared before the council, asking that "Steele's bridge be replaced by a new structure. Referred to the Roads and Bridges Committee, on motion of Messrs. Pearce and Brown.

Mr. Pearce, chairman, presented the report of the Committee on

as follows:

The Committee on Printing and Petitions beg leave to report as follows:

1. That Mr. Pearce be chairman of this committee.

2. That the county clerk be instructed to grant to the Norwood Register and the Lakefield News alternately the printing of the list of convictions, and the assessment schedules, required by law to be published and printed, at the same price as last year.

3. That all other county printing be divided by the clerk between THE EXAMINER, Review and Times in as equal a manner as possible and that the division of such printing and the terms thereof as arranged between the interested parties and the county clerk be confirmed, save and except that the county clerk in his judgment is to apportion to the Lakefield News and Norwood Register a fair proportion of printing which he shall consider those offices to be entitled to and is to give the printing of assessment and collectors rolls and tax sales either to the Review or the EXAMINER.

4. That the County Treasurer be instructed to procure sufficient copies of the "List of Tax Sales" for this year so as to forward at least twenty copies to each post office in the County.

5. Your committee recommend that no action be taken with respect to the circular letter from the County of Frontenac asking the Dominion Government to place certain articles upon the free list in their contemplated Tariff revision.

6. Your committee recommend that no action be taken upon the petition asking this Council to memorialize the Legislature in respect to the killing of sheep by dogs.

7. Your committee recommend that no action be taken with respect to the circular letter from the County of Wentworth asking for reduction of fees of registrars of Registry Offices and for special legislation as to toll roads.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

J. B. PEARCE, Chairman.

County County Chambers, Peterborough, January 27th, 1897.

The report was adopted.

Mr. Middleton presented the report of the Committee

APPOINTMENTS AND PROPERTY.

The report recommended the appointment of all the old officials with the exception of jail surgeon. Clause 5 recommended that Dr. Caldwell be made jail surgeon at a salary of $150 per year.

Messrs. Casement and Eastland moved the adoption of the report.

Messrs. Burnham and Pearce moved in amendment that the name of Dr. Scott be substituted.

The amendment was declared lost by the Warden, after which Mr. Burnham amended his amendment, to the effect that the report be referred back to the committee, which was carried.

THE HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

A communication was read from T. A. S. Hay, Hon. Secretary of the Peterborough Town and County Historical Society, asking the county to co-operate in forwarding the objects of the Society.

Mr. Burnham described somewhat in detail the aims and objects of the society and indicated how worthy it was of such assistance as the council could give and he moved, seconded by Mr. Pearce, that the council assure the Historical Society of its sympathy with its objects and aims and that it will do all in its power by granting them such documents and things in its possession as are not required by the county and which may be of historical value to the society and that Messrs. Burnham, Casement and the Warden be a committee to act with the clerk in dealing with the matter. After further remarks from Mr. Burnham and Mr. Pearce the motion was carried.

HAVELOCK LOCK-UP.

On motion of Messrs. Brown and Pearce the request of the village of Havelock for help to build a village lock-up was referred to the Finance Committee.

BELMONT'S REQUEST.

On motion of Messrs. Pearce and Brown the application of Belmont for an appropriation of $100 for the boundary line between Belmont and Hastings, was referred to the Committee on Roads and Bridges.

A communication from Mr. Charles Coben, reeve of Galway, respecting county assessment rates was referred to the Finance Committee.

Mr. Pearce introduced a bylaw to confirm the appointment of county officials which was duly passed.

Mr. Duncan Walker, Public School Inspector, Peterborough, applied for appointment on the Board of County Examiners.—Referred to the Committee on Appointments.

MUD LAKE BRIDGE.

Mr. Burnham brought up the subject of the maintenance of the Mud Lake bridge, which cost the county a large sum for maintenance. He expressed the opinion that the town should assist in defraying the cost of maintenance. He believed that if the matter was presented to the town that they would co-operate with the county, and he moved that a committee be appointed to confer with the town council on the subject.

Mr. Pearce said he understood that when the question of the joint maintenance of the Pigeon Creek bridge was under discussion, the town council promised to help maintain the Mud Lake bridge also.

The motion passed, and the following were named as the committee: Messrs. Moloney, Burnham, Casement, Middleton and Pearce.

Mr. Pearce moved that Messrs. Casement, Burnham and the mover be a committee to consider the advisability of consolidating the bylaws of the county, and report.—Carried, and the council adjourned.

THIRTEENTH ANNUAL REPORT

—OF THE—

CENTRAL CANADA LOAN AND SAVINGS COMPANY

OF ONTARIO,

Submitted to the Shareholders of the Company at their Annual General Meeting held in Peterborough on Wednesday, the 27th Day of January, 1897.

The Directors submit herewith their Thirteenth Annual Report, showing the results of the business for the past year, accompanied by the Financial Statement, duly audited.

The earnings for the year amounted to $289,603 43. This enabled the Directors, after providing for interest on deposits and debentures, expenses in connection with money borrowed or loaned, and the expenses of management, to declare four quarterly dividends of 1½ per cent. each on the paid up Capital of $1,250,000, amounting to $75,000, transfer to the Reserve Fund $10,000, and to the Contingent Fund $5,451.42.

The Reserve Fund now stands at $335,000, and the Contingent Fund at $37,525.85, the two being within a fraction of 30 per cent. of the paid-up Capital.

At 31st December, 1896, the total amount due depositors and debenture holders was $3,708,033.52. By reference to the statement of assets and liabilities it will be observed that this amount was increased during the year by $21,743.71, and now stands at $3,729,777.23.

The payments maturing during the year on the Company's investments have been satisfactorily met.

The books, accounts and securities have been carefully examined by the auditors and Inspection Committee, as will be seen by the attached certificates.

The Directors record with profound regret the removal by death of one of their number, Mr. J. R. Dundas, Vice-President of the Company. Mr. Dundas was one of the incorporators of the Company, and from its very inception took a warm interest in its welfare. His mature judgment and keen business insight are greatly missed at the meetings of the Board.

Respectfully submitted on behalf of the Directors.

GEO. A. COX, President.

AUDITOR'S CERTIFICATE.

We hereby certify that we have carefully examined and audited the books and accounts of the Central Canada Loan and Savings Company of Ontario (with the exception of the books of the Manitoba Branch, which have been audited by Mr. F. H. Mathewson, of Winnipeg, the Company's local auditor), for the year ending 31st December, 1896. All disbursements have been satisfactorily vouched for, the postings and balances of the Company's ledgers have been examined, and we find the whole correct, and in accordance with the above statements.

HENRY M. PELLATT, WILLIAM MANSON, } Auditors

INSPECTION COMMITTEE CERTIFICATE.

We hereby certify that we have made a careful examination of the securities of the Central Canada Loan and Savings Company of Ontario (with the exception of the Manitoba Branch securities, which have been inspected by Mr. F. H. Mathewson, the Company's Auditor at Winnipeg), that we have checked the same with the mortgage registers, and find them correct and in accordance therewith.

E. S. VINDIN, F. C. TAYLOR, } Inspection Committee

Peterborough, 14th January, 1897.

After the reading of the annual report, it was, on motion of the President, seconded by the Vice-President, unanimously adopted, after which the directors were re-elected, and the usual votes of thanks to the President, Vice-President, Directors and officers were passed.

At a subsequent meeting of the directors the Hon. Geo. A. Cox was elected President and Richard Hall, Esq., Vice-President.

DEYELL—CHAMBERS.

A Marriage at Stewart's, Otonabee, on Wednesday Evening.

A very interesting event took place on Wednesday evening, Jan. 27th, at the residence of Mr. Robert A. Deyell, when his daughter, Miss Olivia, was united in marriage to Mr. James Chambers, of Otonabee.

Rev. W. C. Boer, of Mark street church, Ashburnham, tied the knot in the presence of a large number of guests.

The many handsome presents received by the bride testified to her popularity.

The young couple have the best wishes of a very large circle of friends. They will reside in Otonabee.

POLICE COURT.

Thursday, Jan. 28th.

At the court this morning, Police Magistrate Dumble presiding, Ida M. Wesley wife of Fred Wesley, and of the firm of Wesley & Co., fancy goods dealers, (who conducted a business on George street about two months, assigning a few days after Christmas), was charged with that she did "on or between the first day of December, 1896, and the first day of January, 1897, with intent to defraud her creditors, dispose of her property."

Mr. R. E. Wood, County Crown Attorney, appeared for the Crown, and requested an enlargement of the charge till next Monday, and his request, though strongly opposed by the counsel for the accused, Mr. O. A. Langley, of Toronto, was granted. Subsequently Mr. Langley requested an enlargement for one week, and this request the Magistrate also granted; the case, therefore, stands enlarged till Thursday, Feb. 4th.

Mr. R. R. Hall, of Stratton & Hall, appeared on behalf of interested parties, and Mr. F. D. Kerr was associated with Mr. Langley, in case the latter was required to give evidence, he having been in charge of the Wesley business since the assignment.

OBITUARY.

Death of Allan M. Simonds, in Belleville.

The Belleville Sun of Tuesday says Allan M. Simonds died this morning at the family residence in this city as the result of a complication of diseases resulting from a severe cold. The deceased was born in Sophiasburg on September, 24, 1824, and was consequently in the seventy-third year of his age. He had been a resident of Belleville for 27 years and was employed as a millwright with the Gilmour Co., and with Mr. H. Corby in that capacity. He was married to Miss Charity Butler, of Demorestville, and she with seven children survive him. The children are: Mrs. Cummings, Trenton; Mrs. Thompson, Picton; Mrs. M. Hutchinson, Ottawa; Miss Nettie Simonds, Peterborough, and Misses Maggie and Laura and Mr. Charles Simonds of this city. The deceased gentleman had always been very healthy and was a hard working man of temperate habits. He never lost a day's work through illness or from any fault of his own. To his wife and family he was a good, kind husband and father and to his neighbours he was all that a good citizen should be. The sorrowing widow and family have the sympathy of a large number of friends in their bereavement.

—"There have been many estimates published of the total expenditures of Americans in Europe every year," said a steamship agent to a New York Mail and Express reporter. "I estimate that $500 is the average expenditure of each tourist. I believe that 120,000 Americans went abroad last season. This would make the total expenditures last year, at $500 a head, $60,000,000.

A SPECIFIC
—FOR—
La Grippe, for Colds, Coughs,
AND LUNG TROUBLES,
AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL

"Two years ago, I had the grippe, and it left me with a cough which gave me no rest night or day. My family physician prescribed for me, changing the medicine as often as he found the things I had taken were not helping me, but, in spite of his attendance, I got no better. Finally, my husband,—reading one day of a gentleman who had had the grippe and was cured by taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,—procured, for me, a bottle of this medicine, and before I had taken half of it, I was cured. I have used the Pectoral for my children and in my family, whenever we have needed it, and have found it a specific for colds, coughs, and lung troubles."—EMILY WOOD, North St., Elkton, Md.

THE GAME ROSE WORKED.

Degraded Her Majesty's Uniform in a Blood-Curdling Play at an Ottawa Public Hall.

Ottawa, Jan. 28.—(Special.)—A peculiar case came up in the Police Court this morning, a charge being brought against S. R. Rose by Major W. G. Hurdman of Ottawa Field Battery, of having refused to hand over the uniform of the Field Battery. The young man, who is subject to fits, was given his discharge from the battery in July last. The Major has repeatedly sent to Rose for the uniform, but in each case the messenger has returned with the information that Rose would hand over the outfit when he was ready. An investigation showed Rose's reasons for delaying. Several military men about town were of the opinion that they recognized the uniform of the Ottawa Field Battery on one of the "heroes" in a recent blood-curdling play at Grant's Hall. The indignation of the officers of the battery knew no bounds when it leaked out that the uniform was being hired from time to time for that purpose. Finally Major Hurdman took action, with the result that Rose stood before the bar of justice this morning with his uniform in his arms. He told the magistrate that some time ago he had left word with friends to return the uniform, as he was going out of town, but this his friends had failed to do. The magistrate ordered Rose to hand over the uniform, remarking that Rose should have certainly complied with the rules and regulations of the battery. It is said members of different military organizations in the city are making a practice of hiring out their uniforms and there promise to be more cases to come before the magistrate unless the practice is stopped. The fine for refusing to return one of Her Majesty's uniforms is $20 and costs.

Ottawa, Jan. 28.—(special.)—Up to a late hour this afternoon nothing of an official character had been received at the Railway Department respecting the Intercolonial accident, Dr. Borden, however, telegraphed that he was continuing on to Ottawa. Great satisfaction was expressed here at the Doctor's escape.

An Ocean Race.

Queenstown, Jan. 28.—The British barque Cedarbank, Captain Moody, which sailed from San Francisco Sept. 13, for Hull, passed Prawle Point this afternoon. The Cedarbank is racing for a wager with the British ship Ditton, Captain Stap, which sailed from San Francisco on the same day for Queenstown. The latter vessel has not yet been sighted.

Canadian Vessel Burned.

North Sydney, C.B., Jan. 28.—The side-wheel steamer Magnolia, lying in the stream at Sydney, was burned to the water's edge this morning. The vessel was laid up for the winter, and was owned by George L. Burchell of Sydney. She was 151 tons register.

GRAVEL IN THE BLADDER.

Used Eighteen Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills—The Stone Dissolved and Removed—Knew of Others Cured.

Shelburne, Jan. 25 (Special).—Mr. John Medill, known locally as well as far and near as a physical giant, and glorying in his strength, came to be a great sufferer and tells of his cure as follows:—

"I do not hesitate to speak of Dodd's Kidney Pills or anything else exactly as I find them. If a medicine cures me and I think it will cure others why not say so?

"It is true I had been suffering for some time with Bladder trouble, and, learning of a cure made in a similar case by Dodd's Kidney Pills, I commenced using them.

"In all I have used eighteen boxes and they have dissolved the stone and have entirely cured me of any sign of such difficulty. I do not hesitate to speak of Dodd's Kidney Pills in the highest terms of praise, for I know of many persons who have been cured by them."

GREAT FIRE IN PHILADELPHIA.

Among the Property Attacked Was Mr. Wanamakers Biggest Store in America.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 28.—A disastrous fire started shortly after 7 o'clock this morning in the rear of Handscomb Bros.' grocery store, No. 1217 Market-street. It spread with alarming rapidity, and soon gutted the large store. The loss will probably amount to $1,000,000.

Owing to high wind, the flames spread across Market-street to the extensive general store of John Wanamaker. The firemen soon had the Wanamaker fire under control, and the damage will probably not be material.

Hilrsch & Bros., umbrella manufacturers, were also sufferers. They employed 500 hands.

John A. Felt, who was employed at Irvins, Diets & Magee's carpet store, No. 1217 Market-street, a half-block from the scene of the fire, dropped dead this morning. While the flames were raging nearby, the work of carrying out goods was started, and it was while assisting in that work that Felt dropped dead. The excitement is believed to have caused his death.

Mrs. Sarah Hall, janitress of the building No. 1312 Filbert-street, which was in the burned block, occupied the fourth-storey back room, with her two children. All were asleep when the fire started. Mrs. Hall was aroused by a sense of suffocation, and doubtless would have died had it not been for Harry McKnight, who forced his way into the room and carried out the three occupants. The two firemen who were injured by falling walls while engaged in fighting the fire from Silver-street were William J. Gorman, aged 32 years, assistant foreman of Engine Company No. 1, and Frank Piper, 36 years old, a hose man. Gorman was severely injured about the head, and burned on the neck by flying embers, and Piper was struck by falling bricks and had his shoulder contused. Several other firemen were overcome by the smoke, and others were affected by the intense cold, and had to be taken to hospitals for treatment.

Mr. Wanamaker estimates his loss at $100,000; insured. The flames raged fiercely until 11.30 o'clock, when they were gotten under control. The Hirsch building was owned by the Henry C. Gibson estate and its approximate value was $500,000. The property is believed to have been fully insured. The total loss, it was estimated at noon, will aggregate $1,000,000.

The various properties in the block that were either destroyed or badly damaged were, in addition to the Hirsch building, as follows: Hilland's drug store, J Nicolay & Co., confectioners; Sterner & Ball, tobaccos; H L Roberts & Co., the Mesopth Restaurant, Well's hat store, James Dickson, heaters; Alfred Godwin, stained glass; Showll & Fryer, grocers; Jacob Miller, men's furnishings; E Jarbilas, tobacco; Alexander McCnue, pictures; E Pitber, stationery; S S Shull, drugs; A Heines, bakery; Cafe de Blamberg, Budd & Kite, jewelers; barber shop, Huber & Weber, opticians; J H Stoll, jeweler; William Stelfer, wall paper; Foley, oyster house; Gallagher & Loughelm, leather; Furlong's saloon; the building 1304 Filbert-street, occupied by a dozen tenants, the seven-storey building 1306 to 1310 Filbert-street, occupied by the Colling's Carriage Company, and the Dunlap Printing Company. A dozen business places on the east side of Thirteenth-street and between Market and Filbert-streets were damaged by smoke and water. The streets in the vicinity of the fire were covered with ice, and the trolley and other wires in the neighborhood were broken down.

Early this morning fire was discovered on the sixth floor of the carpet store of John & James Dobson, 809 and 811 Chestnut-street. The fire was confined to the upholstery department on this floor, but the floors below were badly damaged by water. Loss $75,000, covered by insurance.

Big Fire at Syracuse.

Syracuse, Jan. 28.—Fire last night destroyed the Dilisyevann block and badly damager the Pike and Butler blocks, all on South Salina-street. The New York Cloak Store, A A Graff's cloak store, W W Kimball's piano store, R A Goodwin's photograph gallery and A E Willis & Co.'s hair store were totally destroyed. There are numerous other lowers by fire and water. The loss is $136,000, fully insured.

Four People Burned.

Belleville, Mich., Jan. 28.—The farm house of A. B. Vandewater, located three miles south of this place, was destroyed by fire this morning and four persons were burned to death. They were Mrs. Vandewater and her two children, a boy aged 9 and a girl aged 14, and Miss Anne Vandewater, a sister of Mr. Vandewater.

Death in a Hotel Fire.

Fort Smith, Ark., Jan. 28.—The new Windsor Hotel was destroyed by fire this morning and I. H. Pray, egg buyer for a Chicago commission house, was burned to death. Many of the guests had narrow escapes in their night clothes and all lost their belongings. The fire was caused by the explosion of a lamp.

Big Four Freight House Gone.

St. Louis, Jan. 28.—The newly-erected freight house of the Big Four Railroad in East St. Louis, together with an immense amount of merchandise, was destroyed by fire to-day. Loss $100,000, with little insurance. The fire was caused by the explosion of a barrel of oil.

YOUNG PEOPLE MAIMED.

A Sleighing Party of Tyrone, Pa., Drove Into a Quarry and Many Were Badly Hurt.

Altoona, Pa., Jan. 28.—Last evening a sledding party of 40 persons from Tyrone drove into a quarry at Pemberton, six miles below that place. The sled, horses and pleasure-seekers were precipitated to the bottom of a precipice, where they lay in a great mass. As soon as the news reached Tyrone a special train was fitted out by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, and all the doctors in the town were conveyed to the scene.

The party was mostly made up of young people. Boys and girls with arms and legs broken and with blood streaming from their wounds lay in great drifts of snow slowly perishing from the intense cold. The mercury stood at three degrees below zero, adding to the horror of the accident. Latest reports say that nome are dead, though about 20 are injured.

Health and strength carry us through dangers and make us safe in the presence of peril. A perfectly strong man with rich, pure blood has nothing to fear from germs. He may breathe in the bacill of consumption with impunity. If there is a weak spot where the germs may find an entrance to the tissues, then the trouble begins. Disease germs propagate with lightning-like rapidity. Once in the blood the only way to get rid of them is to kill them. This is what Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is for. It purifies the blood. That means that it kills the germs, but that is only part of what it does. It assists digestion by stimulating the secretion of digestive fluids, so promoting assimilation and nutrition; purifies and enriches the blood and so supplies the tissues with the food they need. It builds up strong, health flesh and puts the whole body into a disease-resisting state.

Facts About Furs and Bankrupt Stocks.

Some dealers in Furs believe in selling Bankrupt Stocks but others there are who do not; yet, at the same time have offered several bankrupt stocks for sale within a short time, while claiming also to sell nothing in Furs but of their own manufacture. We certainly must stand away ahead of our competitors as we do not require the aid of such stocks but stand on the merits of our own manufactured goods, which we can always guarantee as such. Our reputation of 36 years standing without a failure is the best proof that customers believe in us and support us so well. We do not require to make any bombastic statements regarding the size or quality of our stock; both are only too well known in the town as well as in many other places at great distances. THE EYES OF THE WORLD

Are Fixed Upon South American Nervine.

Beyond Doubt the Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

WHEN EVERY OTHER HELPER HAS FAILED IT CURES

A Discovery, Based on Scientific Principles, that Renders Failure Impossible.

In the matter of good health temporizing measures, while possibly successful for the moment, can never be lasting. Those in poor health soon know whether the remedy they are using is simply a passing incident in their experience, bracing them up for the day, or something that is getting at the seat of the disease and is surely and permanently restoring.

The eyes of the world are literally fixed on South American Nervine. They are not viewing it as a nine-days' wonder, but critical and experienced men have been studying this medicine for years, with the one result—they have found that its claim of perfect curative qualities cannot be gainsaid.

The great discoverer of this medicine was possessed of the knowledge that the seat of all disease is in the nerve centres, situated at the base of the brain. In this belief he had the best scientists and medical men of the world occupying exactly the same premises. Indeed, the ordinary layman recognized this principle long ago. Everyone knows that let disease or injury affect this part of the human system and death is almost certain. Injure the spinal cord, which is the medium of these nerve centres, and paralysis is sure to follow.

Here is the first principle. The trouble with medical treatment usually, and with nearly all medicines is that they aim simply to treat the organ that may be diseased. South American Nervine passes by the organs, and immediately applies its curative powers to the nerve centres, from which the organs of the body receive their supply of nerve fluid. The nerve centres healed, and of necessity the organ which has shown the outward evidence only of derangement is healed. Indigestion, nervousness, impoverished blood, liver complaint, all owe their origin to a derangement of the nerve centres. Thousands bear testimony that they have been cured of these troubles, even when they have become so desperate as to baffle the skill of the most eminent physicians, because South American Nervine has gone to headquarters and cured there.

The eyes of the world have not been disappointed in the inquiry into the success of South American Nervine. People marvel, it is true, at its wonderful medicinal qualities, but they know beyond all question that it does everything that is claimed for it. It stands alone as the one great certain curing remedy of the nineteenth century. Why should anyone suffer distress and sickness while this remedy is practically at their hands?

One Minute Headache Cure--10c.
For Sale at all Druggists and 206 Yonge Street, Toronto.

Thousands of men in every walk of life all over the world are playing a desperate game with Death for an opponent. They are playing with an opponent who has every advantage, and the outcome of the game is as certain as—Death. The man in any walk of life, who is too hard-worked, too busy, to take care of his health has only himself to blame when the final break-down comes. It is easy to keep health while one has it, but uphill work to win it back when it is lost. A man neglects a slight indigestion. Then his appetite gets poor. That's a trifle and he pays no attention to it. Then he complains of headaches and it is hard to work or think. His sleep becomes restless and he only gets troubled spells of it. He gets nervous and irritable. Everything goes wrong both at home and at business. He persists in paying no attention to his health. Then some day he breaks down. The doctor says nervous prostration or consumption as the case may be. He has been playing a game with death and has been checkmated at the weakest point.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is an unfailing cure for all disorders of the digestion, and the deadly maladies that follow in their train. It is the great blood-maker, flesh-builder, and nerve tonic. It cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption. It is an unfailing remedy for nervous prostration and exhaustion. Thousands of men have testified to their recovery under its use, after all other remedies had failed. All druggists sell it. Do not deal with a druggist who offers you a substitute for he is not only dishonest but willing to sacrifice your health and possibly your life for a few added pennies of profit.

A clear complexion. Any one can have it who keeps the blood pure. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. One is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. Druggists sell them.

Oh, welcome, frost and hail and sleet!
Blow winds of January, blow!
The rose of June is not so sweet
As white star blossoms of the snow.

For June sends Daphne from me far
To shining sands and shimering sea,
Where radiant and remote, a star,
She whirls through heaven, forgetting me.

Through all the fall I count the days
'Till golf be done and shooting past;
'Till Christmas shopping, from its maze,
Yields Daphne back to me at last.

When 'ere her Lenten prayers arise
And churches claim her, this for me—
A month when I gaze in her eyes,
Across a daily cup of tea!

Wherefore, O haste ye, frost and sleet!
Blow, winds of January, blow!
Love counts than June's rose far more sweet
The white star blossoms of the snow.

WHEN CHILDREN PLAY.

A Combined Nursery and Gymnasium at Small Expense.

What to do with restless, noisy children on a rainy day is no longer a bitter question with the progressive mother, whose babies are learned Miss kindergartenners and who is firm against whips or severity as a means of keeping peace in the house.

Her secret of restful rainy days is clearly explained by a glimpse at her gymnasium nursery. It is a delightful place. Perhaps it cost a trifle more than the ordinary nursery in the beginning, but what of that? Down stairs all during the snows Saturdays the literary head of the house sits peacefully at his desk, with no tumbling about of amateur bear hunters or piercing shrieks of human locomotives to upset his train of thoughts. No pantries are raided, no cooks set by the ears, no maternal bronchitis tubes were hoarse from correction and fairy-story telling because of this home of athletics.

The children themselves get through the day without quarreling, fretting or falling into mischief, and rather rejoice in the inclement weather that keeps them busy over their new-found treasures.

Now, the nursery gymnasium is best set in the marret. If the house boasts a large and airy one—no matter if the roof slopes, provided the windows can be cut out a generous size—that is all that is needed. The best gymnasium of its kind, in fact, the best, to the writer's knowledge, that was started—was thrown open to children in a garret room quite unplastered.

So much the better, for a gymnasium ought to have wooden walls. Therefore, over the beams plain boards were nailed. Then the children were taken down, the five of them, to a sporting goods shop and allowed to select the requisite furnishing. The three boys and two girls were given their choice, and on a portable striking bag they all combined. A Whitely exerciser for every one of the five was the next selection, and then a rowing apparatus and a pair of climbing ladders. According to their individual strength each one of the children was given a pair of iron dumb-bells; an adjustable trapeze and a pair of swinging rings made up the sum of gymnasium fittings.

With every one of these purchases the dealer gave a paper book of instructions away, and then the children were required to put their temple of athletics in order. They did it, and from that time forth, the downstairs nursery was deserted. Of course, simple flannel shirts and knickerbockers were provided, with cheap flat-heeled shoes, for all five, and training up muscles became the order of the day.

Rules were posted up on the gymnasium door that nobody should ever have any of their clubs, etc., lying about, as tracks were provided for everything, and any quarreling meant banishment of the offenders for a week from the garret-room. On looking once a day into the gymnasium the mother of the family rarely saw any occasion to enforce the penalties, and as she watched the children she came to the conclusion that young bodies as well as young minds flourish under the proper sort of training.

Under the guise of playing the boys and girls began to discover for themselves brawn and muscle and by instinct they fell into drills and regular exercises. Two or three big old mattresses were hauled up into the gymnasium and by placing them under the rings, trapeze and ladders, no tumbles were attended with bruises and when a bad day set in a circus was the order of the day. All the children chose fancy names, drew on long white or pink stockings, the boys wore false mustaches, the girls let down their hair, everybody was donned with gilt paper stars, and grand exhibitions followed.

Other boys and girls crowded in to see the fun, and great was the applause showered on the youthful prowess displayed. The news of the gymnasium getting about, other wise mothers followed suit, in chasing out the superabundance of toys and picture books and substituting complete athletic fittings. In many instances the gay wall paper was torn off and plain wood wainscoting put on this to afford strong wall space for adjusting chest pulleys and platform striking bags. Floors of hard wood have in many instances taken the place of carpets and over the loss of so much luxury not a child complains, while in one instance a family of ambitious children, whose parents were not able to do over their nursery in approved style, worked for and bought their own fittings.

Why not profit by the experience of others who have found a permanent cure for catarrh in Hood's Sarsaparilla.

INDIA FAMINE FUND.

Sir William Wedderburn Would Like to Know Why the People Are Helpless to Resist the Evils.

London, Jan. 26.—In the House of Commons to-day a motion was introduced by Sir William Wedderburn, Radical, member for Banffshire, that the Home Government make an inquiry independent of that of the India Government, into the condition of the masses in India, with a view of ascertaining why the people are helpless to resist the famine and pestilence with which they are now afflicted.

Lord George Hamilton, Secretary of State for India, defended the action already taken in the direction indicated, and opposed any independent investigation, which, he declared, was wholly unnecessary, adding that famines in India are much rarer now than they were years ago. The motion of Sir Wm. Wedderburn was rejected.

Strangled on the Edge of a Tub.

Kingston, Jan. 26.—This morning James Elliott, an old man who lived alone on Redan-street, was found dead with his head hanging inside of a tub. He was 90 years of age and many years a carter. He was kindling a fire when it is thought he fell, struck his neck on the tub's rim, and was strangled to death, having been stunned by the blow.

"Five years ago," says Anga A. Lewis, Rixard, N. Y., "I had a constant cough, night sweats, was greatly reduced in flesh, and had been given up by my physicians. I began to take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and after using two bottles was completly cured."

Constipation Cured.

Gents,—I was in very poor health for over four years; the doctor said it was constipation. Not wanting to spend too much cash I got three bottles of B.B.B. and took it regularly, I can certify that I am now in the very best of health and feel very grateful to B.B.B.

Two Box Cure

MILVERTON, 29TH JULY, 1895.

Gentlemen,—For the last ten years I had been troubled with kidney disease, being so bad at intervals that I could not lie in bed at night nor stoop to the ground.

I had tried all the remedies I could find without effect, but heard of Dodd's Kidney Pills and procured a box.

I am most happy to say it for my own sake as well as for others that I am positively cured after using four boxes.

Mr. Jas. Linton, of Orono, is visiting his daughter, Mrs. T. H. Benson.

Miss Beattie Ferguson, who has been visiting at Belleville for the past month, returned home on Saturday.

An entertainment will be given in the town hall on Thursday evening of this week, in aid of St. John's Sunday school. A good programme is provided, consisting of recitations, dialogues, vocal and instrumental music, tableaux, etc. Admission 15c, children 10c.

Rev. W. P. Reekie, of Toronto, occupied the pulpit of the Baptist church last Sunday.

Rev. H. S. Erb, of Toronto, is expected to preach in the Baptist church next Sunday, morning and evening.

Mr. W. H. Casement is in Peterborough this week attending the county council.

Mrs. W. Baptie is in Norwich, visiting Mrs. T. Stevenson.

Mr. T. G. Eastland, of Apsley, passed through here on his way to attend the county council.

Mr. Staples, representing Coff Bros., of Toronto, for furnaces, was in the village this week.

R. Graham & Son have a large number of remnants of good useful lengths in dress goods, flannelettes, mantle cloths, tweeds, etc., which they are selling at bargain prices.

SCHOOL BOARD.

Minutes of a meeting of the School Board held in the town hall, on Wednesday evening, January 20th, at which there were present Dr. J. R. Fraser, Wm. Harper, W. MacDonald, R. Q. Dench and J. E. Richardson.

A certificate was read from the village clerk that Dr. J. R. Fraser and Wm. Harper had been elected trustees of the school by acclamation, and that they had taken the required declaration of office.

Moved by R. Q. Dench, seconded by J. E. Richardson, that Dr. J. R. Fraser be chairman for the year 1897.—Carried.

Moved by W. McDonald, seconded by W. Harper, that Wesley Sherin be appointed secretary for the year 1897 at the usual salary.—Carried.

Moved by W. McDonald, seconded by J. E. Richardson, that the standing committees for the year 1897 be as follows :

Finance—Messrs. McDonald and Harper.

Property—Messrs. Dench and McDonald.

Supervision—Messrs. Dr. D. Fraser and Richardson.

Moved by W. McDonald, seconded by R. Q. Dench, that the accounts of J. F. Lillicrap & Co., $6.50, Isaac Watson $2.50, and W. H. Casement, $11, being found correct by the Finance Committee, be paid.—Carried.

Tenders for wood were received from the following parties :—W. H. Wilson at $3 per cord, Isaac Freeborn at $2.95 per cord, John Lemay at $2.90, Jas. Matthews at $2.88 per cord.

Moved by R. Q. Dench, seconded by W. McDonald, that tender of John Lemay for wood for the school at $2.90 per cord be accepted, 20 cords being required, 17 cords for the brick school and 3 cords for the ward school.—Carried.

The Board then adjourned.

On Tuesday a very successful entertainment was held in the Town Hall. There was a good attendance, notwithstanding the stormy evening. The following was the programme :

Song, 'Sweet May'.....Mr Harry Kearney
Song, 'Sneezing Song'.....Mr C J Blomfield
Irish jig.....Mr Harry Kearney
Farce, 'Ici on Parle Francis'.....Young Point Dramatic Club. Characters—Mrs Spriggins, Miss Young ; Mr Spriggins, Mr Taylor, Anarlia, Miss Louise Kearney ; Victor Dubois, Mr Andrews ; Major Rattaw, Mr Harry Kearney ; Mrs Rattaw, Miss Lottie Kearney ; Anna Maria, Miss Lily McFarlane.
Song, 'My Mother was a Lady'.....Miss Josephine Phelan
Song.....Mr Taylor
Recitation, 'The Face upon the Floor'.....Miss Lottie Kearney
Song, 'Mr Brown'.....Mr Lampriere
God Save the Queen.

During the evening several selections were rendered by the orchestra. Owing to the stormy night the Peterborough friends who were to have taken part in Mrs. Jarley's Wax Works were unable to be present.

The following resolution of condolence was presented Mr. Geo. Postlethwaite by members of Court Lakefield No. 43, C.O.F.:

To Geo. Postlethwaite, Esq., Lakefield, Ont :

DEAR BROTHER,—The members of Court Lakefield No. 43, C.O.F., desire to express to you their most heartfelt sympathy in your sad time affliction.

We cannot express to you our sympathy in words, your cup of sorrow has indeed been filled to the brim, but we would desire by our sympathy to help alleviate your sorrow, for the sad loss of your beloved wife; and we would ask you to remember that though parted here in life, there is a meeting place in Heaven, where loved ones shall meet to part no more.

On behalf of Court Lakefield No. 43, C.O.F.

We remain, yours fraternally in L.B. & C.

The Life of Dr. Chase.

As a compiler of Dr. Chase's Recipe Book, his name is familiar to every household in the land, while as a physician his works on simple formulas left an imprint of his name that will be handed down from generation to generation. His last great medicine, in the form of his Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, is having the large public patronage that his Ointment, Pills and Catarrh Cure are having. Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is especially adapted for all Bronchial and Asthmatic troubles.

SHE LIKES TROUSERS.

Dr. Mary Walker was asked in Washington the other day if she still liked trousers? Her answer was : "Like them? the counter question was rife with meaning. "You poor, benighted woman, you have all your life gone groping about in rainy weather with a skirt flapping about your ankles and hitting the back of your socks—your stockings, excuse me—as you held it up ; you who have had the wind blowing a lot of silly lace and silk about your knees ; you who have worn feathered and flowered head gear that either tilts over your eyes until you can't see or sits back and gives you neuralgia in the top of your head—what do you know of the comfort and freedom of masculine habiliments?

The Acme Heating Drum

is the best appliance to economize fuel. We are selling them rapidly. They pay for themselves in a short time. Read what our Citizens say :

Messrs. Micks and Cox :—

GENTLEMEN,—After giving your Acme Heating Drum a fair trial in China Hall, we have no hesitation in pronouncing it a perfect success. Our store is 20x100 feet with glass front and all of one side of glass facing the north ; and the Drum with a small wood stove heats the store more perfectly than it has ever been heated before, even when we had two coal stoves which we formerly used.

Yours truly,
Peterborough, Jan. 18th, '97. McFARLANE WILSON.

Messrs. Micks & Cox :—

GENTLEMEN,—After giving the Acme Heating Drum purchased from you a fair trial in severe weather we have no hesitation in pronouncing it a complete success.

Your Drum is an application of the correct principle in proper heating devices, in drawing the cold air from the floor, heating it and circulating it through the building. We heat three rooms by means of a moderate sized wood stove with your Drum attached, and find our offices very much more comfortable than formerly, at the same time using a third less fuel than without the Drum.

Yours very truly,
Peterborough, Jan. 14, '97. HATTON & WOOD.

WE ARE GLAD

To be able to announce that we have finished Stock-taking, and have something left after a satisfactory year's business. To be sure Profits have been small during the year just closed, but we have kept the expense account small likewise.

Ladies who shop here have shown their appreciation of our goods and our plain way of doing business. We have reason to be thankful for their confidence and patronage, and solicit a continuance of their favours for another year.

An Aftermath Of Bargains.

We have laid out for bargain overs special lots of DRESS GOODS, APRON MUSLINS, FLANNELETTE, FLANNEL, and the rest of our WINTER MILLINERY, which we can afford to sell at a loss at the end of the season, so as to make room for new goods. As a matter of fact you run no risk in buying here, because our goods have no chance to grow old. The store the ladies like must have a large daily outflow of goods to keep the stock new and fresh. You catch the idea.

Costly Clothes

Is not the greatest pleasure. Rather pay a reasonable price for something you know to be good, than pay a high price for something you think—but don't know—may possibly be better.

It does not necessarily follow when our customary January Reduction Sale takes place, that good dressers want the commonest grade of Clothes that lack fit, finish and style. What we think is wanted to induce buyers in dull months is THE BEST we can make for THE LEAST MONEY—in fact CHEAPER THAN AT ANY OTHER TIME. Therefore, that's why we are now charging only—

$3.00 and 3.50 for— $4.00 and $4.50 PANTS

$12 and $13 for— $15.00 and $16.00 SUITS

$13 and $14 for— $16 and $17 OVERCOATS

AN EYE FOR AN EYE

If the United States Continues Its Crusade

AGAINST CANADIAN WORKINGMEN

Mr. Laurier Will Introduce a Law to Shut United States Wage Earners Out of This Country—The Immigration Policy Will be to Bring Good Settlers Here

Ottawa, Jan. 28.—(Special.)—Ottawa workingmen are getting restive about the American alien labor law. The contract for a new opera house has gone to an American citizen, and with the prospect of many United States citizens working on the job the outlook is certainly not a pleasant one for organized labor at the Capital. This morning, therefore, a deputation of labor men waited upon the Premier to present to him their views on the alien labor question and immigration. They urged upon him the settlement of the unemployed of the cities and towns on the vacant lands of the Dominion. They desired friendly labor relations between Canada and the United States, but wanted Canadian labor protected. They desired no immigration from Europe until the Canadian unemployed were provided for.

Mr. Laurier, replying, stated that he had had conversations with several American gentlemen on the question of their alien labor law. They had all stated that their law was never intended to be applied to Canadian labor. It was certainly unfairly enforced against them. His colleagues would be visiting Washington on official business presently and this would be one of the questions discussed by them. He urged all the labor organizations to use their influence in having this misapplication of the American alien law removed. For himself he was in favor of the law as applied against cheap European labor, but its enforcement against Canadians was most galling and unbearable. If his colleagues found it impossible to have the law non-applicable to Canadian labor then his Government would pass a law identical with that of the United States. He was, however, anxious that an amicable arrangement should be arrived at through the influence of the international labor organizations, which he was pleased to know existed. He was determined to see Canadian labor protected at an early date.

On the question of immigration it was the intention of his Government to use every means in their power to populate this country. They would utilize every agency to bring settlers to this country. He was, however, free to inform them that it was only farmers and those willing to become that would be urged to immigrate to this country. The only class of immigrants wanted were men who could work upon our farms, other unemployed in overcrowded cities and towns were not wanted. Good, strong young farmers in Great Britain, Ireland, Norway and Germany would be persuaded, if possible, to make their homes in Canada. In closing his remarks the Premier urged the deputation to interview the Minister of the Interior, who would be pleased to receive any suggestions that the labor organizations throughout Canada could offer him.

GENERAL OTTAWA NEWS.

Costa Rica Denounces a Part of the Treaty With Great Britain.

An examination of the treaty between Great Britain and Costa Rica shows that the clauses which have been denounced by the latter country are (No. 5) the most favored nation clause, No. 6, which provides for reciprocity in light, harbor and pilotage dues, and No. 7, providing for reciprocal duties on goods, whether imported into Britain or Costa Rica by the vessels of either country.

Fishery Overseer Kyle at Rat Portage has seized a large number of nets in Manitou Lake, north of Lake of the Woods. A portion of them belong to Americans. These will be confiscated. Those belonging to Canadians will be returned, as it appears owners were about to apply for a license and were merely testing the fishing ground.

Mr. Johnson, Dominion Statistician, has received the official figures of the population of Japan as it stood on Jan. 1. The number of habitations in the country was 7,935,969 and the total population 42,270,620, an increase of 51,700 houses and 475,405 persons in the year.

The Government has been advised that the United States authorities have removed the restrictions formerly imposed upon importation into Alaska of breech-loading rifles and ammunition.

The Department of Trade and Commerce is informed that the Republic of Nicaragua has imposed an export duty on coffee at the rate of $1 per 100 pounds. This has been done to enable the republic better to meet interest upon its outstanding indebtedness.

Quite a stir has been raised in the city by the statement of Dr. T. F. Chamberlin, Provincial Inspector of Hospitals and Prisons, who is in the city, to the effect that the Ontario Government intended to force the Protestant Hospital directors to give in to the late medical staff, on pain of losing the Government's $5000 grant. It is said the inspector has intimated that the hospital must reduce its Executive Board to eight or ten directors, must reinstate the medical staff, with a pledge not to interfere with them again; should give the staff complete control of the medical and surgical management and must improve the hospital equipment. Otherwise the Ontario Government would take away its grant and give it to the proposed new hospital, which the medical staff talk of. The hospital directors regard the Government's action as one-sided and designed to help the medical profession in their struggle with the directors.

The lumber owned by the insolvent estate of MacCracken, Boyle & Co. was sold at the instance of the Bank of Ottawa. There was a large attendance of buyers. Item No. 1, a million and a half feet of white and red pine, was bought by Mr. J. C. Brown of Ottawa at $7.75 per thousand; 16,000 feet dimension pine lumber was also bought by Mr. Brown for $6.75 per thousand. Mr. Fred Powell, local agent for Rathbun & Co., Deseronto, purchased 155,000 feet of pine lumber, paying $7.90 for it, and the 244,000 feet of basswood, ash, maple and elm was also bought by the same gentleman for $7 per thousand. Mr. Grier of Montreal was the highest bidder for the 42,000 feet of square cedar, paying 2 1-2c per foot for it. Bidding for 1247 railroad ties and 1000 fence posts was very lively. Mr. Patrick Burns, an Ottawa contractor, secured them for 10c apiece. Mr. George Harris of Ottawa bought 218,950 feet of lath at 63c per thousand. Mr. J. A. Bruce, Ottawa, secured 476 cords of blocks and 1000 cords of 4-foot wood at 62c per cord.

The Finance Department has been notified of the arrival of a consignment of $10,000 of copper coins from the Imperial mint. It was on board the train that was wrecked at Dorchester on the Intercolonial Tuesday afternoon. The new issue of coppers will be handed over to the banks and circulated through them. A supply is generally received about every two years to make up the large number which are continually being lost. The copper coinage is never called in like paper money, but every year there is a deficiency through one cause and another, so that the amount in circulation does not increase in anything like the proportion to new supply.

The annual report of Chief of Police Powell shows the appropriation for the department for the year was $29,300; the total expenditure of the department for the year was $29,117. The number of arrests made during the year were 764, being 59 less than the previous year. The amount of collections during the year were: Fines and fees $3085.19, licenses $5734.85; total $8810.04. The premises visited by the police as sanitary inspectors numbered 9295. The prosecutions for violation of the Liquor License Act were: Prosecuted by police and convicted 26, fines and costs $1162; prosecuted by license inspectors and convicted 2, fines $74; total 28; prosecuted by police and dismissed 20; prosecuted by license inspectors and dismissed 5; total 25.

A. G. Pittaway's photographic studio, on Sparks-street, was gutted by fire this morning. Beament & Johnson's furnishing store and C. A. Douglas' office also suffered. The total loss amounts to $12,500, made up as follows: A. G. Pittaway $4000, Beament & Johnson $8000, C. A. Douglas & Co. $300, Mrs. Short $200. The total insurance reaches $11,650; Beament & Johnson carried $8000, A. G. Pittaway $2150 and C. A. Douglas & Co. $500.

Two offers of contributions toward the Bisley quarters were received yesterday, including the iron roofing and a magnificent cooking range.

Joseph Martin, ex-M. P., is in the city. His visit here has no political significance. Mr. Martin says he is out of politics for good, and is now devoting his attention to gold mining.

Mr. Lash, Q. C., was here to-day on legal business.

Messengers of the civil service are petitioning that their pay may be increased to $400 a year. At present (and for many years) they only receive $500.

Representatives of the woolen industry from all parts of Canada and an influential delegation of oil men from Petrolea are here to interview the Ministers to-morrow on tariff matters.

A deputation from Cornwall arrived to-night to see the Government regarding the construction of the Ottawa and Parry Sound Railway.

CORRUPTION OF THE PUBLIC MEN

Representatives and Senators Charged With Concocting Schemes to Rob the People Who Elect Them—Another Article in Mr. Tarte's Paper—Montreal News.

Montreal, Jan. 28.—(Special.)—A well-known gentleman in Montreal has received the following from a friend in New York, the letter bearing date Jan. 27, 1897: "Things are very dull here and trade awfully bad. The fact is the republic is tottering towards its downfall. The corruption and venality, lying and treachery, make up the ingredients that compose the draft these Yankees will have to swallow to death. The rascally American Congress, and still more villainous Senate, spend their time in concocting plans to rob those who elected them, and the hard-working people and the business community are the victims of these pot politicians, so-called 'statesmen.' The dignified (?) Senators actually pull the wires of the executive of the country for stock jobbing purposes, and actually propose war with peaceful countries in order to put stocks up or down, as the case may be, for their own purposes. I have now been here for thirty years, and I never saw so much poverty and absolute want as to-day. The United States is played out and deteriorated. Canada seems to be forging ahead slowly but surely, but 'Old England' makes them all appear tributaries of London, which they really are, New York included. If the leaders of the American Revolution could arise out of their graves and see where the boasted superiority of the republican form of government is, as compared with the 'wicked monarchies,' they would have their names taken off all monuments and histories in disgust."

"Man's inhumanity to man" was never better exemplified than in the case of Mr. G. Ayles of 289 Magdalen-street, who made a double attempt at suicide last night; first by drinking a bottle of medicine for external uses only, and then by cutting his throat with a razor. Mr. Ayles has been in the service of the Grand Trunk as an engine turner for many years. About six weeks ago he was discharged, but was promised other work. Day after day he has been looking for the new position, and, with a family depending upon him, his position became serious. He grew exceedingly despondent, but the thought of suicide, according to his confession this morning, never entered his mind. Yesterday he had hoped would bring him good news of work, but again he was disappointed. After tea he retired to his room and, while alone, swallowed a bottle of rheumatic medicine and then, taking his razor from a drawer, drew it across his throat. His family heard his groans and a doctor was quickly summoned. Everything that medical skill could devise was put into operation and it is probable that the patient's life is saved. He is to-day apparently recovering. Mr. Ayles is a member of St. Matthew's Presbyterian Church, and is known and respected by a very large number of people.

Under the heading "Have Patience" and over his signature, the Hon. Mr. Tarte writes as follows in this week's Cultivateur: "The politico-religious differences which at present disquiet many consciences will have an end, like all other things in this world. In this country events move with electric rapidity. Let our readers have confidence and let them remember that it is never so fair as after a storm. The leaders whom the majority in this country have chosen to administer its affairs will remain firm and dignified in their stand. To the provocations, to the crying injustice of which they are the victims, they reply by moderation and correctness of language. I have seen Cartier treated as is Laurier to-day by the same school, by the same people. To those who become impatient we say 'have patience.' History has seen the same thing before and history teaches us that true liberty is an invincible power. J. Israel Tarte."

Mr. Beaugrand is much better and will, no doubt, be up in a few days writing articles for La Patrie.

PALMER OWNS HIS IDENTITY.

The Alleged Murderer, However, Talks Like a Demented Man—Divinely Inspired, He Says.

St. Louis, Jan. 28.—Arthur Palmer, who murdered his mother, sister and brother at their home in Mamaroneck, Westchester County, N.Y., on the 18th inst., and who was captured at the Planters' Hotel here yesterday afternoon passed last night in a cell at Police headquarters. When first arrested he denied his identity, but later last night he acknowledged that his name was Palmer and that he was the man wanted. He made a rambling statement, and tried to make it appear that he was guided in his actions by divine inspiration. He told of his treatment by Dr. Hunter, the family physician, several years ago, and his marriage in 1892 to a servant girl at Mamaroneck. He stated that after the birth of their child he and his wife disagreed, and that one month ago his wife left to visit her parents in Canada. Palmer claims that he learned a short time ago that his mother, his brother Leonard and his sister Gertrude were trying to kill him and get possession of his property, which he claims is worth about $12,000.

Palmer was asked if he knew anything about the crime before he left home, and said: "Yes, I had an idea they were to be killed, but I did not know they were dead until I was arrested yesterday."

SIX MONTHS' WORK.

The present Dominion Government has only been about six months in power, but they have not been idle. The Globe submits the following as a partial summary of which has been done in the space of half a year.

Settlement of the Manitoba school question—pending under the manipulation of the late government, for six years.

Arrangement for the removal of the quarantine restrictions on Canadian cattle entering the United States.

Large reduction in the cost of printing Dominion bank notes.

Revision of the mail contracts and general reduction of expenditure in the Post-Office Department.

Perfecting of arrangements for a complete chain of cold storage from the railway stations in Canada through the shipping ports to the English market. Three hundred creameries will have cold storage chambers; the railways will provide refrigerator cars from their doors to the large centres where cold storage warehouses are built or will be built, and at the great shipping points arrangements have been made to provide cold storage until the products are put on the steamships. There will be weekly steamship services to the chief ports in England.

TORONTO was elated elaborately skyward a short time ago on the discovery of salt under the city, and now the city is excited over discovering gold under the Don Valley. The Don does not really run gold, for the find was discovered at a depth of 1,300 feet. Somebody was busy boring for oil and struck gold. Pity they hadn't struck a little oil, it would have been useful for lubricating purposes in the talking up of new companies.

A REPRESENTATIVE of West Wellington Farmers' Institute appeared, as reported, before the Tariff Commission and urged that an effort should be made to reduce the cost of the civil service by lengthening the hours of labour and reducing the pay and then there would be fewer applications for "situ" in the civil service. It is very natural that farmers whose "office hours" are from dawn till dark, with perhaps a few hours overtime when it looks like rain in the hay-harvest, should consider civil servants a highly favoured class with their office hours from nine or ten till four; and there is no doubt that a little more work could be got out of many of the civil servants without imperilling their health. In fact the present Government since its accession to office has reduced the staff very considerably in some of the departments, and thereby lessening the expense without impairing the efficiency of the service. The late Government was somewhat in the habit of pensioning party workers in the civil service with the result that in some of the departments employees were tumbling about in each other's way. But it must be remembered, at the same time, that the value of the labours of civil servants is not always to be judged by their hours of labour. Payment is generally graded according to the responsibility of the position; and it must be remembered, too, that an office employee who diligently performs the work of his office eight or nine hours, often goes home more fatigued than the navvy who has spent his ten hours with pick and shovel. If a farmer undertook to take the work of a civil servant for one day, he would probably sweat as much over it as the latter would over "mowing away" dusty pens on a sweltering day of August up near the end. However the civil service is susceptible of great improvement in the way of decreasing the expense and increasing its efficiency, and the present Government may be counted upon to do all that can be done in this direction. The pace set by Mr. Mulock, Postmaster-General, who has already effected large savings, will be followed as largely as circumstances will permit.

PETERBOROUGH AND HASTINGS MINES.

Latest Information From a Competent Authority.

(From an Occasional Correspondent.)

This district is still continuing to attract the attention of the mining world, and every train brings with its prospectors, experts, promoters, capitalists all endeavouring to secure from the owners of mines or prospects the control of these properties.

Messrs. J. Enoch Thompson and Jno. Lamb, representing Toronto capitalists, have secured an option on the once famed Richardson mine, intending to develop it in order to ascertain finally if the exceedingly rich deposit that caused the rush to the Madoc region in 1866 was only a pocket or, what is thought by many practical miners and mining experts, to be a strong, persistent and rich vein.

It is to be hoped that the result of their work may be to prove the latter to be the case, and the stories circulated by interested parties years ago, which ended in its abandonment, that the mine was exhausted and played out, were untrue. In any event, Messrs. Thompson and Lamb deserve the thanks of the community for the display of the necessary courage to tackle the problem and solve the mystery that has hung over this mine during the long years that have elapsed since the old Madoc boom.

The old veteran mining engineer, Mr. F. Straith Miller, has also shown his faith in the mines of Hastings County by investing his dollars in several good locations in Tudor and elsewhere, and is making the necessary arrangements for the working of his properties as soon as the spring opens.

Mr. E. Strachan Cox, of Toronto, recently paid the district a visit in company with Mr. Bogle, a mining expert from Rossland, who is largely interested in mines in that and other districts in British Columbia. These parties, I am informed, examined one of our most valuable properties with a view to purchase, and I understand are in negotiation therefor.

C. W. Volney, a German Mineralogist and Mining Engineer of repute, has also appeared in the district and, if Dame Rumour is correct, is quietly securing some good arsenical properties in the near neighbourhood. Mr. Volney is not a stranger in this section, as he visited the Gatling Mines shortly after their discovery in the interests of English capitalists. He was also engaged recently in exploiting the Lithographic Stone deposits of the region, and two or three years ago read a very elaborate paper thereon before the American Institute of Mining Engineers at St. Louis.

You can see from this that the Hastings mining regions is coming to the front and is attracting the notice of capitalists and mining men from all parts of the world. Let them come Mr. Editor. The country will bear inspection; the better the expert and the more searching the examination the better the report will be.

When such men as Prof. Ricketts, of Columbia College, New York; C. Ropell, a mining-engineer of world-wide fame, of London England; also J. W. Chenhall, Assoc. M. I. C. E., F. G. S., of the same city (both of the gentlemen have had a wide practical experience in South Africa, Australian and South American mining fields), and a score of other authorities of a like character, after a most exhaustive examination of the different mines and mining areas of this district, all agree as to its richness and great possibilities, there can be but little doubt that Hastings will soon take rank amongst the great gold producing sections of the world. Take the opinion of these men, corroborated as it is by the developments already made on the Deloro, Belmont, Ledyard, Craig and other properties, there can be no possible room for doubt, by even the most skeptical, that we have in our midst the means of great wealth.

The conditions surrounding mining enterprises here are of the most favourable and economical description; fuel at less than half the cost of other sections of the country; labour cheap; transportation facilities by railway almost at the pit's mouth, within four or five hours ride of the trade centres of the country, render mining easy, cheap and comfortable.

I would like, before I close this letter, to say a word or two to the owners of mines; and that is not to throw any obstacles in the way of the prospector or investor, let them rather give them what information and assistance they can. Should they want to buy a property, sell it at a reasonable price, considering only the amount of development work done. If it is only a prospect, sell it at a prospect price. These mines are no good to any one if they are not developed and worked. Should they want supplies, don't take advantage of any untoward conditions and charge more than the article is really worth elsewhere. Be fair to the investor and to capital, and in the long run you will be sure to profit by it.

Kidney trouble generally begins with a single pain in the back, and in time developes into Bright's Disease. People troubled with stricture, impediments, stoppage of water, or a frequent desire to urinate at night, will find Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills a blessing. Read the wonderful cures in another column. One Pill is a dose, and if taken every other night will positively cure kidney troubles.

One Every Night.

One Laxa-Liver Pill taken each night during 30 days will cure Constipation, oft-returning Headaches and irregular action of the bowels. Laxa-Liver Pills leave no unpleasant after-effect.

New Conceit in Umbrellas.

Jewels in umbrella handles is a new conceit. It is considered extremely up-to-date to have precious stones set into your parasol stick or umbrella handle, and to cause them to be arranged in all kinds of beautiful designs. When a lady is tired of a ring, all she has to do is to go to her jeweler and commission him to transfer the stones to the umbrella handle.

Toronto Junction, Jan. 18 (Special)—Mr. H. Playter, is not a difficult man to find as everybody here knows that he is foreman at No. 1 Fire Hall. He was the picture of health when called upon by your correspondent and told his story thus:

"In April 1896 I suffered from a severe attack of Sciatica, affecting my left hip and the leg to the tip of my toes. I suspected it came from some form of kidney trouble and as they had been recommended I procured a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills."

At the end of the fourth day I was entirely relieved, but desiring a permanent cure I continued to use that and another box and am now cured cured and as well as ever in my life. A brother of mine living at Pine Orchard has been cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

There is no need to take a Granby that is not the same shape as your boot, because they are made to fit every shape of shoe. A rubber that does not fit the boot will draw the foot. Granby Rubbers are thin, light, elastic and fit perfectly. They wear like Iron.

Facts About Furs and Bankrupt Stocks.

Some dealers in Furs believe in selling Bankrupt Stocks but others there are who do not; yet, at the same time have offered several bankrupt stocks for sale within a short time, while claiming also to sell nothing in Furs but of their own manufacture. We certainly must stand away ahead of our competitors as we do not require the aid of such stocks but stand on the merits of our own manufactured goods, which we can always guarantee as such. Our reputation of 36 years standing without a failure is the best proof that customers believe in us and support us so well. We do not require to make any bombastic statements regarding the size or quality of our stock; both are only too well known in the town as well as in many other places at great distances. We wish to thank our customers for their patronage through the late season.

LATEST CABLE NEWS

Pacific Cable Report Not Ready for Parliament.

IT MUST FIRST BE DISCUSSED

By the Colonial Ministers—Dervishes in the Soudan Again Becoming Restless—Not Much Prospect of Amnesty to Irish Prisoners—News From the Old Land.

London, Jan. 28.—In the House of Commons to-day Sir George Baden-Powell asked the Government to inform the House of the date upon which the report of the Pacific Cable Commission would be presented. Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies, said that no date for presenting the report to Parliament had as yet been fixed, as the report would first be made the subject of confidential discussion by the Colonial Ministers. Mr. R. W. Hanbury, Financial Secretary to the Treasury, stated that the Government had not yet decided upon the question of extending the Halifax and Bermuda cable to the West Indies.

A. J. Balfour, First Lord of the Treasury and Government Leader, replying to-day to John G. S. McNeill, anti-Parnellite member for South Donegal, who asked whether, in view of the Queen's coming jubilee, the Government would advise her to grant amnesty to political prisoners, said: The questioner is aware that I have never admitted there is any distinction between treason-felony and other long sentence prisoners.

In the House of Commons to-day Mr. Chamberlain moved the reappointment of the committee to enquire into the affairs of the British South Africa Company and South African matters generally.

James M. Maclean, Conservative, suggested an amendment to Mr. Chamberlain's motion, declaring that in view of the facts that the trouble with the Transvaal had been peacefully settled and the leaders of the raid into that country had been punished, it was needless to reappoint the committee.

Sir John Lubbock, Liberal Unionist, seconded the amendment. While the debate was in progress the hour of adjournment arrived, and the House rose. The discussion of the matter will be resumed to-morrow.

GREEN-EYED MONSTER

Said by Earl Cowley to Have Caused His Domestic Troubles.

London, Jan. 28.—In the trial of the suit for divorce brought by Countess Cowley against her husband, Earl Cowley, was resumed in the divorce division of the High Court of Justice to-day after an adjournment over several days. Earl Cowley took the witness stand, and testified that his wife was unreasonably jealous of him. She had not permitted him to maintain marital relations with her since the birth of their only child. There could be no desertion on his part. They had mutually agreed to live apart. Earl Cowley admitted having stayed at Hotel Orange at Scheveningan while Mrs. Cherrington was there, but denied that he had carried her to her bedroom. Upon a certain occasion he said he took her upstairs and laid her on a sofa, from which her maid took her to her bedroom.

TROUBLESOME DERVISHES

Said to be Advancing on Agordat—Fear of the British Expedition.

Massowah, Jan. 28.—Advices from Agordat say that the Dervishes, who were believed to be advancing on that place, have abandoned their fortified camp, at Amideb, and are retreating in the direction of Almoasa, pursued by the friendly natives. It is further announced that there are no Dervishes in the vicinity of Kassala.

Preparing to Meet the Expedition.

Cairo, Jan. 28.—Advices received here from Dongola show that the Khalifa Abdullah Taashi, the leader of the Dervish hordes, is making preparations for the expected advance of the Anglo-Egyptian expedition against him. The greater part of the garrison at Berber, an important town on the Nile south of Dongola, have been taken to reinforce the Dervishes at Khartoum, at the junction of the Blue and White Niles, and at Omdurman, directly opposite Khartoum. The women, children and old men at the two latter places are being sent to El Obeid, in Kordofan, the chief city of the Dervishes, and there are other indications that the Khalifa intends to attempt to hold the expedition in check at Khartoum. The Dervishes at Abou Hamed, a town on the Nile, being Dongola and Berber have deserted, and the expedition therefore does not expect to meet with any opposition until it advances for some distance past the mouth of the Black Nile unless the Khalifa later reinforces the Berber garrison.

Getting Afraid.

London, Jan. 28.—A special to The Daily News from Cairo says that the Khalifa is removing all women, children and valuables from Omdurman on the Nile, opposite Khartoum, to El Obeid, the chief city of Kordofan, fearing the immediate advance of the Anglo-Egyptian forces. Abdul Hamid has deserted the main portion of the Berber garrison and gone to strengthen the fortifications at Omdurman, which is being strengthened in every possible way.

GENERAL CABLE NEWS.

A Sharp Yankee Who is Said to Have Secured $100,000 by Forgery Arrested.

London, Jan. 28.—A man named Jones, who has been engaged as a stud-keeper at Scalby, near Scarborough, has been arrested upon a warrant, charging him with the crime of forgery alleged to have been committed in New York in 1894, whereby he is said to have obtained the sum of $100,000. He will be brought to London to-night and later arraigned in proceedings for his extradition to the United States.

The London Star, in announcing the arrest of Jones, describes him as "Latimer Ridley Jones, a well-known American gentleman."

Tempest-Tossed Steamships.

London, Jan. 28.—The American Line steamer New York, from New York Jan. 20, arrived at Southampton to-day. She had a very rough passage. Among her passengers is a French journalist named Bronard, who claims to have won a wager by making a circuit of the world under adverse conditions within 11 months.

The White Star steamer Germanic from New York, Jan. 20, for Liverpool, passed Bow Head at 5.55 o'clock this morning. She reported having experienced violent gales throughout her passage. Two of her lifeboats were stove.

Plague Ravages.

Bombay, Jan. 28.—The official report just issued shows that there have been 4396 cases of the bubonic plague and 3275 deaths from the disease in the city of Bombay, and 694 cases and 614 deaths from the plague have occurred at Karachi. There have been 65 cases and 60 deaths at Poonah, and a few cases have appeared at Kathiawar, Suret, Cutch, Baroda and other places.

How to Reach the Pole

Christiania, Jan. 28.—Dr. Nansen, the Arctic explorer, delivered a lecture in this city last evening, in the course of which he said that the best course to take to get to the North Pole was from Behring Sea towards the north-northeast, afterwards drifting with the ice current, which would be certain to lead to Greenland.

Muravieff in Paris.

Paris, Jan. 28.—Count Muravieff, the newly appointed head of the Russian Foreign Office, arrived in Paris this morning. A large crowd of persons assembled at the station to await his coming and greeted him with cheers and cries of "Vive Russia!" as he made his appearance.

Lost 97 Cattle.

London, Jan. 28.—The steamer Memnon (Br.), Baes, from Portland, arrived at Bristol yesterday, reports that she met with very heavy weather during the voyage. She lost many of her cattle pens and 97 head of cattle. She also started her steering gear. The barque Valona (Br.), Johnson, at Fleetwood, from St. John, N. B., reports that she lost her deckload during the voyage.

The steamer State of Georgia (Br.), Stewart, from Dantzig, Dec. 23, for Halifax and St. John, N. B., was today re-insured at 60 guineas premium.

The Monarch Launched.

London, Jan. 28.—The battleship Monarch was placed in commission at Chatham on Tuesday. She will go to South Africa. The report that the Monarch was to join the North American and West Indian squadron is thus disposed of. She will join the Cape of Good Hope and West coast of Africa squadron, which is commanded by Rear Admiral Rawson.

Italian Troops for Egypt.

Rome, Jan. 28.—The War Office has ordered six battalions of troops to be put in readiness to start for Massowah.

NOVELTIES.

Travelers' bags built of pigskin is the correct thing.

Black monkey skin bags with gold or silver mounts are the latest thing out for shoppers.

There is quite a fad now for silver articles which stand on feet, such as jewel boxes, cord baskets and the like.

Umbrellas with leather handles finished with Dresden, Doulton or Coalport ware are novelties in this direction.

The new postal case consists of a little booklet of leaves bound in a silver cover. The stamps are placed between the leaves.

Twin jugs in cut glass are the newest things out for cordials. These hold two kinds of liquors and are connected at the top by a glass handle.

Handled tea tables, as the name indicates, have handles on either end, same as a tray, and can be shifted from place to place without removing the tea service.—Jewelers' Circular.

THE TRAIL OF DEATH

It begins at the Throat and ends at the Grave. How many a human life is unnecessarily sacrificed.

There are many remedies on the market for the cure of consumption, but consumption, once it reaches a certain stage, cannot be cured. In professing, therefore, to do what is impossible, these remedies prove themselves to be simply humbugs.

Consumption is a disease which destroys the tissue of the lungs. Once gone, no medicine can replace that tissue. Good medicine may arrest the disease even after one lung is wholly gone, as long as the other remains sound. Once both are attacked, however, the victim is doomed.

Just why people should risk their lives to this dread disease and go to great expense afterwards to check it, it is hard to conceive. It is much easier prevented than cured. Throat troubles and severe colds are its usual forerunners. A 25-cent bottle of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine will drive these away. It is, without doubt, the best medicine for the purpose to be had anywhere.

Dining room and kitchen utensils are especially needed.

Skating all the Rage.

Skating has once more become the rage. In England it is looked upon as one of the most desirable of accomplishments and the English bid fair to rival us since the adoption of their great artificial ice rinks. The Niagara is one of the longest in the world. In New York, Montreal and Toronto many clubs have been formed for the renewed cultivation of the art.

Tramp Nuisance.

The comparatively mild weather of this winter has brought out an unusually large crop of tramps. Frequent complaints of their numerous calls and appeals for food come from all parts of the town. Many of the wandering wayfarers secure a night's lodging in the police cells, and continue their aimless wanderings the next day. Like many other evils, the tramp evil seems beyond the possibility of being dealt with satisfactorily with a view to its abolition.

The Stock-taking Sale at Oak Hall

will continue the remainder of this week. The goods must be cleared out and with that object in view we have decided to give the purchaser all the profit. Here are some of the bargains—Men's Overcoats at $1.72 and $3.47. Men's single and double-breasted Beaver Coats, black and blue, regular prices $4.50 and $6, sale price $4 and $4.50; men's black and blue Beaver Overcoats with velvet collar, elegantly lined and finished, regular price $9.50 and $10, sale price $7; a large number of all wool Overcoats, tailor-made, regular prices $7, $8, $9.50, $10 and $11, sale price, $6; men's double-breasted Frieze Suits, regular price $8, sale price, $6.25; men's all wool Tweed Suits, regular price $7 and $8.50, sale price $5 and $6.50.

A STONE-BREAKING WELCOME FOR TRAMPS.

Sentences for Vagrancy Will Hereafter Carry a Stone Hammer With Them.

After the adjournment of the County Council this morning, the Joint Committee of the town and the special committee appointed by the council, met and considered the question of the utilization of the work of persons committed to jail under sentences involving "hard labour" especially in the matter of breaking stones for street material for the town. After consultation the county committee agreed that the prisoners sentenced to the jail at hard labour were to be used to break stone supplied by the town—on condition that the latter arrange with the government and bear any expense incidental to guarding the prisoners while at work. This arrangement, if carried out, will be very like a death blow to the tramp nuisance. A tramp committed for vagrancy instead of, as at present, luxuriating in jail as a favoured guest, with abundance of food and more leisure, will have a far different experience when confronted for ten hours a day with a heap of stones and a hammer. After one experience of this kind, the tramp fraternity will blacklist Peterborough as a stopping place, and we shall be very largely rid of these decidedly undesirable visitors.

The stone to be broken will cost the town $1 50 per cord, and the breaking will cost only the incidental expense of guarding the prisoners. At present the stone broken by the town costs $3.75 for the breaking alone, so that taking the cost of the raw material at $1.75 per cord (the present price paid to ratepayers' furnishing stone) it costs the town under the present arrangement $5.50 per cord for metal before it is ready to be placed on the streets.

The new arrangement will not deprive any ratepayers, who may desire to be employed in preparing stone for the streets, of employment, for the stone broken by the prisoners will fall far short of supplying the requirements of the town; and besides the number of tramps committed will grow beautifully less as the story of the stone hammer and stone heap becomes better known among the fraternity. It would pay to spend considerable to keep tramps clear of the town, but when we can do so and save money, so much the better.

CARNIVAL TO-NIGHT.

SIX MONTHS IN THE MERCER REFORMATORY.

The Sentence Imposed on a Woman Bigamist this Morning.

Margaret Blanco, alias Groves, alias Lackey, was brought before Magistrate Dumble this morning on the charge on which she was arrested last Saturday, viz., bigamy.

The circumstances and details leading up to the arrest, and the story connected with the case appeared in Monday's EXAMINER.

No evidence was taken this morning, the woman entering a plea of guilty, and receiving a sentence of six months in the Mercer Reformatory at Toronto.

Frederick Lackey, her last husband, has been placed under arrest on the same charge, it being preferred against him on the ground that he knew the woman was married at the time he was united to her in wedlock. Charges of perjury will also be brought against the pair.

THE CHARITY CONCERT.

Given by the King's Daughters of St John's Church.

An entertainment for the benefit of the poor fund of the King's Daughters of St. John's church was given under the auspices of that Society last evening in the Sunday school.

The affair was a success financially, and though the attendance was not quite as large as was expected, yet those present spent a most pleasant evening.

The following programme was presented:

Piano solo (selected).....Mr Owens
Vocal solo—"Lullaby".....Miss Annie Sherwood
Vocal trio—"Shepherds, Can ye Tell Me".....
Messrs Lount, Morphet and Kingscote
Reading.....Rev E V Stevenson
Guitar duet.....Messrs Roper and Lefevre
Quartette—"Stars of Summer Night"...Messrs Lount, Morphet, Kingscotte and Stevenson

Refreshments were then served and a pleasant hour spent in social intercourse.

Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Cases.

Dr. Ryerson begs to inform the public that he will be at the Oriental Hotel, Peterborough, on Saturday, Jan. 30th, for consultation in eye, ear, nose and throat cases. Hours: 12 to 4. dw

An Invitation to All.

You are cordially invited to call at our store on Monday and Tuesday, the 1st and 2nd of February, between the hours of 10 a.m. and 5 p.m., to examine and try a cup of the "Winsor Cereal Coffee," prepared by the McMullen-Winsor Coffee Co., of Chicago, Ills. A representative of the company will be present to show how to make it and to give desired explanations. This is a very healthful and pleasant beverage, with a perfect coffee flavour and taste, and can be freely used by persons unable to drink pure coffee.—Very respectfully, E. F. MASON & Co. 3d29

Death of Adam Rutherford.

News of the death of Adam Rutherford, of Zion, Otonabee, will be received with grief by his many friends. The sad occurrence took place yesterday after an illness of ten months duration. The deceased was 63 years of age and was one of the most esteemed of the old residents of the township, where he lived since boyhood. A widow and three children survive to mourn the death of a most kind and indulgent father viz., Bella and Sidney, who reside at the homestead, and Mrs. John Moncrief, of North Monaghan. Mrs. John McWilliams and Mrs. Richard Morgan, of Ashburnham, are sisters of the deceased. The funeral will take place tomorrow to the Little Lake Cemetery.

A Pleasant Evening.

Last evening Mr. J. Glass, Bible class teacher in the George street Methodist Sunday school, entertained the young gentlemen members of his class, consisting of about sixteen, at his residence, Aylmer street. This has been Mr. Glass's custom for several years past, and a very excellent one it is, as it brings teacher and scholar together in social intercourse which is beneficial to both. All kinds of games were provided and much enjoyed by all. The games were in constant demand and after a few hours had been spent with them, the members repaired to the dining room where a sumptuous repast was partaken of. The party was brought to a close in the wee small hours of the morning. The members of Mr. Glass's class will not soon forget his and Mrs. Glass's hospitality and kindness to them.

LAST NIGHT'S HOCKEY MATCH.

PETERBOROUGH INTERMEDIATES WIN A DECISIVE VICTORY.

They Worst The Millbrook Team by Eleven Goals to Five.

A large crowd gathered at the rink last last night to witness a match between the Millbrook team and the local intermediates, and the fastest game of the year was witnessed. The Millbrook boys play no combination whatever, but their forwards are very speedy, and their individual rushes were something terrific at times, and the puck would be carried down on the Peterborough flags like a whirlwind—the flying Millbrooker only stopping when Glover or Wasson laid him gently to rest in the corner. When the Millbrook boys abandon this individual play, and go in for combination, they will give "the best of them" a tussle before being beaten. A little team play could have won the match for them last night, as Thoane at cover point was away off colour, and thus Glover, who is putting in his first year at the game, and Wasson were left to cope with the Millbrook forwards. Time and again Wasson was forced to leave his flags and dash into a melee in one of the corners, and while thus away from his post four out of the five Millbrook goals were scored. In the latter part of the match Glover settled down and put up a remarkably fine game, getting in some of his old lacrosse touches that considerably astonished any of the visiting forwards who tried to give him a body check.

On the Peterborough forward line Davidson, Crossley, Graham and King all did well, but there was no sign of combination play until the second half, which explains why only two goals were scored in the first half, whilst nine were tallied in the latter half of the game. Once the combination play began the Millbrook defense had its work cut out for it and some fine play was witnessed. Again and again the four crimson jerseys went down the ice in a row—through the defense—as though it did not exist and a roar from the crowd would signify that one more game had been tallied.

The two teams were composed as follows:

Millbrook		Peterborough.
Whyte	goal	E Wasson
Coombe	point	R Glover
T Nattrass	cover point	R Thorne
J Nattrass	forwards	R Davidson
G Leach	forwards	G Graham
F Leach	forwards	W Crossley
Duncan	forwards	H King

The puck was faced at 8.26, and travelled with a fast rush into Peterborough territory, where Glover relieved and neatly passed to King, and the rubber was carried down on Millbrook's flags. Up and down the battle raged, individual rushes on both sides being the principal feature. The first game was finally scored by Millbrook in four minutes and the score or so of Millbrookites, who came up with the team, shouted themselves hoarse, and even Peterborough could scarce forbear a cheer.

T. Nattrass, who all through played a splendid game at cover-point, took the puck directly after the face off and made an exceptionally fine rush down the ice with it, until he reached Glover, who stopped him and relieved well. Elated by scoring the first goal the visitors rushed the game for all it was worth, and the way they "followed up" was a lesson to the local players. They were right on the puck all the time and Wasson had his work cut out for him. The scrimage was hot around the goal for a time, but the play was finally worked up the ice to the visitors' flags, and Davidson scored the first game for Peterborough. Time, 15 minutes.

Millbrook took the puck from the face off and scored the next game in half a minute.

In two and a half minutes Harry King evened the score by tallying for Peterborough, but Millbrook took the lead again in two minutes by scoring another goal. There was no more tallying until half time was called, when the score stood 3—2 in favour of the visitors.

The whistle called the players out again on the ice at eight minutes after nine, and it just took Peterborough half a minute to make the score "three all." In five and a half minutes more Graham and King made a pretty rush down the ice, as the result of which the former scored. Just two minutes later the Peterborough forwards came down the rink in a line, King scoring in a pass from Graham.

The Millbrook boys now awoke up and again commenced to rush things, scoring in three minutes. Score 5—4 in favour of Peterborough.

The combination work of the home team seemed to demoralize the visitors, and when three minutes later the forwards started off again down the rink King had no difficulty in making the score 6—4.

Davidson scored the next game for Peterborough in half a minute, making one of his old-time rushes, which are not seen as often as in the days when he and King were the brightest stars of the students' team.

Crossley then made a dash in on the Millbrook goal, and raised the score to 8—4 in a minute and a half.

The combination work kept steadily improving as the forwards began to find out just where the puck could be passed to a comrade.

King scored again in 8 minutes, and two minutes later Roger Davidson sent a bullet-like shot between the Millbrook flags.

Millbrook scored in one minute, and King made the score 11—5 in favour of Peterborough just before time was called.

NOTES.

The Millbrook boys and their friends drove up in a couple of busses, returning home after the game.

In future before a match is played, the forward line should be practiced together a couple of times. Last evening it was not until the latter half that the boys began to work together, it being the first time they had all been on the same forward line.

A word of advice should be given Graham and King regarding the carrying of the puck too far up the ice before shooting on goal.

The game did not start on time last night and the attendance at the matches will most assuredly fall off if the patrons are to be kept waiting half an hour before the game begins. If the players cannot get on the ice until 8.30, why not say so on the bills, and spectators need not come until that hour.

If You Can't Write, Don't Read This.

A few reasons why Waterman's Ideal Fountain Pens are the best: It is always ready, and writes continuously without shaking. It writes as freely as a dip pen, and feeds the ink more regularly. The principle which regulates the flow of ink is as old as split pens and equally as reliable. All our pens are filled ready for use. Drop in and try one. We will allow you to take it home, and if not satisfactory, bring it back.—A. H. STRATTON & Co.

A COUPLE OF ACCIDENTS.

One of Them may Prove Serious—Internal Injury Feared.

Wednesday afternoon while Mr. John Couch was operating a saw in J. Walter Green's pump factory, Ashburnham, a board flew from the saw, striking him in the abdomen. He was conveyed to his home and suffered great pain. It is feared he is badly injured internally.

Last night, when endeavouring to stop the rush of a Millbrook forward down the ice at the hockey match, Chris. Graham sent the man up in the air and was struck in the lobe of the left ear with the point of one of the skates. A deep cut was the result, and though Chris. bandaged it up and went on playing, a couple of stitches had to be put in afterwards by a physician.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Geo. Robinson has been in Lindsay for the past few days.

Mr. Harb. Middleton, of Lindsay, has returned home after spending a few days in town.

Mrs. John D. Armstrong, Water street, her friends will regret to learn, has been confined to her room with illness for the past few days.

Mr. W. E. Green, representative of the Heintzman & Co. Piano, yesterday placed one of their beautiful instruments in the residence of Mr. H. P. Kennedy, corner of Park and Gilmour streets.

THE EXAMINER's thanks are due Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Kennedy for a much appreciated remembrance in the shape of a piece of the wedding cake. That their wedded life may be as satisfactory as the quality of the piece de resistance of the bridal banquet, is expressing a most hearty wish for their future happiness.

At the annual convocation of the Grand Chapter Royal Arch Mason, the election of officers has particular interest for the craft in Peterborough, from the fact that R. Ex. Comp. G. F. Shepley, Q.C., who is well known in Peterborough, having been at one time a student in the law office of Scott & Edwards, was elected 3rd Prin. J., and R. E. Wood was elected Grand Superintendent of Works for Ontario district, No. 10.

Sour

Stomach, sometimes called waterbrash, and burning pain, distress, nausea, dyspepsia, are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. This it accomplishes because with its wonderful power as a blood purifier, Hood's Sarsaparilla gently tones and strengthens the stomach and digestive organs, invigorates the liver, creates an appetite, gives refreshing sleep, and raises the health tone. In cases of dyspepsia and indigestion it seems to have "a magic touch."

"For over 12 years I suffered from sour

with severe pains across my shoulders, and great distress. I had violent nausea which would leave me very weak and faint, difficult to get my breath. These spells came oftener and more severe. I did not receive any lasting benefit from physicians, but found such happy effects from a trial of Hood's Sarsaparilla, that I took several bottles and mean to always keep it in the house. I am now able to do all my own work, which for six years I have been unable to do. My husband and son have also been greatly benefited by Hood's Sarsaparilla—for pains in the back, and after the grip. I gladly recommend this grand blood medicine." MRS. CHANGED HANDS!

I have bought out the Grocery and Provision Business carried on for the past six years by Mr. Thos. Brady, on the corner of Brock and George Streets, I therefore beg leave to solicit a continuance of the patronage of all the old customers of this store, as well as of my friends and the general public.

It is my intention to conduct the business in a safe and satisfactory manner—by keeping full stocks of all lines of the Choicest Groceries, Flour, Feed and Provisions—by giving constant attention to the business—and by selling for cash at the closest prices for the best goods that can be bought. An early call is invited.

FIRST SESSION OF THE NEW COUNTY COUNCIL

UNDER THE COUNTY COUNCILS' ACT OF 1896.

Only Lasted Four Days—The Several Committees Report — Deputations From the Town And Board of Trade —Adjournment to Meet at the Call of the Warden.

FOURTH DAY—FRIDAY.

The council went into session; all the members present; the Warden in the chair. After routine, Mr. Moloney, chairman, presented the report of the Committee on

ROADS AND BRIDGES

as follows:

The Committee on Roads and Bridges beg leave to report as follows:

1. That Mr. John Moloney be chairman of this committee.

2. Your committee recommend that your council take no action with respect to building a new bridge over the river Ouse as it crosses the concession line between the second and third concessions in the township of Asphodel in lieu of the present Steele's bridge, except on terms stated in minutes of special standing Committee on Roads and Bridges.

3. Your committee recommends that the report of the County Engineer be received and adopted.

4. Your committee recommend that the matter of re-flooring Young's Point Bridge be left in the hands of the Warden and County Engineer with power to act.

5. Your committee recommend that the matter of re-flooring the Lakefield bridge be left in the hands of Mr. W. H. Casement with power to act.

6. Your committee recommend that the County Engineer ask for tenders for re-painting Sullivan's bridge and also Allandale, Warsaw, Crow River, Deer River and also all other bridges under the jurisdiction of this council. Such tenders to be referred to a special meeting of this council to be called by the Warden in April next.

7. That the matter of Preston's bridge be referred to the next meeting of this council and that in the meantime the County Engineer prepare plans and specifications and ask for tenders both for a wood and iron bridge with stone piers and abutments.

8. That the matter of repairing Welbeck bridge in Asphodel be left in the hands of Mr. Pearce, with power to act.

9. That the Warden be instructed to ask for tenders for the lumber, and award the contract for repairing Hope's bridge in the township of Otonabee.

10. Your committee recommend that this county grant $100 towards repairing the boundary line between the townships of Monaghan and Cavan, provided the united counties of Northumberland and Durham grant $150, the township of Monaghan $100, and the township of Cavan $150, all for the same purpose and that Mr. Middleton be commissioner for expenditure of same, he to furnish a certified statement in detail of the manner in which such moneys are expended.

11. That no action be taken upon the application of the township of Smith for the purchase of a stone crusher by this county, in conjunction with them. Your committee commend the idea of several townships joining together in the purchase of a stone crusher but do not consider that any workable scheme can be proposed for the operation of a stone crusher if purchased by this county.

12. That a special grant of $100 be granted towards opening up the boundary line between Marmora and Belmont, between lots Nos. 14 and 30, both inclusive, upon condition that before expending any part of this grant the township of Belmont will guarantee this county that they have at least the additional sum of $200, for the purpose of opening up such boundary line, and that they will expend such sum for that purpose, and that Mr. John Brown be commissioner for the expenditure of the same, he to furnish a certified statement in detail of the manner in which said moneys are expended.

13. That a special grant of $75 be given to each of the townships of Burleigh, Harvey, Chandos, Galway and Methuen for expenditure on roads and bridges therein, and that the following be commissioners for expenditure of same: Mr. Eastland for Burleigh and Chandos; Mr. Shaw for Harvey and Galway; and Mr. John Brown for Methuen, each to furnish a certified statement in detail of the manner in which said sums are expended, the remuneration of such commissioners to be 3 per cent. of amount expended.

14. That a special grant of $60 be given to the township of Dummer for the purpose of repairing the north Warsaw road between lots 20 and 21 in the first concession of Dummer and Douro upon condition that the township of Dummer expend a like sum on the same road.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

JOHN MOLONEY, Chairman.

County Council Chambers, Peterborough, January 28th, 1897.

Mr. Casement, Chairman, presented the report of the COMMITTEE ON FINANCE

as follows:

The Committee on Finance beg leave to report as follows:—

1. That Mr. Casement be chairman of this committee.

2. That hereafter this council pay each nominating officer $4.00 for his services, exclusive of disbursements, and that in addition thereto a mileage fee of 10c. one way be allowed to such officer.

3. That the matter of supplying a case for the preservation of forms in office of County Crown Attorney be referred to the next meeting of this council.

4. That no auctioneer's license be granted except to the single individual in any case applying.

5. That no action be taken with respect to the communication from the secretary of the Ontario Provincial Constabulary Association, asking this county to defray the expenses of the county high constable during his attendance at their meeting.

6. That no action be taken upon the application of the Peterborough and Ashburnham Horticultural Society for a special grant.

7. That no action be taken upon the application of the reeve of Galway for a refund of the county rate on certain lands in the township of Galway, save and except that the sum of $27.85 interest account be remitted.

8. That no action be taken upon the application of Mrs. Paton, county president of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, asking for certain prison reforms.

9. That no action be taken upon the application of the village of Havelock for a special grant towards the building of a lock up in that village.

10. That the Board of Examiners called to try the McFimoe case be allowed to consider the appeal provided the applicant deposit with the county treasurer sufficient moneys to cover the costs, which moneys are to be returned to him if his appeal is sustained.

11. Your committee recommend that the county treasurer pay to the Norwood High School Board the amount to be paid by this county for the maintenance of county pupils, such amount to be paid upon the certificate of the chairman of the Norwood High School Board.

12. That W H Porter be granted a one-horse peddler's license for one year for $15, this council remitting to him one-half of the license.

13. That the following accounts be paid:

G H May	$ 40
H Nesbitt	3 80
J S Cairncluff	25 13
W E Roxburgh	25 20

W. H. CASEMENT, Chairman

County Clerk, County Council Cambers. Peterborough, January 28, 1897.

Mr. Middleton, chairman, presented the report of the Committee on

COUNTY PROPERTY AND APPOINTMENTS,

which was referred back yesterday, as follows:

The Committee on County Property and Appointments to office, beg leave to report as follows:

1. That Mr. Middleton be chairman of this committee.

2. That Mr. W. E. Roxburgh be re-appointed trustee of the Norwood High School.

3. That Messrs. John Burnham and R. C. Strickland be members of the Board of Audit of accounts in connection with the administration of justice.

4. That J. E. Belcher be re-appointed county engineer.

5. That Dr. Wm. Caldwell be appointed gaol surgeon, at a yearly salary of $150, payable as formerly, this sum to cover all extras heretofore charged.

6. That Mr. Henderson Nesbitt be re appointed caretaker of the Court House, at a yearly salary of $175, payable as formerly.

7. That Mr. W. B. Kelly be re-appointed caretaker of the Mud Lake bridge and swing, at a yearly salary of $20, payable as formerly.

8. That Mr. W. D. Chase be re-appointed caretaker of the Gannon's Narrow Ferry, at a yearly salary of $125, payable as formerly.

9. That Mr. John Flood be re-appointed caretaker of the Pigeon Creek bridge, at a yearly salary of $25, payable as formerly.

10. That Mr. S. Purser be re-appointed caretaker of Buckhorn bridge, at a yearly salary of $5.

11. That the County Engineer be instructed to procure a suitable witness box for the Division Court room.

12. That the caretaker of the Court House be instructed to procure sufficient lumber for the re-building of the ice house in connection with the gaol.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

JAS. MIDDLETON, Chairman.

County Council Chamber, Peterborough, January 27, 1897.

On motion to adopt the report, Mr. Burnham moved, seconded by Mr. Pearce, that the fifth clause be amended by substituting the name of Dr. Scott for that of Dr. Caldwell, as jail surgeon.

The amendment was lost and the report adopted.

Mr. Shaw, chairman, presented the report of the Committee on SCHOOLS.

The Committee on Schools beg leave to report as follows:

1. That Mr. Shaw be chairman of this committee.

2. That the report of the County School Inspector be received and adopted and printed in the minutes of this council.

3. That the County Inspector be instructed to send to the Trustees of each school section a memorandum embodying his views as to the conduct and mode of teaching in the schools of this county, and the changes and improvements which he would suggest for the rectification of the present state of affairs.

4. Your committee recommend that the attention of the Minister of Education be called to the injustice done by the renewal of third class certificates to those of mere primary standing, without their undergoing an examination for at least Junior Leaving standing, inasmuch as the renewal of such certificates deprives better qualified teachers of the opportunity of obtaining situations. The action of County Boards of Examiners should in this regard be made uniform.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

ROBERT SHAW, Chairman.

County Clerk, County Council Chambers, Peterborough, January 28th, 1897.

The report was adopted.

Bylaws to confirm the several reports were passed. Also a bylaw to authorize a loan of not more than $25,000 to meet current expenses.

The council adjourned to 10.30 to meet a deputation.

A TOWN DEPUTATION.

A deputation from the town council consisting of the joint committee, Messrs. J. B. McWilliams, W. H. Meldrum, Adam Dawson and R. Neill, waited upon the council in reference to the utilization of prison labour.

Mr. McWilliams said the town had been greatly troubled with tramps and persons of that class, and with the consequent dispensing of charity. He suggested in order to make idle persons that preyed upon the community earn their keep, that the town purchase stone to be broken by prison labour, and that the town use this broken stone for use on the streets, or that the county purchase the stone with a similar object to secure the desired end. The object of the deputation was to secure the co-operation of the county in this matter.

Mr. Meldrum pointed out that the system adopted in the town secured the co-operation of the churches in dispensing charity. The services of the agent of the Children's Aid Society was also available to discover and prosecute those who refused to work, bring them before the magistrate and have them committed. He pointed out that the co-operation of the county with the town would stamp out the nuisance involved in idle persons preying upon the county in summer and resorting to town for the winter.

Mr. Dawson favoured the principle of the plan proposed by Mr. McWilliams, but preferred that the county buy the stone, the town to buy the broken metal.

Mr. Pearce of the County Council, suggested that the town furnish the stone.

Mr. Moloney said it seemed to him that the county had at one time suggested employing prisoners in some way, but that the Inspector of Prisons interposed some obstacle in the way of properly guarding the prisoners while at work.

Mr. Stratton thought there would be no difficulty in this respect.

The matter was referred to a special committee consisting of Messrs. Moloney, Burnham, Middleton and Pearce.

BOARD OF TRADE AND T. V. C.

A deputation from the Board of Trade, consisting of Messrs. B. Shortly, President, J. R. Stratton, M. P. P., Wm. Manson, John Carnegie and Peter Hamilton appeared before the council in reference to securing the co-operation of the council in sending a deputation to Ottawa to impress the importance of continuing work on the Trent Valley Canal upon the Government.

Mr. Shortly said he would content himself with introducing Mr. John Carnegie, who would fully explain the object of the deputation.

Mr. Carnegie said it would be sufficient if he merely mentioned the Trent Valley Canal. He pointed out that we had now certain portions of the work under contract and in a satisfactory way to completion and he supposed that the new government would naturally wish to consider the advisability of completing the work. It was only fair to present the matter to the present government as had been done with the late government. He believed that if the matter had not been vigourously pressed in the past the present progress would not have been realised. He asked the co-operation of the county council with the town in the matter of a strong deputation to Ottawa.

Mr. Stratton pointed out that a large deputation had visited Ottawa, asking for the removal of the dam at Chisholm's Rapids, which all would recognize, if effected, as a death blow to the canal. (hear, hear.) The Minister of Railways and Canals had told the speaker that he was favourably impressed with the canal scheme and the splendid water stretches, and the government needed to have the fact urged upon them that the people were in earnest about the canal. He urged that the county appoint a large deputation (for governments were much impressed with large deputations as they represented votes, and impress upon the government the necessity of building the canal, as the late government had been impressed time after time.

Mr. Hamilton agreed with what had been said, especially with the remarks of Mr. Carnegie, that in justice to the new government they should be placed in possession of the feeling of the people on the subject, as had been done with the late government. So much money had been spent on the canal that we could not afford to let the work drop now. He urged the appointment of a strong deputation to confer with a similar one from town.

Mr. Wm. Manson was heartily in sympathy with the completion of the work, and a deputation would be a move that he approved of.

Mr. Casement moved, seconded by Mr. Moloney, that the Warden appoint a committee to co-operate with any deputation that might be organized in town.

The council then adjourned, and the special committee went into session with the committee from the town, in regard to the matter of employing prison labour to break stone.

OBITUARY.

The Late John Gall, of Keene.

This morning Mr. John Gall, of Keene, died at his residence at the age of 65 years. His last illness was of only ten or twelve days duration, and his death was due to inflammation of the lungs. Mr. Gall was a native of Scotland, and has been a resident of Keene for the last forty years. He was a well known man—his portly presence is familiar to hundreds of the travelling public of the country, and to thousands in this county. In his earlier years in Keene he was connected with the stage line, that has been superseded by the railway. He has conducted the well known brick hotel for a great many years, succeeding to the business of the late Thomas Drummond, whose sister he married, and who still survives him. He was noted for keeping a most orderly and well managed house, and though strict in the management he enjoyed a wide popularity among his patrons and the public generally. He was pretty well read, and could converse fluently on almost any topic. He was upright in his dealings, and had no sympathy with fakirs such as hay fork men, etc., who frequented his house, so far breaking the laws of bonifacial hospitality as to warn farmers against their wifes, and instances are related where he has prevented a farmer from signing an innocent-looking receipt for hay forks or churns, or something of that kind, which would have serenely cropped up afterwards as a a note for $300 or $400. He would do this at the risk of offending a profitable, if sharky, customer. He amassed considerable money by his business, and a year or so ago he retired to a fine new residence he had built to occupy in his declining years.

—Chas. Facey is requested to call on the agent of the Children's Aid Society at once.

—The Sewerage Finance and Market Committees of the town council meet to-night.

—It is sensible advice an exchange gives in the following words:—This is the season of the year in particular when people should keep their months shut—that is, breathe through their nose and not their mouth. A strict observance of this very important matter would prevent numerous cases of colds, sore throats and lung troubles. The mouth was never intended to breathe through.

Is the best appliance to economize fuel. We are selling them rapidly. They pay for themselves in a short time. Read what our Citizens say:

Messrs. Micks and Cox:—

GENTLEMEN,—After giving your Acme Heating Drum a fair trial in China Hall, we have no hesitation in pronouncing it a perfect success. Our store is 20x100 feet with glass front and all of one side of glass facing the north; and the Drum with a small wood stove heats the store more perfectly than it has ever been heated before, even when we had two coal stoves which we formerly used.

Yours truly,
Peterborough, Jan. 15th, '97. McFARLANE WILSON.

Messrs. Micks & Cox:—

GENTLEMEN,—After giving the Acme Heating Drum purchased from you a full trial in severe weather we have no hesitation in pronouncing it a complete success.

Your Drum is an application of the correct principle in proper heating devices, in drawing the cold air from the floor, heating it and circulating it through the building. We heat three rooms by means of a moderate sized wood stove with your Drum attached, and find our offices very much more comfortable than formerly, at the same time using a third less fuel than without the Drum.

Yours very truly,

TURNING GRAY
AND THREATENED
WITH BALDNESS

The Danger is Averted by Using

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

"Nearly forty years ago, after some weeks of sickness, my hair turned gray and began falling out so rapidly that I was threatened with immediate baldness. Hearing Ayer's Hair Vigor highly spoken of, I commenced using this preparation, and was so well satisfied with the result that I have never tried any other kind of dressing. It stopped the hair from falling out, stimulated a new growth of hair, and kept the scalp free from dandruff. Only an occasional application is now needed to keep my hair of good, natural color. I never hesitate to recommend any of Ayer's medicines to my friends."—Mrs. H. M. HAIGHT, Avoca, Neb.

THE BAPTIST WON.

Mr. McKergow Elected President of the Board of Trade of Montreal.

Montreal, Jan. 27.—(Special.)—Immersion has carried the day, and Mr. John McKergow of the firm of A. A. Ayer & Co., was to-day declared elected President of the Montreal Board of Trade, defeating Mr. John Torrance, who received 351 votes, against 468 cast for Mr. McKergow. Mr. James Crathern was elected first vice-president by acclamation, and the vote for second vice-president stood thus: Thomas F. Smith of the firm of James McCready & Co. 438, David McFarlane 341.

The following 12 gentlemen will compose the new council, with the number of votes each received, there being 26 in the race:

E. L. Bond 462, A. J. Brice 408, Chas. Chaput 499, Fred W. Evans 472, Robt. Mackay 543, W. B. Mathewson 536, Chas. McLean 468, Jas. W. Pyke 556, A. W. Stevenson 397, Harry Stikeman 553, David S. Thompson 476, David Watson 595. Mr. Henry Miles was elected treasurer by acclamation.

There were 20 candidates nominated for the Board of Arbitration, and the following were elected: Robt. Archer 601, Robt. Bickerdike 633, J. A. Cantlie 424, E. B. Greenshields 702, Edgar Judge 510, John McKergow 443, W. W. Ogilvie 578, David Robertson 478, A. A. Thibaudeau 437, Adam S. Thompson 465, John Torrance 430, Jas. Williamson 424.

President McKergow in his inaugural speech pronounced against reciprocal trade with the United States, saying that England was Canada's natural market. He also favored a Canadian insolvency law, and less discrimination on the part of the railway companies.

Before adjourning the following resolution, moved by Edgar Judge and seconded by Alexander McFee, passed unanimously: "That in the opinion of the Montreal Board of Trade, the bonds which unite the empire would be greatly strengthened by the adoption of a system of preferential trade in the empire, that it is ready to give its active support to any well considered scheme that would be fair both to the Mother Country and to Canada. Further that it would request the Dominion Government to consider whether the time had not arrived to suggest to the Imperial Government the calling of an Imperial conference to mature some practical plan for securing this important boon to the empire."

Alderman Stevenson is circulating petitions to the Queen's Most Excellent Majesty, praying that the term "England" shall no longer be used in an Imperial sense, and that the country be termed Great Britain by diplomats and others. The petition alleges that it is an insult to Scotsmen to be wholly ignored, and declares that this is an error in Imperial nomenclature.

The election of officers of the Corn Exchange took place to-day, Mr. Edgar Judge being returned president by acclamation. The interest was centered, however, in the contest for the treasurership. Mr. W. A. Hastings of the Lake of the Woods Milling Company defeated Mr. Stewart of the Kingston and Montreal Forwarding Company by 18 votes.

GRAVEL IN THE BLADDER.

Used Eighteen Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills—The Stone Dissolved and Removed—Knew of Others Cured.

Shelburne, Jan. 25 (Special).—Mr. John Medill, known locally as well as far and near as a physical giant, and glorying in his strength, came to be a great sufferer and tells of his cure as follows:—

"I do not hesitate to speak of Dodd's Kidney Pills or anything else exactly as I find them. If a medicine cures me and I think it will cure others why not say so?

"It is true I had been suffering for some time with Bladder trouble, and, learning of a case nearly in a similar case by Dodd's Kidney Pills, I commenced using them.

"In all I have used eighteen boxes and they have dissolved the stone and have entirely cured me of any sign of gravel. I do not hesitate to speak of Dodd's Kidney Pills in the highest terms of praise, for I know of many persons who have been cured by them."

THE CATTLE AND THE COLD.

Half a Million Sheep in Nebraska Being Fed and Many Have Died—Losses in South Dakota.

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 27.—For several days the mercury has been from 10 to 15 degrees below zero throughout Nebraska. There are 500,000 sheep being fed in Nebraska at present and many have been lost on account of the severe cold. The aggregate will be many thousands, but deaths of animals on the range at present are confined largely to sheep. No native range cattle have died, comparatively. As a result of the great supply of provender many Texas steers were shipped to the Nebraska ranges to be fed this season. In this class the cold has caused considerable loss.

All Right in Montana

Helena, Mont., Jan. 27.—The storm which has prevailed in Montana for several days, while severe, is not having a serious effect on range live stock. This is due to the fact that the snowfall has been light and there has been little wind. The sheep men are all well provided with feed and they were able to get their flocks into the sheds before any loss occurred.

Not Much Loss in Wyoming.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Jan. 27.—The cold wave of this week has not been severe in Wyoming and loss of stock has been nominal.

South Dakota Suffers Heavily.

Yankton, S.D., Jan. 27.—Reports are meagre from the cattle ranges of this state. The losses along the Missouri River will be heavy. It is feared the losses in that section will run from 20 to 25 per cent. The mortality among sheep is much greater and may reach 50 per cent.

Killed Thousands of Cattle.

Denison, Texas, Jan. 27.—Prominent stockmen of the Indian Territory and the Pan Handle report that the recent blizzard has resulted in the death of thousands of cattle on the range. For the first time in a number of years large watercourses are frozen over.

ARBITRATION TREATY.

The Senate Committee Discussed It Yesterday But Reached No Conclusion.

Washington, Jan. 27.—The Senate Committee on Foreign Relations to-day considered the general treaty of arbitration between this country and Great Britain without reaching a conclusion. The general drift of the discussion indicated that the instrument must be amended so as to eliminate any possible inclusion of questions concerning the domestic or foreign policy of either of the contracting parties.

It is believed by some members of the committee that a conclusion will be reached at a special meeting on Saturday, and that the treaty will be reported to the Senate Monday.

While it is believed that the treaty may be made satisfactory by one or two amendments, each member of the committee has his own ideas as to the exact language to be employed in so doing. The ardent friends of the Nicaraguan Canal insist that in some way that question be lifted bodily from the treaty and guarded against. The fear that Great Britain may be seeking a pretext to interfere not only in our foreign policy, but in domestic affairs as well, leads others to urge an amendment providing that no questions affecting either the domestic or foreign policy of the contracting parties shall be brought within the provision of the general treaty. This, it is contended, will also carefully guard the Monroe doctrine without referring to it in name. The designation in the treaty of the King of Norway and Sweden as umpire is causing the committee much concern, and, in looking up the diplomatic history of this northern country, the committee has discovered that a compact exists between Great Britain and France, on the one hand, and Norway and Sweden on the other, in which the two great powers of the south agree to stand by the weaker nation. The designation of King Oscar will, in all probability, be eliminated and an amendment reported requiring the selection of an American umpire for American questions and a European umpire when the matters in dispute relate to affairs in the eastern hemisphere.

Catarrh in the Head

Is a dangerous disease. It may lead directly to consumption. Catarrh is caused by impure blood, and the true way to cure it is by purifying the blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures catarrh because it removes the cause of it by purifying the blood. Thousands testify that they have been cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

HOod's Pills are purely vegetable and do not purge, pain or gripe. All druggists. 25c.

Sullivan was sentenced to be hanged on March 12 between 6 and 12 a.m.

NEEDLE IN HER HEART.

Surgeons Opened a Way and Took it Out and the Girl Will Recover.

Muskegon, Mich., Jan. 27.—Miss Maggie Heese of Muskegon, who drove a crochet needle into her side by accident, puncturing the heart sac, was operated upon yesterday at her home. The surgeons' knife exposed the pulsating heart of the woman and liberated about two tablespoonfuls of pus that had accumulated in the sac, after which she rallied handsomely and will probably recover. Before the operation communion was administered to Miss Heese and she bade her relatives farewell.

Health and strength carry us through dangers and make us safe in the presence of peril. A perfectly strong man with rich, pure blood has nothing to fear from germs. He may breathe in the bacilli of consumption with impunity. If there is a weak spot where the germs may find an entrance to the tissues, then the trouble begins. Disease germs propagate with lightning-like rapidity. Once in the blood the only way to get rid of them is to kill them. This is what Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is for. It purifies the blood. That means that it kills the germs, but that is only part of what it does. It assists digestion by stimulating the secretion of digestive fluids, so promoting assimilation and nutrition; purifies and enriches the blood and so supplies the tissues with the food they need. It builds up strong, health flesh and puts the whole body into a disease-resisting state.

One Minute Headache Cure--10c.
For Sale at all Druggists and 306 Yonge Street, Toronto.

In all the wide range of human sorrow there is no more pitiful tragedy than that of the death of a mother at childbirth. It cuts off a life just at the moment when it has achieved its grandest duty and at the very outset of its greatest happiness. It leaves a helpless, motherless babe to the care of strangers who have no blood interest in its welfare. Kind as a Sister of Charity or a nurse may be, they cannot replace the loving ministrations of a mother. This ever recurring tragedy could be avoided if women would but learn the vital importance of caring for the health and vigor of the delicate organs that bear the burdens of maternity. The woman who neglects weakness and disease of these organs is unfitted for motherhood and it only holds out to her the certainty of agonizing pain and possible death.

A sure, safe, and speedy cure for all weakness and disease of the organs distinctly feminine is found in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It prepares for motherhood by making these organs strong, healthy and elastic. If taken during the period preceding motherhood it banishes the usual discomforts. It insures a healthy baby and makes its advent easy, almost painless. It provides ample nourishment for the newcomer, and shortens the mother's period of illness and debility. It is the best of all known medicines for women and over 90,000 of them have said so over their signatures. If you want to know more of it write to its discoverer, Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y.

A good, practical home medical work is the best friend and adviser a young wife can have. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is such a book. It contains 1008 pages and 300 illustrations. Several chapters are devoted to the reproductive physiology of women and facts that every wife and mother should know. Over a million women possess copies of it. A new edition is ready and will be given away absolutely FREE. For paper-covered copy send 21 one-cent stamps, to cover the cost of mailing and customs only, to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y. Send 50 stamps for cloth-bound copy.

THE RICH MAN.

Ian Maclaren Presents Him in a New and Better Light.

In all times the rich man has been a target for the shafts of writers, and never more so than in these days of our own. It is somewhat novel, therefore, and indeed refreshing, to discover Ian Maclaren, essentially a man of the people, a champion of the much-berated possessor of wealth. His is a qualified and discriminating appreciation, it is true, and the more interesting because of these conditions.

It has been the fashion of literature to put this man in a pillory, says the distinguished Scotch author, and to make play with him, and to leave the impression that any scribbler who could string together a few verses, although neither he nor his verses had any claim to character, stood higher by the truest standards of worth, and was of more value to the community. This man is also apt to give himself away by too often insisting on his own history, and by speaking as with his own sword and bow, and not by the good favor of the Almighty, he had achieved his success. But it is common speech which does him most injustice, and quite confuses the situation. For it is asked, "How much is he worth?" and then the answer is given in figures. If this were indeed the exact value surely his life had been a sad fiasco, and he himself was of no account. What he is worth is another thing from what he possesses and if you go into the matter his fortune becomes a mere symbol to be transferred from figures into qualities. Just as half a dozen books stamped with university arms show that a young scholar has made a fair beginning in culture, or a simple bronze cross on a soldier's breast proves that he has played the man on the field of battle, so does honorable success in business bear witness to character. It means that a fellow-man called to his work in his calling has not been idle and careless—flinging away his opportunities and denying his duties. It means that he has not yielded to the lower impulses of his nature and done foolishly, to the weakening of his mind and body. It means that he has resisted temptation to trickery, deceit and unprincipled work of all kinds. This ten or hundred thousand pounds are in themselves only dust and vanity. But consider them as x, and work the equation out, and they read industry, perseverance, thrift, intelligence, self-denial, integrity. This gold is but another word for brain and conscience, and proves that one has done the work laid to his hand with all his might, and in so doing has built up his manhood.

"Five years ago," says Anga A. Lewis, Ricard, N. Y., "I had a constant cough, night sweats, was greatly reduced in flesh, and had been given up by my physicians. I began to take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and after using two bottles was completly cured."

Mrs. T. S. Hawkins, Chattanooga, Tenn says: "Shiloh's Vitalizer 'Saved my Life. I consider it the best remedy for a debilitated system I ever used." For dyspepsia, liver or kidney trouble it excels Price 75c. Sold by John Nugent 289 George Street.

STRANGELY RE-UNITED.

A Romance of Ancient Egypt and Modern New York.

This is a romance of ancient Egypt and nineteenth century New York.

Three thousand years ago Egypt was one day thrown into a state of excitement by the birth, at the imperial palace, of a young princess of the royal line. Not alone was there rejoicing at the advent into the world of a future queen, but the father of the infant, the great Thothmes III., caused to be begun the hewing of an immense obelisk out of solid rock to commemorate the event. Years went by and the maiden blossomed into beautiful womanhood, while the obelisk was being worked upon by hundreds of skilled toilers.

When it was at last finished and set up before the royal palace at Heliopolis she spent days in watching the strange hieroglyphics being cut upon it.

Nearly all that we know of the history of the world has occurred since then, and yet to-day, after a lapse of thirty centuries, the body of that Egyptian princess, perfectly preserved, lies in state in the museum in Central Park, says the New York Journal, and not two hundred feet away stands the hoary obelisk as if keeping guard over her sacred remains.

Thousands of miles from their former home, these reminders of the glory of dynasties now but a half-forgotten tradition of the remote past, are strangely reunited. To those who love to delve into antiquity the obelisk is the most wonderful of the many relics of the early history of the world.

When the Saviour walked the earth it stood at Alexandria, a hoary relic of almost fifteen hundred years. To go back still further, the same obelisk had survived the rise and fall of Egypt, and stood a monument of her glory centuries before the palace of Nimrod, Nineveh and Khorsabad were built. Daniel, the great prophet, lived and died hundreds of years after its erection.

The college student, slowly tracing the number of "persangs" which marked the advance of the great Zenophon, looks on the history which he is translating as extremely remote, yet even this was so recent that Zenophon marched over the sites of the then long buried and forgotten cities mentioned without discovering a trace of their hidden mysteries.

Older yet is this ancient obelisk. Standing at Heliopolis, in the dim dawn of human history, looking to the east as a harbinger of the morning, Moses himself doubtless often read its hieroglyphic inscriptions, for he was learned in the lore of the Egyptians, and the obelisk was nearly 300 years of age when he wrought his miracles before Rameses II. and led the children of Israel out of their captivity.

It is strange that of the thousands who look with awe on this reminder of the past but few really appreciate its antiquity. They interpret the name "Cleopatra's Needle" literally, when, in fact, the beautiful Egyptian Queen never saw the monolith, which was fourteen centuries old when Cleopatra was born, and stood at Heliopolis until eight years after her death, when it was removed to Alexandria, B.C. 23, by order of Augustus Caesar.

Ringing noises in the ears, snapping, bussing, roaring, caused by catarrh, all disappear with the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla.

An Artificial Rain Experiment

M. Errera, professor at the University of Brussels, has succeeded, and by a very simple process, in making artificial rain. All that he uses is a bottle of Bohemian glass, which is covered with an ordinary procelain saucer and is half filled with alcohol of 92 degrees strength. He heats this bottle in a bath of water until the alcohol, the sides of the bottle and the saucer are of an almost equal temperature. Then he takes it out of the bath, places it carefully on a table and observes it closely.

He is rewarded by an interesting sight. The vapor of the alcohol soon fills the bottle, but the saucer cools rapidly and the vapor being warmer, becomes condensed as soon as it comes in contact with it. The upper air in the bottle also quickly becomes of a lower temperature and real clouds soon appear. These speedily become dissolved into a multitude of tiny rain drops, which fall thickly, just as an ordinary rain shower.

The bath of water performs the function of the sun, the alcohol represents the ocean; the clear space beneath the saucer may be compared to the pure sky, which dominates the somber mass of clouds, and the upper air in the bottle, chilled by contact with the saucer, plays the role of the cold atmospheric currents which bring about the condensation of vapor into clouds.

We see, then, the phenomenon is faithfully reproduced in all its details. A still more striking result can be obtained by using a cold saucer in place of the warm one. In that case the difference of temperature will be increased and we can witness a regular old-fashioned storm or hurricane. This is, indeed, a tempest in a bottle. —New York Herald.

THE TWO HAZELIPS WILL DIE.

Prominent Citizens of Kentucky Went Out and Shot Each Other.

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 27.—Late yesterday afternoon, on Green River, near Brownsville, a battle occurred, in which 40 shots were fired, eight of which took effect. The combatants were Eugene Carrier, J. L. Carrier, Nathan and Luther Scaggs, on one side, and G. W. Hazelip, Alfonso Hazelip and his son on the other. G. W. Hazelip was shot in the groin and hand, and Alfonso in the breast, arm and side. Nathan Scaggs was shot in the shoulder, and Ben Scaggs, a bystander, in the arm. The two Hazelips will die. The trouble occurred over the alleged betrayal of Carrier's sister by Alfonso Hazelip. All are prominent people.

LEND YOUR EARS

To Your Back and Listen to its Talk—A Peterborough Man Tries It.

Did you know the back could talk;
Tell you why it aches and pains;
Tell you why it's lame and weak;
Warn you of the kidney's ills;
Tell you of Doan's Kidney Pills?
Listen to them when they speak.
Relieve the kidneys, cure the ache.
Bad back, acute pains and kidney ills,
Are quickly cured by Doan's Kidney Pills.

Here is proof of it at home. The testimony of Mr. George N. Graham, the genial host of the Oriental Hotel, Peterborough, is as follows:—

He says:—"I have been a great sufferer for some time with pain across the back, extending up between the shoulders, swelling of the limbs, dizziness, loss of appetite, and in fact felt completely broken up.

"I had lost 17 pounds in three months, and thought that I would never get better. I have taken many kinds of patent medicines, and have also been treated by medical men, but did not seem to get any better at all, in fact was constantly growing worse.

"I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertisement and got a box of them at Lynch's drugstore, and by the time I had taken one box noticed a marked change for the better.

"I have taken seven boxes altogether, and am now free from pain; the swelling in the limbs has disappeared, and my appetite is good. In fact, I feel that I am completely cured.

"I can heartily recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to those suffering from any form of kidney trouble. They are the best kidney medicine I have ever used.

Signed, GEO. N. GRAHAM.

QUICK WORK.

A Writer Wants to Know how Newspapers Manage the Obituary Business.

To the Editor of the Examiner :

Sir.—Is it possible to transmit by telegraph portraits of individuals? Only by this agency can I account for the extreme rapidity with which facsimiles of men of note appear in the public press. To take the latest case, that of Sir Isaac Pitman, who died in London, England, on the 22nd of January—lo! the Montreal Star of the same date has his portrait and a lengthy notice of his life from his birth to his death. Does the Star keep a gallery of portraits in anticipation of their being some day wanted, or is there any means of transmitting such a thing as a portrait by electricity? Do please enlighten me and relieve the feelings of

One Perplexed.

[Outline portraits can be sent by telegraph. The old method was to have every part of a cylinder touched by a needle, tracing five parallel lines screw-fashion, the electric current being completed only when the needle crossed part of the outline. If a square plane surface was used, instead of a cylinder, the needle traced the parallel lines by running back and forth. The machines at each end had to be adjusted to the nicest synchronism, and this difficulty was the bar to commercial success. A later method is that of Gray's teleautograph, which allows the needle to play freely in any direction, tracing continuous lines, the current being always flowing. Even this however, has not come into practical use. The rapid publication of portraits and biographies, as in the instance mentioned, depends upon no marvel of science. Papers which maintain photo engraving establishments keep the photographs of celebrities always on hand, and can prepare an outline drawing and produce an engraving therefrom at very short notice. As for the biographic sketches which appear so promptly, these are provided in various ways. Metropolitan newspapers maintain obituary departments, in which the career of every notable person is kept written up to date. Smaller offices depend principally upon indexed files and works of reference. Lately the Associated Presses have accompanied death announcements with brief sketches from one or another of the biographical dictionaries.—Ed.]

To the Editor of the Examiner :

Sir,—If it is in the power of the Street Car Company, and if it does not require the circumlocution of a by-law, I would suggest that a notice to the above effect be exhibited in each car of our local company. As yet spitting is not carried to excess, but there is a tendency to it (and this is shared even by some of the officials), and it is as well to nip the filthy habit in the bud.

HOCKEY.

The first team of the Frontenacs, of Kingston, will be here on Monday next to play the Peterborough Intermediates, and in the early part of of the same week the second seven of the Frontenacs come up to play the third team of the Peterboroughs. These are two games which will be brim full of ginger, snap and go, and will, without doubt, be liberally patronized. In other years the Peterboroughs had all they could do to hold down the Athletics, of Kingston, and as the Frontenacs have taken the pick of this team and united it with the old Limestones, two very strong sevens have been placed on the ice, and the Peterboroughs will be hard pressed to retain their supremacy, and the name of being unbeatable on their own rink. Both games should draw tremendous crowds.

CURLIANA.

The Kingston News says : Neither the president nor the committee of the curling club know anything about the Peterborough Curling club's intended visit to Kingston. But they say if the visitors do come they will be glad to arrange a game for them.

MENACE TO CANADA.

United States Maintains a Fleet on the Lakes Contrary to Agreement.

By an agreement with Great Britain and the United States, entered into in 1817, it was decided that neither nation should build or maintain warships on the Great Lakes. Each was to be allowed three gunboats for revenue purposes, but these were not to exceed more than 100 tons each or carry more than one 18-pound cannon. We have rigidly adhered to this agreement. At present Canada only has on the lakes two vessels, the Petrel and Dolphin. The former is 95 tons, while the latter is only a steam launch.

But the United States has been quietly building and arming a whole fleet during the last few years. She now has the Fessenden, a boat of 320 tons, armed with one 30-pound gun, two 24-pound Dahlgren Howitzers and two 3-inch rifles; the Johnston, 430 tons; the Perry, 251 tons; the Michigan, a side-wheel iron steamship of 498 tons, with two 8-inch guns and four 32-pound cannonades; and the Grenhan, recently launched, a fast armed cruiser of over 900 tons. In addition two more cruisers of the same type, heavily armed, have been ordered.

Here is a fleet sufficient in case of war to ravage the whole Canadian coast line. Kingston, Toronto, Hamilton, Windsor, Sarnia, Chatham, and every other Canadian city which could be reached by water would be at the mercy of these cruisers. This fleet has been built and armed in direct contravention of the agreement. It is time the Canadian government woke up to this fact. If the United States is bound to have a fleet on the lakes Canada must take the necessary precaution of having one, too, cost what it may. It is probable, though, that a sharp protest to Washington would stop the further building of men-of-war under the guise of revenue cruisers.

WE ARE GLAD

To be able to announce that we have finished Stock-taking, and have something left after a satisfactory year's business. To be sure Profits have been small during the year just closed, but we have kept the expense account small likewise.

Ladies who shop here have shown their appreciation of our goods and our plain way of doing business. We have reason to be thankful for their confidence and patronage, and solicit a continuance of their favours for another year.

An Aftermath Of Bargains.

We have laid out for bargain overs special lots of DRESS GOODS, APRON MUSLINS, FLANNELETTE, FLANNEL, and the rest of our WINTER MILLINERY, which we can afford to sell at a loss at the end of the season, so as to make room for new goods. As a matter of fact you run no risk in buying here, because our goods have no chance to grow old. The store the ladies like must have a large daily outflow of goods to keep the stock new and fresh. You catch the idea.

COAL OIL AND WOOL

Discussed Before Tariff Commissioners at Ottawa.

LEAVE THE DUTIES AS THEY ARE

Is the Substance of the Arguments Advanced—Mr. Jenkins of Petrolia Was the Oil Men's Orator, While Mr. Penman of Paris Spoke for the Woolen Men.

Ottawa, Jan. 29.—(Special.)—Influential representatives of the Canadian oil industry, the woolen manufacturers and the knitted goods manufacturers occupied the attention of the Tariff Committee of Ministers all day to-day.

The first to address the Ministers were the Ontario oil delegates, headed by Mr. Fraser, the Liberal M.P. for East Lambton.

The other delegates were Messrs. J. H. Fairbank, ex-M.P., H. Hammond, J. L. Englehart, J. D. Noble, Charles Jenkins, Petrolea; Charles Mackenzie, ex-M.L.A., Sarnia, and F. A. Fitzgerald, London.

The Ministers who received them were Hon. Mr. Fielding, Sir Richard Cartwright and Hon. Mr. Paterson.

Mr. Fraser, M.P., introduced the deputation, announcing that he was in thorough accord with its objects. Mr. Jenkins then addressed the Ministers. He gave a long history of petroleum in Canada, going back to the early part of the sixties, and tracing the industry down to 1876, when the Mackenzie Government had to deal with the question. He wanted to say that the Mackenzie Government dealt with it in a bold and comprehensive way, so that the article was left without interference for 17 years. The duty placed by the Mackenzie Government on American oil, not for protection, but as a revenue, was 7 1-5 cents per gallon. In 1893 there was an unfair agitation against the oil duty, which it was said was all going to the Canadian refiners, and in 1894 Parliament reduced the duty on the American article to 6 cents a gallon. The representatives of the industry told the Finance Minister at the time that the industry could not stand this. The result of the reduction in duty was to make Petrolea a city of the dead. After a year or so providentially the United States market changed by increased values, so as to allow the old state of affairs, and since then the industry was getting on fairly well. He showed that the industry contributed about $120,000 to the general finances of the country, and combated the idea that any of the duty went to the pockets of those in the trade. He complained of the way the industry was misrepresented by those who were not acquainted with the facts.

There were five distinct refineries in Petrolea, 8000 wells in operation and 600 owners, which showed that there was no combination. There was, on the contrary, an active competition between each. He argued that Canadian oil was superior to the United States production, but the difficulty was that the lamps were nearly all made to suit American oil. The Canadian oil needs more oxygen than was permitted by the American burners. The Canadian oil was 1-3 better than the article in the States.

Mr. Fitzgerald followed with statistics to show that the present duty was essential to the trade, and that any further reduction meant the destruction of the industry in Canada.

J. H. Fairbank, ex-M.P., also addressed the commission in favor of retention of the present duty. The prejudices, he said, against Canadian coal oil were fast disappearing. In London Canadian oil alone was used, and there was more of it used in Toronto than the American article. In December Toronto peddlers sold 54,500 gallons of American oil and 62,000 gallons of Canadian. The 8000 wells at Petrolea cost about $400 each. The last reduction of duty was ill-advised and the Finance Minister of that day knew it, but pressure made him yield.

What the Government could do to assist the industry was to enquire why it cost five cents to carry oil 400 miles from Thunder Bay to Winnipeg and only two and a half cents from Petrolea to Halifax and St. John. There was no other business in which labor figured more. There was no combine, trust or corner in the Canadian oil trade. Every man was fighting to keep up his own business. Efforts had been repeatedly made to ship Canadian oil and products of petroleum to foreign markets, but there was no opening for them and the experiments had invariably proved futile. But the Government could place them in a position to ship their lubricating products, for the market was now in better shape than it had ever been. He only urged, however, that the present duty should be let alone.

Mr. Englehart also made a few observations in reply to questions from the Ministers, and maintained that the refiners and producers are linked together in the matter, their interests being largely identical.

Mr. Noble appeared, representing the farmers of Lambton, Essex and Kent, and supported the contentions of the gentlemen who had spoken. He took the position that if the duty was taken off oil the Canadian manufacturers would not pay the owners of the wells even the $1.50 per barrel on crude oil which was now paid.

The deputation then withdrew.

THE WOOLEN MEN

Request That the Duty on Their Goods be Not Interfered With.

The next deputation was woolen men, which included Messrs. Rosamond, M. P., Almonte; Kendry, M. P., Peterboro; Willett, Chambly; John Turnbull, Sherbrooke; J. Gillies, Carleton Place, and J. Morley, Waterloo. They asked to be heard in private and their wish was acceded to. The deputation represented to the Government that it would be inadvisable to make any change in the duty on woolens, which at present is 20 per cent. ad valorem and 5 cents per pound. They stated that the capital invested in the industry amounted to $15,000,000, the number of hands employed was 15,000 and the annual amount paid in wages $5,000,000. A reduction of the duty meant a cut in wages of probably 10 per cent.

The Ministers resumed work shortly after 3 o'clock, when the knitted goods manufacturers' deputation were heard. This deputation consisted of Messrs. J. Ellis of Port Dover, J. Penman and Henderson of Paris, J. Hewton of Kingston, Cantlie and McKay of Toronto, Forbes of Hespeler and Anderson of Guelph. The case of the deputation was represented by Mr. Penman in a very forcible manner. He stated that the present duty on knitted wear was 35 per cent., and on socks and stockings of all kinds 4c. per dozen pairs, in addition to the ad valorem duty. The contention of the deputation was that this industry could not stand any alteration in the present duty. He said they were under greater cost for raw material, plant, supplies, fuel, etc., than their competitors. In importing the wool which they used they had to pay freight, insurance and exchange more than their English or German rivals. They had, moreover, to pay a duty of 30 per cent. on the trimmings.

In the matter of wages a Canadian mill employing 326 hands would annually pay $101,730; in England the same number of hands would receive $73,950, and in Germany $52,590. The Canadian manufacturer for his coal had to pay from $3.50 to $4.50 per ton, while in England it cost but from $1 to $2.25 and in Germany from $1.85 to $2. Canadian manufacturers were under the necessity of heating their buildings in winter more than was required in England. To fit up a Canadian mill the cost of machinery would be about $300,000. In England or Germany it would cost one-third less, or a saving of $100,000. Statistics showed that Great Britain was losing her hold in foreign markets, and if the Canadian tariff were lowered the Canadian manufacturer would likewise suffer.

He proceeded to give the following figures of the Canadian knitted goods industry: Value of plant $4,000,000, number of hands employed 4900, yearly wages paid $1,250,000, value of fuel used $56,500, amount paid for freight $58,000, duty paid on supplies brought in $35,000 a year, duty on machinery, etc., $25,000 a year. Whatever protection the Government thought the woolen manufacturers should have, the same should apply to the manufacturers of knitted underwear. A reduction in the tariff would bring them face to face with cheap German labor, and to keep the Canadian mills going there must be a reduction of wages. That would mean taking the bread out of the mouths of the people. The deputation would also urge that there should be a change in the present duty on woolen yarns and worsted yarns. Mr. Penman mentioned that European exporters were in the habit of dishonestly offering two invoices to their customers. In order that there might be uniformity of appraisement he suggested that importations should only be permitted at leading ports.

Mr. Fielding asked how the importers would like such an arrangement.

Mr. Penman said the system worked well in the United States.

Sir Richard Carwright said he had been looking at the returns, and found that the importations of hosiery had fallen from $393,000 worth in 1892 to $180,000 worth last year. It looked as if the competition were lessening.

Mr. Penman said that the figures were misleading. All the manufacturers knew that prices had fallen. The Canadian producers had not been idle in looking for outlets for their goods, but what they valued most was the home market.

The deputation showed to the Ministers some fine specimens of the product of their mills and quoted the prices. A child's sock of excellent quality was exhibited, and the Ministers were surprised and interested when they were informed that all the manufacturers got for them was 20c for a dozen pairs.

Mr. Fielding expressed the thanks of the Ministers for the information furnished. Another session of the Tariff Commission will be held to-morrow, when the cotton manufacturers will have their innings.

FRANCE AND RUSSIA.

Something Seems to Have Ruffled the Sereneness Lately Manifested Between These Allies.

New York, Jan. 29.—A special to The Herald from St. Petersburg says: Replying to The Paris Gaulois' attacks against the Franco-Russian alliance, The Novosti hits back. It says: "Before her alliance with Russia, France only played a secondary political role for 20 years. After it she at once rose to the first rank."

The attacks which have recently been delivered by The Figaro and The Gaulois cause high feeling here, and have been the reason why so much stress is being laid upon the visit of Count Muravieff, which is being emphasized in the strongest manner.

It is even hinted that the opportunity of the Count's visit will be taken to come to an understanding with France in the eastern question, as it is well known here that what action there has been comes from resentment of the French bondholders, who own, according to M. Cambon, 63 per cent. of the Turkish debt; consequently they most actively favor the financial commission's plan, from which Russia has held aloof.

THE FIREBUG CASES

David and James Ballard Committed for Trial.

HOW THE SCHEME WAS WORKED

In Order to Get Money Out of the Insurance Companies—William Reid, the Silent Member, Discharged, Because the Charge of Over-Valuation Was Not Proved.

Shelburne, Jan. 29.—This morning David Ballard was committed for trial for firing Henry Jackson's stable in January, 1893.

Jackson testified that the fire was deliberately planned between himself and Ballard, and that a horse which had been injured by a hay-fork was burned for the insurance.

John Martin swore that he brought an ax to Ballard before the fire, and that he saw the horse lying dead in his stable before the match was applied.

William Reid, the silent member of the gang, was then placed in the dock, charged with having feloniously set fire to his barn in August, 1893. William Trudgeon swore that he had certain conversations with the accused in the house and at the mill, which was burned that night, after taking his last load of furniture away. Reid admitted to witness that he knew all about this fire, although he was away from home at the time. Reid told witness he had a horse that was through three or four fires, and he was a good horse yet.

William Withers, a near neighbor of the accused, testified that he was working with Reid that harvest. The night of the fire Reid and his wife were away from home, Reid hitching up about dark and going after his wife. The witness went to bed and was awakened by the fire, which happened about an hour after Reid left.

The witness' memory seemed very defective about certain conversations between the accused and himself as to setting fire to his barn and having time to reach Toronto before it burned. James Stewart had traded with Reid a self-binder for a democrat wagon and a buggy, which he had offered before for $16, valued the binder at $15, and it was put in Reid's claim papers at $75.

Alexander Marten said Wm. Reid's barn was burned about three years ago. He was in church at the time. Reid told the witness how buildings could be burned. This conversation took place about the time of the fire.

Hugh Reid, secretary-treasurer Sydenham Mutual Fire Insurance Company, stated the loss was adjusted for $283.60.

This closed the case for the Crown. The Magistrates did not consider the charges as to overvaluation, etc., proven, and the case was dismissed.

The charge against Jas. Ballard of burning three buildings in the month of March, 1892, was then taken up.

Walter Thompson, the first witness, remembered drawing lumber from Corbetton to James Ballard's place. When at his house could not see much furniture in the house. Ballard told Thompson that he had removed most of his furniture to John Wallace's; was aware that Ballard's organ was upstairs in Wallace's, and helped to move it into Jas. Hammond's wagon; Ballard told the witness, laughingly, that he was lying. Ballard, according to testimony of witness, had holes dug in the ground and posts set in to deceive the insurance companies as to the size of the building.

Ed. Wellwood, the next witness, stated that he and Morrow were on their way home from Flesherton when they saw the fire. When they got to the scene all the buildings were nearly consumed, except the house. Witness said he did not try to put out the fire, as he did not wish to monkey round the place.

Robert Hammond gave testimony as to the moving of the organ and stove from Ballard's. These articles were taken over to his father's, James Hammond. Shortly after that Mrs. James Ballard came over to Hammond's and got them to remove the organ to Charles Higgins', in Dundalk. Hammond and Ballard made a trade of stoves, and that settled the deal.

John Wallace's evidence threw some light on the history of the organ. It seemed Ballard owed Wallace a sum of money, so Ballard made a deal with Wallace to take the organ. Wallace went to Ballard's for it one night after dark. Ballard's wife and Wallace's wife quarrelled, and Mrs. Wallace ordered Ballard to take the organ away. It went from there to Hammond's. Mrs. Wallace, wife of the previous witness, thought that the organ came to her house the night of the fire; understood that there was an arrangement between Ballard and her husband as to a deal about the organ.

J. W. Morrow, who drove up with Ed. Wellwood, said he did not get out of his rig. He told Wellwood that the sooner they got away from there the better, as there was something wrong.

Mary Jane Hammond, wife of James Hammond, remembered about the organ being brought to her house after dark. Mrs. James Ballard and her daughter came and took away the organ after dark a few months afterwards. The stove is in Hammond's possession yet. James Hammond remembered all about moving a stove, organ, bedstead and some bedding from Jas. Ballard's house before the fire. There was nothing left in the house but an old stove, valueless, and some broken crockery. That night the buildings were burned. The witness did not remember when Ballard told him he would burn the buildings, but thought it might have been the day he was there putting in the bogus foundation.

This closed the case, and the accused was committed for trial.

THE TREACHEROUS ICE.

Henry Tripp Lost His Son and Had a Narrow Escape Himself on Lake Erie.

Ridgeway, Ont., Jan. 29.—A distressing accident, resulting in the death of a 14-year-old boy, occurred Wednesday off Windmill Point. Henry Tripp and his son started out about noon on a fishing excursion. They took a team of dogs and a small sleigh. The lad also provided himself with a pair of skates. When the lake was reached the elder Tripp seated himself on the sleigh, the boy seized one of the supports behind and the little party started out on their journey over the ice. It is a peculiarity, owing to the choppy waves, that ice of no considerable thickness ever forms at Windmill Point. It was so in this case. The little party had not proceeded far before both dogs, the sleigh and father and son were ingulfed in the chilling waters of Lake Erie. The lad never rose to the surface, but the sleigh supported the elder Tripp. After a long and desperate struggle he succeeded in getting out of the water onto the ice that would bear his weight. One dog was drowned, the other pulled himself out, and dripping with water that was fast forming into icicles crawled to where his master stood. Tripp was powerless to help his son, who, probably, long before his father succeeded in getting out of the water, was a corpse. He made his way to the shore and told his pitiful story.

A searching party was organized, and late in the afternoon the boy's body was found and taken from the lake.

Two years ago Edward Gothard, a fisherman, had a narrow escape from drowning in about the same fatal spot where young Tripp lost his life. Gothard, too, was seated in a sleigh, to which was hitched a span of dogs. All went into the water. Gothard, after a terrible struggle, succeeded in getting out, but his faithful dogs lost their lives.

Mothers

Anxiously watch declining health of their daughters. So many are cut off by consumption in early years that there is real cause for anxiety. In the early stages, when not beyond the reach of medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla will restore the quality and quantity of the blood and thus give good health. Read the following letter:

"It is but just to write about my daughter Cora, aged 19. She was completely run down, declining, had that tired feeling, and friends said she would not live over three months. She had a bad and nothing seemed to do her any good. I happened to read about Hood's Sarsaparilla and had her give it a trial. From the very first dose she began to get better. After taking a few bottles she was completely cured and her health has been the best ever since." MRS. ADDIS PECK, 12 Railroad Place, Amsterdam, N. Y.

"I will say that my mother has not stated my case in as strong words as I would have done. Hood's Sarsaparilla has truly cured me and I am now well." CORA PECK, Amsterdam, N. Y.

THE NEW COUNTY COUNCIL.

The experience of the first session of the County Council under the new regime is certainly an evidence of the wisdom of the enactment of the County Councils Act of 1896. As a matter of economy it was a decided gain—a gain represented by a difference of $264 between the cost of the first session under the new regime and the average cost of a session under the old system. For instance, this week ten members, at $3 per day, sat four days—$30 per day—which represents a total sum for salaries of $120. Add to this mileage, at an average of $3 per member, and we have a total cost of the first session under the new regime of $150. The invariable length of a session under the old system was five days at a cost for salaries of $69—twenty-three members at $3 per day, totalling $345. With the same average mileage—$3 per member—added, we have an additional $69, or a total of $414 as the cost of a session under the old system, not counting the cost of attendance, fuel, etc., which is about the same in both cases.

We have therefore a double source of financial gain to credit the new system with—shorter sessions, with a decrease of sessional expense of over a hundred per cent.—$150 as against $345, in the matter of salaries alone, and a similar decrease in mileage as represented by the difference between ten members at $3 each and twenty-three members at the same figure. In regard to the relative length of sessions it may be pointed out that the late session was practically only three days, two days instead of one, as was usual in the past—though there were exceptions — having been taken up in the election of a warden.

It is fair to state that the business of the first session was somewhat lessened by the special session in December, though some matters that hung over a couple of sessions were disposed of this week.

And, moreover, the business was well, as well as expeditiously, transacted, as is probable with a reduced membership, when there are fewer differences of opinion to reconcile and decisions are more easily reached.

The spirit of fair play that seemed to animate the new council, indicated that the members considered themselves as much representatives of the whole of their respective divisions as of the township or other municipality in which they reside. Judging by the first session of the new council, there is no probability of the interests of any particular municipality or part of a division being neglected, or of the interests of one being advanced at the expense of another. The usual special grants were promptly made to the financially weaker municipalities, and in one or two cases, increased. Though experience may develop some points of friction in the working of the new system, yet, on the whole, the principle seems to be sound, and more than likely to work, in the main, successfully and beneficially in the direction of greater economy and generally more efficient transaction of the public business.

in a surprisingly short time. It's a scientific certainty, tried and true, soothing and healing in its effects.

W. C. McCOMBE & Son, Sarnia, Ont., report in a letter that Pyny-Pectoral cured Mrs. C. Cameron of chronic cold in chest, that resisted other remedies, and also cured W. G. Spelchmiller of a lung disorder.

MR. J. H. HUTTY, Chemist, 256 Yonge St., Toronto, writes: "As a general cough and lung syrup Pyny-Pectoral is a most invaluable preparation. It has given the utmost satisfaction to all who have tried it, many having spoken to me of the benefit derived from its use in their families. It is suitable for old or young, being pleasant to the taste. Its sale with me has been wonderful, and I can always recommend it as a safe and reliable cough medicine."

The Governor-General Gives Suggestions—Municipalities of the Country Asked for Aid.

Ottawa, Jan. 28.—(Special.)—The Indian famine relief movement is making satisfactory progress. His Excellency has sent a letter to all the Lieut.-Governors, in which he says: "I shall feel greatly obliged if Your Honor will kindly inform me as to any steps that may be taken in your province with reference to this most urgent and grand work of charity. I am well aware that in some respects the time is not favorable for financial benevolence and that claims are numerous, but I feel confident that the people of your province will not be backward in doing what can be done. Especially do I hope that it will be recognized that, while large donations have their peculiar value, no contribution, if it be only 50 cents, or even 25 cents, is too small to be offered. And, in one sense, a sum contributed by, for instance, twenty different persons is of more value than if the same sum were given in one direction because indicating a wider area of sympathy. Your Honor will very likely have considered and consulted with your Ministers as to the steps which should be taken, and, therefore, I need not perhaps offer any suggestion beyond remarking that probably a circular letter might with advantage be sent by you to mayors of cities, to chairmen of county councils, etc., bringing the urgency of the appeal before them and inviting their co-operation. Of course, the effective aid of the churches, which may be confidently looked for, will be of the utmost importance. And it may also be thought advisable that meetings should be convened at all the chief centres, where accurate information could be given as to the causes and extent of the grievous disaster which has overtaken our fellow-subjects in India, and which we cannot forget may have had indirectly the result of, in a sense, ministering to the prosperity of Canada."

IN TORONTO.

The Banks Have Opened Subscription Lists—Bring in Your Money.

The Indian famine fund has been taken up by all the banks and now all that is necessary is for those so inclined to subscribe their names and pay the cash right away, so that it may be used for its good purpose immediately.

The list at the Dominion Bank, outside of the large donations by the big institution, contains these names: G. F. Hagarty $10, T. C. Street Macklem $5, W. H. Brouse $5.

The Bank of Commerce will have the list ready to-day at the head office and all of its branches. The donation of $1500 has been forwarded to the Governor-General.

The Bank of Toronto has its list on the counter, but has not yet announced its own subscription.

The sheets at the Bank of British North America, the Ontario Bank and the Standard Bank are also ready for names.

Molsons Bank clients have affixed their names as follows: A. Bote $5, Robert Myles $5, C. J. Agar $5, A Friend $5, A Friend $3, F. Winthrop $3, Mrs. Carlton $1, D. Cameron 50c, and A Friend 25c. Total $27.75.

The Bank of Montreal's big subscription of $5000 will, no doubt, be largely added to by the bank's clients, and all of those interested in these lists urge the desirability of subscriptions being made at once to relieve the distress of the unfortunates.

Mrs. Liscumbe is well known in Havelock and this is how she spoke to our representative:—

"I have been troubled for some time with severe pains in the side and back. I took many medicines of various kinds, but got no relief.

"The box of Doan's Kidney Pills which I got at W. H. Jeff & Co's. drugstore gave me wonderful relief from the start. The improvement in my general health is not the least of the benefits which I have derived from the use of this remarkable kidney remedy.

"I can recommend them very highly to anyone troubled with any form of kidney disease."

GENERAL CABLE NEWS.

Jones, the Alleged Forger From America, Will Fight the Case.

London, Jan. 29.—Latimer E. Jones, the American who was arrested on his stud farm at Scalby, near Scarborough, yesterday, upon a warrant, charging him with forgery, was arraigned in the Bow-street Police Court this morning, Arthur Gill, counsel for Jones, stated that the prisoner was ready to face the charge against him. Part of the money which he is alleged to have wrongfully obtained, Mr. Gill said, had been repaid, at the time of the alleged forgeries, and the prisoner had since remitted another payment to the prosecutor of the action against him. Jones was remanded and application for his release on bail refused.

French Government Narrowly Escapes.

Paris, Jan. 29.—The Government narrowly escaped defeat in the Chamber of Deputies to-day on an amendment of the Sugar Bounty Bill offered by M. Jaures, a Socialist member, which aimed to make the bill not retro-active. The Government opposed the amendment. When the vote was taken the Government had a majority of only 11, the vote standing 252 to 241. Afterwards the Chamber adopted a clause fixing the bounties at from 3½ to 4½ francs per 100 kilograms, according to quality.

It Has Begun in Chicago in Earnest—One Man Arrested—Will be a Test Case.

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 24—The anti-spit crusade is on with a vengeance, and the first victim of the Board of Health's new regulation is in the pillory. Being quite up to the date in the microbe cult, the Board has ordered that every person expectorating in a public place shall be warned, and upon a second offence shall be placed under arrest and prosecuted, under a section of the city ordinances that places the penalty at $10.

A. Farian, an engineer in the Grant Locomotive Works, has carved for himself a place in local history by getting himself arrested on the charge of spitting on the floor of a car after being warned, and the city is waiting with breathless suspense the result of the prosecution the Board of Health will give the case.

Some personal rights' theorists have been unkind enough to remind the Board of Health that many of Chicago's streets have not been cleaned—well, perhaps since the World's Fair, and that none of her garbage boxes had been emptied since the change in the weather last fall terminated their claims to being a "live" question, but the anti-spittists are so determined that they have evolved all kinds of theories, and have terrorized the town to such an extent that a man is almost afraid to moisten his own postage stamp.—Buffalo Express.

GENTLEMEN,—After giving your Acme Heating Drum a fair trial in China Hall, we have no hesitation in pronouncing it a perfect success. Our store is 20x100 feet with glass front and all of one side of glass facing the north; and the Drum with a small wood stove heats the store more perfectly than it has ever been heated before, even when we had two coal stoves which we formerly used.

Messrs. Micks & Cox:—

GENTLEMEN,—After giving the Acme Heating Drum purchased from you a full trial in severe weather we have no hesitation in pronouncing it a complete success.

Your Drum is an application of the correct principle in proper heating devices, in drawing the cold air from the floor, heating it and circulating it through the building. We heat three rooms by means of a moderate sized wood stove with your Drum attached, and find our offices very much more comfortable than formerly, at the same time using a third less fuel than without the Drum.

For the Kidneys, Liver and Urinary Organs.

THERE is only one way by which any disease can be cured, and that is by removing the cause, whatever it may be. The great medical authorities of the day declare that nearly every disease is caused by deranged Kidneys or Liver. To restore these, therefore, is the only way by which health can be secured. Here is where

The new Secretary of the Treasury was not inclined to talk, but acknowledged that the question of his becoming a member of Major McKinley's Cabinet has been settled satisfactorily.

GAVE AWAY HIS CRUTCHES.

THE STORY OF MR. J. McDONOGH, OF TIVERTON, ONT.

Suffered From Two Severe Attacks of Rheumatism — Doctors Feared the Trouble Was Going to His Heart—Pink Pills Cured Him and he Gave Away his Crutches.

From the Tiverton Watchman.

Anyone seeing the robust health and active form of Mr. Jack McDonogh, who is managing Mr. A. Gilchrist's harness business during his absence in Scotland, would be considerably surprised to learn that only two years ago he was a confirmed invalid and unable to walk without the aid of crutches. But such is the case, and hearing of his remarkable cure from the excruciating agony of inflammatory rheumatism by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, a representative of the Watchman called upon him to learn the particulars. Mr. McDonogh was found working at the harness bench, as well and active as any young man in the country, and in reply to a question about his cure said:—"Yes, mine was quite a remarkable case. Two years ago last spring, while at home in Wingham, I was suddenly taken down with rheumatism, my feet and ankles swelling so that I could not even put on an overshoe. I was in bed for three weeks under the care of the doctor, and had to use crutches for a long time after that. The next spring the rheumatism came back again, worse than ever, attacking all my joints, but principally my ankles, knees, hips, elbows and wrists. The doctor gave me very little encouragement, and said he was afraid of it going to my heart and killing me. I had read a great deal about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and the cures they had wrought and I determined to try them. At first I did not notice much change, but before I had taken half a dozen boxes I was so much improved that I had given away my crutches, and I have never required their use since. I still took the Pink Pills for some time longer, and I have never had a touch of rheumatism since, and hope I never may. I can say that Pink Pills cured me of a bad case of rheumatism and I cheerfully recommend them to others suffering as I did.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills strike at the root of the disease, driving it from the system and restoring the patient to health and strength. In cases of partial paralysis, spinal troubles, locomotor ataxia, sciatica, rheumatism, erysipelas, scrofulous troubles, etc., these pills are superior to all other treatment. They are also a specific for the troubles which make the lives of so many women a burden, and speedily restore the rich glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. Men broken down by overwork, worry or excesses, will find in Pink Pills a certain cure. Sold by all dealers, or sent by mail postpaid at 50c. a box, or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N.Y. Beware of imitations and substitutes alleged to be "just as good."

UNREST STILL PREVAILS THERE

And Mr. Chamberlain Says Settled Peace Will Not be Secured Until the Grievances of the Uitlanders are Redressed—The Princess and Rigo Have Not Separated.

London, Jan. 29.—In the House of Commons to-day the discussion of the question of the appointment of a commission to enquire into the troubles in South Africa was resumed. In the course of the debate Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies, declared that the position in South Africa was still unsettled, and that during the last few months there had been a recurrence and increase in growth of the feeling of unrest, which must be allayed. Matters had been rendered much worse, he said, by the recent legislation on the part of the Boer Parliament, and, moreover, although President Kruger had again and again promised to give favorable consideration to the grievances of the Uitlanders, he had not done so. Mr. Chamberlain declared that peace was insecure and would remain so until the Uitlanders' grievances were redressed. He felt sure that an enquiry by a commission formed for that purpose would further these ends.

Pursuing the discussion, Sir William Harcourt, the leader of the Opposition, reminded the House that the proposed enquiry was not only for the House of Commons, but for the whole world as well. He then spoke in favor of the motion and against the amendment offered yesterday by Mr. M. J. MacLean, which recited that, in view of the peaceful settlement of the South African question and the punishment of the Transvaal raiders, it would be inexpedient to reopen the matter and needless to reappoint the committee. Mr MacLean then withdrew his amendment, and eventually a South African committee was appointed.

In reply to a question by Sir George Baden-Powell, Mr. Chamberlain said that the Government, with the approval of Her Majesty, had invited the Prime Ministers of the several colonies to come to England and take part in the celebration of the completion of the sixtieth year of the Queen's reign. [Cheers.] If the invitations were accepted, Mr. Chamberlain continued, the Premiers would be the guests of Great Britain. [Cheers.] Replies to the invitations, he added, had already been received from the Premiers of Canada and the other North American colonies, the Cape Colony and Natal, all of which were extremely gratifying.

The Hon. George A. Kirkpatrick, Lieut.-Governor of Ontario, who recently underwent an operation in the South-street Hospital, continues to make favorable progress towards recovery, although his physicians are unable as yet to fix upon a date for his leaving that institution.

EARL COWLEY ADMITS.

The Proposed Bringing Forward of Another Co-respondent Weakens Him.

London, Jan. 29.—The trial of the action for divorce brought by Countess Cowley against her husband, Earl Cowley, was continued in the divorce division of the High Court of Justice this morning. Mrs. Charrington, who is named by Countess Cowley as co-respondent, was called to the stand. She denied having been guilty of adultery with Earl Cowley, and at the conclusion of her testimony counsel for Countess Cowley asked leave of the court to amend the petition of the plaintiff by introducing a new co-respondent on Monday. The request was granted and the jury accordingly discharged. When the case is called on Monday no defence will be made, Earl Cowley admitting his misconduct with the second co-respondent.

THE PRINCESS AND RIGO.

Denial by the Infatuated Lady That They Have Separated.

Nice, Jan. 29.—The reports that have been circulated recently that the Princess of Chimay and her Hungarian gypsy lover, Rigo, have quarreled and separated are denied by the Princess herself. Both were in Monte Carlo yesterday and appeared to be on the best of terms. They went away, and it is given out that they have gone to live together in retirement.

CURED OF SCIATICA.

Left Hip Affected—Suspected Kidney Kidney Trouble—Relieved and Perfectly Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Toronto Junction, Jan. 18 (Special)—Mr. H. Playter, is not a difficult man to find as everybody here knows that he is foreman at No. 1 Fire Hall. He was the picture of health when called upon by your correspondent and told his story thus:

"In April 1896 I suffered from a severe attack of Sciatica, affecting my left hip and the leg to the tip of my toes. I suspected it came from some form of kidney trouble and as they had been recommended I procured a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills."

At the end of the fourth day I was entirely relieved, but desiring a permanent cure I continued to use that and another box and am now cured cured and as well as ever in my life. A brother of mine living at Pine Orchard has been cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Crests and Stationery.

The taste for crests is increasing, and not content with blasoning it on one's stationery, it is now the mode to have it exquisitely hand-painted on parchment, framed and hung in a conspicuous place in hall or library. For mourning stationery, dead white linen with a narrow black border is the correct style. The very wide black border, which was supposed to gauge the depth of the writer's grief, is quite out of date. For second mourning, pure white paper, with a very narrow border of pale grey or violet, is sometimes used, with monogram or address die in color to match.

Don't worry. Don't run into debt. Don't trifle with your health. Don't try experiments with medicines. Don't waste time and money on worthless compounds. Don't be persuaded to take a substitute for Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It is the best of blood-purifiers.

It Wasn't Art.

There was some years ago in Hampstead-road a pavement artist, now dead. Du Maurier often dropped a coin into the poor man's hat. One cold day the author of "Trilby" told him to leave his "pitch" and go to the model soup kitchen in Euston-road to get some food. Du Maurier, as a joke, consented to take charge of the hat. When the man was out of sight he proceeded to wipe out the pictures of the battle scenes, faithful dogs, etc., and commenced drawing portraits in chalk of the society ladies and gentlemen made famous by him in Punch. Passers-by stopped to look and remunerated the deputy and when, an hour later, the man returned, he was pleased to find so much in his hat, but regretted that his work had been destroyed. "This may attract some people, but it ain't art," he said to the amused Du Maurier, as he commenced wiping out the society males and females. "Now, this pleases everybody," he continued, drawing the picture of a soldier.

THE TRAIL OF DEATH

It begins at the Throat and ends at the Grave. How many a human life is unnecessarily sacrificed.

There are many remedies on the market for the cure of consumption, but consumption, once it reaches a certain stage, cannot be cured. In professing, therefore, to do what is impossible, these remedies prove themselves to be simply humbugs.

Consumption is a disease which destroys the tissue of the lungs. Once gone, no medicine can replace that tissue. Good medicine may arrest the disease even after one lung is wholly gone, as long as the other remains sound. Once both are attacked, however, the victim is doomed.

Just why people should risk their lives to this dread disease and go to great expense afterwards to check it, it is hard to conceive. It is much easier prevented than cured. Throat troubles and severe colds are its usual forerunners. A 25-cent bottle of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine will drive these away. It is, without doubt, the best medicine for the purpose to be had anywhere.

Sudden Death.

Robt. Caldwell, the well-known drug traveller, died on Thursday in Meaford. The only information elicited in regard to the sad affair is that Mr. Caldwell drove into Meaford on Wednesday night from one of the outlying villages and put up at Paul's hotel. He partook of a hearty supper and some time afterwards complained of suffering a great deal of pain in the stomach. He awoke about 5 o'clock Thursday morning, and went to the room of Dr. Snelgrove, who boarded in the same hotel, and awakened him. Twenty minutes after, when he was dead. The deceased was well known in Peterborough, the town being in his district, and receiving frequent visits from him.

ANOTHER CHARGE OF FRAUD.

Brought at the Instance of Creditors

Mr. T. Brady, a former member of the town council for No. 4 Ward, who has for some years conducted an apparently successful general grocery, flour and feed business in the old post office block, corner of George and Brock streets, was yesterday arrested at Bridgenorth by Chief Rozzel on the following charge preferred by Messrs. Meldrum & McAllister:

"That he, with intent to defraud his creditors, Meldrum & McAllister, did make sale of his property, to wit, a stock of groceries and other merchandise, to one, David Kernaghan, contrary to the statute in that behalf."

It appears that on Wednesday, as announced in last evening's issue, Mr. Brady sold out his stock and business to Mr. David Kernaghan, as his creditors assert, for cash, and at figures much below the value of the stock, hence the arrest.

Mr. Brady was arraigned before Police Magistrate Dumble last night at 8 o'clock, and the case was enlarged, the accused giving bonds for his appearance at the police court on Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

WEST END WEDDING BELLS.

Nuptials of Mr. R. J. Soden and Miss Laura Lane.

An unusually pretty and interesting, though quiet, wedding, was celebrated at the residence of Mr. Philip Lane, Sherbrooke street, this afternoon, when his daughter, Laura Alberta, was united in marriage to Robert James Soden, of Montreal, P. Q. The ceremony was performed in the presence of only the immediate relatives of the contracting parties by Rev. J. J. Rae. The duties of bridesmaid were performed by Miss Emma Lane, sister of the bride, and Mr. J. Goulthorpe, of Montreal, assisted the groom. The happy pair left on the 4.45 C. P. R. express for a bridal tour west, and on their return they will proceed to London, England, where Mr. Soden has an engagement with a commercial house. The bride is a most estimable and highly respected young lady and hosts of friends wish her and her husband a happy and prosperous wedded life.

WILL OF THE LATE RICHARD NAGLE.

It is filed for Probate in Ottawa—Disposition of the Estate.

In the despatches from Ottawa to the Mail and Empire is found the following paragraph, which will be of local interest:

The will of the late Richard Nagle has been filed for probate. Mr. Harry Phelan, of Peterborough, and Mr. Thomas Fortyre, of the same place, are the executors. By the terms of the will $1,000 is given to St. Patrick's asylum, of Ottawa, and the balance of the estate is divided between the daughters of the deceased in following proportions:—One-half to Mrs. H P. Phelan Peterborough, and one-fourth each to Mrs. T. B. Brophy and Mrs. H. J. Friel. The value of the estate is placed at $74,252, of which $52,550 is real estate, $15,000 is timber limits and $6,342 28 is cash in bank.

THE SPIRIT OF CARNIVAL.

IT HELD SWAY AT THE RINK LAST NIGHT.

The Fancy Dress Evening—Those Who Skated and the Costumes They Wore—Pretty Effects Made Prettier in the Glow of the Electric Lamps.

Many and varied were the characters represented at the Canadian Foresters' fancy dress carnival in the rink last evening.

In one corner might have been seen the religiously inclined Quakeress flirting outrageously with a private of the 57th, while the quiet Japanese lady tore around on the arm of dark town dude. Tramps, convicts and vagabonds of all descriptions dashed about under the very noses of various knights and earls and other "minions of the law," who were so busily engaged "making eyes" at all ranks of the gentler sex from a queen to a nurse girl that they had not time to attend to their duty.

In fact if there is anything out or the ordinary it might easily have been found last evening at the rink.

Taken on the whole the Forester's carnival was a decided success. Fully 500 skaters took part, while there were almost a thousand spectators. One of the features was the "Coxey's Band," a number of young fellows dressed as tramps carrying instruments who several times during the evening endeavoured to get up and opposition to the music rendered by the Fire Brigade band.

Court Peterborough is to be congratulated on the success which attended its undertaking.

Amongst those in costume were the following:

Majority for "All Comers," 1 shot.

The "All Comers" are therefore each entitled to a broom.

The silver medal for the fancy skating championship of the town and county was won be Mr. Herb. McMaster, of Deseronto. The other competitors were Messrs. Osias de LePlante and A. Talbot. The prize in this case was awarded on the ground of gracefulness of movement and because the winner followed the figures called by the judge, Mrs. J. A. Aylmer. The winner in this event was a pupil of Mr. Edg. Hartley, champion fancy skater of Canada, who is giving lessons in fancy figure skating at the rink.

The rink was never so elaborately decorated before and the artistic manner in which the bunting and flags were arranged earned many compliments for J. J. Turner & Sons., who had charge of the work.

CHANGED HANDS!

I have bought out the Grocery and Provision Business carried on for the past six years by Mr. Thos. Brady, on the corner of Brock and George Streets, I therefore beg leave to solicit a continuance of the patronage of all the old customers of this store, as well as of my friends and the general public.

It is my intention to conduct the business in a safe and satisfactory manner—by keeping full stocks of all lines of the Choicest Groceries, Flour, Feed and Provisions—by giving constant attention to the business—and by selling for cash at the closest prices for the best goods that can be bought. An early call is invited.

Prophecies that "The politico-religious differences which at present disquiet many consciences will have an end, like all other things in this world."....This reminds us that we have come to the end of our stock-taking; but the disquiet occasioned thereby will have to be tolerated a while longer, until we have made a thorough clearance, or "cut the heads off" a lot of ODD LINES which have come to the surface We can't allow them to disturb the harmony of our well arranged stock, and, therefore, hand them over to you, PROFITLESS—without compunction or coercion. We prophecy the end of these Odd Lines in a very short time:—

Odd Lines of Fine Stationery,
Odd Lines of Well-Bound Books,
Odd Lines of Evening Games,
Odd Lines of Children's Sleighs,
Odd Lines of Window Blinds,
Odd Lines of Cornice Trimmings,
Odd Lines of Wall Papers,
Odd Lines of Fancy Goods.

There's a lot of good fortune and good luck awaiting those who will use a little alacrity in getting here early to make selections. The oftener you come until the end comes, the more interested will you become in these Odd-Line-Offerings. You can bank on that!

Daily Examiner.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 30, 1897.

LOCAL NEWS.

W. C. T. U.

The W. C. T. U. will meet at Mrs. George Paton's, 292 Brock street, on Monday, Feb. 1st, at 3 o'clock sharp. All are welcome.

Is Your Piano in Tune?

The change of season affects pianos as well as anything else. Mr. Geo. Gumpricht, practical piano maker and tuner, with 28 years experience, attends to all orders left at Mr. H. S. Macdonald's drug store.

Natural Science Association.

The regular meeting of the Natural Science Association, to have been held on Tuesday evening next, is postponed owing to the illness of a gentlemen who was to have taken an important part in the programme of the evening. The date of meeting will be announced later.

Prof. Dorenwend

Will be in Peterborough at the Huffman House on Monday, February 8th, with a complete line of 1897 styles in art Hair Goods, consisting of Ladies' Wigs, Bangs, Frontpieces, Switches, etc. As the Prof. always has his hands full when here, intending callers should call early as he cannot stay over the time stated. 2w16

Tobacco Business Changed Hands.

Having purchased the tobacco business formerly carried on by Ed. B. Clegg, No. 215 George street, I have re-stocked the store with a full and well-selected assortment of choice cigars, tobaccoes, pipes and smoker's sundries, and solicit a share of public patronage. Prices low enough to suit all.—W. B. RICKEY. d

The McAll Association.

The first auxiliary meeting of the McAll Association will be held in the Y. M. C. A. Hall on Monday afternoon next, commencing at half past three o'clock. All Christians are urgently invited to be present at this meeting, as another will not be held until April, and as this society is undenominational we hope to see each church well represented. Mrs. Garvin, president, will conduct the meeting.—Mr. M. L. DENNISTOUN, Sec.-Treas.

To the North Pole.

Lieut. Perry, the explorer, wants some one with about $180,000 to help him find the missing north pole. Now, if any one has an interest to that extent in this discovery now is the chance. But when the expedition is being fitted out we cannot suppose that any person would venture so far without a supply of nice fresh groceries from E. BROWN & Co's., 294 George street. P. S.—Best Snow, Greening and Northern Spy Apples on hand.

Figure Skating Contest.

Rumour has it that Mr. Talbot of town would like to arrange a championship figure skating match with Mr. E. J. Hartley for a trophy and the championship of the county. Mr. Hartley on being asked if he would skate, stated that Mr. Talbot could meet him at any time and on rink in the town. If the rumour be true, Mr. Talbot will kindly let the sporting Editor of the EXAMINER know his intentions, which will facilitate the arranging of a contest.

An Invitation to All.

You are cordially invited to call at our store on Monday and Tuesday, the 1st and 2nd of February, between the hours of 10 a.m. and 5 p.m., to examine and try a cup of the "Winsor Cereal Coffee," prepared by the McMullen-Winsor Coffee Co., of Chicago, Ills. A representative of the company will be present to show how to make it and to give desired explanations. This is a very healthful and pleasant beverage, with a perfect coffee flavour and taste, and can be freely used by persons unable to drink pure coffee.—Very respectfully, E. F. MASON & Co. 3d29

Norwood Cheese Factory.

Mr. Edwin Squire has purchased the Norwood cheese factory and equipment from Mr. Hugh Spence. The deal was completed this week, and the new proprietor, who is an experienced cheese-maker and an enterprising young man, is now perfecting arrangements for next season's business. As evidence of his enterprise we may add that a new vat has been ordered, a new verandah will be erected and the factory re-floored at once. Mr. Squire has engaged Mr. Oakley (whose reputation as a cheese-maker is well known) for the coming season. We wish the new proprietor success.—Com.

The Theatre Hat.

After several flashes in the pan, Chicago has delivered a volley point blank at the big theatre hat. The city council has passed and the mayor has signed a curious bylaw. Women may wear hats in the theatre if they will. Their rights are not invaded. But when a woman does go to a theatrical performance in a hat she must remove it on complaint of any one in the rear seats. A failure to comply with the request is regarded as a refusal to abate a nuisance, and the bylaw ordains a fine on the offender. On the surface this looks like a pretty sensible bylaw. It does not forbid high hats nor any kind of hat, but it invites contingencies which make the wearing of a hat risky. And come to think of it, why should a woman wear a hat in a theatre?

SPORTING PASTIMES.

Rink Talk and Items of Local and General Interest to Sportsmen.

HOCKEY.

There will be a meeting of the executive of the Hockey club at the rink parlours to-night.

The Frontenac II, Kingston, the winners in the junior series, Eastern district, telegraphed this morning asking a game on Wednesday night. This proposition will will be considered at to-night's meeting.

The Bank of Toronto seven, of Toronto, wired this morning that they could not give Peterborough a match next week at all.

Mr. Ashe, of Norwood, will referee the match in the rink on Monday night, between Frontenac I, Kingston, and Peterborough Intermediates.

The Collegiate Institute and Business College teams met yesterday for a friendly game in the Ashburnham rink. The two sevens lined up as follows:

Business College		Collegiate Institute
P Laing	goal	Lou Best
Melrose	point	S Hall
J Comstock	cover point	J Dixon
H Labbe	forwards	F McGrath
Spencer		R Collins
Snowden		O Dumble
W Ackerman		M Boswell

Referee—Alf Terrill.

Although the boys haven't had much practice the game was rushed for all it was worth from start to finish. The Business College had the heavier team, and in Labbe, Comstock and Ackerman had three experienced players. The Collegiate team was very light and made up for their deficiency in weight by their quickness and the combination which they played.

The game resulted in favour of the Business College by six goals to three.

The Collegiate Institute claims that the two Burnhams are their best men, and as they were absent think that with their assistance they could down the College. Another match will be awaited with interest.

The Institute boys have, it seems, made arrangements to practice regularly on the Ashburnham rink, and they should develop a fine team, as the rink is fully twice the size of the town rink, is boarded along the sides, and has perfect ice.

Without doubt a tremendous crowd will greet the Frontenacs of Kingston at the rink on Monday night, as they have on several occasions almost beaten the Peterboroughs, and on this occasion come to town exceptionally strong.

In speaking of a recent game between the Prairie City and Chicago hockey clubs a despatch to the Montreal Star says:—"The Chicago Hockey Club are composed of all Canadian men, two well-known hockey players, and played a grand game for the club. Great credit is due to Capt. Wonham, as it was he who started hockey in this city, and the clubs are about to form a league. All through the match, which was won by the Chicagos, Wonham figured in every combination and scored most of the goals.

Yesterday's Mail and Empire in speaking of a hockey match, in which St. Michael's College played, mentions the work of Pat Kelly, of Peterborough, on the forward line as being a revelation to the spectators.

The Toronto Globe is the authority for saying that the Bank of Toronto team from the Queen City will play in Peterborough on Monday evening next, but there is a mistake somewhere as the Senior Frontenacs play here on that date. The Globe also says: "If Peterborough does not win at least one championship there will be a sadly disappointed crowd of sports down in that section of the country."

PERSONAL.

Rev. T. S. Cole, Travelling Secretary, Y. M. C. A., is in town to-day.

Mr. William Potter, of the firm of Mulligan & Potter, returned from Toronto yesterday.

Mrs. Robt. Hamilton, of Ashburnham, has returned home after a visit with friends in Norwood.

Rev. W. R. Young goes to Pontypool to-morrow, where he will conduct Quarterly meeting services.

Mrs. H. P. Kennedy will be at home at her residence, corner of Park and Gilmour street, (280 Park street) on Wednesday and Thursday afternoon.

Mr. Eig. Hartley has received an officer to teach fancy figure skating in Buffalo, N.Y., but the offer comes too late in the season to make consideration of the offer profitable.

Mr. H. LeBrun left for Montreal last night to join his wife, who has been on a visit to relatives in that city. Mr. and Mrs. LeBrun will return home the latter part of the incoming week.

THE LATE WM. APPLEYARD.

Death of Mr. Wm. Appleyard, one of Peterborough's Oldest Residents.

A correspondent in Buffalo writes that Mr. W. Appleyard, an old and respected resident of Peterborough, and a veteran of 1837-38, passed away on the evening of the 27th inst., at the residence of his son, Mr. James Appleyard, with whom the old gentleman has lived for the past year. Deceased was 76 years old and was born in England. When a young man he came to Canada and for the last fifty years at least has been a resident of Peterborough. He leaves two sons and one daughter to mourn his loss. The kindest sympathy is extended to the bereaved ones.

THE DEATH OF CATHARINE SWEENEY.

The Funeral Took Place Thursday—Brief Sketch of Her Life.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Catharine Sweeney took place Thursday. The remains were brought from Victoria Road by the G. T. R., reaching here by the noon train, and were met by a large concourse of friends, among whom were several priests of the diocese. The funeral cortege proceeded to St. Peter's Cathedral, where the Libera was sung by a full choir, and the Absolution was given by his Lordship Bishop O'Connor. Ven. Archdeacon Casey officiated at the grave.

Mrs. Sweeney leaves two sons, Rev. James Sweeney, of Victoria Road, and Dr. Sweeney, of Merrill, Mich., and two daughters, Mary Anne and Catherine, to mourn her loss. They were all at her bedside when, fully conscious, she breathed her last and gave her pure soul back to her Maker.

Mrs. Catharine Sweeney was born some eighty years ago in the County of Tyrone, Ireland. Her husband died ten years ago. This was a great affliction to her. She saw friend after friend drop away and she was separated from all she held dear by the broad ocean. Great as was her love for her native place, her chief desire was that her children might be able to gather around her death bed and close her eyes. She therefore willingly accepted the invitation of her son, Rev. Father Sweeney, and came to this country about eight years ago. She was most highly esteemed by all who knew her. Her fervent spirit of prayer, her unremitting kindness to all, her quiet charity and her unfeigned piety were sources of great edification to all who had the happiness of making her acquaintance. She came to Canada to spend the remnant of the days with her son, Rev. James Sweeney, who sought in every way to comfort her declining years, and brighten her pathway to the grave. May her soul rest in peace.

OBITUARY.

Death of Thomas Jones, of Asphodel.

One by one the old residents are passing to the great beyond. On Thursday morning last, after an illness of only a few days, Mr. Thomas Jones died at his home, lot 19, in the 6th concession of Asphodel, in his sixtieth year. He was born in Ashburnham, and quite early in life settled on a farm in the 8th concession of Dummer, where he resided until five years ago when he removed to Asphodel. He leaves a wife and eight children, four boys and four girls. Mrs. Jones is a daughter of Mr. Christopher Andrews, of Dummer. The daughters are: Mrs. Louis Cross and Mrs. Robert Hannon, of Dummer, and Eliza Jane and Maggie. The last two named and the four sons—Thos., Richard, Joseph and George Edward—all reside at home. Mr. Jones was a quiet, industrious man, devoted to his family and respected by the people of the community. He was a member of the Methodist church for many years and was a Conservative in politics. The funeral took place on Saturday at 10 a.m. to the Norwood cemetery. Rev. J. C. Anderson, pastor of the South Dummer Methodist church, officiated.

ONE VIEW OF THE MATTER.

The Relation of Immigration to the Alien Labor Law of the United States.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR.—I venture the opinion that both the great political parties in this country are extremely illogical on the immigration policy of Canada. For instance, the theory held by both parties is that they should use all the means in their power to populate this country. This we think is all right so far: but the inconsistency comes in when we howl frantically for retaliation against the United States "Alien Labour Law," which, when fairly understood, helps to populate this this country, which is the very thing we all advocate. Now, it is well known that many of our Canadian people try to leave us and go south, but just as soon as Uncle Sam claps an eye on them, he fires them back to us again. Well, isn't that what we want? Don't we want more population, and where could we find better citizens than our own people? Now, Uncle Sam not only sends our stray Canadians back again to the home of their childhood, but he does more—he sends us many of his own enterprising citizens to help to populate this country, and is it not very much better to have such settlers here than to have the imported pauperism of Europe and China? Uncle Sam is simply acting as an immigration agent for us without his services costing us one cent.

THE UNDERSIGNED OFFER FOR SALE a valuable and highly cultivated farm, in the Township of Asphodel, containing about 225 acres. There are on the premises a Brick Dwelling, 20x40 feet, kitchen 18x24 feet, wood house 1½ storey, and summer kitchen, drive house and work shop 24x60 feet, barn 100x36 feet, shed and cow stables 40x50 feet, horse stable 24x36 feet, hospen 24x36 feet.

There are about 170 acres under cultivation, and 1 acre of orchard; the balance wooded. 10 acres have been sown with fall wheat and the fall ploughing has been done.

The farm is convenient to the school; there are three cheese factories in the immediate vicinity, and it is situated along the line of the C.P.R., about 3 miles from Norwood.

For terms and further particulars apply on the premises to J. MURPHY, Norwood, P.O., or to

TURNING GRAY
AND THREATENED
WITH BALDNESS

The Danger is Averted by Using

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

"Nearly forty years ago, after some weeks of sickness, my hair turned gray and began falling out so rapidly that I was threatened with immediate baldness. Hearing Ayer's Hair Vigor highly spoken of, I commenced using this preparation, and was so well satisfied with the result that I have never tried any other kind of dressing. It stopped the hair from falling out, stimulated a new growth of hair, and kept the scalp free from dandruff. Only an occasional application is now needed to keep my hair of good, natural color. I never hesitate to recommend any of Ayer's medicines to my friends."—Mrs. H. M. HAIGHT, Avoca, Neb.

COOK GETS THE LUMBER VOTE.

Mr. Marcil of Montreal So Told the East Simcoe Electors at Wyebridge Last Night.

Wyebridge, Ont., Jan. 28.—The largest meeting held for years in Waubaushene was held last evening in the Public school house, which was crowded to the doors. Many ladies were present. The meeting had been called in the interests of the Liberal candidate, H. H. Cook. The chief speaker was Charles Marcil of Montreal, Liberal candidate in Gaspe against Premier Flynn, who spoke for over two hours in French and English, defending the policy of the administration. The meeting was a grand success and was closed by H. H. Cook, the Liberal candidate. Mr. Marcil announced, amid tremendous applause, that he was authorized by W. J. Sheppard, President of the Georgian Bay Lumber Company, to announce that the company was supporting the Liberal nominee, with the intention of giving the Laurier administration fair play. This means that three hundred votes cast for the Conservative candidate last June will now be given to Cook, and insure his election by a large majority. The announcement has caused a sensation in the district. Mr. Marcil has gone to Lafontaine and Penetanguishene to address the French voters.

CAN I BE SAVED

This is the Cry of Despair That Comes From Many a Heavy Heart.

Cheer Up, Sad Soul!

Paine's Celery Compound Will Take Away Thy Burden.

It Will Renew Thy Life.

Glad Testimony From a Saved Man.

Yes, weary, sad sufferer, you are assured of a new life and the buoyant health of youth if you follow the example of thousands who have used Paine's Celery Compound.

From this time cease thy cries of fear and despair, and make use of that marvellous medicine that under Providence has blessed and cheered the souls of so many afflicted people in Canada.

Paine's Celery Compound surely and quickly takes off the load of disease that presses so heavily on the broken down body, and gives to the victim a fresh and joyous existence. Will you have faith sufficient to make a trial of that marvellous curer that has so many bright victories to its credit?

Mr. J. H. Brown, of Port Perry, Ont., did not hesitate to use Paine's Celery Compound in his extreme hour of peril. He met with complete success, and success will be yours if you follow his example. Mr. Brown says:

"It affords me unbounded pleasure to bear testimony to the marvellous cure effected by the use of your Paine's Celery Compound. I was troubled with kidney complaint, or, as the doctor called it, an enlargement of the neck of the bladder. Be that as it may, I suffered the most intense pain therefrom. I applied to my physician for relief, but with little encouragement; he thought the only way for me to obtain was to submit to an operation. I went home very much discouraged, and was prevailed on by my wife to try your Paine's Celery Compound. I did, with but very little faith in it, purchase one bottle, but the results were indeed marvellous, as I received immediate relief after taking it. The pain is all gone, and my skin, instead of being dry and harsh, as it used to be, is soft as velvet; in fact, I feel like a new man, and never felt better in my life than I do at present. Wishing you unbounded success, I hope this may meet the eye of some one similarly afflicted who is anxious for relief."

GOOD LUCK 'GOVERNMENT.

A Frenchman Donates 50 Francs to Canada's Poor and the Amount is Added to Country's Assets.

Ottawa, Jan. 28.—(Special.)—For the past three years Mr. J. M. Rousseau of Paris, France, has made a contribution of 50 francs a year to the poor of Canada. The first year the Finance Department did not know what to do with it. Reams of paper were used in correspondence, and finally, by order-in-council, Rousseau's contributions reached the Indian Department to better the lot of Poor Lo. The next year Rousseau was again heard from, and after further correspondence the $9.65 (50 francs) was sent to the French Consul at Montreal for his disposal. Then for the third time the generous donor was heard from, and on this occasion the happy thought struck an official that as the people of Canada were debtors to a very large amount the 50 francs might as well be added to the assets of Canada, leaving the net debt on June 30 last at $258,497,432.

The Best Way To Cure

Disease is to establish health. Pure, rich blood means good health. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the One True Blood Purifier. It tones up the whole system, gives appetite and strength and causes weakness, nervousness and pain to disappear. No other medicine has such a record of wonderful cures as Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's Pills are the best after-dinner pill; assist digestion, prevent constipation. 25c.

A Story of Herrmann's Pity.

"A professional man who had struck a streak of hard luck went to Herrmann for a loan. He wanted $2500, and was willing to secure it with a life insurance policy for $15,000. Herrmann let him have the money and took the policy, as it was purely a business proposition, and not a matter of friendship. The borrower's fortunes fluctuated from bad to worse, and about a year after the loan was made he died, leaving his affairs in a very tangled condition.

"The death notice of the man recalled the circumstances of the loan to Herrmann, and he hunted up the policy, which he had forgotten entirely. He was on the point of placing it in the hands of an attorney for collection—in fact, I believe he had given it to his lawyer—when he heard that the dead man's wife was absolutely penniless and helpless, with several children on her hands. He instructed the attorney to discontinue proceedings, and the policy was transferred to the widow with the explanation that the debt had been cancelled before her husband's death, and that the policy having been misplaced accounted for the delay in its return.—New York Journal.

The Dangers of India.

India is a dangerous country to live in, as the following figures showing the death from wild beasts and snakes during one recent year will testify. In one twelvemonth snakes killed no less than 19,740 persons. Tigers killed 1063 persons and 27,517 head of cattle; bears 126 persons and 4087 cattle; wolves, 177 persons and 4087 cattle; hyenas, 17 persons and 2748 cattle; elephants, 56 persons and 4 cattle; while other wild beasts, such as jackalls, buffaloes, boars, crocodiles, etc., were responsible for the deaths of 969 persons and 2165 cattle.

The Life of Dr. Chase.

As a compiler of Dr. Chase's Recipe Book, his name is familiar to every household in the land, while as a physician his works on simple formulas left an imprint of his name that will be handed down from generation to generation. His last great medicine, in the form of his Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, is having the large public patronage that his Ointment, Pills and Catarrh Cure are having. Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is especially adapted for all Bronchial and Asthmatic troubles.

SMASH AT NIAGARA FALLS.

Broken Train Was the Cause—A Grand Trunk Switchman Killed in the G.T.R. Yards.

Niagara Falls, Ont. Jan. 28.—(Special.)—A small wreck occurred on the main line of the Michigan Central at Morrison-street crossing here just about daybreak this morning. A freight eastbound broke into three pieces some distance up the grade, which runs down towards the cantilever bridge. The front end stopped at the bridge and the rear end was being brought down by another engine, when it crashed into the centre portion, which was not known to have broken loose. Two cars of packed pork were smashed and hams and bacon were scattered over the track. The goods, which were in bond, were taken to the customs office, transferred to another car and re-sealed. Traffic on the road was not delayed.

James Mussels, a switchman, was killed in the G. T. R. yards here tonight shortly after going on duty. He was coupling cars in the west end of the yards, when the bumpers on two G. T. R. cars slipped and allowed the ends of the cars to come together, crushing Mussels between them. Death was instantaneous. Deceased was a man of about 40 years and leaves a family of six children, one of whom is married. The widow is at present dangerously ill and much sympathy is expressed for her and the family. This has been the first fatality in the G. T. R. yards here for some years.

At this moment thousands of men are standing at the cross-roads of life. Death in the guise of a foolish ambition coaxes them to take one road, while health and happiness in the form of wife and babies coax them to take the other. For the sake of a few added dollars will they continue to over-work and neglect the commonest precautions for the preservation of health, or will they listen to love and reason and draw back before it is too late? A man may do almost any amount of good, hard work if he will take care of his health and when he feels out of sorts will take the right remedy.

The great blood-maker, flesh-builder and nerve tonic is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is the hard-workers' medicine. It corrects all disorders of the digestion, invigorates the liver, purifies the blood and tones and steadies the nerves. It makes the appetite hearty and brings refreshing sleep. Thousands of hard-workers owe their lives to it and have said so over their signatures. Druggists all sell it and all substitutes are frauds.

"I was taken with erysipelas in my hands and went to the doctor," writes Mrs. Lena Baumgartner, of Joy, Charlevoix Co., Mich. "He said he could not cure me. He gave me medicine to ease me but the disease spread all over my body. I took two bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and two of the 'Favorite Prescription' and am entirely cured. I have a boy three weeks old. I was helpless two or three months before confinement, but after taking the 'Favorite Prescription' I was able to do my washing three days before I was confined."

There is scarcely a known form of ill-health that constipation will not cause or aggravate. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are an unfailing cure for constipation. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative.

CANADA'S RAILWAYS.

THEIR GROWTH CLEARLY DEMONSTRATED BY FIGURES.

The Number of Miles of Railway in the Dominion in Operation—Statistics as to Every Branch of the Railway Carrying Trade.

The Dominion of Canada is fairly well supplied with railways. The Canadian statistical year book shows that on the 30th June, 1895, there were 15,971 miles of railway in operation in the Dominion, and 16,091 miles of track laid.

The railway mileage of track laid and square miles of area to each mile of railway, according to provinces, are shown as follows:

Ontario has 6,403 miles of track; Quebec, 3,139 miles; New Brunswick, 1,404; Nova Scotia, 891; Prince Edward Island, 210; Manitoba, 1,472; North-West Territories, 1,772; and British Columbia, 890.

There is one mile of track laid to every 24 square miles in Ontario, to every 72 square miles in Quebec, to every 20 square miles in New Brunswick, to 23 in Nova Scotia, to 9 1-2 in Prince Edward Island, to 44 in Manitoba, to 225 in the North-Wesht Territory, and to 478 in British Columbia.

In addition to the above there are 28 miles of railway owned by five coal and iron companies, all in Nova Scotia. This mileage is all of the 4 feet 8 inch gauge, with the exception of three miles with a 3-foot gauge.

The southern portions of the Provinces of Quebec and Ontario are covered with a network of lines. Several railway centres have been established. Six lines centre at Quebec City, seven at Montreal, seven at Toronto, and six at Ottawa. No less than nine railways centre at Winnipeg.

Of the older provinces, New Brunswick is better supplied with railways in proportion to area than any of the others.

According to population Ontario has 42.7 per cent. of the people of Canada and 39.8 per cent. of the railway mileage. Quebec has 30.8 per cent. of population and 19.5 per cent. of the railway mileage. British Columbia has 2 per cent. of population and 9.1 per cent. of railway mileage. The North-West Territories have only 1.4 per cnt. of population and 11 per cent. of railway mileage.

In the year 1850 there were only 66 miles of railway in operation in all Canada. These had increased to 2,065 in 1860, and to 2,278 miles when the provinces were united. During the next ten years there was an increase of 3,304 miles. In 1888 there were 12,124 miles in operation, and in 1895, as stated above, 15,977 miles. Thus since confederation there has been the enormous increase of 13,699 miles of railway in operation. In 1868 the paid-up capital invested in railways amounted to $160,471,190 and in 1895 to $894,640,559.

Altogether Canada has had to date 136 railways. Twenty-five of these have amalgamated and form the Grand Trunk railway system. The consolidation of 22 others have produced the Canadian Pacific railway system. The remaining 89 have more or less consolidated, so that in all there are 76 separate organizations. Two of these are bridge companies with 3 3-4 miles of rails; one is a tunnel with 2 1-4 miles of rails. Two are electric railways, one nearly 14 miles long, the Niagara Falls Park and River Electric Railway, and one 22 miles in length, the Montreal Park and Island Railway, leaving 69 railways, besides the Canadian Pacific, the Grand Trunk and the Intercolonial.

The mileage (miles laid) of the several railway companies is as follows: Canadian Pacific, 6,174 miles; Grand Trunk, 3,161; Intercolonial, 1,382; other railways, 5,332. Electric railways, 35; bridges and tunnels, 6.

As a rule the railways of Canada are built with a gauge of 4 feet 8 1-2 inches. The exceptions are the Carillon and Grenville, with a gauge of 5 feet 6 inches; the Prince Edward railway with a gauge of 3 feet 6 inches, and the Montford Colonization and the Alberta Coal railways, each with a gauge of 3 feet.

The railways of Canada have been greatly assisted by State and municipal aid. The Dominion Government has contributed at the rate of $9 369 per mile constructed, the Provincial Governments at the rate on an average of $1,847 per mile, and the municipalities at the rate of $881 per mile on the total mileage. As, however, the provincial contributions were limited to roads within the province, the individual provincial contributions per mile were much larger. On the whole the Dominion Government has contributed $150,000,000; the Ontario Government, $6,700,000; Quebec, $14,400,000; New Brunswick, $4,400,000; Nova Scotia, $1,400,000; Manitoba, $2,600,000; British Columbia, $37,500. Municipalities have contributed the large sum of $14,000,000. Taking into consideration the various sources from which the whole railway capital has been drawn, it appears that the ordinary share capital is 28 per cent. of the whole; the bonded debt, 36 per cent.; Dominion Government aid, nearly 17 per cent., and Provincial Government aid, 12 per cent. Very nearly 32 per cent of the total capital has been contributed by Federal, Provincial and municipal aid.

The earnings 20 years ago of Canadian railways were $19,470,539. Last year the earnings were $46,785,487. The working expenses in 1875 were $15,775,532; in 1895 they were $32,749,869.

The expenses were 81 per cent. of the receipts in 1875. In 1895 they were 75 per cent., and in 1895 70 per cent.

The average cost per completed mile of roadbed in Canada up to the present time is $55,599. In Great Britain the cost per mile has been $269,851; in the United States, $61,409; in India, $43,785, and in Western Australia, $21,720. The proportion of net revenue to capital cost is very small, almost the smallest in the world.

In the last 20 years there have been killed in railway accidents on Canadian railways no less than 3,415 people and 11,463 have been injured. Taking the year 1895 as an average year there were nine passengers killed and 60 injured; 51 employes killed and 488 injured; 127 others killed and 110 injured. Seven of these passengers were killed while getting on or off trains in motion. Six employes were killed by being on the track, and 17 by falling off trains. Of the other fatalities 85 out of 127 were killed by being on the track.

The average of passengers killed during the past 20 years is only one in every one million carried. The average in United States in 1893 was only one to every 1,985,152 carried. As a matter of fact a higher percentage of passengers have been killed and injured on Canadian railroads than in any country in the world during the past twenty years.

FOR THE ANGLERS.

Canada Made the Advance and Uncle Sam is Expected to Observe Reciprocity.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 28.—In refrring to its efforts to establish a state reservoir upon and along the St. Lawrence River, the State Game and Fish Commission says in its annual report: "The Canadian Government, under a mutual understanding that this State would reciprocate, has already set aside 25 of its islands for unrestricted use of boating and picnic parties of both countries. It is quite generally understood by our Canadian friends that our people will provide for similar use several islands or pieces of land along the shore of the St. Lawrence River, and it is also understood by the people of that locality that if our State does not provide such public places then the right to use the Canadian islands by our people will be withdrawn. Should the Canadian Government take this action the natural result will be that many fishermen and summer visitors to that resort will go across the national line and stop at Canadian hotels and be obliged to employ foreign oarsmen. This would mean that the hotel business of the great resort would be seriously injured and our oarsmen driven to Canada. Our people, not from this State only, but from many other States, that are now spending their money in our midst would spend it in a foreign country.

"Uniform fish laws for this locality have already been enacted by Canada and the State of New York, in pursuance of the mutual understanding that a park would be provided for public use.

"In view of all the circumstances, it is our opinion that places for public use should be provided by the State. This can only be done by an appropriation being made to purchase islands and places along the shores.

"The State should appropriate a sum sufficient to acquire several islands or points that will provide places for the free use of the people who visit this great health resort."

The total shortage on all the accounts of the late Secretary Doyle of the commission was $19,225, and the total amount collected by the commission in the final settlement of these shortages was $14,245.

Health and strength carry us through dangers and make us safe in the presence of peril. A perfectly strong man with rich, pure blood has nothing to fear from germs. He may breathe in the bacilli of consumption with impunity. If there is a weak spot where the germs may find an entrance to the tissues, then the trouble begins. Disease germs propagate with lightning-like rapidity. Once in the blood the only way to get rid of them is to kill them. This is what Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is for. It purifies the blood. That means that it kills the germs, but that is only part of what it does. It assists digestion by stimulating the secretion of digestive fluids, so promoting assimilation and nutrition; purifies and enriches the blood and so supplies the tissues with the food they need. It builds up strong, health flesh and puts the whole body into a disease-resisting state.

A GRINDING MONOPOLY.

Corn and Cotton Were Down, but Stamps Were the Same Price.

He had a wilderness of red beard, and his sharp eyes showed great determination as he looked in at the post-office window and asked:

"What's 2 cent postage stamps wuth?"

"They are worth 2 cents," replied the postmaster.

"Oh, you can beat that shorely. Can't you gimme one stamp an a postal kyard fer 2 cents?"

"No."

"You say stamps hain't gone down a bit?"

"Not a bit."

"An cotton an corn an everything plum down to nuthin."

"We can't help that."

"W'y, I paid 2 cents fer stamps when cotton wus 9 cents an wheat $1."

"That's all true."

"An you ain't goin to cut down a bit on 'em?"

"Not a bit."

"This is jest simply a plum outrage. I'll go clean to Possum Trot an quit paternizin your blamed office. I know I kin git stamps right frum them. They'll gimme a good, fresh, whole stock stamp an a chaw of good 'backer fer 2 cents. I don't purpose to be robbed in broad open daylight if I know myself. You've had a grindin monoperly here jest about as long as the people is goin to stand it anyhow. You hev jest ground 'em an ground 'em with extortionate prices until the fust thing you know some 'commodatin feller will start up another postoffice in this town an bu'st you higher'n a kite. FLOWER NAMES.

The lagerstrœmia is named in honor of Magnus Lagerstrom of Gothenburg.

The candytuft owes its name to the sweetness of the blossoms and their peculiar habit of growing in clusters.

The four o'clock takes its popular name from its time of opening. On unclouded days this flower opens with tolerable regularity at about 4 in the afternoon.

Tropœolum, a variety of nasturtium, has its name from a Greek word signifying "a trophy"—the leaves resembling a buckler and the flowers an empty helmet.

The violet has retained its name almost unchanged from the Latin. Under the name viola it is found in Virgil and other writers on rural and sentimental subjects.

The alyssum derives its name from two Greek words signifying "to allay anger." The flower was popularly supposed in ancient times to possess the power of calming angry passions.

The lady's slipper has its popular name from a fanciful resemblance in form to a slipper. Its botanical name, cypripedium, comes from two Greek words meaning Venus' slipper.

The morning glory has its name from two Saxon words signifying the glory or brightness of the morning, an allusion to the fact that this flower blooms during the early morning hours.

"Five years ago," says Anga A. Lewis, Ricard, N. Y., "I had a constant cough, night sweats, was greatly reduced in flesh, and had been given up by my physicians. I began to take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and after using two bottles was completly cured."

The Ethics of Citizenship (by Prof. MacCunn.

(II.) THE EQUALITY OF MEN.

A writer in the National Home Reading Union Magazine tells us that "Four men, of varied type, at different times, found this book, "The Ethics of Citizenship," either on my table or in my hands. The result was the same in each case. After looking into the book, reading a chapter or two, or testing it here and there, these four men in turn, have each, in effect said: "I must have this! Where can I get it?" We should feel well rewarded for the labour of writing these articles, if a few of our readers should ask the same question.

The word "Ethics" is a technical philosophical term, which requires definition. We shall give two or three definitions, which will, we trust convince everyone that it is a beautiful word and stands for a subject worthy of our attention (1) "Ethics is the science of right conduct and character. (2) Ethics taken in its proper signification, includes two things. On the one hand, it consists of an investigation into the nature and constitution of human character, and on the other hand, it is concerned with the formulating and enunciating of rules for human conduct." (3) "Ethics may either be regarded as an enquiry intonature of the good,—the true end of action; or as an investigation of the right, the true rules of conduct, duty, the moral law, etc." And last and as we think best of all, though it requires a little reflection and some exercise of the imagination. (4) Ethics is the science of ideal humanity."

It will be clear from the above definitions that we may have many divisions of the subject matter of Ethics. There might be the Ethics of the family, the Ethics of the individual, the Ethics of the church, the Ethics of the market-place. Wherever men are associated together for the promotion of any good end there must be a right and a wrong way of working, and the Ethics of that association of the largest and most important associations of men, is the association of citizenship. A citizen of a town is one who enjoys the rights and privileges of the town, and a citizen of the state or nation is, similarly, one who enjoys the common rights and privileges of a member of the state. It is clear then that the Ethics of Citizenship is a wide and important subject. How many of us are the best possible kind of citizens? How many might not be better citizens if we understood the Ethics of Citizenship? If there be corruption and self-seeking in the governors of a city, every member must share in the responsibility, for corrupt and self-seeking aldermen or members of parliament could only be elected by corrupt and self-seeking voters.

* * *

Prof. MacCunn's first chapter is devoted to an enquiry into the nature of the Equality of Men. What do we mean by the Equality of Men? And is it true that all men are equal? Men are certainly not equal in possessions. Some are rich and some are poor. But the poor man may say, "That is because of injustice and wrong, and fraud." We ask then "are men equal in physical strength?" "Are they equal in intellectual capacities?" "Are they equally good or bad?" It is quite clear that all these questions must be answered in the negative, and therefore it is probable that it is not simply on account of injustice that some are richer than others. If you put down two men with exactly the same outfit of tools upon a desolate but fertile island, and the one is physically and mentally double as strong as the other, we know perfectly well which will be the wealthiest in ten years. The doctrine then of "the equality of men" is not true, and no real good can come of clinging to a falsehood. "Men," says our author, "are highly complex organic beings, no two of them . . . . operated upon by just the same influences or shaped by just the same history."

* * *

Yet although demonstrably false, "The Equality of Men" is a formula which persists, is used and asserted, not merely by unlearned, but by learned men. And we may lay it down as a valuable principle, that any formula which persists even after its illogicalness and falsehood have been demonstrated, persists not because of the obstinacy, or the ignorance of men, but because it contains some grains of truth. Nothing absolutely false can last long. "This dogma of the Equality of Men persists, and will in all probability continue to persist, because to so many minds, it has come to express truths, and facts, of the first importance." (p. 3).

* * *

Then there are these truths. "One of them—in a sense the root of all the rest—is the truth that all men have worth, that effectually parts the man from the chattel, and even from the highest animal." "We disarm in man a principle of moral and spiritual life, which enjoys the unique distinction that, whereas nothing else in the world—gifts, or power, or wealth, can be pronounced absolutely good, this always can." In this sense there is an equality, not absolute, but an equality in the sense that "worth" is a common possession. "It is only the snob, or because they have unlettered minds, or scant house room, or shabby coats, or awkward manners" (p. 5). Hence we owe to our fellow men respect, and hence men have a right to justice. The civil and political rights of men are based upon the theory that all men have moral worth.

1. The first definite and practical form of equality mentioned by Prof. MacCunn is the "Equality of Civil Rights." All men, rich, poor, great, learned, obscure or ignorant are equal in the eye of the law. The justification of this civil right is formed in the fact that without it man is deprived of the opportunity of doing his duty to the state. "We justify rights as the fundamental condition of the discharge of duties."

2. In addition to civil there are political rights. "Where the suffrage is universal and all office open to all, there is here a second and immense instalment of equality. It is not so easy to justify this right as the former. There are certainly some good reason for withholding the vote from some men. But it is clear that the possession of worth involves a Right to vote, although that right for good reasons might be withheld for a time. It might be wisdom to withhold the franchise from a body of newly-emancipated slaves, but it would be the duty of the State to educate them for its reception bye and bye. "We cannot respect men for the moral worth that is in them, and yet think it a final and satisfactory state of things that they should spend themselves wholly on interests that never go beyond the narrow range of private lives." "A vote, just like any civil right, is simply one more opportunity, one more instrument, whereby the potential moral worth of the man becomes the realized and practical worth of the enfranchised citizen!" The proper reason for the demand for the suffrage is that thereby "we may make men of ourselves, in that larger sense that lies open to to the life of active citizenship." (p 10)

3. The limits of space demand that we should simply notice the third point in this discussion of equal rights. Does "worth" demand equality of wealth? Prof. MacCunn's conclusion is as follows: "It seems reasonable to insist, that in any society that is not a failure, every citizen should have within his reach that modicum of competency without which a good life is fatally obstructed, and the value of civil and political rights destroyed; herein lies a justification of movements for a greater equalization of ways and means. But once this modicum of competency is ensured, there are reasons why the problem of equalization of wealth becomes of secondary importance. Independence grounded on a true equality is not disturbed by the inevitable existence of many forms of inequality.

OF INTEREST TO CORPORATIONS.

Responsibilities of Municipalities in Respect of the Condition of Streets.

A despatch from Ottawa says that the judgment of the Supreme Court of Canada on Monday in Kingston v. Drennan is of interest to the cities and towns of Canada. Miss Drennan, who was a student at college, slipped on the pavement on the main street, fell and injured herself. It was shown that the merchants levelled the snow and ice opposite the stores down to the granite pavement, but nobody touched the crossings, so that as winter wore on the crossing came to be several inches higher than the sidewalk and pedestrians were liable to make a swift descent from one to the other. This was how Miss Drennan's accident came about, and the Supreme Court says that the corporation is responsible for such a state of things. The slippery character of the granolithic pavement is bad enough in itself; to level the street crossings would cause inconvenience to vehicles; there is no reason why, in places where snow and ice accumulate on the street, the snow on the stone pavement should not be left alone after the loose top is shovelled or ploughed off.

We wish we could make everybody believe that promptness is prevention; that there should be no delay when you are losing flesh and when you are pale, especially if a cough be present. The continued use of Scott's Emulsion in the early stages of lung affections does prevent the development of Consumption. Your doctor will tell you this is true and we state it without wishing to make any false claims or false promises. Free book tells more on the subject.

BANKERS—In British Columbia; The Bank of Montreal.

Registrar of the Company's Stock—The Toronto General Trusts Company.

PLANS AND PURPOSES.

The Company proposes to engage in and carry on the business of mining for Gold and Silver in Ontario and in British Columbia. For that purpose it has already bought and paid for the valuable Trilby and Prince of Wales Group, which it is now equipping with a machinery plant. These properties give every present indication of developing into rich producing mines at an early date; but the company will not confine its operations and its chances of ultimate success to these properties. It is Primarily a Development and Exploration Company, and its present holdings were acquired on that basis.

Having highly promising mines with which to commence its business, the initial risk upon which, to a large amount, was carried by its organizers (and is still being so carried, as they receive stock for their interests and no cash out of the Treasury), and an unusually large and safe allotment of shares having been made into the Treasury, the Company is confident of realizing ample capital with which to transact a large and profitable general mining busines without exhausting its large holdings of Treasury Stock.

The valuable features of the ordinary DEVELOPMENT Company are combined with the prime advantage of low capitalization and an ample treasury reserve.

It is estimated that during 1897 not exceeding 200,000 shares of the Treasury Stock will be needed to be sold, in which event only 800,000 shares in all would remain outstanding against the Company's assets and working capital.

HOLDINGS OF THE COMPANY.

The Company has acquired the assets of The Trilby Mining Corporation, Ltd., which has been in operation in British Columbia during the past six months. These consist of The Trilby and Prince of Wales, valuable properties in the South Belt at ROSSLAND, upon which development has been carried on during the last five months on behalf of the Company with most satisfactory results. In addition negotiations are pending with a view to the acquisition by the Company of other properties in the Slocan and Rainy River Districts.

Active exploration has been carried on in the various mining districts of British Columbia on behalf of the organizers of the Company during several months past, and its agents in the field are in possession of valuable and, in some instances, exclusive information as to the newer sections which will be opened up with the advent of spring. Having been early upon the ground, they have exceptional facilities for obtaining control of the safest and most eligible locations in the country.

Trusted agents of the Company have also been and are now at work in the rich Rainy River District, and it is confidently expected that negotiations being carried on by them will result favourably, and be able to be announced to shareholders at an early day.

THE SHARES AS AN INVESTMENT.

If the Company should not acquire or be in a position to operate any other mining claims in addition to the Trilby and Prince of Wales, and having regard to the number of the Company's shares outstanding, when the sale shall be effected of the number estimated sufficient to yield a net working capital of not less than $50,000; to the position and value of the Company's holdings now being developed; to the assurance afforded the public of the prudent and economical management of the assets and working capital of the Company; the shares of the Company at twenty-five cents (25c) upon the dollar are relatively cheaper than those of any company operating any mine in the same stage of development as the Trilby in the Rossland district.

Shares at 25c in a company having only 800,000 shares outstanding, owning two highly promising mineral claims, with $50,000 or more in its treasury, and with 450,000 unsold treasury shares, are a better investment than shares in a company capitalized at $1,000,000 to $2,000,000 with only one-quarter of its shares in the treasury, and offered at 10c per share. It is a simple arithmetical problem and capable of easy calculation.

THE INCORPORATION OF THE COMPANY.

Special features and advantages to shareholders in the methods of incorporation of the Company are the following:—

1. The chief office of the Company is to be kept at Toronto, and all of its books, records and accounts are to be kept there, and all its business and transactions, save only the actual operation of its mining properties, are to be directed and conducted from that office.
2. All of the meetings of the shareholders of the Company and the meetings of its Board of Directors are to be held at the head office in Toronto, thus rendering it feasible for the vast majority of the shareholders of the Company to be present at such meetings.
3. A majority of the Board of Directors are residents of Ontario.

TREASURY SHARES TO BE SOLD.

The Board of Directors has authorised the sale of Fifty Thousand (50,000) shares of the Treasury Stock at the low price of Twenty (20) Cents per share, subject to withdrawal or advance without other notice.

Subscriptions will be received by the undersigned (who are exclusive brokers for the Company) for blocks of not less than 100 shares, and certificates will be issued by THE TORONTO GENERAL TRUSTS COMPANY, REGISTRARS, upon allotment. Allotment will be made in the order in which subscriptions are received. Cheques or drafts should accompany subscriptions.

WE ARE GLAD

To be able to announce that we have finished Stock-taking, and have something left after a satisfactory year's business. To be sure Profits have been small during the year just closed, but we have kept the expense account small likewise.

Ladies who shop here have shown their appreciation of our goods and our plain way of doing business. We have reason to be thankful for their confidence and patronage, and solicit a continuance of their favours for another year.

An Aftermath

Of Bargains.

We have laid out for bargain overs special lots of DRESS GOODS, APRON MUSLINS, FLANNELETTE, FLANNEL, and the rest of our WINTER MILLINERY, which we can afford to sell at a loss at the end of the season, so as to make room for new goods. As a matter of fact you run no risk in buying here, because our goods have no chance to grow old. The store the ladies like must have a large daily outflow of goods to keep the stock new and fresh. You catch the idea.

NEWS FROM OTTAWA

Parliament to Be Summoned for Thursday, March 11.

A TALK ABOUT THE PACIFIC CABLE.

Mr. Sandford Fleming Says Britain Does Not Need Neckar Island as a Landing Place—Alleged Train Wreckers in Jail — Departmental and General Notes.

Ottawa, Jan. 31.—(Special.)—At yesterday's meeting of the Cabinet it was decided to call Parliament together for the despatch of business on Thursday, March 11. The format Order-in-Council will be passed in a day or two, and a proclamation based thereon will appear in the Canada Gazette next Saturday.

THE PACIFIC CABLE.

Mr. Sandford Fleming, C.M.G., returned to the city on Friday, after a lengthened visit to England in connection with Pacific cable business. Your correspondent called his attention yesterday to a telegram which appeared in a number of newspapers a few days ago, stating that two gentlemen are now in Honolulu endeavoring to purchase Neckar Island from the Hawaiian Government for the purpose of landing a Pacific cable there, and that they had been sent out by the British Government. Mr. Fleming said: "I may state with some knowledge of the facts that the last statement is entirely devoid of truth. If there are any persons negotiating for landing rights in Honolulu they will represent interests hostile to the British Pacific cable. It is well-known that the agents of the Eastern Extension Company have been trying to secure a landing place in the Pacific with a view to defeating the project of the independent cable line to Australia, so that they may maintain the telegraph monopoly which they at present possess. I can authoritatively state, however, that a landing on the Hawaiian islands of an all-British cable is not required. Great Britain possesses a sufficient number of islands in the Pacific for mid-ocean stations without landing anywhere within the sphere of he Hawaiian islands. The trans-Pacific cable determined on to connect Canada with Australia will touch only at Fanning Island, Fiji Island and Norfolk Island, which are all British possessions. The report of the Imperial and Colonial Committee, which has been investigating this important subject, with all necessary information in detail, is now before the several Governments concerned."

Detective Hatton returned to the city yesterday from Renfrew, where he saw the two men, Charles Gogoleen and Peter Clement, arrested for causing the recent fatal accident at Barry's Bay, safely jailed. The accused will be tried before the magistrate at Renfrew to-morrow. The chain of evidence is complete, although it is generally conceded there was no intention on their part to cause so frightful a smash. It seems the men were engaged by a farmer named Conway, and were driving to a shanty some two miles distant. It was necessary to cross the track in order to reach their destination. On coming to the crossing the men turned down the track for a short cut, and in doing so misplaced the switch. This fact is supported by strong evidence, and it is said the men have admitted it. The law in relation to railway accidents does not require premeditation or intention to be proven, so that they are just as guilty as if they had smashed the switch with a sledge hammer. They were trespassing on private property, and the result was the loss of three lives, the serious injury of Engineer Taylor and the destruction of property.

The County Council yesterday passed a grant of $200 to assist Mr. McLeod Stewart in having further plans of the Ottawa, Montreal and Georgian Bay Ship Canal prepared.

In regard to the request of the County of Frontenac that the County of Carleton should co-operate in petitioning the Tariff Commissioners to place certain articles on the free list, the council adopted a report expressing the opinion that this is a matter that cannot be properly dealt with by county councils, and recommended that no action be taken.

Justice MacMahon yesterday sentenced Thomas Mussell, convicted of outraging his stepdaughter, to 7 years in Kingston Penitentiary. John Gunn robbed a shantyman named Richardson of $150, and was given 2 1-2 years in the same institution.

The Georgian Bay Ship Canal and Power Aqueduct Company will apply next session for Dominion incorporation, and that the company may have power to acquire and improve other canals in Canada, and for a general extension of the borrowing and other powers of the company.

Since 1891 in cases where it was desirable to make any reduction in the price of Dominion lands from $3 an acre, the practice has been to do so in every case by the passage of an order-in-council, but as this has been found a very clumsy way of managing the business, and very precaution is taken by the inspection of any parcel of land by a competent officer of the department, the Minister of the Interior has been empowered to deal direct with all such cases in the time to come.

The E. B. Eddy Company have increased the price of matches 8 per cent. The company's output amounts to about 30,000,000 matches daily. The firm claims to have been working at a loss for the past two years to overcome competition.

The Canadian Mining and Smelting Company is the name of a new company seeking incorporation from the Dominion Government for mining in British Columbia, and elsewhere. Their capitalization is to be $200,000, and the promoters are Winnipeg men, including Hon. Hugh John Macdonald.

Letters patent of incorporation have been granted to The Intelligencer Printing and Publishing House, with Sir Mackenzie Bowell at its head; also to the Hobberlin Bros. Company to carry on a tailoring and drygoods business in Toronto.

Mr. Laurier left for Orillia to-night.

Tenders will be received at the Inland Revenue Department till Feb. 15 for the privilege of ferrying across the Ottawa River from Pembroke to Allumette Island. The contract will be awarded for five years from May, 1897.

The annual meeting of the Dominion Artillery Association, which, by the constitution, is to be held in February, will be postponed for a month or so.

Sir Henry Joly, who early in the week contributed $100 to the Indian famine fund, on Saturday sent a cheque for $100 to Mayor Bingham for the poor of Ottawa, on the principle that charity begins at home.

Notice is given of a proposed application to Parliament for the incorporation of a new insurance company to be known as the National Life Insurance Company of Canada.

Messrs. Haggart and Montague have returned from the west. They did not go to British Columbia, owing to stormy weather and the state of Dr. Montague's health. It is said that Mr. Haggart will go into North Ontario this week, and Dr. Montague into South Brant.

The Premier will be asked this week to name a day to receive a deputation in the interests of the Ottawa, Montreal and Georgian Bay Ship Canal.

THE TARIFF ENQUIRY.

Sugar Refiners and Cotton Manufacturers Before the Commissioners at Ottawa.

Ottawa, Jan. 31.—(Special.)—Sugar and cotton were the two commodities which the members of the Government learned about yesterday. It was half-past 10 when the Ministers got down to work, Mr. Laurier being present in addition to the three Ministers to whom the matter of the tariff had been referred. It was 2 o'clock before the meeting was concluded. Both delegations were heard in private.

The representatives of the sugar industry were Senator Drummond, W. W. Watson, E. Baumgarten, N. Greenshields and T. Lubatt of Montreal; J. F. Stairs and T. M. Cutter of Halifax and B. T. Rogers of Vancouver. Their request in effect was no interference with the present duties, and, if possible, a little more protection.

The cotton men were Messrs. A. F. Gault, D. Morrice, jr.; R. R. Stephenson, A. A. Ayer, A. Ewing of Montreal; R. R. Stevenson and Simpson of Valleyfield, C. D. Owen of Providence, R. I.; William Parks of St. John.

The chief spokesmen were Messrs. Gault and Ayer. The deputation mentioned that the capital invested in the industry amounted to $15,000,000 and their yearly production to $30,000,000; 9675 hands are employed in the factories, drawing $2,556,816 in wages annually, and, besides this, the companies pay yearly $260,500 for their coal supply, $1,004,000 for supplies and stores, $502,400 to railway companies on freight charges, $85,850 in duties on machinery and supplies, and $607,200 in local plant and improvements. They strongly urge that any reduction in the tariff would simply wipe them out. The profits have been unreasonably low for the last two years, especially on account of Canada being made a slaughter market for American goods. There was a cut of 10 per cent. in prices on Canadian-made goods last summer, and another cut may have to be made to keep our products before the public. Canadian cotton manufacturers would like to go into the making of the finer lines, such as dress goods and yarns, but to do so they would need a duty at least 5 per cent. higher against foreign competition.

The shirt, collar and cuff makers of Canada are represented before the enquiry by Messrs. Tooke of Montreal, Greene of Berlin and Spelton of Montreal. They seek the retention of the present duties, and state that a reduction would mean the importation of cheap foreign labor and the establishing of sweat shops as those institutions existed in the Old World and in New York.

CLEVER CANADIAN DEAD.

A Brother of Mr. Justice Curran of the Supreme Court Dies at Manhattan College.

New York, Jan. 30.—Francis C. Curran, known in religion as Brother Noah, professor of English literature at Manhattan College, died there at midnight last night. He was born in Montreal in 1846. In 1879 he became President of La Salle College in Philadelphia. He was a brother of Judge T. Curran of the Supreme Court of Canada, and two of his nephews, F. C. and T. F. Curran, are members of the Canadian bar. Another nephew is in the Victoria School of Medicine, Montreal.

OPPOSITION SHOWN

In the Senate Committee to the Arbitration Treaty.

THE VOTE STOOD SIX TO FOUR.

Two Amendments Proposed Which Will Make the Agreement as Weak as Water —Objection to the King of Sweden for Umpire—London Times' Comments.

Washington, Jan. 30.—Every member of the Senate Committee of Foreign Relations, with the exception of Mr. Turple, was present this morning when the committee convened, a few minutes before 11 o'clock and took up for consideration the general treaty of arbitration between the United States and Great Britain. At 1.30 o'clock a vote was taken on the treaty, and a favorable report was ordered made to the Senate next Monday, with certain amendments. This action was not unanimous, and some individual amendments were reserved for submission to the Senate when the subject shall come up. The most important and amendment was that which added at the end of article 1 the following words: "But no question which affects the foreign or domestic policy of either of the high contracting parties or the relations of either with any other State or power by treaty or otherwise, shall be subject to arbitration under this treaty except by a special agreement."

The second amendment strikes out all reference to His Majesty the King of Sweden and Norway as the umpire, in case the court fails to agree upon an umpire in accordance with the provisions of article III. and article V. The motion to strike out this clause was carried with but one negative vote, that of Senator Gray of Delaware.

It was decided that the treaty should be called up in the Senate at the earliest day possible. The question of its possible consideration in open session was discussed. It is understood that, while the members of the committee believe that such a motion may prevail if made, no member of the committee will initiate it. This motion, owever, may find some votes in the membership of the committee.

The vote on the final option to report the treaty to the Senate, as amended, was so close that it startled some of the friends of the convention, who believed there would be practically no opposition to the amended treaty. When the roll was called the votes were cast as follows:

In favor of reporting the treaty to the Senate—Sherman (Ohio), Davis (Minnesota), Frye (Maine), Lodge (Massachusetts), Cullom (Illinois), Republicans; and Gray (Delaware), Democrate, total 6.

Against reporting the treaty to the Senate—Morgan (Alabama), Mills (Texas), Daniel (Virginia), Democrats and Cameron (Pennsylvania), Republican total 4.

An amendment was also offered inserting a clause stating in positie terms that the Alaskan boundary question should not be submitted to arbitration under this treaty, but it was rejected by the same vote of 6 to 4. It will be offered in the Senate. The debate in the committee room developed an opposition of the treaty under any conditions tat was entirely unexpected, and if the minority of the committee represent a proportionate membership of the Senate, the indications are that the treaty will have a hard time securing the requisite two-thirds vote.

The Thunderer's Comments.

London, Jan. 31.—The Times, commenting to-morrow upon the changes made in Anglo-American arbitration treaty by the Senate's Committee on Foreign Relations, will say it regrets that the convention has been altered to an extent which seems to reduce it to an empty form. It adds that even if the Senate does not ratify the treaty in its original form, the good work is not entirely lost, for it has educated public opinion in both countries, and even to some extent in all countries.

The Alaskan Boundary.

Washington, Jan. 30.—Secretary Olney and the British Ambassador at the State Department at 11 oclock this morning signed "A convention between the United States and Great Britain for the demarkation of so much of the 14th meridian of longitude, as may be necessary for the determination of the boundary between their respective possessions in North America."

The President will send this convention to the Senate on Monday for ratification. It provides for a commission similar to the Mexican Boundary Commission, which will avail itself of the information already collected under the commission, under the charge of Professors Mendenhall and Duffield, and Mr. King of Canada, who were working under an agreement made in 1892.

This treaty is to define the boundary between Canada and Alaska and it is believed will settle the controversy over the location of the gold fields in that territory.

MRS. STERNAMAN

Will Come to Canada if the Venue is Changed so That Her Trial Will Take Place in Toronto or Hamilton.

Buffalo, Jan. 31.—There seems to be a wavering of opinion amongst Mrs. Sternaman's friends as to whether she should give up further proceedings in fighting extradition. Charles J. Thomas, who was legal agent for the Ontario Government, returned from Toronto last night and, it is said, has arranged that a change of venue be had and the trial take place out of Haldimand County, where Mrs. Sternaman claims public opinion would condemn her, no matter how strongly the evidence would tend in her favor.

AN EVIDENCE OF PRACTICAL INTEREST.

The Premier of Canada began the exhibition of his interest in the prosperity of the most important interest in Canada by selecting a practical farmer as Minister of Agriculture. And the results have justified the wisdom of his choice. A profitable trade with the United States have been made more possible by an arrangement for removing the quarantine restrictions against Canadian cattle imported into the United States. A further evidence is afforded by the scheme for a system of cold storage for the purpose of facilitating a trade in perishable articles with the old country. The Government's scheme for cold storage accommodation next summer is now pretty fully worked out. The Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk railways have entered into an agreement to give a weekly or fortnightly service over their through lines, thus giving the producers of perishable products just the chance that they needed to get their goods through to Montreal and then ship by one of the several lines to be fitted out with cold storage. The Elder Company gives a weekly service with 20,000 cubic feet of cold storage. These boats are five in number and run to Bristol. Then the Allans and Dominion people give a weekly service also to Liverpool also with 10,000 cubic feet cold storage accommodation. A weekly service will also be secured to Glasgow as well as facilities on boats running from St. John and Halifax. The Government assumes the liability for one-half of the cost, payable in three years.

ANOTHER LESSON.

THE EXAMINER has frequently in the public interest called attention to the necessity of thorough auditing of the accounts of municipal treasurers, pointing to the experience of Guelph and other places as examples. Now Brantford furnishes another object lesson, emphasized by a shortage of the large sum of $30,000. A perusal of the details is instructive:

A profound sensation was created in Brantford on Thursday evening when it leaked out that there was a serious deficit in the county and township funds. For some days past an audit has been carried on of the accounts of Mr. W. S. Campbell, the late treasurer of the County of Brant and Township of Brantford, Mr. R. S. Schell, acting for the township, and Mr. McCosh of Paris for the county. They had not been long at work before it began to be hinted at that matters had not been found just right, but people were slow to believe that any business that the late treasurer had on hand could have been transacted on other than proper business methods. It seems, however, that the worst fears are likely to be realized, and that a deficit has been discovered of about $30,000, for which it has been found impossible thus far to obtain any satisfactory explanation. It would seem that deficits have been going on for some years past, and must inevitably have been discovered had there been anything like a proper audit of the accounts, but in this, as in other matters, the municipal authorities seem to have erred in the direction of too rigid economy. The township is the heaviest loser. From what can be ascertained at present, there was withdrawn last year from the consolidated fund, on the joint order of the reeve and Treasurer the sum of $16,905. Of that amount only $7,360 seems to have been invested, and the remainder of the sum was transferred to the private account of Mr. Campbell. In addition to this amount there was a shortage of $3,382 last year, and there were payments on mortgages not accounted for, making a total deficiency of $14,000 in the township funds. The deficiency to the county appears to be $6,000, but, as there are so many mixed transactions, owing to the fact that Mr. Campbell was treasurer for both the county and township, a joint audit will probably be necessary in order to straighten matters out.

The statement that these defalcations, which have been going on for years, and must have inevitably been discovered "if there had been anything like a proper audit," is a suitable text for a strong sermon to municipal bodies to see to it that proper auditing of public accounts is brought about. In these days when the struggle of life is so fierce, competition so keen, "short cuts" to money getting so frequently employed and the temptations to dishonesty so strong, it is perhaps, if uncharitable to a certain degree, prudent to suspect every treasurer of dishonesty and give him a strict watching through a proper audit. The honest treasurer cannot object to this and the dishonest juggler with municipal funds dreads nothing so much.

WARSAW.

From our own Correspondent.

Good sleighing.

Effie Hughes, who has been ill for the last few days, is recovering.

Mr. R. Westcott is the guest of Mr. William Payne.

Rev. Mr. Hyde is visiting a sick brother in Montreal at present.

Quite a number of the villagers attended the concert at Bethel on Monday evening.

Richard Barnes, of Otonabee, was in town Saturday.

In the absence of Rev. Mr. Hyde, Mr. Alex Watts conducted the services in the Presbyterian church on Sunday last.

Mr. L. R. Payne conducted the services in the Methodist church on Sunday in the absence of Mr. Robinson, who is holding evangelistic services at Zion.

Mrs. Brown, of Indian River, is reported very ill at present.

The Lakefield Hockey Team have been invited over for Friday evening.

CARNIVAL.

Despite the unfavourable weather an unusually large crowd attended the carnival held in the rink on Friday evening last. The doors were opened at 7 p. m. and by eight o'clock the rink was crowded with costumes and spectators. The following is a list of the characters represented.

GENTLEMEN.

F Edwards	Student
Allan Kidd	Eclipse
F Doughty	Uncle Sam
A Edwards	Commercial Traveller

Beattie Gow	School Girl

The prizes for the costumes were awarded as follows:

Miss Morgan—Photograph album.
Herb Kidd—Pipe and match case.
Bessie Choate—Glass dish.
Ollie Erroll—Jack knife.

The judging of the costumes being over, the next event was the mile race, for which there were the following entries,—Ed. Watts, Wasson Lyn, Herb. Kidd, C. Conway, F. Doughty, F. Tully.

A false start caused some delay, but they got away the second time. Doughty got the lead with Lyn and Conway following close. Lyn dropped out in the tenth round and Doughty falling in the 13th round left the race to Conway, who won by half a lap.

The next event was the barrel race, in which Jos. Snyder, Harry Kidd and Oscar Lyn competed. Snyder's skate coming off left the race to Kidd and Lyn. Kidd won easily.

The prizes for the races were awarded as follows:

Mile race—C. Conway, stand lamp; F. Doughty, hockey stick.

Barrel race—Harry Kidd, bag of candies.

The directors are well pleased with the carnival and intend holding another in February. A racing tournament will be held some time during the coming week, but as yet no definite date has been set.

DEATH OF G. B. ROBERTS.

The President of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company a Victim of Several Diseases.

Philadelphia, Jan. 30.—George B. Roberts, President of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, died at his home this city at 4.30 to-day from heart failure, superinduced by indigestion and catarrh of the stomach.

In July last Mr. Roberts went to New England for a short rest and change, and while there more serious symptoms were developed. On his return to his home on Aug. 31 his affliction had so increased that it was necessary for him to be confined to his room. Since then he has been gradually failing, and for the past week his symptoms became more alarming, until his death this afternoon. His wife and immediate family were at the bedside when the end came. No arrangements have been made for the funeral.

Not That Kind.

Scott's Emulsion does not debilitate the stomach as other cough medicines do; but on the contrary, it improves digestion and strengthens the stomach. Its effects are immediate and pronounced.

TRIPS TO EUROPE.

Some Restrictions That Have Been Adopted for Second-Cabin and Steerage Passengers.

New York, Jan. 30.—The following joint traffic ruling has been promulgated:

That from and north and west of a direct line from Detroit to St. Louis, inclusive, the rail proportion of through second-class and steerage and passenger fares to Europe, via ports of Portland, Me., St. John, N.B., Halifax and Montreal be not more than the fare to Baltimore, and at least $1 less than the fare to New York, it being understood that the fares from common points within the territory termed are applicable by all legitimate routes.

That the form of tickets to be used when the rail proportion of the through fare is less than the local selling fare to Atlantic or St. Lawrence ports of embarkation, shall be such as require presentation of ocean tickets to the conductor, and that the number from and steamship company issuing, name of steamer and date of sailing, should be entered on the contract of such ticket and attached to the first coupon to be collected by the first conductor.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is known by its works. The experience of half a century proves that no other preparation of the kind stops coughing and allays irritation of the throat and bronchial tubes so promptly and effectually as this.

MR. G. R. BLOUNT, Methodist minister, Dresden, Ont., says: "After a prolonged attack of La Grippe, I was very nervous and weak, and troubled with severe pains. I took one box of Miller's Compound Iron Pills and am perfectly well now." Sold in Peterborough by Wm. Madill, druggist.

Messrs. Micks and Cox:—

GENTLEMEN,—After giving your Acme Heating Drum a fair trial in China Hall, we have no hesitation in pronouncing it a perfect success. Our store is 20x100 feet with glass front and all of one side of glass facing the north; and the Drum with a small wood stove heats the store more perfectly than it has ever been heated before, even when we had two coal stoves which we formerly used.

Yours truly,

Messrs. Micks & Cox:—

GENTLEMEN,—After giving the Acme Heating Drum purchased from you a full trial in severe weather we have no hesitation in pronouncing it a complete success.

Your Drum is an application of the correct principle in proper heating devices, in drawing the cold air from the floor, heating it and circulating it through the building. We heat three rooms by means of a moderate sized wood stove with your Drum attached, and find our offices very much more comfortable than formerly, at the same time using a third less fuel than without the Drum.

What are you wearing On your feet this weather?

There is style in footwear as there is in hats. Each year the Granby Rubbers and Overshoes are modelled to fit all the fashionable shapes of boots. They are thin so as to prevent clumsy appearance and feeling and to make them so necessitates the use of the finest quality of rubber. While Granby Rubbers and Overshoes are up to date in Style, Fit and Finish, they retain their old enduring quality.

Granby Rubbers wear like Iron.

Facts About Furs and Bankrupt Stocks.

Some dealers in Furs believe in selling Bankrupt Stocks but others there are who do not; yet, at the same time have offered several bankrupt stocks for sale within a short time, while claiming also to sell nothing in Furs but of their own manufacture. We certainly must stand away ahead of our competitors as we do not require the aid of such stocks but stand on the merits of our own manufactured goods, which we can always guarantee as such. Our reputation of 36 years standing without a failure is the best proof that customers believe in us and support us so well. We do not require to make any bombastic statements regarding the size or quality of our stock; both are only too well known in the town as well as in many other places at great distances. GOSSIP FROM EUROPE

The Diamond Jubilee and the Colonial Premiers.

BRITISH PEOPLE FAVOR THE IDEA.

Mr. Chamberlain Generally Credited With the Suggestion to Invite Them—The Colonial Secretary's Speech in Regard to South African Affairs Much Commented On.

New York, Jan. 31.—Mr. Isaac N. Ford, in his special cable to The Tribune, says: The Queen is credited with the project of inviting the Colonial Premiers to London to take part in the year's festivities, but Mr. Chamberlain is probably the real author of the scheme. This is the first proposal for making the celebration a unique event and meets at once with popular approval, especially as detachments of colonial troops will accompany the Premiers and supply material for a good town show. All other plans have been commonplace and failed to appeal to the popular imagination. Royal visitors have come and gone during the reign, but never before have self-governing colonies been represented by their Premiers and the bodyguards of these officials at the Queen's commemoration in the capital of a world-wide empire.

Mr. Harold Frederic, in his special cable to The Times, says: Chamberlain's idea of inviting, on behalf of the Queen, all the Premiers of the self-governing colonies to come to England and take part, as Imperial guests, in the diamond jubilee celebrations, is looked upon as a very clever move, and since invitations are also to be extended to wives of the Premiers, it is doubtless hoped that the visitors will return to their posts duly impressed by the social fascinations of the Tory and Primrose politicians. Popular enthusiasm, though somewhat damped by the threat of the possible presence of Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany at the feast, revives somewhat at the notion of such compensating glories as the presence of a detachment of the local military forces from each colony. There can even be found envious newsmongers who prophesy a brilliant finale, in which a dukedom will be conferred on the member for West Birmingham, the Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain. Without taking too seriously such prophets of the political weather so far ahead, it is certain that the notion of a pan-Britannic confrence tickles and pleases the British imagination.

AS TO SOUTH AFRICA.

Sir James Sivewright Has Angered Oom Paul—Mr. Chamberlain's Speech.

New York, Jan. 31.—Mr. Harold Frederic cables from London to The Times: Statements and counter-statements reach me from the Cape as to what Sir James Sivewright did or did not say in denouncing the emissaries from the Dutch Republics, and he himself has disputed the accuracy of the version given by one Cape newspaper, in which his speech was so worded as to be a direct challenge to Pretoria itself. Whatever may have been the exact words of this cautious Scotchman, they have certainly managed to make Oom Paul exceedingly angry and have not improved the relations between the Cape Colony and the Transvaal. How the public itself received this pronouncement is shown by the report that a shower of congratulatory telegrams is pouring in on Sir James.

It is curious to observe that at the Cape, as here, the serious question of Rhodes' responsibility for the famous raid is gradually being lost sight of. History is a plant of rapid growth in South Africa, and the raid is as dead as last year's leaves. If Sivewright really spoke as reported, it is not impossible he may be after all the man to make South Africa. Chamberlain's statement on Wednesday in the House of Commons on this subject bore more character and ability fencing with the question than would the plain denial of the speech. In courteous, conciliatory, indeed almost subdued, accents, the Minister first astonished and then deeply impressed the House, as in the gravest terms he owned that the present situation in South Africa gave cause for considerable anxiety, and more than hinted that the Chartered Company, and perhaps also the Uitlanders, might be able to make out a good case.

Mr. Isaac N. Ford cables from London to The Tribune: Mr. Chamberlain easily vindicated his reputation as the best debater in the House by a prudent and weighty speech disclosing the necessity for the redemption of Government pledges respecting South Africa. His statement that the situation had again become most critical and required the exercise of prudence and patience created a profound impression. By referring to legislation enacted in violation of the treaty of London and by enlarging the inquiry so as to include the grievances of the Uitlanders, he succeeded, almost unaided, in choking off a mischievous debate, and convincing the House that the good faith of the Government must be maintained. Indeed, so deeply were the Government committed to a searching inquiry by the Queen's speech last year, and by repeated pledges to President Kruger, that the Ministers could not have remained in office if Mr. MacLean's amendment had been carried.

Mr. W. R. Chamberlain, in his special cable to The Sun, says: The distinct note of alarm in Mr. Chamberlain's speech on South African affairs in the House of Commons yesterday aroused considerable uneasiness, which was reflected in the sharp drop in prices on the Stock Exchange to-day. The speech was certainly an able one, and as remarkable for what it did not say as for what it did. In fact it had the effect of promptly silencing opposition among the supporters of the Government to the appointment of the Committee of Inquiry, and nothing can now prevent at least the form of an investigation. The speech contained one significant phase. The committee, the speaker said, "will know that it has to shield great national interests and it will know how to subordinate personal prejudices to those higher and patriotic considerations."

This is very different from the function assigned to the committee by the Government at the last session. Then it was to be the committee's business to find out the truth of the whole miserable South African business, no matter what "interests," national or otherwise, was affected thereby. The result of the debate on the whole may be regarded as favorable to Mr. Rhodes.

The Tribune's London correspondent cables: The noblest example of true English character revealed this week is the detailed narrative of the wreck of the troopship Warren Hastings, in which the coolness and discipline of the soldiers, and their manly consideration for the safety of women and children, are brought out in strong colors. The story at once recalls the heroic conduct of the men who went down in the famous ship Birkenhead.

The new millionaire class is making trouble by its philanthropic experiments. Mr. Ernest T. Hooley, after heaping up millions in Dunlop tires and other schemes of stock promoting, has proposed to distribute the income of $160,000 among the poor of fifteen districts in Derbyshire, through orders on grocers, doctors, druggists and coal dealers adopting the charity organization plan. His generosity is recognized, but the wisdom of the method is questioned by many critics, who shrewdly forecast the swarming of paupers into the districts where the charity is doled out, and ultimately an increase in the burdens of the poor rates. Mr. Hooley is overwhelmed with warnings that this is setting a bad example and discouraging habits of thrift, and that the scholastic system of old age pensions would do less harm.

Mr. Gladstone, before his departure for the Riviera, expressed his emphatic disapproval of the proposed loan to Turkey. The idea that the Sultan should find financial indorsers among the European powers excited his indignation. The eastern question really turns, not upon financial issues nor diplomatic intrigues, but upon the health of the Czar. Whether the wound received in Japan has proved serious, or he is suffering from neuralgic headache caused by overwork, or the struggle of intriguers to supplant one another in his favor, the health of the young sovereign is impaired, and the security of Europe is imperilled thereby. Count Mouravieff's mission in Paris, Berlin and Vienna remains a mystery. But it is hardly credible that it involves the introduction of new policies.

CUBA'S AUTONOMY.

Queen Regent Christina Will Sign Premier Canovas' Scheme Next Thursday.

London, Jan. 31.—The Standard's Madrid correspondent telegraphs that Queen-Regent Christina will on Thursday next sign, at a meeting of the Cabinet, Premier Canovas' scheme for reforms in the Spanish West Indies. The scheme was devised after several conferences with the leading Conservative Senators and the Marquis de Apesteguin, the leader of the Cuban Conservatives, who is now in Madrid. The reforms will go into operation in Cuba as soon as the pacification of that island will permit. The scheme will state that the Government is willing to entertain suggestions as to West India tariff reforms and the subsequent improvement of commercial relations with the United States. The whole matter will be handled cautiously The correspondent adds that it would be premature to suppose that the scheme will effect in Cuba autonomy similar to that enjoyed by the Australian colonies and the Dominion of Canada.

Health and strength carry us through dangers and make us safe in the presence of peril. A perfectly strong man with rich, pure blood has nothing to fear from germs. He may breathe in the bacilli of consumption with impunity. If there is a weak spot where the germs may find an entrance to the tissues, then the trouble begins. Disease germs propagate with lightning-like rapidity. Once in the blood the only way to get rid of them is to kill them. This is what Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is for. It purifies the blood. That means that it kills the germs, but that is only part of what it does. It assists digestion by stimulating the secretion of digestive fluids, so promoting assimilation and nutrition; purifies and enriches the blood and so supplies the tissues with the food they need. It builds up strong, health flesh and puts the whole body into a disease-resisting state.

DROPPED DEAD!

Suddenly Stricken Down by Heart Disease.

"A sad and sudden death occurred to a well-known citizen on one of the leading streets this morning."

Nearly every large city paper contains daily some such heading. The number of deaths from heart failure is very large, but it is only when they occur in some public and sensational manner that general attention is drawn to them.

Palpitation and fluttering of the heart are common complaints. With the heart itself there is nothing radically wrong. But the system is disorganized, the kidneys and liver are out of order, and the stomach is not in condition to do its work perperly. Between them all, they throw too much responsibility on the heart, and the latter is unable to stand the strain.

A box of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills at a cost of 25 cents will regulate the system, purify the blood and make a new person of every sickly man, woman or child.

Dr. Chase's Liver-Kidney Pills may be had from any dealer or from the manufacturers, Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. One pill a dose, one cent a dose.

Is Your Piano in Tune?

The change of season affects pianos as well as anything else. Mr. Geo. Gumpricht, practical piano maker and tuner, with 23 years experience, attends to all orders left at Mr. H. S. Macdonald's drug store.

Obituary.

Mr. Joseph Lannin, of the C.P.R. barber shop, received a telegram from Rochester, this morning, conveying news of the death of his cousin, Mr. Will Lannin, son of the late Thos. Lannin, of town. The deceased, it will be remembered, was formerly employed by the late Thos. Dolan.

Opened Out for Business.

Messrs. Mulligan and Potter have opened out a music store at 416 George street, stocked with a good supply of pianos, other musical instruments and general musical goods. The new firm are in a position to make a strong bid for a fair share of the public patronage.

Clothes For Eleven Children.

The Children's Aid Society ask for clothes for a family of eleven children ranging from six weeks to thirteen years of age, nine of whom are girls. They live back of Bobcaygeon and are in a completely destitute condition. The parcel leaves by the noon stage of Wednesday. Clothes may be sent to the police station.

Who Wants Furniture?

Who does not want furniture? Nearly every household could do with some new pieces and now is the time to buy. We have an immense stock of all kinds of all kinds of furniture—it is between seasons and we are offering special values in Bedroom Suites, Extension Tables, etc. Now is the time for bargains. Call and see the goods and ask for prices at CLEGG'S Furniture Store, 427 George street.

Mind Reading.

To do do this trick will appear at first to the outsider hard to perform; so it is until you know how, then it is comparatively simple. First tie a large silk handkerchief, folded twice, over some person's eyes. Pass your hands over his face once or twice, and gently smooth his forehead. Then quietly ask him where he can get the best groceries at reasonable prices, and if he is possessed of ordinary common sense he will answer without hesitation: From E. BROWN & Co., 394 George street, Importers of Groceries, Wines and Liquors.

The Stock-taking Sale at Oak Hall

will continue the remainder of this week. The goods must be cleared out and with that object in view we have decided to give the purchaser all the profit. Here are some of the bargains—Men's Overcoats at $1.72 and $2.47, Men's single and double-breasted Beaver Coats, black and blue, regular prices $5.50 and $6, sale price $4 and $4.50; men's black and blue Beaver Overcoats with velvet collar, elegantly lined and finished, regular price $9.50 and $10, sale price $7; a large number of all wool Overcoats, tailor-made, regular prices $7.50, $9.50, $10 and $11, sale price, $6; men's double-breasted Frieze Suits, regular price $8, sale price, $6.25; men's all wool Tweed Suits, regular price $7 and $8.50, sale price $5 and $6.50.

Thursday's and Friday's Entertainment

The management of the Opera House beg to announce to the public that, having completed arrangements with the Montreal Lecture Bureau for a grand entertainment and lecture for Thursday and Friday nights, Feb. 4th and 5th, they have succeeded in securing "Ben Hur, or the Last Days of the Messiah," illustrated by one hundred stereopticon views, sketched from living subjects dressed in Oriental costume, giving a complete resume of Lew Wallace's greatest literary work. This is one of the greatest treats that has ever been placed before the public of Peterborough. The Montreal Daily Witness says: "Association Hall has never held a more delighted audience, all having words of unstinted praise." The prices have been reduced, so that no one need miss the opportunity of witnessing one of the grandest entertainments that has ever come to Peterborough. Prices 25c. and 35c., children 15c. Now on sale. 1d

SPORTING PASTIMES.

Rink Talk and Items of Local and General Interest to Sportsmen.

HOCKEY.

This evening the Kingston Frontenacs will cross sticks with the Peterboroughs and the local enthusiasts will be given an opportunity of judging how the boys are playing this year. It is a mixed team that the Peterboroughs will play against the visitors, some of the younger men being given a chance to show what they can do against a really fast team. Dixon will play goal; Hollingshead, point; Adams, cover point; Montgomery, Phelan, Bellegham and Crossley, forward. Such a team as this should be able to give a good account of itself against any team, more particularly as the game is to be played on the local rink, where the boys have put in so many practices as to be almost unconquerable upon it. Lionel King will, it is expected, be home for the return match in Kingston with the Frontenacs and also for the first match here against Queen's University, which takes place on February 8th, a week from to-day.

The management is urged to have the players out on the ice at eight o'clock sharp, as the match is billed to begin at that hour, and it certainly is a hardship to ask the patrons to wait half an hour in the rink before the game begins.

As George Dixon is ill and Walter Phelan went up to Toronto this morning, Wasson will take the goal in to-night's match and Lefevre will play on the forward line. As it is understood that Queen's will play three of the Frontenac's on their own team against Peterborough, the latter club must be very strong this year and a grand game will be the outcome of to-night's match.

A team from the Riverside rink goes down to play Keene this evening.

The Kingston Whig says: A meeting of the executive committee of the Frontenac hockey club was held yesterday, when this team was chosen to go to Peterborough on Monday to play the first match in round two, group one, Ontario intermediate hockey series:—Goal, Lamb; point, Capt. Rigney; cover point, McDowell; centres, Rayner, W. Harty; wings, J. E. Cunningham, Murray. A return match will be played here on Friday night.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I see by the posters that there will be a grand hockey match at the rink to-night. Now it may be amusing to some of the audience to hear school boys, and grown up men, who should know better, pounding the side of the rink with boards and sticks, and keeping up a combination of such hedious noises, but to others it has the effect of spoiling the entire evening's pleasure. If the management would insist on such noises being stopped, the patronage would largely increase. Surely approval can be signified by the clapping of the hands without creating such a noise as is painful to a sensitive person. The boards and sticks should be done away with.

Yours truly,
HOCKEY WELL WISHER.

Note.—Fully a dozen patrons of the hockey matches have also personally mentioned this grievance to the EXAMINER.

A SERIOUS CHARGE.

A Young Man Arrested For Stealing Sleigh Robes From the Sheds of the Charlotte Street Church.

A young man was arrested on Saturday charged with the larceny of robes from George Simpson, David Wood and Bert Tully.

Sometime ago several robes were stolen from cutters at the Charlotte street church and on Saturday one set was found in Wolstenholm's livery. On inquiry Mr. Wolstenholm gave the name of the young man from whom he had purchased them and the arrest followed.

At a hearing which was given the prisoner on Saturday evening he was released on $1,000 bail and the case enlarged until Thursday.

WONHAM MAY COME.

Peterborough's Hockey Team to be Strengthened for the Finals.

Arrangements are now being made by the hockey club to bring Wonham back from Chicago to play with the senior Peterboroughs against Queen's University team.

Wonham, it will be remembered, was a member of the Peterborough team for three years and was considered the fastest forward. The Bank of Montreal moved him to Chicago and he has been playing since with the Chicago hockey team, of which he is the captain. It is thought that with him back on the forward line, the Peterboroughs will make sure of the senior championship and be able to so reinforce the intermediates and juniors as to make a strong bid for the championships in these series as well.

Messrs. George J. Horkins, Sam Adams and Alf. Terrill have guaranteed to raise a sum sufficient to defray the expense of bringing Wonham back to Peterborough and all subscriptions will be gladly received by them.

ASHBURNHAM BRIEFS.

Mark Street Sunday School Teachers and Officers Make a Presentation to Mr. H. Fife.

On Friday evening, Feb. 19th, there will be a benefit concert in the town hall, Ashburnham, in aid of blind Willie Mitchell. Local and outside talent will assist in giving a good programme. There ought to be a large attendance to assist in this worthy object.

A very interesting letter from Rev. S.O. Irvine will be read at the meeting of the Mark street W.M.S. on Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 3rd, at 3 o'clock.

On Saturday evening, Jan. 30th, the teachers and officers of Mark street Sunday school assembled at the residence of Mr. H. Fife, Harvey street, Peterborough, and Rev. Mr. Beer presented him with a beautifully framed portrait of those assembled as a mark of their good wishes for Mr. Fife, who has just retired from the position of superintendent of Mark street Sunday school.

Mr. Fife replied in a suitable manner, thanking them for their gift, and assuring them that he would cherish it as a reminder of the pleasant times spent at Mark street, and wishing them continued success in the Master's work.

Afterwards a very pleasant evening was spent together.

THE MAKING OF GOOD CHEESE.

Care Necessary on the Part of Patrons and Makers to Secure the Best Results — The Advice of a Good Authority.

At the annual meeting of the Western Dairymen's Association at Brantford, the President, Mr. A. F. McLaren, M. P., gave a most practical address. Mr. McLaren is a high authority on cheese and cheese making. He is an extensive dealer and was selected as judge at the World's Fair at Chicago. The following is a summary of the address mentioned:

The president, Mr. A. F. McLaren, M. P., in his opening address, said it was gratifying to know that prices had been better this year. At the same time it was to be regretted that the quality of a large portion of the cheese made in Ontario had not improved as it should, considering the instruction and advice given to patrons and cheesemakers and all interested during the past few years. The greatest fault to be found with last season's make was the bad flavour, due to careless patrons and the feeding of turnips, rye, apples, etc., to the cows.

He had also found that by using a starter a great number of cheese were almost ruined. He was never in favour of a starter being used, though it might be used to advantage late in the autumn. He thought it much better to heat the milk so that it would develop acid more rapidly; even if this process did take longer it was much safer. Using a starter to hasten the development of acid was like using coal oil to start a fire—dangerous. He hoped the cheesemakers would thoroughly thrash out this starter business, which had been the cause of a lot of bad cheese being in some factories during the past season. They had actually found some cheesemakers using it in June, July and August. They had also found a great many very poorly cured cheese, bad curing-rooms, not properly equipped, and seeming carelessness or ignorance on the part of cheesemakers as to the temperature required and the conditions to be maintained in properly curing cheese for export.

Mr. McLaren said he could not understand why patrons who were supplying milk to cheese and butter factories would persist in feeding improper food to milch cows, knowing at the time they were doing so the flavour of the butter or cheese would be impaired, and that with such food as turnips, rye, rape, apples, etc., the cheese would depreciate in value all the way from ½ to 2½ cents per pound according to the extent of injury to flavour.

Another great difficulty, and one for which there was no excuse, that they had to contend with, was the careless and improper manner in which cheese had been cured. Unless many of the factories improved their buildings and furnished better facilities for manufacturing cheese, it would be necessary for them to drop out of the business, especially during the early and later portions of the cheese-making season. In fact he would like to see the day when cheese factories would not open until May 1st and close October 31st. They would then have better quality, better prices, and a better reputation.

The Secretary's report showed that the number of applications received for the inspector's services was considerably less than the previous year, and the revenue from that source was fully 30 per cent. less. The revenue from fines for tampering with milk also showed more than 30 per cent. decrease. This was a source for congratulation, as it indicated that the practice of tampering with milk supplied to our cheese factories was decreasing. The report further stated that at a meeting held in January last the Board of Directors decided to organise one or two syndicates of factories for the purpose of more uniform instruction and inspection. After a large amount of correspondence with factories in various sections, a group of seventeen factories situated partly in the London and partly in the Ingersoll districts was finally secured that were willing to take hold of the scheme, and pay a fixed share of the cost.

The results showed that there was a considerable improvement in the style, finish and quality of the cheese made as the season advanced. This improvement was more noticeable where the maker was willing to accept the advice of the instructor. It would thus be seen that the syndicate scheme had had a fair trial, and had shown itself capable of bringing about a more uniform and better quality of cheese. Though the results obtained had not been as great as the most enthusiastic advocates hoped for, yet they had been very satisfactory considering the difficulties connected with testing the scheme, and if the same system was continued another year no doubt much better results would be obtained.

The report of the directors referred, among other things, to the past season's trade, which they were pleased to be able to say showed considerable improvement over that of the previous year. Prices were low at the beginning of the season, but increased as the season advanced, with the result that the autumn makes of cheese were disposed of at very considerable profit to factorymen and patrons. There had, however, been several serious difficulties connected with the season's operations, such as the turnip and apple flavours in cheese, the improper curing of cheese, etc., which it was hoped would be fully discussed during this convention.

WEST PETERBOROUGH FARMERS' INSTITUTE.

SUPPLEMENTARY SESSION AT BRIDGENORTH.

Instructive Addresses on Agricultural and Dairy Topics—How to Compound Perfect Rations—The Growing of Corn—The Largely Attended Evening Meeting—Good Addresses—Musical Programme.

On Saturday last two meetings of the Farmers' Institute were held at Bridgenorth—one in the afternoon and one in the evening. In the afternoon the speakers were Messrs. J. E. Meyer, of Keeseth, and G. C. Carton, of Craighurst. Both spoke again in the evening, as well as Mr. G. Y. Payne.

Mr. J. E. Meyer in opening his address explained that the greatest returns and the most benefit from the addresses which would be given, would be derived from a discussion on the same. His address was upon "How to compound rations so as to obtain results in feeding our animals." He stated that the three principal substances derived from feeding was water, protein, carbohydrates and fat. These substances were all needful in feeding. Protein produced muscle, blood and milk; carbohydrates, fat and milk and fat, produces heat and fat. It could be seen that by feeding in such a manner as to produce results out of the proportion just so much food would be wasted and the best results would not be obtained.

A large chart was exhibited showing just the proportion of digestible matter in the different kinds of cattle foods, and also the portion of the different substances mentioned before in each. In pasture grass the proportion

WAS JUST RIGHT.

The more protein in a substance the better of course it was. Clover hay was shown to be better than timothy hay, green corn or corn silage, the latter two being of about equal value. There was a great deal however in the way the harvesting was done. Perfectly cured fodder corn was almost as good as silage, though there not being as much water in the former, roots should also be fed.

With the exception of pea straw, oat straw was the best straw to feed horses in the winter.

Potatoes are a valuable food, containing more dry matter than the other roots.

Cottonseed meal, oil meal, gluten meal and malt sprouts were mentioned as valuable substances to feed as being rich in protein, which made it rather expensive. These should be mixed, however, with other foods which lacked the necessary necessary proportion of protein.

Buckwheat was mentioned as being entirely too heating for cattle food. Oats was one of the most perfect grain foods obtainable. It was the most valuable grains to give young animals, being rich in minerals or bone forming material. Rye and corn were not good for young cattle, being too heating, and not possessing enough mineral. Corn and corn meal was a fair food. Water had an appetising effect and was good, so dry foods should not be fed entirely. Roots or silage corn should therefore form an important part of every farmer's food supply. Corn should be grown on every farm. Ten acres of it was a positive necessity for fodder or ensilage.

The respective merits of the tub and cement silos was then enlarged upon and the speaker was greatly in favour of the latter. It was a little more expensive but it certainly was the best. If a silo could not be obtained, the best method of keeping fodder corn should be studied. The earlier varieties of corn should be grown, as when harvested when it was apt to be musty. It should be harvested early in September, wilted on the ground and then bunched in shocks to thoroughly dry. These sheaves should be set up afterwards against rails and not allowed to lie on the ground and freeze. If properly dried and set up it would not freeze and there was no better way of keeping it. The American corn was represented as being a corn which would ripen earlier. It was quite possible to raise as good a crop as was done across the border. The yellow corn was preferable to the white, making better food. The animals might leave some of the white corn stalks, but never any of the yellow, proving that it must be sweeter and more acceptable to the animals. The Golden Lensway was mentioned as one of the best varieties. The Improved Leaming and the "High Mixed Yellow Dent" were also mentioned as being first-class varieties.

Mr. G. Y. Payne then read the following instructive paper on "The Cultivation of Fodder Corn" as appended:

Corn growing is becoming extensive in this part of Ontario of late years and is a sign of successful agriculture, owing to the very important place it takes in the rotation of crops. It cleans the ground as effectually as a bare fallow, and at the same time we procure a crop and leave the field practically in as good shape as would the bare fallow. We find in corn a cheap and succulent food, whether in the form of ensilage or cured stalks. A clover sod is best for a corn crop, in fact, any sod will do, providing it is not too old. In this section the ploughing of sod for corn should be left till spring. When the ploughing is done, roll immediately after. Then harrow or cultivate enough to procure a fine mould, roll and mark both ways 3 feet 6 to 4 feet each way, placing four to five grains in a hill, and plant shallow, as corn is a surface feeder. When planted in this way the best results are obtained and plenty of room is left for the development of both ear and stalk. By this method cultivation can be given both ways, and then resort to the hoe is unnecessary. Cultivate often and late in the season, resorting to shallow cultivation.

We never hill our corn any more than to smother small weeds, and which is removed by the later cultivation. For the silo we cut corn when it is in a glazed condition, but for dry fodder it should be cut earlier, when there is more sap in the stalk. I like to have corn for the silo get some frost before it is cut, as it deadens the leaves and leaves it in better shape to go into the silo, as the sap from the stalks will remoisten the leaves, and thus leave the silage in good condition for feeding. By the proper cultivation of corn we can insure ourselves against unfavourable conditions of the weather. Corn should be harrowed at least twice when it is coming up. This year we used the horse rake to good advantage when the corn plant

WAS IN ITS INFANCY.

It stirred the surface and checked the weeds in a marked degree. Then later the harrow was applied. Then then the horse hoe. The corn crop is one of the most important of fodder crops, and let it be remembered that it derives about 60 per cent. of its plant food from the air. Therefor, it is very necessary to allow it to have all the light and warmth possible.

Many farmers commence using their corn too early in the season, and therefore do not obtain the results that they should. When it is tasselling it has scarcely one-third of the feeding value that it has at the glazed stage. Corn is a plant that can be assisted in its growth or retarded, therefore, frequent cultivation is the success of the corn grower. I urge you as dairy farmers not to neglect the growing of corn. It is the cheapest pasture you can have, and if you have a silo it ensures you a succulent food throughout the winter.

Quite a few of those present took issue with Mr. Payne on allowing the corn to be touched with frost before being put in the silo, but he had tried both methods and contended that there was enough sap in the stalk to re-moisten the leaves after the corn was converted into ensilage.

None of those present had ever seen ensilage quite sweet, but Mr. Caston predicted that there would come a time when corn could be preserved in all its sweetness in the silo. This would be one of the greatest benefits to the farmer.

The next address was that given by Mr. G. C. Caston, of Craighurst, Simcoe, who spoke on the "Best varieties of small fruits and the modes of cultivation."

The speaker announced that he would speak on orchard fruits and grafting and leave the other subject until the evening. He did not think that to speak on the cultivation of apples, although the past year had been such a productive one. He thought that the apple would steadily increase in commercial value as the market abroad was opened up for Ontario fruit, which was acknowledged to be the best grown.

IT WAS NONSENSICAL

There was no section in North America where the climatic condition changed within so short a distance as Ontario, owing doubtless to its geographical situation, and doubtless, to the large bodies of water lying adjacent to it. Although in the Georgian Bay fruit belt, apples, plums and peaches could be readily grown, while though he lived within 25 miles of the place, and south of it at that, the thermometer dipped down altogether too low to attempt the production of peaches or the tenderer grades of apples.

The Northern Spy, as a winter apple, was a universal favourite, but as the trees took about 20 years to mature and then immediately begn to decline, they were a discouraging crop to produce. By top grafting, however, on a hardier variety the apple could be procured fully ten years earlier and the tree would live much longer.

In 1885 he had a peculiar experience with his orchard. When the trees were wet with fog and rain it suddenly turned cold just after New Years and the thermometer went lower than it had done in 30 years. A great many trees failed in the spring, looking as though they had been scalded in the crutches. The varieties known as "iron clad" trees survived all such winters, so the speaker argued that if the tenderer varieties were grafted in amongst the branches of these hardier kinds the result would be satisfactory, and he found this to be the case as the trunk and roots of the old ironclads were sufficiently hardy to perfectly nourish the varieties which were top-grafted into it. In this manner he could grow the most delicate varieties known.

Mr. Caston was enthusiastic on the orchard question, and claimed that any farmer who gave his orchard he gave to his other crops, that portion of the farm would be the most profitable.

It was urged upon the audience the advisability of doing their own grafting, as then they would know exactly what they were growing. Cases were instanced where nurserymen sent out samples of grafts when they did not possess a bud of the variety asked for.

The King was mentioned as the apple which brought the highest price in the old country, and the fact of it being a very shy bearer could be overcome by top grafting on the hardier varieties. To do this the last year's growth of a bearing tree was the best to procure. The seeds should be taken from a hardy native seedling and planted in rows about three inches deep in the fall and carefully cultivated. When they come up in the spring they should be thinned out and the choicest allowed to grow and trimmed, up properly. When sufficiently large they could be transplanted and at the proper time have the variety wanted grafted into them. The grafts should be cut early in March, before the sap started, and kept in sawdust until the grafting time arrived in the warm weather. The grafts should be pared to a wedge shape with a bud at the shoulder, and cut off to a length including two or three buds. The limbs of the seedling upon which the graft was to be made ought to be about an inch or a little less in diameter and the tops of some of these limbs cut neatly off. A split was then made and the graft inserted in such a manner that the inside layer of both barks come directly in contact, as it was at this point the growth took place. In waxing, the cracks on both sides should be covered, as should be the case with the entire top of the seedling, the idea being to exclude all the air. The wax should be made of tallow, beeswax and rosain—half-pound tallow, a pound of beeswax and two pounds of rosin. These should be melted up in a kettle and afterwards pulled until yellow. In the grafting one of the leading limbs should not be cut off at once, but the new top should be put on about a third at a time, when the growth of the tree would not be checked.

Mr. Caston advocated the month of June as the time for pruning. He found there was no bleeding then and it had the tendency to PRODUCE EARLIER BEARING.

There would be considerable growth over the wound before the cold weather.

Mr. J. E. Meyer followed in an interesting address on poultry. He knew that all farmers kept poultry and his hints were calculated to explain how they could be kept at a profit. Fowl could not thrive in damp quarters. A good foundation was therefore necessary under the house, which should be erected with a balloon frame over which tarred paper should be tacked and afterwards lumber nailed on the outside upright and battened. Tarred paper should also be put on the inside and over this matched lumber should be put on. Too many windows were not advisable, as though pleasant on a sun-shining day in winter, yet at night the warmth rapidly escaped through them. A house 15x20 was necessary for a hundred hens in the winter. Perches should be placed over a platform in order that it could be cleaned off easily and the droppings not be on the floor for the hens to run about in. The keeping of late chickens through the winter and of old hens after their usefulness is over was disparaged. Only good plump hens, slightly red about the head at this season of the year, should be kept through the winter for profit. Green food should be given the hens in the winter, as plenty of it is eaten in the summer. Roots would do. Meat ought also to be provided. Soft food was good in the morning. Clover hay with a little grain put in hot water and steamed was always appreciated.

The speaker urged the doing away with the cocks, except for breeding purposes, as the eggs could never be perfect in summer unless this was done, as the heat of summer started the germ of life in the eggs from a flock in which cocks were kept. If there were no cocks this could not be the case. An infertile egg was not spoiled by being under a sitting hen for eight or ten days, as being no germ of life in it, there was very little difference between them and the fresh eggs. These infertile eggs could be packed and sent to England and landed there just as fresh as the eggs from France.

Chickens should not be removed from the nest after being hatched until they were 24 or even 48 hours old, nor should they be fed until that time.

A hen is not profitable after the second winter, and the age of fowl may be kept track of by punching a hole in the web of the feet when they are chickens.

The subject was then enlarged upon regarding the different breed of fowl to keep. For eggs, the Leghorns, Red Cap and Blue Andalusians were mentioned and for both a table fowl and for eggs combined the Plymouth Rock and Wyandotte were spoken of.

The Evening Meeting.

Mr. Caston in the evening took up the subject of "Small Fruits." With a suitable sale and prospects of a good market any man, he stated, would find the production of small fruits a profitable and pleasant business.

Usually the small fruits in connection with a farm were raised in what is generally known as "the garden"—a small plot of ground with a house on one side and a high fence around it. When it needed the most attention it was neglected and not prospering, was often given up as bad job. The small fruits should be cultivated in the open fields where a horse could work amongst them. Regarding strawberries, the speaker advocated planting them in September, when a crop could be gathered next season. The plants should be procured from some well known grower and not from the nurseries. High priced varieties should be avoided, as the old kinds were the best in the long run. After being set out, they should be watched, and their roots all turned down properly. They were easy to plant the best way being simply to shove a spade down in the ground and bending it forward place the roots in the space thus left. On removing the spade a stamp of the foot completed the planting. The plants should be put in 15 inches apart in rows about three feet distant from each other. A cultivator run

With the coming of night women are careful to bar the doors of their homes against the intrusion of robbers and assassins. There are more dangerous enemies than either the burglar or murderer against which few women take proper precautions. A woman may own the most magnificent jewels and the costliest plate, but after all is said and done, her health is her most precious possession.

It is this that she fails to guard against the dangers of weakness and disease of the distinctly womanly organism. Nearly every complaint from which women suffer has its inception in troubles of this nature, and is continually aggravated by them.

An unfailing remedy for all weakness and disease of the organs distinctly feminine, and the multitude of ills that follow in the train is found in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It acts directly on these organs and makes them strong and healthy. It prepares for happy, healthy wifehood and capable, almost painless motherhood. Over 90,000 women have testified to its wonderful merits. No honest druggist will offer something else as "just as good."

"While I was living at Eagle Rock, Botetourt Co., Va.," writes Mrs. G. A. Connor, of Alleghany Spring, Montgomery Co., Va., "a lady friend came to me and said: 'My daughter, aged 15 years, has repeated hemorrhages at the nose, and she has never the necessary indispositions of womanhood.' I advised her to get Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. The lady purchased one bottle and it cured her daughter. She was well and happy when I left there."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is a physician that is always in the house, ready to give advice and assistance any moment, day or night. It contains 1,008 pages, 300 illustrations and several chapters devoted to the reproductive physiology of women. Over a million women own and value it. CUBAN HOME RULE.

An Outline of the Proposed Measure Offered by Spain.

New York, Jan. 29.—A despatch from The Herald's correspondent in Havana, sent via Key West, says: I have seen an absolutely authentic draft of the home rule measure which Spain is about to concede to Cuba. The act provides for a Legislative Assembly, wholly elective by an enlarged suffrage, and composed of a Senate and lower House. Besides having the sole power to vote an especial budget of the island, this chamber has full power to draw up and control the budget of what may be termed the Imperial expenses of the army and navy of Spain, insofar as they are legitimately to be shared by Cuba. This budget of material expenses will be sent to Madrid for the approval of the Cortes. With the Governor-General is vested the power to appoint all officials in the Cuban Government with the exception of the Directors-General, or collectors of the ports, and members of the Secretaries-General of the Governor and civil Governors of Provinces, who are to be selected by popular vote. All officials who shall be appointed by the Governor-General must be confirmed by the Assembly created by the reform measure in the same way that Federal appointments require confirmation by the Senate in the United States. The Senate Assembly will have full and exclusive power to initiate all money and tariff bills, and no bill of this nature can be presented or considered by the Madrid Government until it has been approved by the Cuban Assembly. The reform measure was read to Mr. Olney in Washington last December by Minister De Lome and met his unqualified approval.

Liberal as these concessions seem, I do not believe the Cubans will accept any agreement to which the United States is not directly or indirectly a party. This guarantee is now being sought in the commercial agreement being negotiated at Washington.

Approved at Washington.

New York, Jan. 29.—The Herald's Washington special says: At no time since the war in Cuba began have the officials of the Cleveland administration felt so hopeful of a peaceful settlement of the problem as at the present time and nothing has encouraged them so much in this view of the situation as the story from Havana giving a summary of the sweeping home rule measure which Spain is about to inaugurate. This was good news to the President and officials of the State Department.

Palma Says it Won't Go.

New York, Jan. 29.—Senor T. Estrada Palma of the Cuban Junta, in this city, when asked his opinion of the proposed home rule measure which Spain is about to concede to Cuba, a copy of which was published in a morning paper, said: "Unconditional and absolute independence is all that Cuba will ever accept from the Government of Spain. If she cannot have it she prefers extermination. It is scarcely worth while to discuss such a proposition. It has not been made, and, if it should be, it will receive no consideration at our hands."

MORE FIGHTING.

Spaniards Claim to Have Defeated the Insurgents in Two Skirmishes.

New York, Jan. 29.—A despatch to The Journal from Havana says: Official Spanish reports state that a Spanish column raided the insurgent camp at Guanabo at daybreak, taking it after slight resistance. Three insurgents were captured and four women and 12 children were wounded. Twelve Cubans were killed, among the latter being Capt. Alexander Rivera and Lieut. Manual Perez. The Spanish losses are reported as follows: One private killed, one wounded seriously, and a sergeant and six privates slightly wounded.

Killed 39 Insurgents.

Havana, Jan. 29.—Col. Zabalza, with his column, left San Jose de las Lajas, in the Province of Havana, for the purpose of making a reconnoissance. In the Chaves Hills the column met the combined rebel parties of Castillo and others leaders, who received the troops with a heavy fire of musketry. The rebels then deployed, and the positions they took cut off the retreat of the troops. Col. Zabalza ordered a cavalry charge, which the rebels resisted with remarkable strength, but they were finally driven away, leaving on the field 39 of their dead, all of whom had been killed by the machetes of the cavalry. The troops had six men wounded.

Unlike most proprietary medicines, the formulæ of Dr. J. C. Ayer's Sarsaparilla and other preparations are cheerfully sent to any physician who applies for them. Hence the special favor accorded these well-known standard remedies by the World's Fair commissioners.

THE DIAMOND JUBILEE.

An Ottawa Man's Scheme for Its Celebration—Funds for India—Notes From the Capital.

Ottawa, Jan. 29.—(Special.)—Suggestions for celebrating the diamond jubilee of Her Majesty are plentiful just now. Mr. H. J. Morgan is out with proposals which have considerable merit. He suggests: (1) The issuing of a proclamation for a day of general thanksgiving in all the churches; (2) a collection at such thanksgiving service, the total proceeds in each church to be applied by the authorities of such church to some object or objects which shall truly commemorate the life and example of the Queen; (3) the institution in Canada of a medal to be called "The Royal Victoria Medal," to be given by the Governor-in-council from time to time as a reward for conspicuous acts of merit rendered by natives of Canada or others resident therein; (4) the extension to Canada of the "long service militia medal," first advocated by Mr. Morgan in 1892; (5) the erection in Ottawa of a building having sufficient accommodation to be used as a national library, a national museum, a national gallery of art, and as the headquarters of the geological and natural history survey of Canada.

Mayor Bingham's Indian famine fund now exceeds $2400.

Colonial Secretary Chamberlain, replying to a cablegram from the Governor-General, with reference to the movement for relieving the suffering in India, has telegraphed to His Excellency, remarking that the energetic action of Canada will be warmly appreciated. His Excellency has arranged to send the results of the Canadian subscription direct to Calcutta, care of the chairman of the Central Relief Committee. This, Mr. Chamberlain remarks, will no doubt be the best method.

The will of the late Richard Nagle has been filed for probate, Mr. Henry Phelan of Peterboro and Thomas Fortye of the same place, are named as executors. By the terms of the will $1000 is given to St. Patrick's Asylum of Ottawa, and the balance of the estate is divided between the daughters of the deceased in the following proportions: One half to Mrs. Phelan and one-fourth each to Mrs. T. B. Brophy and Mrs. H. J. Friel. The value of the estate is placed at $74,252, of which $52,550 is real estate, $15,000 is timber limits, $6342 is cash in the bank.

Mr. Snetsinger, M.P., headed a deputation consisting of A. F. Mulhern, Mayor of Cornwall, L. A. Ross, John Bergin, Hugh F. Cummings, D. C. Flack, Angus Lalonde and others, which asked the Government for an extension of the charter and also the subsidy of the Ontario and Pacific Railway. The projected road is to run from Cornwall to Ottawa, and crossing at Cornwall, connect with the American railways, making a direct line from the Capital to New York. An application will be made next session of Parliament for an extension of the charter.

Mr. E. Pacaud of L'Electeur was in town to-day and had an interview with Mr. Laurier.

Hon. George E. Foster, the president, and Mr. Murray, the eastern manager of the British Canadian Gold Fields Exploration Development and Investment Company, left to-day for Rossland to make an inspection of the properties the company have under development.

Mgr. Pascal of Saskatchewan, had an interview with Mr. Sifton to-day in reference to the necessary number of colonization priests in the territories.

Carleton County Council this morning, on motion of Mr. Ballantyne, passed a resolution condemning the cumulative voting system, and declaring in favor of dividing the present County Council divisions into wards.

Oatmeal—The market is quiet and prices unchanged. Car lots are quoted at $2.95 to $3.00.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK MARKETS.

The receipts at the western yards to-day were fair, amounting to 58 car lots. The demand continues good for cattle, and prices show no change. There were sales of exporters at 3½c to 4c per lb., the latter being exceptional, as offerings of choice animals are scarce. Bulls brought 3c to 3½c per lb. Butchers' cattle firm for best qualities, which sold at 3½c to 3¼c per lb., good to medium at 2½c to 2¾c, and inferior at 2c per lb. Milch cows sell at $35 to $55 each, and calves at $4 to $8 each.

Sheep and lambs in moderate supply and prices steady. Choice sheep sold at 3c to 3¼c per lb., and butchers' at 2½c to 2¾c. Lambs are firm, there being sales at 4c to 4¼c per lb., according to quality.

Hogs are firmer, with receipts of 900 head. The best sold at 4¼c to 4¾c per lb., weighed off cars, thick fats at 3¾c, lightweights at 4c, sows at 3c to 3½c, and stags at 2c to 2¼c per lb.

BRITISH MARKETS.

Liverpool—Wheat futures weak at 6s 4½d for Jan. and Feb., 6s 5d for March and May, and 6s 4d for July. Maize easy, at 2s 5½d for Feb., 2s 5¾d for March and May. Flour 24s.

EXPRESS CAR LOOTED.

Robbers Detached It From the Train, Then Robbed and Burned It.

San Francisco, Jan. 29.—Train No. 15, the northbound Oregon express, was held up this morning at Shady Point, two miles south of Roseburg, Oregon, by two or three men. The express car was detached from the train by the robbers and the door blown and looted. The express car then took fire. The conductor and the trainmen worked hard to save the car after the robbers had gone, but the car and contents were destroyed. The passengers were considerably shaken up and frightened, but no one was injured.

A GAS GUSHER STRUCK.

Attercliffe Station Rejoices Over the Discovery Made Yesterday.

Attercliffe, Jan. 29.—A great flow of gas was struck to-day at the Attercliffe Station gas well. In the test the flame reached a height of 25 feet. The gas was struck in the Clinton limestone at a depth of 500 feet. The Medina rock has not been reached yet, and Contractor John Carmody is confident of getting a much stronger flow before he gets through the Medina.

More Curative Power

Is contained in a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla than in any other similar preparation. It costs the proprietor and manufacturer more. It costs the jobber more and is worth more to the consumer. It has a record of cures unknown to any other preparation. It is the best to buy because it is the One True Blood Purifier.

HOOD'S PILLS are the best family cathartic and liver medicine. Gentle, reliable, sure.

Constipation Cured.

Gents,—I was in very poor health for over four years; the doctor said it was constipation. Not wanting to spend too much cash I got three bottles of B.B.B. and took it regularly, I can certify that I am now in the very best of health and feel very grateful to B.B.B.

Two Box Cure

MILVERTON, 20TH JULY, 1896.

Gentlemen,—For the last ten years I had been troubled with kidney disease, being so bad at intervals that I could not lie in bed at night nor stoop to the ground.

I had tried all the remedies I could find without effect, but heard of Dodd's Kidney Pills and procured a box.

I am most happy to say it for my own sake as well as for others that I am perfectly cured after using four boxes.

BUILT UP THE SYSTEM IN A WONDERFUL MANNER.

James A. Bell, of Beaverton, Ont., brother of the Rev. John Wesley Bell, B.D., prostrated by nervous headaches

A victim of the trouble for several years.

South American Nervine effected a complete cure.

In their own particular field few men are beter known than the Rev. John Wesley Bell, B.D., and his brother Mr. James A. Bell. The former will be recognised by his thousands of friends all over the country as the popular and able missionary superintendent of the Royal Templars of Temperance. Among the 20,000 members of this order in Ontario his counsel is sought on all sorts of occasions. On the public platform he is one of the strong men of the day, battling against the evils of intemperance. Equally well known is Mr. Bell in other provinces of the Dominion, having been for years a member of the Manitoba Methodist Conference and part of this time was stationed in Winnipeg. His brother, Mr. James A. Bell, is a highly respected resident of Beaverton, where his influence, though perhaps more circumscribed than that of his eminent brother, is none the less effective and productive of good. Of recent years, however, the working ability of Mr. James A. Bell has been sadly marred by severe attacks of nervous headache, accompanied by indigestion. Who can do fit work when this trouble takes hold of them and especially when it becomes chronic, as was, seemingly, the case with Mr. Bell? The trouble reached such intensity that last June he was completely prostrated. In this condition a friend recommended South American Nervine. Ready to try anything and everything, though he thought he had covered the list of proprietary medicines, he secured a bottle of this great discovery. A second bottle of the medicine was taken and the work was done. Employing his own language: "Two bottles of South American Nervine immediately relieved my headaches and have built up my system in a wonderful manner." Let us not deprecate the good our energymen and social reformers are doing in the world, but how ill-fitted they would be for their work were it not the relief that South American Nervine brings to them when physical ills overtake them, and when the system, as a result of hard, earnest and continuous work, breaks down. Nervine treats the system as the wise reformer treats the evils he is battling against. It strikes at the root of the trouble. All disease comes from disorganization of the nerve centers. This is a scientific fact. Nervine at once works on these nerve centers; gives to them health and vigor; and then there courses through the system strong, healthy, life-maintaining blood, and nervous troubles of every variety are things of the past.

TURNING GRAY AND THREATENED WITH BALDNESS

The Danger is Averted by Using

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

"Nearly forty years ago, after some weeks of sickness, my hair turned gray and began falling out so rapidly that I was threatened with immediate baldness. Hearing Ayer's Hair Vigor highly spoken of, I commenced using this preparation, and was so well satisfied with the result that I have never tried any other kind of dressing. It stopped the hair from falling out, stimulated a new growth of hair, and kept the scalp free from dandruff. Only an occasional application is now needed to keep my hair of good, natural color. I never hesitate to recommend any of Ayer's medicines to my friends."—Mrs. H. M. HAIGHT, Avoca, Neb.

A WINTER SARATOGA.

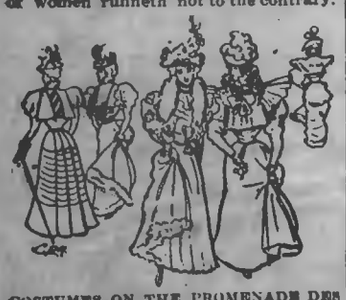
BRILLIANT FLASHES OF COLOR IN THE GAY WORLD OF PARIS.

Costly Fabrics Displayed on the Promenade des Anglais — This Season Parisians Are Wearing Fortunes in Diamonds and Using Perfumes.

(Special Correspondence.)

Nice, France.—Nice is the winter Saratoga of France, with its immense hotels and its jumble of fashionable folk, feeble folk and fast folk. From 2 o'clock in the afternoon until 3.30 it is summer here. The sun shines down upon the broad, bright curve of the promenade des Anglais, where the Mediterranean laps it on one side and palms are green and violets sweet upon the other. There is the sound of music from the casino on the jetty, there is the damp, warm smell of roses, and there is the gay panorama of women under rainbow-hued parasols, who loll upon the benches and radiate that full joy of life which is in warmth and sunshine. French officers in brilliant uniforms pass and repass, invalids lie back in wheel-chairs, and American girls chatter bad French and stare frankly at the tall Englishwomen who sit splendidly erect in perfectly appointed carriages, the petite Frenchwomen who whiz by on "bicyclettes," and the rouged habitues of Monte Carlo who promenade by twos and threes, with faces young and old at the same time.

Nice is Saratoga too in the brilliance of its costumery. All France, for that matter, is wallowing in paint pots. The purple and gold put on to welcome the Czar last autumn demoralized the dressmakers and swept away the soft, delicate tints and the delightful half-tone of color that have given Parisian elegantes their reputation since the time when the memory of women runneth not to the contrary.



COSTUMES ON THE PROMENADE DES ANGLAIS, NICE, FRANCE.

Like Saratoga, Nice is a little extreme, but it is true of Paris as of the promenade des Anglais that never before were such blows of broad color aimed full at one's eyes. Against the green of the palms and the white marble of the palace hotels, street dresses of sky-blue velvet of rose color or yellow have indeed this advantage, that one takes them, like the rest of the magnificent spectacle, with easy credence as a scene out of fairyland. As one young woman said to me this afternoon: "It's not real; the stage is set for an opera and the chorus is coming on."

As she spoke ruby seemed for the moment to dominate the moving pageant with its wine-red sparkle and glow. Parasols of ruby silk, toques and capotes or ruby velvet, knots of ruby ribbon in the hair and at the waist, and just where it lent most emphasis to the picture, a long ruby satin cloak brocaded with black, made things look as if the red calcium light had been turned on.

Five minutes later the picture was green, then it was violet and by and by all parti-colored with blue and green silks worn together and combined with ermine. A girl in a cream-colored gown wore a cape of sable fur edged with cream-colored lace. The face was caught on one shoulder with a knot of pink roses, and on the other with a bunch of black ostrich plumes. Her hat had a black velvet crown and the brim was smothered in roses. Long black plumes swept a half-circle and touched her cheek. A Russian countess wore a turquoise blue cloth dress under a long cloak of dark green velvet lined with sable. A broad collar of white lace covered her shoulders, and was knotted with greenish white ribbons. Her hat was of greenish white velvet, with trimming of turquoise-blue ribbon and yellow roses. A girl with a dark, piquant face sat on a breach with a man in a coat wonderfully frogged and braided. She poked the grass with a yellow parasol, flounced with black lace, and all her costume was in black and yellow. Her dress was yellow silk with black velvet ribbons running about the skirt from a little below the hips to within a foot and a half of the hem. The yellow silk waist was made with a black velvet vest and a bolero edged and barred with black velvet. Her hat was of yellow straw with black ribbons, black lace and yellow flowers. Straw hats are almost as common in Nice as felt or velvet ones.

And through it all the music throbbed and the tinkle of glasses came from the open windows of the cafes above the bathing houses along the shore. It did not seem as if in real life the richest of furs would be slashed into little bits to make up with lace and feathers and ribbons, or as if ermine would be dotted all over with flowers, or jewels worn with such reckless profusion out of doors. One accepts it at Nice with the theatrical setting of mountains and water and olive groves and orange trees, but when it comes to everyday living, if French fashions conquer as they have in the past, a good many people are going to have a good many feelings roughly revised.

For France is doing things she would have shuddered at a year or two ago. And not in colors only. French novelists are expressing their grief in French newspapers over Parisians who wear fortunes in big diamonds with tailor gowns. That began with the scramble to show all one's possessions on all occasions before the Czar. I have not seen any such lamentable lapses, but I have noticed another thing over which outcry is beginning to arise; perfumes are used to suffocation, and, as if abuse of the more delicate odors was not enough, theatres, concert halls and churches are redolent of musk, long tabooed, but now brought forward as according well with the violent colors of the autumn years of the century. The above mentioned moralists attribute its use to the "nouveaux arrives," but by such reckoning there must have been a deal of jumping of the hedge of the charmed circle very recently. At any rate, French women of all classes are taking to perfumed gloves, which were about the only articles of dress left to add scent to. But enough of jeremaids. France is queen of fashion still, though she may be pulling down the walls of her palace, and so let us return to clothes as they are worn.

Here are a few of the best of the promenade dresses I have seen in Nice. A velvet costume of bishop's purple with a broad edge of chin-chilla at the hem. For the bodice, a bolero of the velvet edged with a soft lace of cream color verging to gray. Cascades of a similar lace fell over the bodice from the shoulders. The bolero opened upon a vest of grayish mousseline de soie laid in fine plaits and having a dainty lace collar. The sleeves had small puffs of the purple velvet at the shoulders. Below the puffs close wrinkled sleeves of gray velvet came to the wrists and ended in lace ruches Three was a folded belt of gray velvet and a braod hat of gray velvet with black plumes.

A dress of a soft reddish brown cloth of a dead leaf tint, as nearly as the color can be described. This was worn by a young French girl. The skirt had a wide flounce of galloon embroidery in a lace pattern, so arranged as to simulate a long overskirt caught up behind. The silk blouse was of a darker, richer tint than the skirt, and was made with a bertha of the embroidery used upon the skirt. Sleeves only a trifle full upon the shoulders, a belt of reddish brown ribbon knotted to the left of the waist, a little boa of mink fur and a mite of a turban-like hat with trimmings of brown paradise bird plumes, made a toilet remarkable for its effective simplicity in this city of flamboyant display.

At Nice women wear short gloves because their sleeves are so long and tight, but of these and of indoor and evening dress much must wait to be told.

Used Eighteen Boxes of Dood's Kidney Pills—The Stone Dissolved and Removed—Knew of Others Cured.

Shelburne, Jan. 25 (Special).—Mr. John Medill, known locally as well as far and near as a physical giant, and glorying in his strength, came to be a great sufferer and tells of his cure as follows:—

"I do not hesitate to speak of Dodd's Kidney Pills or anything else exactly as I find them. If a medicine cures me and I think it will cure others why not say so?

"It is true I had been suffering for some time with Bladder trouble, and, learning of a cure made in a similar case by Dodd's Kidney Pills, I commenced using them.

"In all I have used eighteen boxes and they have dissolved the stone and have entirely cured me of any sign of such difficulty. I do not hesitate to speak of Dodd's Kidney Pills in the highest terms of praise, for I know of many persons who have been cured by them."

PETERBOROUGH'S GREAT FINE FUR EVENT!

Last week our sales were extraordinary—away above our fondest anticipations. People took advantage of our Sale offers and secured Fine Fur Goods at actual first cost of production. "We waste no time in useless blows, but strike the nail and in it goes." The way to sell goods quickly is to make prices irresistible.

These two columns of prices with short description, are proof of sincerity. We could more easily fill this space with boasting words and interspered with few prices—"like scanty plums in poor house puddings,"—but long stories are waste of time. Life is short—words weary—PRICES INTEREST—

READ THIS LIST OVER CAREFULLY:—

From those who have not bought yet, we ask a careful look through our stock and prices, as an opportunity is given in this sale which is very rarely offered—continuing only to Feb. 15th. All accounts due the firm must be settled before that date.

FAIRWEATHER & CO.

WEST PETERBOROUGH FARMERS' INSTITUTE.

between the rows would do away with the runners. A litter of straw over the plants weathered them through the winter all right.

OF ALL THE VARIETIES

Michael's Early, worked in with the Hamland, was very good, with the Williams as a medium berry.

The difference between pistilate and staminate plants was explained which led up to a few interesting remarks on the hybridising of fruits and flowers.

The culture of raspberries was then taken up. The hill system was endorsed, the bushes to be planted in hills three feet apart and the rows seven feet apart. The matter of removing the canes after bearing was mentioned and also the necessity of nipping of the top buds in the spring to make a short stockey plant. The Marlborough was mentioned as a good early variety, as well as the Cuthbert, which latter lasted out the season.

Cultivation should be stopped immediately after fruiting in order to stop the growth and allow the wood to ripen before winter. The Golden Queen as a yellow and the Hilborn and Alder for black caps were mentioned as good varieties. The Shafer's Colossal and Columbian were spoken of as fine varieties of a cross between the red and black berries.

A good word was also put in for spraying with the Bordeaux mixture by the speaker, who then went on to speak of black thimble berries. The Solder variety was highly spoken of. Gooseberries and currants received a notice and, through spraying, Mr. Caston statcd that there was no trouble in getting a good crop from them. Fay's Prolific and Cherry for reds, Grape for white, and Black Maples and Prolific for varieties of blacks were endorsed.

Mr. Meyer afterwards was called upon for an address on "What is Education, and what part does it play in Making a Successful Farmer?" Study, he stated, had to be applied to every part of the farm to make a success of it. Any cow could not be transformed into a profitable animal as a milch cow. Its characteristics had to be studied first, and if the cow does not come up to the standard it must be discarded, but all this has to be discovered through study.

THE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE

received high praise at the speaker's hands, who praised it as a grand opportunity for farmers' sons to improve themselves. The College was condemned by some on account of a certain class of pupils who took a course there and turned out failures. The fact was that these students entered the College without knowing anything at all of farming, and as the rudiments were not taken up, their derived their learning principally from books and found it hard to put into practice. The college was not for such as these, but to enable farmers' sons, thoroughly grounded in the rudiments, to obtain benefit from the various experiments which were constantly going on.

Mr. Caston was again called upon and spoke on the "Lights and Shadows of Farm Life." Before embarking on his subject the speaker spent some time in regard to the enlightment which was furnished a community on every subject through the press. Although the farmers undeniably worked hard, his labour was nothing to that expended in the publishing of a daily newspaper, whose corps of writers toiled early and late to furnish the latest news.

Farming had to be carried on scientifically to be profitable in these days. Many scoffed at the word science as applied to agriculture, regarding it as something in which brawn and sinew were principally required, but the brains had to be used as well as the hands in these days of keen competition. Cheesemaking was now a successful industry because it was manufactured in a scientific manner. Canadian cheese would not be nearly what it is commercially if it was made like butter, in the different homes. On the contrary, it was made in certain centres where scientific principles could be brought to bear. The same arguments in regard to science could apply to every product of the farm.

The speaker, whilst on this cheese question urged on his audience the necessity of following dairying more largely, as the growing of grain for so many years was exhausting the soil to an alarming extent. Grain did not bring much money at present on the market, so it was abandoned for the present and dairying taken up. By the time the price of grain went up again farms would have become thoroughly fertilized again and large crops could be produced.

Fruit growing was then touched upon. As a remedy for bark lice and borers in trees Mr. Caston recommended an application of lye made from hard-wood ashes. The question of spraying for leaf insects was then entered upon and heartily endorsed. The blossoms should also be off before spraying was indulged in.

During the evening short addresses were delivered by Rev. G. R. Clare and Mr. George Fitzgerald, who occupied seats on the platform and the programme presented was varied by vocal selections from Miss Udy, Miss Blewett and Miss Mann.

THE CUNNING JAPS.

They Learned a Few Things in the United States and Now Uncle Sam is Alarmed.

Washington, Jan. 30.—Under the treaty with Japan, proclaimed March 21, 1895, which does not, however, go into effect until July 17, 1899, there is an article granting the citizens of that country the same protection as native citizens in regard to "patents, trade marks and designs, upon fulfilment of the formalities of the law." Since that treaty was negotiated the Japanese here imitated American manufactures, using trade marks and other individual signs, and imported such goods into this country at prices below those at which the same goods can be made here. Business men here protested, and Secretary Olney negotiated a brief to the treaty, which makes article xvi. of this treaty go into force and effect at once. The Senate Committee on Foreign Relations this afternoon ordered a favorable report to be made on this treaty, and it will probably be ratified at once.

AN ENRAGED HUSBAND

Chased His Wife's Paramour With a Pistol —Couldn't Hit Him, but Shot the Woman.

Cambridge, Md., Jan. 30.—Allan Grace, 33 years old, went to his home unexpectedly to-day and found Ralph Pond in his wife's room. The latter fled from the house, pursued by the enraged husband. Grace fired several shots after the fleeing man, but none of them took effect. Returning to the house, Grace sent the two remaining bullets into his wife's head. The woman will die. Grace was arrested. All the parties are well-connected.

DANGER OF WAR.

Mussulmans Would Rise as One Man if Coercion of the Sultan Were Attempted.

New York, Jan. 31.—The special correspondent of The Herald in St. Petersburg cables: In high circles keen satisfaction is felt at the happy results of the policy which sent Count Muravieff to Paris. I speak on the best authority in saying that the difficulties between MM. Cambon and Nelidoff have ceased in a manner satisfactory to Russia. I am well informed as to the state of public opinion in Turkey, and at the present moment M. Maximoff, the famous First Dragoman of the Russian Embassy at Constantinople, knows full well that if measures of actual violence, as proposed by certain powers, were taken, at a signal from the Sultan all Mussulmans, scorning death, would rise like one man, and that there is danger of war in any coercive measure that attacks the dignity and sovereignty of the Khalif. All the more so, in view of the approaching festivals of Ramadan and Bairam. The Glasnost, rather aptly, commenting on the situation, says the powers are ever so far from arriving at a decision, and were they to decide on taking action, who is going to carry out the ticklish task? In truth, the idea of coercing an independent sovereign finds no friends here. As a diplomatist remarked to-day: Let the powers, first of all, give the necessary money to Turkey which reforms entail, and which she has not got, they having put the practical means for carrying out reforms in the Sultan's hands. This will give them a justifiable call upon him to have them executed. At present people seem busy condemning the Sultan in advance.

A FARMER IN TROUBLE.

A Grenville County Man Speaks his Mind—Feels Like a New Man—Cured by Four Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Cardinal, Feb. 1 (Special)—Mr. Robert McIntosh, a farmer very widely known in this county, and living near this village, has been in a painful and dangerous condition as the result of kidney disease affecting the bladder. When called upon he said:

"During three years, until quite recently cured by using four boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills, I have been an intense sufferer from kidney disease, which kept going from bad to worse, though I was doctoring all the time.

"Under advice I began using Dodd's Kidney Pills, at once realizing great help. I now feel like a new man and am perfectly cured of kidney trouble in any form.

ACCIDENT AND DEATH.

A Well-Known Farmer Near Burford Leaves a Widow and Three Children.

Burford, Ont., Jan. 31.—Mr. Luther Harley, a well-known farmer, living on the Norwich-road, between the villages of Burford and Harley, died this morning, the result of an accident while engaged in hauling wood to his house yesterday forenoon. The deceased was a son of Archibald Harley, ex- M. P., and brother of James and Edmund Harley, lawyers, of Brantford, and was held in the highest esteem by those who knew him. Much sympathy is felt for the relatives of the deceased, who leaves a wife and three children.

Mrs. S. James, Seaforth, suffered for years with what is called old peoples rash. She was treated by many physicians without any result. Mr. Fear the local druggist, recommended Dr. Chase's Ointment which relieved the irritation at once and speedily effected a permanent cure of the skin eruption. Mrs. James also says Dr. Chase's Ointment cured her of Itching Piles which she had been troubled with for years.

NOW FOR FEBRUARY!

Every winter article goes this month. The spring fashions will soon begin to rush in. The bargains of the intervening period will, therefore delight economical ladies. We're at it now, more diligently, perhaps, than you think, because its stock-taking time and those who get to this store in time will find themselves heartily welcome, and lucky, as well.

NEW VEILINGS.

While we are making the February programme interesting to the Ladies in price reductions, we are also keeping strict watch of everything new and up-to-date as it appears. We have just received a lot of NEW VEILINGS for which the demand just now is quite brisk.

MISSES CAHILL

403 GEORGE STREET.

CHANGED HANDS!

I have bought out the Grocery and Provision Business carried on for the past six years by Mr. Thos. Brady, on the corner of Brock and George Streets, I therefore beg leave to solicit a continuance of the patronage of all the old customers of this store, as well as of my friends and the general public.

It is my intention to conduct the business in a safe and satisfactory manner—by keeping full stocks of all lines of the Choicest Groceries, Flour, Feed and Provisions—by giving constant attention to the business—and by selling for cash at the closest prices for the best goods that can be bought. An early call is invited.
